"One thing further! Let the rules committee go further another year and abolish utterly the 25-yard limit. The public in general is absolutely disgusted with the massing tactics that hammer a man to pieces. The truth may as well be admitted one time as another. It is simple brutality compared with what was in the minds of the original progenitors of football.

"Nothing has been accomplished in football in five years that has done so much for a general modification of the sport in a proper way as the work of the rules committee last winter, and they can do no better this coming season than to eliminate all restrictions and make it the same kind of football from one end of the gridiron to the other. It will have to come eventually and those in charge of the game may as well settle their minds to that fact one time as well as another. If it isn't done in the East it will be done in the West and then a conflict will ensue which will be an annoyance to all who admire the sport. More open work makes better football for everybody."

The congratulations of the student body are extended to Robert Park on his election to the captaincy of the 1904 football eleven.

There is not the least doubt in anyone's mind that the man is fully qualified to do admirable work in this position. The Daily Orange wishes him the greatest success for next fall. It also urges the students to assist the new captain in whatever particular they may be able.

The recent communication on the graduating coaching system was evidently sent out by some one who did not wish to be known.

The custom of circulating a petition or communication among the students is perfectly proper if backed by responsible persons. We do not approve of a precedent being made in sending around such an anonymous communication, no matter how correct the contents.

And Belle Mead Sweets to our best friends.
Here's to bride and sister-in-law
Here's to groom and father-in-law
Here's to sister and brother-in-law
Here's to friends and friends-in-law
But you need not fear your motherinlaw
If
You feed her on Belle Mead Sweets.
Come in the evening
Or come in the morning
Come when you're looked for
Or come without warning
A thousand welcomes
You'll find here before you
And the oftener you come here
The more I adore you
Because
You always bring Belle Mead Sweets.

RYDER'S

LIBERAL ARTS FRENCH CLUB.

The meeting of the Cercle Francais at the Delta Gamma Chipter house Wednesday evening was an unusually interesting one. Miss Irene Sargent described very delightfully in French her recent trip through Belgium.

She left college early in October, sailing directly for Antwerp. Both in that city and in the capital, Brussells, she spent some time in restudying the masterpieces of art and architecture. She was fortunate in finding out of the way places typical Flemish scenes of remarkable interest. She brought out clearly the antagonism of the Flemish and the French elements in the city of Brussells. Even today the city has its two distinct nationalities, each holding intact its own part of the city.

Miss Sargent spoke at length of the recent Flemish revival in literature Many works worthy of consideration are now being written in that tongue.

The city of Bruges, the dead city with its grass-grown streets and courts, was also graphically described by Miss Sargent. She brought with her a great number of souvenir postal cards giving views of Bruges and the other cities she visited.

On leaving Belgium, Miss Sargent made a flying trip to Paris where she met a number of prominent savants. She was splendidly entertained by Prof. Martin of the University of Dijon.

Refreshments were served, a French game was played with great gusto and all present joined in singing French songs. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. Rosenthal. All those interested in French are urged to come.

THE BLOCK LIGHT.

The Block Light; which is guaranteed to produce a light equal to three hundred candlepower, burning but one mantle, is superior in brilliancy to four of the so-called best burners combined. To get a light equal to the Block Light you would need four other burners, which would necessitate four mantles; each would consume about six feet of gas per hour, equal to twenty-four feet, while the Block Light will use about four and one-half feet, showing a saving of three extra mantles and nineteen and one-half feet of gas. The Block Light will cost less than one-half cent per hour for consumption and will give a light superior in power to the four others combined, which would cost two and one-half cents per hour; the economy of gas and mantles is thus apparent. PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL 1. No. 67. SYRACUSE, N. Y., MONDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1903. PRICE TWO CENTS

GREAT ALUMNI MEETING.

Central New York Association to Meet--Full Discussion of Football—Buffalo and Rochester Visitors.

The Central New York Alumni Association will hold its first meeting of this year on Thursday evening, January 14. The meeting will be the second one of this association, which was formed early last spring. The alumni intend to have a dinner at which Chancellor Day will be a guest of honor. and there will be present several prominent men in the city, as well as the professors in the university who are interested in athletics.

The captains of recent football elevens, many of the old players, the coaches Parrish and Brown also Coach Ten Eyck will be entertained. The dinner will be given principally to discuss the football and other athletic interests of our university. Its action will go far towards deciding the football coaching system to be adopted by the University through its Governing Board.

In fact the meeting will be the first assembly of a nature resembling a general athletic council ever held at Syracuse. It is expected that prominent alumni from Buffalo, Rochester and elsewhere will be in attendance. The probable visitors from Buffalo include Charles Underhill, president of the Buffalo Alumni Association, Robert B. Adams '98 a former Varsity captain. Richard H. Templeton '99, who was instrumental in starting the Buffalo Association several years ago, and George Adams o former Varsity athlete.

The meeting will be productive of much good. It will start the alumni association of Central New York with new life, for it is hoped a majority of the three hundred alumni in this city and vicinity will be in attendance.

UNIVERSITY SKATING CLUB.

A number of residents of University Hill and vicinity are organizing a skating club. The club is to have a membership of 150. They have obtained permission to have the exclusive use of the artificial lake on the estate of Major Alexander Davis in Ostrum Ave. A large number of the club members are already using the rink. The skating Saturday afternoon was excellent. The club have attendants on the spot constantly to take care of the ice and guests.

Prof. Scott has obtained 50 season tickets, that is membership tickets for the use of students. A great many of these have already been disposed of.

An attempt was made last year to organize a hockey team but as the season was not a good one for skating, interest was not kept up, although much good material was at hand. So far no arrangements have been made for a team this year.

Professor Joseph Jastrow, the psychologist, is giving a series of lectures at the University of California.

PROF. HAWKINS' ADDRESS.

On Saturday morning Professor Hawkins addressed his Political Equality class as follows on the subject "Wealth and Its Uses."

"No study better reveals the character of a people than the study of wealth. The work of people, how it is done, the results of this labor, the division of these results, the use made of the wealth; all these things reveal the character of a people or nation."

"You say, 'Dollars cannot measure men and their character.' If you look at it from a narrow standpoint, you are right; but consider the dollar and all it stands for and the fallacy of your statement is apparent."

"The dollar may represent hard, painstaking labor and conscientious effort. It may stand for self control. It may represent what a man has done with his hand or brain or what he is doing with his acquired wealth and God-given talents."

"Americans are called dollar worshipers? Is this a disgrace? Why are we called dollar worshipers? Because of the incessant labor of all classes. This is what has multiplied the wealth of Americans. It is this intelligent labor that has given the United States its pre-eminent place among the commercial nations of the world. Let them call us Dollar Worshipers if the worship of the dollar leads to hard, conscientious effort."

A NOVEL PROGRAM.

The German Club at its next meeting a weed from Tuesday will have a most interesting meeting.

The Club intends to observe Christmas just as it is observed in Germany. A Christmas tree will be placed in the center of the gymnasium floor and trimmed in German style.

Dr. Otto will act as Santa Claus with whip in hand. The whole program promises to be the best of the year.

PERSONAL AND ALUMNI.

Dr. Albert G Beebe, '66, died December 2, of heart disease, at his home in Chicago. He had been for many years prominent as professor of surgery in the Hahnemann Medical College of that city. He was ruling elder in the First Presbyterian Church and a member of the George H Thomas Post G. A. R. He fought with the 51st Illinois in the Civil War, was in the siege of Corinth and the battle of Stone River, and was discharged for physical debility.

Hiram Churchill, '94, has been appointed instructor in the English language in the College of Liberal Arts of Northwestern and has served in that capacity since Sept. 20th. Prof. J. Scott Clark, '77, is head of the department and O. C. Kellogg, '92, is another instructor under him.

Merton W. Pearce '92 Law, of this city, is rejoicing in the birth of a daughter.

Miss Alice Hazeltine, S. U. '00, is a librarian at the Buffalo Public Library.

Chas. Hahl '03, Clifford Bradch '03, and W. Kirkwood '02, are studying law in different good offices here.

Galen Nichols ex-03, has a fine position with Esenwein-Johnson, leading architects of Buffalo.

"IS IT TRUE?"

Wesley Hook Announces His Authorship—The Document in Full.

In view of the fact that many are criticising the circular "Is It True?" on the ground of its anonymous character, I desire to state that I am the author of that communication.

WESLEY HOOK.

A great deal of discussion of the merits of various systems of football coaching has been taking place among the undergraduates during the last few days. This discussion has been very largely the result of a certain anonymous circular which was distributed generally among the students on Thursday morning.

Now that the author of this circular has come out into the light and avowed his authorship, it seems proper that this circular be reprinted for the benefit of those who failed to see the original document.

IS IT TRUE?

Is it true that the recent football season resulted unsatisfactorily?

Is it true that the schedule of the recent season was a comparatively light schedule?

Is it true that the football material in the University this year compared favorably with the football material of 1900 and 1901? What did Dr. Burchard and Mr. J. R. Rubin say about it in the mass meeting held just before the Colgate game?

Is it true that the team this year has been backed by good college spirit?

If these things are true, graduate coaching as practised here this season must be largely responsible for this season's defeats. On what grounds can we hope for a more successful season next fall if we continue the present system of graduate coaching?

Have not our coaches this fall worked hard and earnestly? What more can they do next fall?

Have not Captain O'Neil and the men on the teams played their best this season? With the same training what better than their best can they do next season?

Shall we have a still lighter schedule and lower still more our football rating?

Can the supporting spirit become more enthusiastic next year with our recent record to cheer it on?

Will more and better material offer itself next year encouraged by the remembrance of the losing team this season?

It seems as though there is not much ground for hope for a more successful season next year if the present system of graduate coaching is continued.

There are many who believe it requires genius to coach football successfully. And that special kind of genius is rare. It is that sort of genius that is ambitious for the College and sacrifices for the team. It is that sort of genius that makes the best men come out and play. It is that sort of genius that maintains a strict discipline. It is that sort of genius that possesses a magnetism over all the men. It is that sort of genius that lives, thinks and dreams in football. It is that sort of genius that is omnipotent and decisive on the field. It is that sort of genius that makes a winning team out of light men.

Do you think that Syracuse University has played successful football long enough to have such coaching material among its football alumni?

It is indeed gratifying to know that the alumni association, which represents Syracuse University in this city is soon to start with new life. The need of such a central association has been felt for the last ten years. Even the leading business men of Syracuse, like Lyman C. Smith, who are not University men have recognized for several years past the great advantages accruing from such a central organization.

Now that January 14 has been set for the first meeting, it is the duty of every city alumnus to be at the gathering and join the association if he is not a member.

Several city alumni recently gave as a reason for the earlier non-formation of such an association, that although there were nearly three hundred city alumni, they were all-so-busy they could not come to the meetings. Such a poor excuse is hardly valid for a majority of the three hundred. Are the alumni of Buffalo who hold monthly meetings slower in business than the Syracuse alumni, or do they have more leisure?

AT THE BASTABLE.

It is claimed that the production of the new musical comedy "The Good Old Summer Time" which begins a week's engagement at the Bastable on Monday will be a revalation to the patrons of popular priced theatres, as nothing so lavishly costumed and staged and presenting so large a company has ever been seen outside of the highest priced houses. The press of Chicago and St. Louis are unanimous in their praise of the new production, espesially of its chorus singing and magnificent costuming and staging, pronouncing it superior to anything in the musical comedy line seen in those cities in recent years. The company is headed by George "Honey Boy" Evans, who has long been a popular vaudeville and minstrel star. Mr. Evans is well known as the author of the song "In The Good Old Summer Time" from which the new piece takes its title.

THE BLOCK LIGHT.

The Block Light; which is guaranteed to produce a light equal to three hundred candlepower, burning but one mantle, is superior in brilliancy to four of the so-called best burners combined. To get a light equal to the Block Light you would need four other burners, which would necessitate four mantles; each would consume about six feet of gas per hour, equal to twenty-four feet, while the Block Light will use about four and one-half feet, showing a saving of three extra mantles and nineteen and one-half feet of gas. The Block Light will cost less than one-half cent per hour for consumption and will give a light superior in power to the four others combined, which would cost two and one-half cents per hour; the economy of gas and mantles is thus apparent. WORK DONE BY ARCHITECTURE DEPARTMENT

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

A bill of $6 has been received by the sophomore class for damage done last Wednesday night at the freshman banquet at the Globe hotel. The bill is for windows broken. The money will be raised by subscription among the 1906 men.

Dean McChesney of the College of Fine Arts preached Sunday in the Methodist church of North Tonawanda. In the afternoon he addressed themen's meeting of the Y. M. C. A. of that place.

A petition is being circulated to have the Christmas vacation begin on Saturday, December 19th, instead of Monday, the 21st. Dean Smalley said yesterday that in all probability no change would be made in the date of the vacation.

BASEBALL ELECTION.

The regular election for manager and assistant manager of the Varsity baseball team will be held in all the colleges to-day.

Messrs. George Smith and Frank Collins have withdrawn their names, leaving Mr. Harry Barber and Mr. Edward Manley of the senior class as the contestants for manager.

Mr. Sanford, '05, is the only nominee for assistant manager.

The rhetoric department at the University of Minnesota will conduct its annual spelling match for students on the evening of December 12.

THE GIFT REVEALS THE GIVER.

No gift reveals the character of the giver as a book carefully chosen. Choose for her a book that possesses the qualities within and without that both you and she can love. Don't choose merely a good book, a delightful book; but choose a lovable book, a book which will be treasured forever. There are books and books, but no books are quite so appropriate as the lovable books on the shelves of Wolcott's Bookshop.

ADDRESS BEFORE ENGINEERS.

A large number of engineering students were present at the meeting of the Engineering Association yesterday afternoon to enjoy the address given by Mr. W. R. Hill.

After tracing the history of the methods used by man in several different ages, and showing that man's greatest inventions for the distribution of the water supply were only feeble imitations of Nature's methods, Mr. Hill spoke particularly of the methods used in Syracuse and New York for the securing of a pure water supply.

The next meeting of the association will be addressed by Mr. J. A. Matthews, metallurgist for the Crucible Steel company.

The Indiana University museum has been presented with an old-fashioned hand corn mill that is a century old. The mill is one of the kind made with burs by placing them in a hollow gum log. It was the first of the kind to be brought to the state of Indiana.

Mr. James A. Dwelle ex-05 is working eight hours a day in Paris on French. During the first part of the month he expects to enter the University of Dijon where he will pursue a course of study for the remainder of the year.

Mr. Coykendall Cannon ex-04, is living in Buffalo.

There will be a Syracuse dinner or "Alwerdengers" during the Christmas vacation. Fifty Syracusans, both alumni and undergraduates are expected to be present to boom the University and listen to a number of good toasts.

NOTICES.

The meeting of the Biological Association has been postponed one week.
A. M. REESE, Pres.

The English Club of the University will meet in the English Seminar room, Tuesday evening, December 8, at 7:45 o'clock. Dr. Eaton will address the club on John Donne.
E. S. JOHNSON, Sec'y.

Special meeting of the Glee Club in Crouse Hall, Tuesday, 4 P. M. All members urged to be present.

The Genesee Wesleyan Alumni Association will meet at the Orange Club House Wednesday evening December 9

Members of the Senior Debating Club will meet in Ryder's photograph gallery promptly at 1:45 Tuesday afternoon. Group picture for Onondagan will be taken at that time.

Classes in English Entrance Work will meet in Room 66 Hall of Languages as follows: Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 2 P. M. and 4 P. M.

The election for baseball manager and assistant manager will be held in all the colleges next Tuesday, December 8.

Candidates for manager are:—Harry Barber, Frank Collins, Edward Manley and George Smith, of the Senior class.

Mr. Sanford '05 is the only candidate for assistant manager.

Be sure and and see the L. & B. Toasts on page 2. They are old but they retain their flavor.

A plan is being worked out to flood the Oval, and turn it into a large skating rink. This scheme is an annual occurrence about this time of the year. The plan now in view, however, seems more practicable than its predecessors. It is intended that the waste water from the heating plant be utilized for flooding.

The advantages of the plan are many and nearly everyone will admit it would be a good thing. Tickets of a moderate price could readily be disposed of. The rink would afford exercise and pleasure to hnndreds of hard working students.

The many who are enthusiastic over hockey would also have an excellent chance to form a good 'Varsity hockey team.

We wish the promoters of the scheme speedy and splendid success.

The English department at the University of Michigan has decided to adopt a graded class system for the freshman English work. It is claimed that the unequal ability of incoming students renders such a system most advisable.

The Athletic Association at Cornell University has decided to build racing shells as a commercial enterprise, and will undertake to meet all demands for boats. A skilled boat builder has been engaged and a regular shop will be opened. There is at present a large demand for Cornell boats. Harvard has agreed to purchase a new eight oared shell for her Varsity race against Yale next spring, and the University of Washington agreed to purchase a new eight oared shell. This is the first time that an American college association has undertaken such an enterprise.

The Yale French Club presented Moliere's "Le medicin moigre lin" on December 2. The costumes were reproduced from drawings made of those used in the last production of the piece at the comedie Francaise in Paris. The proceeds of the play are devoted to a public lectureship fund to secure noted Frenchmen to lecture on questions of literary and educational interest.

AT THE BASTABLE.

It is claimed that the production of the new musical comedy "The Good Old Summer Time" which begins a week's engagement at the Bastable to-day will be a revelation to the patrons of popular priced theatres, as nothing so lavishly costumed and staged and presenting so large a company has ever been seen outside of the highest priced houses. The press of Chicago and St. Louis are unanimous in their praise of the new production, espesially of its chorus singing and magnificent costuming and staging, pronouncing it superior to anything in the musical comedy line seen in those cities in recent years. The company is headed by George "Honey Boy" Evans, who has long been a popular vaudeville and minstrel star. Mr. Evans is well known as the author of the song "In The Good Old Summer Time" from which the new piece takes its title.

THE BLOCK LIGHT.

The Block Light; which is guaranteed to produce a light equal to three hundred candlepower, burning but one mantle, is superior in brilliancy to four of the so-called best burners combined. To get a light equal to the Block Light you would need four other burners, which would necessitate four mantles; each would consume about six feet of gas per hour, equal to twenty-four feet, while the Block Light will use about four and one-half feet, showing a saving of three extra mantles and nineteen and one-half feet of gas. The Block Light will cost less than one-half cent per hour for consumption and will give a light superior in power to the four others combined, which would cost two and one-half cents per hour; the economy of gas and mantles is thus apparent. PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL 1. No. 69. SYRACUSE, N. Y., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1903. PRICE TWO CENTS

Special Fine Arts College Edition.

DEPARTMENT OF ARCHITECTURE.

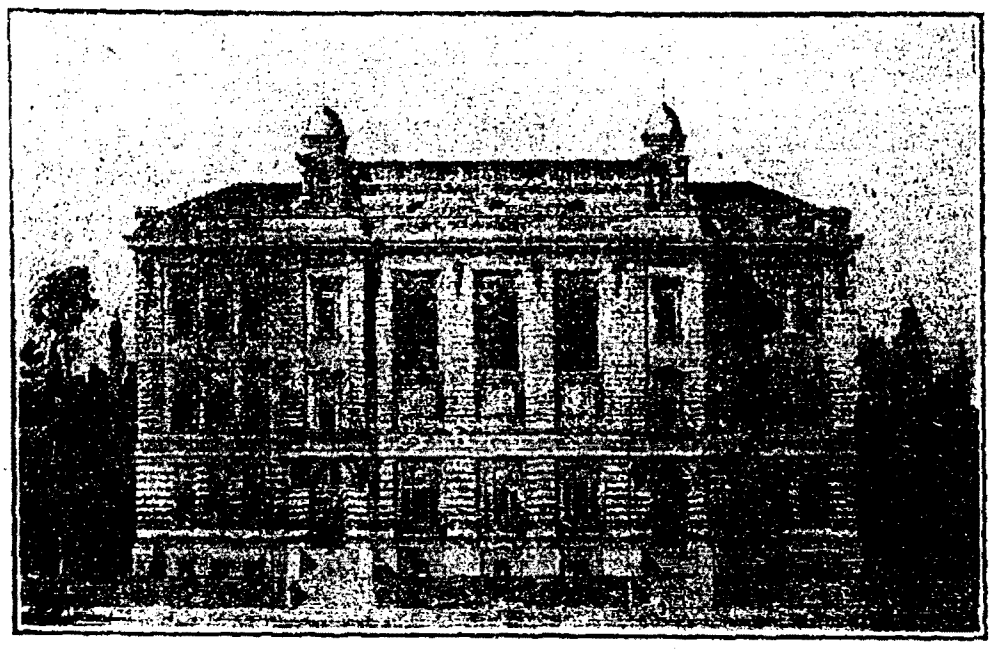
The Department of Architecture was introduced into Syracuse University at the inauguration of the College of Fine Arts in September, 1873, one year after the College of Medicine and two years after the College of Liberal Arts was founded.

The architectural drafting rooms were in the basement of the Hall of Languages until the John Crouse Memorial College was completed in 1888, when the Architectural Department was moved to that building.

Shortly, before the founding of this school the Massachusetts School of Technology had been opened and offered, as did this school, a four year course, but it was found impossible to find students who cared to pursue a complete course. Usually after attending one year students found that they could get positions in offices where they could begin with a small salary and get a practical education. Thus it was six years before the first graduation took place.

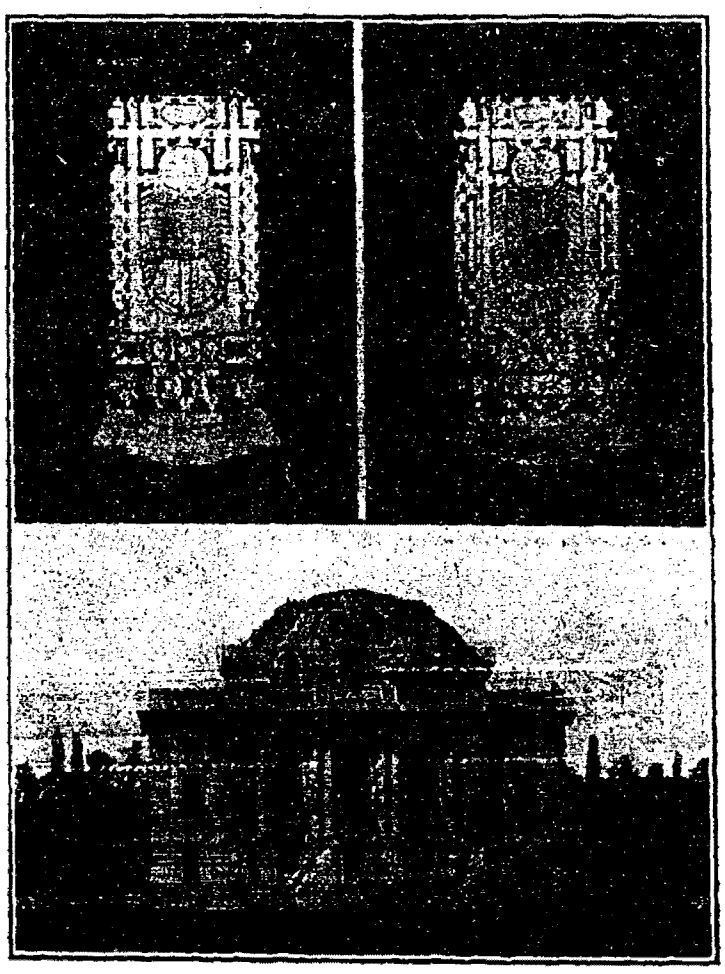
This was thirty years ago and there was not a demand for college trained men at that time as there is today. At that time a college training was not expected of an architect any more than it was of a lawyer or a clergyman; today it is almost imperative. However, this state of affairs in the professional line for fifteen years hindered the rapid growth of such a department.

American draftsmen were, as a rule, proficient along structural lines; they could construct strong buildings, but they were sadly lacking in artistic tastes and aesthetic conceptions; they produced engineering and not architectural structures. Too much of a practical American and too little of an artistic French spirit prevaded our ideas in architecture. Almost without exception buildings done at that period which are worthy to be ranked as works of art are traceable to an European influence.



Dean Comfort, the founder of the College of Fine Arts, comprehended the great need of the American students and established the department of architecture as one of the Fine Arts, closely allied and in connection with the other Fine Arts, Music and Painting, and offered a Bachelors Degree to persons completing the prescribed course. This was a bold step and in it Syracuse stood alone. But time has proved the wisdom and practability of such a movement, and the other Architectural Schools of the country are one by one falling into line.

The first instructors were H. N. White and Archimedes Russell. Mr. White was the architect for the Hall of Languages, and Mr. Russell for the Library and the John Crouse College, and is now practicing in this city.



Mr. W. L. Silsbee, an architect from Boston, who had an office in this city, was also instructor in the college.

In 1881 Edgar M. Buell, a graduate of this college and who had been practicing in Ogdensburg and later in this city, became instructor.

In 1882 Hiram I. Gutsell, a graduate of this college, and now a member of the faculty of Sibley College, Cornell University, became instructor in perspective drawing and drafting.

DESIGN OF A HALL OF NATURAL HISTORY—By F. E. Clifford.

STUDY OF A BEAUX ARTS PROBLEM—By F. R. Lear.

Arthur Bridgman Clark, who, after graduation here, became Director of the Trade Schools of the New York State Reformatory at Elmira, in 1889 became instructor here and is now a professor in the Art Department in Leland Stanford University. Mr. Clark designed the Gymnasium.

In 1892 Gordon Almond Wright, a graduate of this college, became instructor and one year later was made Professor of Architecture. Mr. Wright is now practicing in this city.

In 1894 Albert L. Brockway, a former student at Beaux Art School in Paris and a practicing architect in New York City, was made head of the department.

A great impetus was given to the work of the department through Mr. Brockway's efforts. Beaux Arts methods were introduced into the department at this time and also the Architectural competitions of the Society of Beaux Arts Architects. A large number of books, plates, etc., were added. This was the real nucleus of the present Architectural library. Mr. Brockway was the architect for the College of Medicine.

In 1895 Thomas U. Gaggin, a graduate of the Department, became instructor and later an associate professor of Architecture.

In 1897 Edwin H. Gaggin, who, after his graduation here had studied for two years in the school of Beax Arts in Paris, returned to become head of the department.

The Messrs. Gaggin both did excellent work for the department and through their efforts the Architectural library was greatly increased and also a large collection of fine photographs were added. They were the architects for the Ester Baker Steele Hall of Physics, Winchell Hall, and the Lyman C. Smith College of Applied Science.

In 1895 Frederick W. Revels, a graduate of this college, became instructor in the department.

In 1901 Leon B. Howe, a graduate of the department, became an instructor. Mr. Howe now has most of his work in the Smith College.

In 1902 Earl Hallenbeck, a graduate of the department, was made instructor, and is now associated with Professor Revels, who was made head of the department in 1902.

Note.—The history of the departments other than Architecture are left over on account of space. Also that of Geo. F. Comfort, Dean from 1873 to 1893.

NOTICES.

The meeting of the Biological Association has been postponed one week.

A. M. REESE, Pres.

Classes in English Entrance Work will meet in Room 66 Hall of Languages as follows: Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 2 P. M. and 4 P. M.

Be sure and and see the L. & B. Toasts on page 2. They are old but they retain their flavor.

All Juniors who have had their pictures taken at Sanjiyan's Gallery are well pleased with the result and the saving in price. Any juniors who have not already had sittings, are urged to do so at once.

Call at the Gallery, corner Salina and Railroad streets at any time.

The Daily Orange staff will sit for the Onondagan picture Friday at 1.45 p.m.

TO RENT—Desirable front room, light, heat and bath, with or without board, for lady student. 610 Irving av.

President Eliot of Harvard thinks night lunches give the students dyspepsia and he has therefore caused an all-night restaurant that was on the college property to be closed.

The highest scholarship honor given at Yale this year, the degree of M. M. summa cum laude, was awarded to Chung Hin Wong, LL.B., of Tien Tsin University, China.

Six members of sophomore and freshman debating teams at the University of Minnesota have been rewarded with the gift of a set of Shakespeare to the freshmen, and a set of George Eliot to the sophomores.

The proposed trip of the Columbia football team to California where games were to be played during the Christmas with Stanford University and the University of California, has been abandoned because return games with the eastern college for next year could not be assured.

THE OFFICIAL DAILY NEWSPAPER OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

WHAT IS A LIBERAL EDUCATION?

It is a delight to escape from the strenuous toil of study, and the many other tasks that go to make up a busy life and to spend a quiet hour in a bookstore, picking up a volume here, another there, without let or hindrance, enjoying the beauty of the bindings and cultivating the thoughts of the best contemporary writers; conversing the while with a friend about books and booklore. All these privileges are yours if you care to avail yourself of them. Wolcott's Bookshop is open to the students at any time and offers them a valuable supplementary course which will aid them a great deal in securing a truly liberal education.

THE ALFRED DEBATE.

The trials for the Sophomore-Alfred debate are to be held at 4 p. m., Saturday, Dec. 19. The Debating Union has received a reply to their letter requesting a change of the words "general welfare" to either "industrial" or some other division of the general welfare. Alfred did not wish the question changed, and the question reads as originally submitted, as follows: Resolved, That labor unions are not promoting the general welfare.

The sophomores are to maintain the affirmative of this question. Each contestant is to prepare and deliver an argument not more than seven minutes in length. Alfred is to pay all expenses of the team which is to be sent.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY.

Professor Pattee called a meeting of the faculty and major students in chemistry Monday afternoon. After discussing the idea of forming a chemical society for the University, it was decided to do so. A committee composed of the faculty and Messrs. Hatch and Fowler were appointed to draft a constitution and report at the next meeting on Monday evening, Dec. 14.

One of the main purposes of the society will be to discuss the chemical literature of the day. Doubtless the city chemists will give occasional addresses before the association, but in the main the work will be after the fashion of a seminar.

There are twenty-three major students in the department and all seem much interested in the new organization.

There will be a Syracuse dinner at "Almendingers" in Buffalo during the Christmas vacation. Fifty Syracusans, both alumni and undergraduates are expected to be present to boom the University and listen to a number of good toasts.

FINE ARTS RECITAL.

A Most Enjoyable Program—Well Rendered by the Students.

One of the most interesting recitals given in some time was rendered by the musical students of Crouse College Wednesday, Dec. 9, before a large and appreciative audience. As usual every seat was taken and many people stood at the side and rear of the hall, through the performance. The program opened with a sonata in C Minor for Organ by Baldwin which was intelligently played by Miss Lois Brown. Only the first movement was given and it is but to be regretted that the audience was not permitted to hear the rest of that fine composition. The next number a concerto in C minor by Beethoven was rendered by Mr. William Janauskek whose clean, clear cut tecknique was a delight to his hearers This was Mr. Janauskek's first appearance in public and his playing was a great credit to him.

Miss Martha Wittkowski whose glorious contralto has been heard in recital before this year, sang "could I" by Tosti and "Recitative and Arioso," But the Lord is mindful of His Own, (St. Paul) by Mendelssohn with much feeling, Her voice is well under control and her tones are equally good, whether in high or low register. The next number on the program was for violins "Bondo Capricciose" by Saint Saens which was admirably played by Miss Gertrude Woodhull who showed perfect command over her instrument and in the most difficult passages she played with ease. The composition throughout was rendered and well received. The second piano number was given by Miss Laura Single and was the "Concert Etude in F minor" by Litz. Miss Single did herself full justice in this number executing the delicate running passages and thirds with a grace and ease that was delightful. Perhaps the most enjoyable number of the recital was the organ prelude to "Die Meistersinger von Nurnberg" by Wagner, which was finely played by Miss Annette Snell one of the most talented students in the University and who was recently heard to such fine advantage in the last recital. She displayed fine temperament throughout and had the instrument entirely under her control, It is seldom a more delightful composition is heard on the organ in these recitals. Mr. Charles Clow Yates was next on the program and his fine sweet tenor voice was heard in the Recitative "Ah fill the cup! what boots it to repeat" and Air: "Ah, moon of my delight that knows no wane, "by Liza Lehmann. His high tones were easily taken and he sang with much feeling.

The last number of the recital was a "Fantaisie-Polonaise" by Paderewski, a work full of difficult passages which showed off the performer's fine technique to perfection. Miss Bemis showed abundant temperament and played with fine style.

ARCHITECTURE.

In 1893 the opening class was composed of three men; and now, after thirty years of gradual growth it opens up with an entering class composed of sixteen men and two women. In the four classes now pursuing the course there are thirty-nine students.

Professor Revels and Mr. Hallenbeck have reopened the Beaux Arts competition work and last year there were four different students who received second mentions at the exhibits of that society in New York.

The Department never opened with a larger attendance nor a more promising outlook. The course is formulated to give the students a thorough understanding of the developments of Architecture from the very earliest period to the present time; a practical knowledge of the strength and uses of materials employed in building; heating and ventilation; plumbing and sanitary appliances; building construction, both masonry and carpentry; and to prepare the students in general for practical office work immediately upon graduation.

Last year the drafting rooms were redecorated and a large number of new casts were purchased and hung in the Department.

Friends of the university are cordially invited to visit the drafting rooms and examine the work of the students.

On account of the increased attendance this year additional room and equipments have been provided.

From present indications this growth will continue and it is hoped that funds will be provided in the near future for adequate accommodations in a new building designed expressly for this work. This is one of the needs of the University. A. S. HADLEY.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Mr. Herbert C. Shattuck, '01, Cornell, will address the Prohibition Club in the gymnasium Saturday evening, at 7:30. Mr. Shattuck is visiting the colleges of New York State under the direction of the National Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, of which he is the Vice President. In 1902 Mr. Shattuck won the first place in the State Oratorical Contest and represented New York State in the National Oratorical Contest held in Kansas City. In this contest, lasting three successive nights, among the fourteen contestants representing the various states of the Union, he won second place. All those interested in temperance work are urged to be present and hear Mr. Shattuck.

The following first year men have taken what is known as the "first degree" and are wearing their pledge pins of B. D. B., the freshman fraternity: Messrs. Kelly, Hartigan, Taylor, Campbell, Shafer, Bacon, Sweet, Van Duser and Wright. The list is not yet complete but will be announced before the end of the week.

Every student should attend the Reading of Othello by Professor Losey in Crouse College at 8 p. m.

FINE ARTS COLLEGE.

A Short History by Dr. George F. Comfort, Dean from 1873 to 1893.

The College of Fine Arts was inaugurated in September, 1873, with two courses, in architecture and painting. During the first year there were sixteen students, three in architecture and thirteen in painting. Two students in the course in painting were graduates in 1876; from that time forward there have been some graduates every year.

In 1877 the course in music was established; in this there have always been more students than in any other department, as music is more widely understood and practiced than any other of the fine arts in America.

In 1893, the course in belles-lettres was established, the scope of the college thus including two of the formative arts and two of the phonetic arts.

From 1873 till 1889 all the teaching in the College of Fine Arts was done in rooms in the Hall of Languages, chiefly in the basement and the attic stories. In 1889 the college was transferred to the John Crouse Memorial building.

READING OF OTHELLO.

The reading of "Othello" at eight o'clock this evening in Crouse College promises to be listened to by a large and enteusiastic audience. Outside of the enthusiasm displayed by the student body the various literary organizations in the city who have been informed of the event are showing a marked interest in it. To correct any impression to the contrary the English Club wish it understood that there are to be no seats reserved. A single ticket is sufficient both for admission and a seat.

BASEBALL ELECTION.

Edward Manley, Law 1904, was elected manager of the baseball team in the recent student election. Harrison D. Sanford was elected assistant manager.

ENGLISH CLUB MEETING.

The English Club meeting Tuesday evening was one of the most interesting and best attended meetings of the year. Dr. Eaton gave a talk on John Donne, a contemporary of Shakespeare. Dr. Eaton spoke of Donne's lyric qualities as a poet and made a comparison between him and Rosetti.

SPECIAL FOOTBALL NUMBER.

The Daily Orange will issue a special football number early next week. The supplement will contain a fine large engraving of the 1903 Varsity eleven. Pictures of Manager Rubin, ex-Captain Frank O'Neill and Captain Robert Park will also appear. Interesting news of the Varsity men and their work will be a feature.

In marked contrast with the above is the report of the treasurer of the board of regents for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, which shows the receipts of the University for that year amounted to $688,423.15, and the disbursements to $565,953.54. The latest calendar of the university gives the names of 262 members of the faculty and officers, and an aggregate attendance of 3,712 students.

William A. Dyche, the new business manager of Northwestern University, recently announced a gift of $20,000 to the new gymnasium fund. His announcement was made at the banquet given to the football team. He said: "When the banquet to the team is given next year I hope it will be to a championship team and a new gymnasium."

Daniel B. Mills, '03, principal of the Cincinnatus High School, was a recent visitor at the Psi Upsilon chapter house.

The question of a football coaching system for next fall assumes a more serious aspect as time goes on. There is not the least doubt that the Alumni meeting for January 14, as a general athletic council, will be productive of excellent results.

Certain alumni from out of town will be in attendance at this meeting. Their advice in this council may be of as much value as that of men who have witnessed the games this fall. The great body of outside alumni however, will have no direct voice in the matter.

If possible, the advice of many of these representative alumni, especially the old football men, should be obtained. The committee having this affair in charge could readily obtain a written opinion from a large number who are unable to attend. During the Christmas vacation many alumni will be in town attending various conventions.

The question of a coaching system for next fall is so important that everything should be done which will assist in getting the best results.

AT THE BASTABLE.

Large and enthusiastic audiences are enjoying the bright and popular musical comedy, "The Good Old Summer Time," which is appearing at the Bastable this week. The show is well staged and the musical features, the large chorus of pretty girls and the happy sayings of George "Honey Boy" Evans are of the kind that make it the superior of any popular-priced production on the boards today. If you want to laugh go and see "The Good Old Summer Time."

The students at the University of Illinois want the graduate coaching system to be tried next fall.

Following the lead of President Eliot of Harvard, and President Schurman of Cornell, that a student should study eleven hours, sleep eight, spend three at meals and two in exercises and social duties, the University of Indiana Daily Student says the ideal student day at Indiana is, sleep ten hours, eight for study, and the remaining time for meals and social duties.

OTHER COLLEGES.

News Gathered from Various Colleges of the Country.

A report just published by the regents of the University of Michigan shows the growth of the university since 1849. The expenses for that year were $11,289; the estimated receipts for the ensuing year, $12,000; the number of professors is given as seven, with the additional statement that "there is no tutor employed." The salary of the professors was $333.33 each term, there being three collegiate terms in the year. A total of eighty-four students were reported in attendance.

The Dramatic Club of the University of Minnesota has completed all arrangements for a trip during the Christmas holidays. The play to be presented is "One Night Only." The costuming and stage settings are said to have been lavishly supplied. The cost of staging is estimated at $500. Arranging tours for college dramatic clubs is new among western colleges. Four towns will be visited with a probability of a fifth, the city of Duluth, being a final stand. The club last year made a similar trip so successful that the event was made an annual one. Places in the cast were keenly contested for.

The athletic benefit performance given at Cornell University advertised as its main feature an original burlesque sketch entitled "Mrs. Re-Niggs of the Cabbage Patch;" another attraction is a vaudeville stunt entitled "Boozy Susie," in which seventy "rosebuds" appear.

The English House of Lords yesterday decided that women are debarred by their sex from becoming qualified lawyers. The question arose on the appeal of Miss Bertha Cave against the decision of the benchers of Grays Inn not to admit her as a student.

Mrs. Gladstone.

Mrs. Gladstone helped her husband more by keeping the house and children quiet when he was writing one of his great speches than by criticising or actively helping him. Mr. Gladstone gave her praise for his best work.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL 1. No. 71. SYRACUSE, N. Y., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1903. PRICE TWO CENTS

OTHELLO READING WELL RECEIVED.

Professor Losey Gave a Very Effective Reading of the Shakspere Play—An Appreciative Audience.

The reading of Othello in Crouse College by Professor Losey last evening was a decided success. The reading had been well advertised. The result of this, and Professor Losey's wide-spread reputation as a fine Shaksperian reader drew a large audience to the hall.

The audience was representative of both the University and city. It was very appreciative of the excellent work done by Professor Losey, and at intervals gave decided approval.

Professor Losey was not in first class condition physically, but no one could notice it in his masterly effort. The reading given was a little less than two hours long. This necessitated a cutting of the less important passages of the play, but as the audience were provided with programs supplying a synopsis of the scenes omitted, the thread of the story was not lost From the beginning until the end the effect was that of a clean cut production of the highest character. It was very satisfactory to all who heard him.

He is to be congratulated for his excellent work. The Engtsih Club was indeed fortunate to secure his eminent services, especially when his other multitudinous duties are considered.

As a result of the reading the English Club will net a good sum of money for the department library.

CHURCH HISTORY BOOKS.

Professor Flick's class in Church History has contributed the following books to the Historical Library:

Kurtz, "Church History," 4 vols.
Moeller, "Church History," 3 vols.
Foulkes, "Church History," 2 vols.
Hornock, "History of Monasticism."
Hornock, "History of Dogma."
Kingsley, "The Hermits."
Greenwood, "Cathedra Petri," 6 vols.
Wishont, "Monasticism."
Hase, "Church History."
Leighton, "History of the Papacy" 9 vols.
Wilson, "John Wiclif."
Dallinger, "Fables and Prophecies of the Middle Ages."
Hornock, "Confessions of St. Augustine."

These twenty volumes are now being used by the class.

FRESHMAN CLASS MEETING.

A freshman class meeting was held yesterday morning. The President urged the freshmen to report for crew and basketball practice, also to aid in every way possible the interests of athletics.

THE ALFRED DEBATE.

Considerable difficulty and annoyance is being met with in trying to get Alfred University to state the exact meaning of the question submitted to the Debating Union for the coming debate with the sophomore club. The agreement made at the time the challenge was accepted was that Alfred, as the challenging party, was to submit two questions from which Syracuse was to choose a question and the side which she wished to uphold. Alfred, however, submitted but one question, namely, Resolved, That labor unions are not promoting the general welfare.

Professor Losey, acting for the Debating Union, wrote back saying that the question would be accepted if Alfred would limit the term 'general welfare." He suggested that as it then stood it hardly made a debatable question and also that perhaps "industrial welfare" would be more definite. The student correspondent at Alfred replied that although the term "industrial welfare" might be a little more inclusive; it was hardly more definite, but, however, if Syracuse wished to debate that question Alfred would do so provided she be allowed choice of sides. This, of course, was not accepted as it is directly in opposition to the agreement originally made that Syracuse should have the choice of sides.

The answer was accordingly sent to the effect that Syracuse would consent to debate the question first submitted if Alfred would define what was meant by the words "general welfare" and state whether the world was meant or just the general welfare of this country.

This seemed a most fair proposition and every one was much surprised at the reply received Wednesday that Alfred wished to limit the debate to the United States, but that "the words general welfare were found in the prologue of the constitution of the United States" and that "the experience and thought of the last 125 years has interpreted the term."

A final word has been sent to the student who is doing the corresponding that unless Alfred will come out and state exactly what she means by the question that we can not debate a question when we do not know what the question means.

SOPHOMORE BANQUET.

The executive committee of the sophomore class made its final plans for the class banquet on Wednesday evening. The members of the committee however refuse to disclose anything beyond this. It is understood however, that contrary to the custom that calls for the sophomore banquet during the second semester, the banquet will be held before the mid-years. This is supported by the fact that the second year men have begun so soon to prepare for the event.

FOR CHRISTMAS.

What more appropriate gift can a college man or woman give a friend than a subscription to one of the college periodicals? The Orange will be sent to anyone anywhere every morning for the remainder of the college year for one dollar and twenty-five cents. Leave subscriptions at Co-Op,

A FINE PROGRM.

University Band in its Annual Concert--Manager Bateman will have First-class Talent.

The concert to be given by the University Band in Crouse College promises to be unusually fine. Manager Claire Bateman has been working hard on the program, and has secured first class talent for the entire concert.

The Band is putting extra time on musical productions, and will have reached a high standard of excellence by Wednesday evening next. The String quartette promises some surprises to music lovers. The work of Mr C. C Yates as soloist does not need special mention.

Tickets are on sale, and the prospects for a very successful concert are indeed bright.

The program follows:

March .....—"Greeting."
from Opera Queen of Sheba by Gounod.
String Quartet.....Augarsich
M. Kussemayer.
.....Adagio; Allegro motto
Bothe, Marshall, Herscher, Conger
Overture .... Maritanna
Wallace.
Vocal Solo....."Farewell to Summer"
Noel Johnson C. C. Yates.
Blue Danube Waltzes.....Strauss
Pur Gynt Suite ... .Grieg
String Quartet
March..Coronation for the Prophetto
Meyerbeer.
Violin Obligato.....Miss Woodhull

BASKET BALL PRACTICE.

The basketball team has been having some hard practice this week in preparation for the trip north which starts Monday. Ordinarily practice is held three times a week, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. This week an extra practice was held on Monday

The team will leave on its northern trip at one o'clock on Monday next. Monday evening they will play St. Lawrence University at Canton and Tuesday Potsdam Normal School at Potsdam. These games may be regarded as preliminary to the Yale game which is to be held here Friday, December 18.

The men that will make the trip are: Manager Rice, Captain Houseknecht, Twombly, Brady, Kirchgasser, and Powell. The institution of season tickets admitting to all the games seems to be meeting with favor from the student body and everything points to a most successful season of basketball.

SPECIAL FOOTBALL NUMBER.

The Daily Orange will issue a special football number early next week. The supplement will contain a fine large engraving of the 1903 Varsity eleven. Pictures of Manager Rubin, ex-Captain Frank O'Neill and Captain Robert Park will also appear. Interesting news of the Varsity men and their work will be a feature.

CROUSE COLLEGE FRENCH CLUB.

The club met at the Phi Gamma Delta house Tuesday night. An informal program included a piano solo by Miss Ward, and a vocal solo by Miss Perry; also a spelling match in French. Light refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held at the D.K.E. house.

AT THE BASTABLE.

Large and enthusiastic audiences are enjoying the bright and popular musical comedy, "The Good Old Summer Time," which is appearing at the Bastable this week. The show is well staged and the musical features, the large chorus of pretty girls and the happy sayings of George "Honey Boy" Evans are of the kind that make it the superior of any popular-priced production on the boards today. If you want to laugh go and see "The Good Old Summer Time."

NOTICES.

The Wyoming Club will meet at the Phi Gamma Delta house 712 Comstock avenue Tuesday evening, Dec. 15. All old Wyoming students are invited to be present.

O. M. JACOBS, Sec'y.

There will be a meeting of the sophomore class this morning after chapel.

The band concert to be given next Wednesday evening deserves the support of all the colleges. The band is a distinct organization, typical of greater Syracuse. The management and those interested are putting forth their best efforts to place the band on a sound financial foundation.

In former years it has been customary to levy a tax, or collect a fee from the students for the band at a mass meeting. This year no such tax has been levied. This only makes it more evident that the students should support the band by attending the concert in a body.

All Juniors who have had their pictures taken at Sanjiyan's Gallery are well pleased with the result and the saving in price. Any juniors who have not already had sittings, are urged to do so at once.

Call at the Gallery, corner Salina and Railroad streets at any time.

AN INDOOR MEET.

Second Triangular Track Meet Between Cornell, 74th Regiment of Buffalo and Syracuse.

It is probable Syracuse will participate in an indoor track meet at Buffalo some time in February, if she so desires. Last year Syracuse participated in her first indoor track meet on February 22. The meet was held in the immense drill hall of the 74th Regiment at Buffalo. As first arranged the meet was to be between the track athletes of Cornell and the 74th Regiment. It was mainly through the efforts of Richard H. Templeton, '99, who is an officer in the regiment, that Syracuse was entered

The result was not so satisfactory for the Orange as was expected. This was due to the late date at which the Syracuse athletes had begun to train. Also to the inadequate facilities for indoor track work in our gymnasium.

After the meet however, Major Fred Wolf, under whose management the meets are conducted, expressed himself as very well pleased with the actions of the Syracuse contingent. He would be pleased to see a larger team represent the Orange this year, when the meet is definitely arranged.

Cornell is looking forward to entering a team of twenty or more men in this meet, but it is doubtful if she will be allowed that number.

Syracuse has made no arrangements thus far for such a meet. The reason is that matters are unsettled on the coaching question.

OTHER COLLEGES.

News Gathered from Various Colleges of the Country.

The University of California proposes to build a $4,000 addition to the California state building at the St. Louis World's Fair in order to procure space enough to house its exhibit. The university is planning to make a larger exhibit than most of the colleges. Among its exhibits will be a model of the mining building, the new Greek theater, and likewise one of the Lick Observatory. A topographical map is being prepared which will illustrate the topography surrounding the university and its relation to Oakland, San Francisco and the Golden Gate. An exhibit will be made of three hundred books written by men connected with the university during its history. The California University desires 1,500 feet of floor space for its exhibit. The allotments so far given to different colleges average 600 feet.

The Senior Class of the Yale Forest School started for lumber camps last week. The camps are scattered, as last year, all over the United States, from Maine to Florida. The men are to be gone until the Christmas vacation, and many volunteering to stay three weeks longer. The purpose of the trip is to give the men experience in the practical side of forestry, and each man is supplied with a list of questions to help him in his work. The men are supposed to trace the lumbering operations from the tree to the mill, to find the cost of transportation of the timber and to keep accounts of the different items, such as provisioning the camps, construction of roads, etc. At the end of the trip each man will submit a detailed account of his work.

Owing to a contagious disease in the family of the janitor the engineering and collegiate departments of the Western University of Pennsylvania, in which there are more than 200 students, were closed for an indefinite period.

Two interesting collections, which were made among the Seneca Indians on the Cattaraugus Reservation in New York, have recently been received at the Peabody Museum, of Harvard University. One of these, comprising prehistoric implements used in the preparation of food from corn, includes mortars, pestles, elm-bark dishes, corn-husk baskets, and ladles and spoons of wood. The other is a collection of the sacred paraphernalia, of a band of the Seneca tribe, which was worn in their sacred dances and ceromonies. It includes wooden and corn-husk masks, rattles of turtle shell and bark and sacred tobacco.

Dr. James D. Phelps will give his celebrated lecture on "Cape Cod Folks" before the Historical Society this evening at 8 p. m. All students are cordially invited to be present.

Be sure and and see the L. & B. Toasts on page 2. They are old but they retain their flavor.

Considerable interest is manifest on the Hill in the formation of a Varsity hockey team. This sentiment should receive recognition by the entire student body, and some steps be taken to organize a representative team under a competent managership. All the larger colleges have strong hockey teams and it is time for Syracuse to consider this sport.

All Juniors who have had their pictures taken at Sanjiyan's Gallery are well pleased with the result and the saving in price. Any juniors who have not already had sittings, are urged to do so at once. Call at the Gallery, corner Salina and Railroad streets at any time.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL 1. No. 73. SYRACUSE, N. Y., MONDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1903. PRICE TWO CENTS

TIME ALMOST UP.

Time for Expiration of 1905 Onondagan Contests Expires Saturday—Several Changes in Prizes Offered.

The time set for the expiration of the 1905 Onondagan contests is next Saturday, Dec. 19th, and it behooves all intending contestants to hurry their matter along. The results of these contests have been very gratifying; probably never before was so much Onondagan material in so early in the year. In Competition No. 1 a number of good stories are already entered and the drawings, it can already be safely said, will, both in numbers and quality, excel anything heretofore. Grinds are, as usual, coming in slowly. A great many more are desired and length is not necessary. Some of the best may be a single line. Scribble off your grinds and hand them to some member of the Board this week. The amateur photograph contests are not as yet overcrowded with entries; and those who have been putting off entering pictures will please take notice.

A number of additional prizes will be offered for drawings. No second prize will be offered for cover designs; but the first prize will remain as at present. This was deemed advisable because the Onondagan could have no use for two cover designs. The prizes for humorous drawings will remain as at present. For serious drawings prizes will be offered as follows: First prize, two dollars and a copy of the Onondagan; a second prize of one dollar and a copy of the Onondagan, and two third prizes of a copy of the Onondagan each.

The 1905 Onondagan reserves the right to withdraw any contest for lack of sufficient entries. All rejected manuscripts or pictures will be returned, if so desired.

It must be remembered, too, that all Senior Records and Junior Pictures are to be in, or personally accounted for, by Saturday next. The editors are determined not to delay the 1905 Onondagan for late entries. The book is to be "made up" during the Christmas vacation so that printing may begin soon after.

Late records or pictures will probably have some penalty to pay even though they be not omitted entirely. All will see at once that it is necessary for the Board to take this firm stand in the matter of late entries; and they will see why it is necessary.

Remember the date—next Saturday, Jan. 19th.

PHILOSOPHICAL ASSOCIATION.

All interested in Philosophy are invited to attend the meeting of the Philosophical Association this evening at 7:30 in room 30, Hall of Languages. Rev. Arthur Copeland, Ph. D., will deliver an address entitled "Morality vs. Religion from a Christian Standpoint."

DR. ATKINSON ON ATHLETICS.

"It is a pity that the muscles are developed in the young athletes in this country at the expense of the tendons, ligaments and cartilages and it is high time that this question was brought forcibly to the attention of those who have the physical development of the boys in your schools and colleges in charge," said Dr John Atkinson, a well-known London specialist, and president of the Atoletes' Institute and Footballers' Hospital in England. This expression of opinion was called forth by watching the Yale-Harvard football game and by talking with Murphy, the Yale trainer, concerning the injuries to his men during the season He said, further:

"I am a firm believer in sports of a manly kind. Football, particularly as it is played in this country, is rough but not too rough, if the players are properly developed. Football is in disrepute among many because of its so-called brutality, and I understand your rules are being changed from time to time to meet the demand of those who believe the play should be more open and thus minimize the number of accidents. An athlete in any branch of sport is liable to injury, however, under the present condition of things, when one part of the body is built up at the expense of another. I find on inquiry that eight out of ten injuries during the football season are injuries to the tendons or cartilages, which would not have occurred with proper development, and which should be cured in a few days instead of two or three weeks, as is now the case.

"Trainers are necessary, but trainers look after the muscles at the expense of the tendons, and what is actually needed is a medical adviser, who has been an athlete himself, who will see to the all-round development of a boy and have the care of the tendons and cartilages. It is only natural that a tendon should give out if it has not been properly developed, and there would be fewer injuries in football and, in fact, all the other branches of sport if this matter was thoroughly understood, and then there might be no need of changing the rules.

"In my opinion the boys are not given the proper physical supervision in the preparatory schools, and it is there that those interested in this subject should begin the crusade. Boys enter college with a game knee, shoulder or ankle, or a lame back, which should not be possible."

SYRACUSE VS. POTSDAM.

Tomorrow night the Varsity will line up against St. Lawrence University at Canton.

LECTURE BY DR. PHELPS.

The Historical Association held its third meeting of the year last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. After the routine business, Dr. Sperry introduced the Rev. James D. Phelps, one of the financial secretaries of the University, as the speaker of the evening.

Dr. Phelps gave his celebrated lecture on "Cape Cod Folks." He first described very concisely the characteristics of the Cape Cod peninsula, with its great pine forests and inland lakelets of fresh water. The graphic description was followed by a very entertaining story of the Cape Cod folks. The education, trades and customs of this happy people were described in a fanciful forceful manner that held the attention of the audience until the end.

The lecture was one of the best ever given before the Association. Many, despite the weather, was fortunate to hear it.

Resolutions adopted by Phi Gamma Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon on the death of Sands Niles Kenyon '00.

Whereas, it has pleased God in his wisdom, to remove from us our brother, Sands Niles Kenyon, be it

Resolved, that we, the Phi Gamma Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon express to the bereaved family our deepest sympathy; and, be it

Resolved, that we drape our badges a period of ten days in respect to his memory, be it

Resolved, that copies of these resolutions be sent to the family and be published in the college papers and in our fraternity quarterly and that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the chapter.

THE BAND CONCERT.

Manager Bateman has added another excellent number to his fine program for the Band Concert next Wenesday evening. Mrs. Frederick D. Losey will give a reading. It is unnecessary to say this announcement will be very welcome, Mrs. Losey has a very widespread reputation as a reader, and the number will be a pleasure to all who attend.

The report is given that the posters for the band concert have been disappearing. Posters were placed in places down town and also on the Hill. These were not to be taken up until after the concert. Some students and others disregarded the matter, and the result is the concert will not receive all the advertising it should in this manner. Tickets for reserved seats were put on sale, last Saturday morning.

THE SYRACUSE CALENDAR.

Mr. R. E. Dakin, Fine Arts '04, has designed a very attractive Syracuse calendar which is to be placed on sale today. The theme is the Syracuse Basket Ball Girl, and is carried out very effectively. Students will find the calendar at the Co-Op and the bookstores.

OTHER COLLEGES.

News Gathered from Various Colleges of the Country.

The annual report of Treasurer Tyler of Yale University shows that the funds of the university have increased $282,201 during the year, of which $179,995 is made up of the Foster and Southworth legacies, which were not available until August, 1903. Gifts to income amount to $21,000 Additions to funds hitherto unpublished are a Mahlon Long scholarship fund of $.0,000; Julian A. Ripley, $1,000: former President Dwight for the theological school, $1,250; bicentennial funds gifts, $28,483; from sale of bicentennial book, $1,011: W. B. Eno, campus fund, $4,000: A. M. Huntington, $2,000; Mrs. E. E. Salisbury, $000; and Professor H. W. Farnam, for the scientific school, $2,750. Since the date of the report there has been received, besides other gifts, $100,000 in trust from Miss Sarah Harrison of New Haven, the income to be applied to the general purposes of the university.

Pretty Compliment.

No public man ever paid a prettier compliment to the fair sex than Mr. Choate, the American ambassador, who, looking up at a public meeting to the ladies in the gallery above him, said: "Thou madest man a little lower than the angels."

MASS MEETING

In Chapel this Morning—To be Held in the Interests of Junior Week--All Colleges to Attend.

A mass meeting is to be held in Chapel this morning between 9:40 and 10 o'clock. The object of the meeting is to get the students to support the organizations which will be before the public this week.

Speakers representing the University Band, basketball and Monx Head, as well as others, will address the meeting. Mr. John Heal, senior class president, will have charge of the assembly. The list of speakers includes members of the faculty, alumni and upper class men.

The interest shown by the students in the coming Band Concert, Junior Prom., and Yale-Syracuse basketball game is indicative of a great crowd in chapel this morning.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT.

While the Varsity team is battling with St Lawrence tonight, the strong second team will meet the Classical School five in the home gymnasium. The price of admission to those who do not have season tickets will be ten cents.

THE GERMAN CLUB.

Der Deutsche Verein will hold its regular meeting in the gymnasium at 7:45 this evening. It will celebrate the German festival in true Christmas style. All members are requested to attend.

CHAPEL TALK.

Herberf C. Shattuck, Cornell '01, gave a very interesting talk after chapel exercises in the Liberal Arts Chapel yesterday morning. Mr. Shattuck is the State president of the New York State Loyal Temperance Legion, and also vice-president of the National Intercollegiate Association of Prohibition Men. He addressed the meeting of the Prohibition club on Saturday evening and was prevailed upon to speak in chapel yesterday morning.

Mr. Shattuck first, in a light vein, alluded to the common cause of sorrow here and at Cornell, namely, that both had rather unsuccessful football seasons. He said that he wished that this or some other bond of sympathy between them would lead to the renewing of gridiron contests between the two colleges as some other contests between them had been renewed.

The speaker next brought up the time spent in college with the query whether or not it was wasted. He cited the story of a student at one of the Southern colleges who was conferring with the dean about the advisability of shortening his course, and who had asked the dean if he did not think that it was just as well to do so. That official replied: "That depends on what you wish to make of yourself. When God wishes to make an oak tree he takes a hundred years, but he can make a squash in six months."

Mr. Shattuck then brought up the work which he represents, the National Association. "The work," he said, "is organized in 17 States. There are 160 local clubs, each in some college or university in the United States. The average membership of each club is 25 members." He bespoke for the local club the co-operation of the student body and he urged college men to get into politics, but that they should be clean politics. The talk was an enjoyable one.

PI BETA PHI NEW MEMBERS.

Pi Beta Phi initiated the following new members last week: Miss Reesa Caspar, '07, Binghamton; Miss Florence B. Gray, '07, Albany; Miss Anna Green, 07, Syracuse; Miss Sabra Hayden, '07, Syracuse; Miss Angeline Mayne, '07, Burlington Flats; Miss Mary Makepeace, '07, Syracuse; Miss Dora Millen, '07, Syracuse; Miss Grace McCoon, '06, Oneida; Miss Esther Sherwood, '07, Syracuse; Miss Ruby Wightman, '07, Monroe, Miss Jessie Underdunk, '07, Syracuse.

ALFRED DEBATE.

The date for the trials for the Alfred debate has been changed from Saturday to Friday, Dec. 18, at 4 P. M. Those who are to contest are instructed to send their names to Prof. Losey at once. It is very desirable to have as large a number as possible compete.

SKATING—Star Park, large rink, fine ice, protection from wind, warm club house, skates rented, instruction given, open any time, electric lights. Admission 15c, ladies 10c.

KING LEAR.

Rehearsals for King Lear will be held between now and the Chrismas holidays as follows:

Wednesday, Dec. 16, 4:00 p. m.—Act 4, Sc. II; Act 5.

Friday, Dec. 18, 4:00 p. m.—Act 1, entire.

If the chapel is not in use at these hours the rehearsals will be held there. If it is in use Room 33-34 will be taken.

The cast of King Lear yesterday afternoon decided to give the play in the modern manner. Several of the professors in the English department a short time ago suggested that the play be presented in the Elizabethan manner, much the same as Twelfth Night was given by the Everyman players. This matter was favorably acted upon by the English Club, but it was finally decided to leave the matter with the members of the cast. Their opinion against the project was expressed yesterday. It is possible, however, that ome modification of the Booth text will be used.

AT HE BASTABLE.

"The Show Girl," with Miss Stella Mayhew, a very clever actress, in a leading role, will run through the week. The play is one of the best musical comedies playing at the popular price houses.

A NEW FRATERNITY.

A new fraternity has been formed by the students of the Zoological department The name of the new society is Beta Mu Delta, and its elections are from juniors in the department who are taking the combination course: that is, combining the liberal art course with the course in medicine. The charter members are C. J. Wells, S. H. Rice, J. A. Distin, F. D. Brundage, H. L. Myron and W. M. Gardner.

The advent of this new fraternity is the third on the list of departmental fraternities on the hill. The other two are Sigma Rho Alpha, architecture, and Phi Mu Epsilon, music. These societies are always helpful to their members and to the department in general. The men forming the new organization are all major students in zoology and will make a strong nucleus for the future fraternity.

The pin, which is very appropriate, is a skeleton hand in gold with a black wristband on which are the Greek letters B. M. D.

THE SYRACUSE CALENDAR.

Mr. R. E. Dakin, Fine Arts '04, has designed a very attractive Syracuse calendar which is to be placed on sale today. The theme is the Syracuse Basket Ball Girl, and is carried out very effectively. Students will find the calendar at the Co-Op and the bookstores.

Selleck's means Hats! 341 S. Warren Street.

PERSONAL AND ALUMNI.

The following men from the freshman class have already been enrolled as Beta Delta Beta pledglings: Walter Griffeths, Leon Cornwall, Fred Perry. The other pledglings were given last week.

Miss Ada Trolan '06 is pledged Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Mr. Fred Perry '07 is pledged Phi Delta Theta.

E. Stuart Mills '06 who has been ill for a week past has slightly improved.

TUTORING.—Students desiridg to be tutored in mathematics, entrance work or other college mathematics during the Chrismas vacation should call at once or Warren K. Platner, 109 Marshall St. Terms reasonable

The mass meeting this morning should be a decided success. It is held to arouse the students' support of the various activities during this—or Junior week.

The organizations, which call for a display of loylaty by the students in a financial way, are representative of Syracuse. They are deserving of patronage both from the students and friends of the University.

DAKIN'S CALENDAR.

All over the hill people are commenting about the Basket Ball Girl Poster and Calendar which was placed on sale yesterday. There is something about the aggressiveness of the pose and the originality of the treatment which appeals to everyone.

A TEMPTING COMBINATION.

The Daily Orange delivered anywhere in the United States, Canada or the Phillipines, every morning for the balance of the college year, and Dakin's Calendar for $1.25. Leave orders at Co-Op or Three A Store.

The total expenditure for the bicentennial buildings and equipment at Yale has been $975,000. In the bicentennial account proper there is a deficit of about $200,000, which is understood to have been made good from other university funds. There is a serious deficit in the dining-hall account, where $46,927 was advanced, the real deficit for the year, with the total expenses of about $132 000, being about $19,000, as compared with about $23,000 the year before. The actual receipts from board at the hall were about $4,000 less than in 1902. The cost of operating the large new buildings is shown by an increase of the light, heat and water expenses from $33,281 to $46,802.

The Memorial Society of Harvard has completed the work of making up lists of former occupants of rooms in Hollis and Stoughton halls back to 1895 and of Holworthy to 1812. As fast as the necessary funds are contributed, it is proposed to place a framed list in each room of the men who have formerly occupied it.

Pier Gynt Suite.....Gaiez

Bothe's Quartet, Minuet from opus 78.....Schubert

March, "Coronatien," from "The Prophet".....Meyerbeer

Violin Obligato.....

Miss Woodhull.

THE MASS MEETING.

The mass meeting held in chapel yesterday morning was well attended. It was held in the interests of Junior week.

J. Robert Rubin gave a very interesting speech in behalf of the University Band. He showed how necessary it is that Syracuse have such a capable organization. Also the expense entailed, which has to be met by student support.

The Junior promenade had A. L. Evans as its exponent. Mr. William Lowe gave a most able and enthusiastic talk on basketball and urged every one to attend the Yale-Syracuse game Friday night in the gymnasium.

FOR CHRISTMAS.

What more appropriate gift can a college man or woman give a friend than a subscription to a University periodical and an art calendar which will be a daily reminder of Syracuse? Dakin's Basketball Girl Calendar and the Daily Orange for the balance of the college year sent anywhere for $1.25.

SKATING—Private instruction in skating, ladies or gentlemen. Apply to or communicate with Circulation Manager Daily Orange, 615 Irving Ave.

THE CHEMICAL CLUB.

The first regular meeting of the Syracuse University Chemical club was held Monday evening in the lecture room of the department. Mr. McClelland, as chairman of the committee to draft a constitution, read his report. The constitution was accepted. The election of officers for the year followed, Professor Pattee being chosen president, Mr. Hatch, '04, vice-president, and Mr. McClelland, '03, secretary and treasurer. The next meeting will be held on January 18th.

FOR THE FOLKS AT HOME.

You would like to write them a letter every day, wouldn't you? But since it is impossible for you to do this, why not have the news of the university sent them every morning? If you desire to give them a Christmas gift which will surely be appreciated, leave subscription for the Daily Orange at the Co-Op. or at the Three A store. One of Dakin's famous Basketball Girl calendars will be given to each new subscriber.

DELTA CHI BANQUET.

About thirty active and alumni members of Delta Chi were present at the annual initiation banquet held at the Vanderbilt Monday evening. The banquet was a success in every way and reflected much credit on those who had it in charge, F. H. O'Neill, S. A. Ralph and J. F. O'Neill. Mark E. Conan, L. L. B., '01, acted as toastmaster and called for the following toasts:

Delta Chi, Raymond L. Skinner, L. L. B.

The Old Boys, Joseph M. Meatyard, L. L. B.

Our Chapter, J. F. O'Neill, A. B., '04, Law.

Our Aims, Chester Backus, '04, Law.

Our Intentions, Justin S. McCarthy, A. B., '03, Law.

A Little Nonsense, "Doc" Edwards, L. L. B.

The initiates were John L. Train, '04, Batavia; Justin S. McCarthy, '03, Syracuse; Harry B. Orchard, '03, Sackett's Harbor; Harry A. Curtis, '06, Newburyport, Mass.; Alexander L. Carlson, '06, Jamestown; Austin G. Rutherford, '06, Marcellus; Jesse M. Seymour, '06, Salamanca; Albert L. Wilbur, '06, Greenland, N. H.; Roy H. Williamson, '06, Batavia.

SKATING—Star Park, large rink, fine ice, protection from wind, warm club house, skates rented, instruction given, open any time, electric lights. Admission 15c, ladies 10c.

In Preparing for that Party don't fail to see the latest in baked goods. We have them, always fresh, baked by an expert. Individual orders filled with dispatch. Home made minced ham all ready for sandwiches. Both Phones 198.

STUDENTS—Learn to skate before going home for the vacation. The best instruction possible is yours to command. Apply to Circulation Manager Daily Orange, 615 Irving Ave. 2t

OPEN EVENINGS.

The University Library Will Be Open Until 10 O'Clock Hereafter--Rule Starts in Operation To-day.

Beginning with Wednesday, Dec. 16, the Library will be open evenings until 10 o'clock. The rules for circulation will for the present remain the same, and anyone wishing books for evening use must have them reserved before at the charging desk.

The above will be welcome news to most of the students on the hill. The Daily Orange strongly advocated this change some time ago, and is accordingly pleased to announce the news.

Most of the larger universities have their libraries open at night, and it has heretofore seemed strange that Syracuse did not do the same. The advantages of the change are many. The most benefit will accrue to those students who are working in laboratories, athletics or outside work during the day, and are thus unable to do extensive reading or research in any line of work except it be during the evening.

The majority of the faculty, as well as the student body, approves of the innovation.

AN ADDRESS ON RADIUM.

Professor Arthur W. Goodspeed of the University of Pennsylvania, president of the Roetgen Ray society, will address the Syracuse Chemical society on Friday evening, December 18, on Radio-Active Substances. It will be the first time that local chemists have had a chance to hear an authority on the subject. The address will be given in the rooms of the University club, Larned building. The major students in the department of chemistry have been invited to attend.

SYRACUSE BEATS POTSDAM.

The Syracuse 'Varsity basketball team defeated the Potsdam Normal team by a score of 30 to 10 Monday evening, at Potsdam. The line-up follows:

POTSDAM.		SYRACUSE.
	Right forward.
Abbott		Kirchgasser
	Left forward.
Cavenaugh (capt.)		Twombly
	Center.
Clark, Brownell		Powell
	Right guard.
	Left guard.
Mathews		Brady

SPECIAL NOTICE.

On account of a misunderstanding with the management of the Ryder photo gallery, the special football number of the Daily Orange will appear Friday morning instead of to-day as announced.

ASSOCIATION CONVENTION.

A joint meeting of the Associated Academic Principals' Councils, Grammar School Principals, and the Science Teachers' Association of New York State will be held in Syracuse December 28-30. Dr. Smallwood, '96, will read a paper on "Biology as a Culture Study."

C. S. Gage, '95, Harriet Curtis, '00, and Gertrude Burlingame, '96, will give papers and discussions on Biology.

Dr. Kraus, '96, is chairman of the local executive committee. The secretary and treasurer of the association is also an alumnus, Mr. P. F. Piper, '91, of Buffalo.

TUTORING.—Students desiring to be tutored in mathematics, entrance work or other college mathematics during the Chrismas vacation should call at once on Warren K. Platner, 109 Marshall St. Terms reasonable.

What more appropriate gift can a college man or woman give a friend than a subscription to one of the college periodicals? The Orange will be sent to anyone anywhere every morning for the remainder of the college year for one dollar and twenty-five cents. Leave subscriptions at Co-Op.

NOTICES.

A brief meeting of the men of the senior class will be held after chapel this morning. JOHN W. HEAL, Pres.

The regular meeting of the Mathematics Club will be held next Saturday evening with Miss Dowsland at 820 Delaware Ave.

Where can you find a better place than D. McCarthy and Sons' Cooking School to secure those delicious Christmas cakes? Remember the man in the white apron; down stairs, McCarthy's.

We have not used the editorial column heretofore to ask for student support of the Daily Orange. We do so at this time because of the special holiday offer.

It may interest the student body to know a few facts about college daily papers. There are now sixteen such daily papers in existence. The Syracuse Daily Orange is the latest addition to this field of journalism. We are thus placed on a par with the greatest Universities in the country in this line of University activity. This means more when it is understood that there are over four hundred colleges in the United States.

With one or two exceptions, most of these college dailies have been in existence from five to thirty years. Notwithstanding this, we can say this without boasting, the Daily Orange compares favorably with any other college daily.

Most of the dailies are three cents per copy, and three to four dollars a year for subscription. It is in view of this that we can very consistently and strongly urge the students and others who are not subscribers, to make use of our offer.

The Appellate division of the Supreme Court has upheld the right of Columbia College to take certain real estate under the will of Stephen Whitney Phoenix. The college also received over $181,000 in bonds, securities and other personal property from Mr. Phoenix's estate. It was contended that Columbia College could not receive the real estate given by the will because its power to take was exhausted by reason of its holding and owning realty up to and beyond the limitations and restrictions contained in its charter or charters. The appellate division, however, places its decision of affirmance on the referee's third ground—that the college at the time of the testator's death had not, in law or in fact, exhausted its power to take and hold real estate.

The committee appointed by last year's undergraduates of the Harvard Law School, who have raised a subscription for a portrait of James Barr Ames, has chosen Wilton Lockwood of Boston as the artist.

Some complaint has arisen at Harvard regarding the large attendance at Appleton chapel on Sunday evenings by the outside public, the critic claiming that students wishing to attend the services are frequently unable to do so when the sermon is to be delivered by an especially prominent clergyman. It is proposed to enlarge the space reserved for students.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL 1. No. 70. SYRACUSE, N. Y., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1903. PRICE TWO CENTS

THE JUNIOR PROM.

The Greatest Social Function of the First Half-year—Elaborate Preparations —List of Patronesses.

The arrangement for the Junior Prom are now complete, and the anticipation of one of the best social functions of the year will be realized this evening.

The hall will be most tastefully decorated with the college colors and flags. A unique feature will be a liberal display of colored electric lights. This will include an arch over the stage with the design "Monx Head 1905" in letters composed of electric lights.

The stage will be banked with palms, behind which the Kapp's orchestra will be placed. Refreshments will be served on the stage during the intermission. The arrangements are so perfected that two hundred couple can be cared for in a thorough and systematic manner.

The gallery will be opened to students and others at the nominal price of twentyfive cents. It is expected many students who do not dance will come to enjoy the affair as spectators.

The programs are worthy of special notice. They will be of a delicate brown leather. On the cover will be stamped "Syracuse 1903." This is done so that the program can be kept as a souvenir to be used as a card case if so desired

There is much rivalry being aroused by the three lower classes as to representation at the Prom. The 1906 men believe they will outnumber 1905, while the freshmen consider they will outclass both 1905 and 1906 in attendance.

The committee in charge report a rapid decrease in the tickets on hand. All who still desire tickets may procure them in the halls at chapel time from the following men: J. Arthur Distin, Frank M. Bohr, George Wendt, Edward Greenland, Harry Yard, Frank Brundage and Earle Ackley.

The list of patronesses includes:

Mrs. Hendrick S. Holden, Mrs. Timothy L. Woodruff, Mrs. Wm. A. Nottingham, Mrs. Duane Millen, Mrs. Alexander T. Brown, Mrs. Francis E. Bacon, Mrs. Evelyn B. Ayers, Mrs. Geo. A. Larabee, Mrs. Donald Dey, Mrs. Frank Hiscock, Mrs. Wm. A. Groat.

TUTORING CLASS.

At the end of the holiday vacation will be organized a class to review the freshman algebra. Sessions will be held in Hall of Languages as follows:

Section (1) will be held on Tuesday p. m., from 2 to 4, Jan. 5, 1904; on Thursday from 2 to 4 p. m., Jan. 7; on Tuesday from 2 to 4 p. m. Jan. 12; and on Thursday from 2 to 4 p. m. Jan. 14. Section (2) will meet Tuesday evening from 7 to 9, Jan. 5; Wednesday evening from 7 to 9, Jan. 6; Tuesday evening from 7 to 9, Jan. 12, and Wednesday evening, Jan. 13, from 7 to 9. If another session is found necessary it will be arranged later.

IS CAPITAL DESERVING OF A REWARD?

PROFESSOR HAWKINS' REPLY.

Much comment has been aroused by the sensational statements of Professor Small, which have been given extensive publication throughout the country. The Herald presented the gist of the matter recently as follows:

The only thing that deserves financial reward is labor. Capital, as such, deserves none.

Capital has a legal right simply because our statues give the right. There is nothing morally right about it.

At present society is willing to let the owners of capital, like those who inherit it, loaf around. These loafers may be put into two classes.

The time is coming when no man who has not worked for his money will be allowed to enjoy it.

There is no equality where one man with a million of inherited capital can determine the weal of a thousand of his fellow men.

Just as we shudder at the ancient laws of Rome when a man had perfect right to kill his wife and all his children because they were considered his own property, so will the future generations hold our present system.

In answer to the Chicago professor's arraignment of our social and industrial system, Professor Delmar E. Hawkins said in brief:

"No economist should fail to emphasize the vast importance of labor in our social economic system and the desirability of its progressive improvement in every particular. But no man can teach that labor produces all and that capital produces nothing, and is entitled to nothing, without teaching a falsehood and the most vicious kind of a falsehood. If such doctrine were true, then the wage workers of the world should tomorrow throw down their tools and proceed to take possession of every farm, factory, mine, railway, mill, shop, bank, and of all money, goods and stock of every description, and to appropriate the same for their own use. If such doctrines were true, then the world is working under a system far worse than the slavery of the middle ages.

"Has the business world ever been charged with not being practical or not being able to see the value of things? Is not the business world everywhere anxious to get capital, keen in competing for it, and willing to pay for the use of it? Does the practical business world pay something for nothing? Did ever a man above the intelligence of the horse look at carpenters' tools, the machinery of a mill, the land and stock of a farm, the equipment of a railway, or a steamship, and not think how useful these are in themselves? How much they contribute to and augment man's power in production? Can any man, not blinded by envy and hatred or controlled by malice, or any man with a healthy brain, say that capital produces nothing and that the owners of capital are loafers entitled to nothing?

"Five men, working three days with a New York Central train, will carry 50,000 bushels of wheat 1,000 miles from Chicago to New York, for $2,500, or at the rate of 5 cents a bushel. Is this wonder

WELL RENDERED PROGRAM.

The University Band Gives a Successful Concert—The Solo Numbers and Readings Well Received.

The annual University Band Concert given in John Crouse College last evening was a success in many particulars. The Band itself rendered a difficult program with an ease and proficiency that showed thorough training.

The solo numbers and quartet work were very satisfactorily rendered. One of the most pleasing features of the evening was the artistic reading by Mrs. Frederick D. Losey.

The large audience in attendance felt well repaid for their efforts in battling the elements to get to the concert.

The following program was rendered:

March, "Greeting," from "Queen of Sheba"..... Gounod

Bothe's Quartet, Augbrisch, Adagio, Allegretto molto....M. Kaessmayer
Messrs. Bothe, Marshall, Heisher, Conger.

Overture to "Maritana".....Wallace

The basketball interests at Syracuse demand that the students show their loyalty in a decisive manner this week.

The Yale five has been given a guarantee that requires a crowd of at least three hundred to be present at the big game Friday evening. This is purely from a financial point alone.

The Varsity five representing Syracuse this year is the best that ever wore the Orange. Friday's game will doubtless be the best game ever seen in the gymnasium. It will amply repay every student, whether he considers it his duty or not, to buy one or more tickets and be present at the coming contest.

"The Show Girl," with Miss Stella Mayhew, a very clever actress, in a leading role, will run through the week. The play is one of the best musical comedies playing at the popular price houses.

FOR THE FOLKS AT HOME.

You would like to write them a letter every day, wouldn't you? But since it is impossible for you to do this, why not have the news of the university sent them every morning? If you desire to give them a Christmas gift which will surely be appreciated, leave subscription for the Daily Orange at the Co-Op. or at the Three A store. One of Dakin's famous Basketball Girl calendars will be given to each new subscriber.

DEBATING CLUBS.

The regular meetings of the various debating clubs will be held Thursday evening. The meeting of the Senior Club has been postponed until after vacation. The Juniors will debate the question, Resolved, That the Zionist plan of settling the Jews in Palestine is the best solution yet proposed for settling the Semetic race problem.

The question before the Sophomore Club is, Resolved, That athletics as at present conducted in the more prominent American colleges does not tend to advance the moral and intellectual life of the students.

The freshmen will discuss the question, Resolved, That at present academic education would do more to elevate the negro than manual training.

1904 ONONDAGAN ON SALE.

Hyzer Jones, business manager, has announced definitely that the 1904 Onondagan will be on sale in the Hall of Languages and the other colleges this morning.

This announcement will be welcome to all the students who have heard so much about the annual and are now eagerly awaiting it.

The 1904 Onondagan is superior in many ways to its predecessors. It can be procured for one dollar and fifty cents.

Dr. Hargitt gave an illustrated lecture on his trip to Mount Vesuvius before the Syracuse Academy of Science Tuesday evening. Dr. Hargitt's lecture was interesting and entertaining and was made vivid by the excellent illustrations taken from authentic photographs of Vesuvius.

SYRACUSE-YALE TO-NIGHT.

Prospects Bright for Victory --Mass Meeting This Morning.

The final event of Junior Week takes place in the gymnasium tonight when the Orange basketball five meet the Yale team. Despite the fact that Syracuse has suffered one defeat this season the men are high in hopes of winning from Yale.

Yale has been defeated by Williams this year, 36 to 7. Williams is also upon the Orange schedule later in the year.

On account of the interest shown among the students, Manager Rice has decided to reserve all seats without extra charge. Reserved seats can be had all day today at the treasurer's office.

There will be a mass meeting in the interest of the game this morning after chapel. The speakers include Dr. Smallwood, Wm. C. Lowe, Prof. Scott and others.

A souvenir schedule card for the season will be given each attendant of the game tonight. Final practice for the game was held last night. Never was there a better basketball team representing Syracuse and never were the men in better form.

CAPTAIN ELECT.

Robert Park, '05, captain of the 1904 eleven, age 23, height 5 feet 10 inches, weight 160 pounds, prepared at Syracuse High School and played during his last year as tackle. He entered the University in the fall of 1901 and played as substitute halfback that season, as well as last year. This season he played regular right halfback till the game with Brown, when he played fullback. Park rowed No. 5 on the freshman crew in 1902.

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL TEAM 1903.

THE JUNIOR PROM A SOCIAL SUCCESS.

The Junior Promenade was held last night in the Alhambra. It was the most enjoysble as well as the greetest social function this year.

The Alhambra was very prettily decorated with the various flags of the University, and of Monx Head. The tastefully arranged electrical display was one of the many pleasing features which added to the occasion.

The stage was banked with palms, behind which Kapp's orchestra was placed. Refreshments were served on the stage during the intermission. The arrangements were so perfected that two hundred couple were cared for in a thorough and systematic manner.

The gallery was open to students and others at the nominal price of twenty-five cents, Many students who do not dance enjoyed the affair as spectators.

The programs were of a delicate brown leather. On the cover was stamped "Syracuse 1903." The regular dances were twentyfour in number, with six extras. Nearly every number received an encore, thus doubling the program. The dancing commenced at 9 o'clock and lasted into the small hours of the morning.

The lists of those in attendance showed an unusually large number of young ladies from out of town. Many men from other colleges were also included.

The Prom was the most successful from every point of view that wasever held in Syracuse.

Monx Head, the Junior fraternity, which conducted it, includes the following men:

J. Arthur Distin, Frank M. Bohr, George Wendt, Edward Greenland, Harry Yard, Frank Brundage and Earle Ackley.

The list of patronesses follows:

Mrs. Hendrick S. Holden, Mrs. Timothy L. Woodruff, Mrs. Wm. A. Nottingham, Mrs. Duane Millen, Mrs. Alexander T. Brown, Mrs. Francis E. Bacon, Mrs. Evelyn B. Ayres, Mrs. George A. Larabee, Mrs. Donald Dey, Mrs. Frank Hiscock, Mrs. Wm. A. Groat.

REPLY FROM WESLEYAN.

Question and Side Chosen for Intercollegiate Debate.

Yesterday afternoon the Syracuse Debating Union received a definite reply from Wesleyan regarding the question and side for the intercollegiate debate. Wesleyan has chosen the negative of the question: Resolved, That some form of compulsory arbitration should be established to settle disputes between labor and capital when such disputes interfere directly with the common interests of the community.

TUTORING.—Students desiring to be tutored in mathematics, entrance work or other college mathematics during the Chrismas vacation should call at once on Warren K. Platner, 109 Marshall St. Terms reasonable.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Dr. Reese of the Biological Department will read a paper before the next meeting of the Eastern Branch of the American Society of Zoologists to be held in Philadelphia during the Christmas vacation. Dr. Reese's subject is "Sexual Elements of the Grant Salamander."

NOTICES.

The regular meeting of the Mathematics Club will be held next Saturday evening with Miss Dowsland at 820 Delaware Ave.

At this late date a resume of the football season so long passed by would be inopportune. However there are some facts concerning the managers and captains which will be of interest to all.

Frank H, O'Neil, '05, Law, of Syracuse, Captain for 1903, is 23 years old, 135 pounds in weight and 5 feet 6 inches tall. He lives in Syracuse and prepared at the High School. While there he played on the baseball team and also on the football teams of '98 and '99, captaining the latter team. In 1900 he attended Mercersburg Academy, where he played quarterback on the team of that school. He played on the Varsity at quarterback, which position he has played for the last three years. He is a member of the track team as a pole vaulter. He has an excellent reputation as an all-around athletic

J. Robert Rubin, '04, manager, of Syracuse, was born in Syracuse in 1882. He entered the University from the Syracuse High School, where he managed the team of '99. This was the same year that O'Neill was captain, the same relative positions occupied by these men this year in the University. Last year he was assistant manager, from which position he was promoted to the managership of the 1903 team.

Erle L. Ackley, '05, of Ellington, assistant manager, is twentysix years of age. He prepared at the Fredonia Normal School. He was elected to his present position last year. He will be manager of the 1904 team.

The statistics of all the 'Varsity men and several substitutes were printed in the Daily Orange some time ago.

ENGINEERING.

The Engineering Society will meet Friday afternoon Dec. 18. at four o'clock in the Physics Lecture Room, Steele Hall.

Mr. J. A. Matthews, Ph. D., Sc. D., metallurgist of the Crucible Steel Co., will address the meeting upon "The Composition of Alloys." Mr. Matthews was the first Carnegie gold medallist of the Iron and Steel Institute of Great Britain. The lecture will be illustrated with stereoptican views. After the address the election of officers for the next semester will be held.

The wiring of the machine shop for electric lights has been completed. Each lathe has an incandescent light hanging over it.

A new rolling door has been placed over the mouth of the tunnel and "Chauncey" is not trying to warm the heating plant any longer.

The work of installing the new Babcock-Wilcox boiler in the heating plant is progressing. A committee of engineers who has inspected the work thinks that the boiler will be ready for use as soon as the chimney is completed.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL 1. No. 78. SYRACUSE, N. Y., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1903. PRICE TWO CENTS

YALE OUT-PLAYED.

Easily Defeated by the Strong Orange Five--Score 15 to 5.

Fifteen to Five tells the story of the greatest game of basketball ever played at Syracuse University. Last night the Orange Five outplayed the fast Yale team and won from them a glorious victory. About 250 enthusiastics saw the game.

The first half began at 8:34. Syracuse led off with a rush, and after three minutes of fast play by both teams, Kirchgasser threw the first basket for Syracuse. Yale then pulled a man out of bounds and Syracuse was awarded awarded one point by Referee Roseboro Kirchgasser soon followed with second basket for Syracuse. Then Powell, the doughty little center, threw a long shoot and made a goal. Powell played against a man at least six inches taller than himself, and out-played him at every point.

Yale here took a brace and Hyatt landed one goal for the blue. Powell then received one point from a free throw.

Kirchgasser who was putting up a fast game at forward hurt his eye slightly. He was able to resume play in a few minutes.

The playing the second half lacked much of the ginger of the first half. Kirchgasser led off with a goal for Syracuse. Powell threw goal on a foul by Yale. Referee Roseboro called a foul on Powell for holding. Yale missed, Yale was then awarded one point for foul and again missed a try for goal.

Kirchgasser was the star for Syracuse while Hyatt carried off the honors for Yale. Brady put up the greatest game of his life and won the approval of all his friends.

Houseknecht's work lacked its usual speed but altogether the team put up one of the best games in the history of basketball in this college.

The play was excellent just at this time. Syracuse put in some pretty team work. Several passes down the field showed the fine form they were in.

Kirchgasser threw an easy goal which he followed by one from mid-field. Time was called without further scoring. Syracuse 15 Yale 5.

A CALL TO DEBATERS

Professor Losey Issues a Call to all Debaters to try for the Team Which Meets Wesleyan.

In accordance with the reply received Wednesday from the Wesleyan Debating Society, Professor Losey issues the following call for candidates for the team:

Wesleyan has chosen the negative of the question, Resolved, That some form of compulsory arbitration should be established to settle disputes between capital and labor when such disputes interfere directly with the common interests of the community.

All members of the class debating clubs and all who have taken or are taking the course in argumentation are eligible as candidates for the intercollegiate team. I wish to issue an earnest call to all such men to enter the preliminary trials, which will be held, if possible, on Monday, Jan. 11.

Members of the course in English III, who are about to develop their briefs on the Chamberlin question and who desire to enter these trials, may abandon the forensic, and substitute in its place a ten-minute argument in support of the affirmative of the Wesleyan question. FREDERICK D. LOSEY.

The date suggested by Wesleyan is March 30 and as there is no objection to that date the debate will probably be held at that time. The list from which to choose the judges has been forwarded by Wesleyan.

THE ORATORICAL CONTESTS.

Changes have been made in the rules governing the oratorical contests of the University. The changes relate mainly to the time of the contests. Following are the complete amended rules governing these contests.

Arrangements.

The Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, with the head of the English department and the head of the elocution department, shall have charge of all arrangements relating to

The University Oratorical Contest,

The New York State Oratorical League Contest.

I.

THE UNIVERSITY ORATORICAL CONTEST.

Time of Contest.

During last week in April.

Place of Contest.

John Crouse College Hall.

Prizes.

Woman's Contest—First prize, $30; second prize, $20.

Men's Contest—First prize, $30; second prize, $20.

Judges of Final Contest.

Three judges shall be appointed—one of whom shall be a woman—for the final contest, none of whom shall be chosen from the faculties of Syracuse University.

In making their decision, the judges shall give equal weight to composition and delivery.

Students Eligible.

The contest shall be open to seniors and Juniors of the Liberal Arts College who have never won a prize in this contest and who have had one year's work in the department of English and two years' work in the department of elocution, Syracuse University.

Requirement.

Each contestant must present to the Dean of the Liberal Arts College on or before March 1 an original oration of not more than twelve hundred words signed with a pseudonym. At the same time he shall hand to the dean the pseudonym, together with his or her name, enclosed in a sealed envelope.

The oration shall be examined by the department of English, and from the number presented ten shall be chosen for delivery in a preliminary contest.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

Dr. E. H. Lovett of Colgate Uuiversity, will address the union meeting of the Christian Associations at four o'clock, Sunday afternoon in the gymnasium on the subject:—"What is My Way?"

THE ENGLISH CLUB.

The English Club will celebrate "Club night" at the Kappa Alpha Theta house on Tuesday evening evening Jan. 5. There will be no formal speaker but the meeting will be in charge of the Entertainment Committee. The committee are making extravagant plans for the entertainment of the members.

SMITH COLLEGE NOTES.

The Engineering Society met Friday afternoon Dec. 18, at 4 o'clock in the Physics Lecture room, Physics Hall. Mr. J. A. Matthews, Ph. D., Sc. D., metallurgist of the Crucible Steel Company gave an addres to the meeting "Upon the Constitution of Alloys." Mr. Matthews was the first Carnegie gold medallist of the Iron and Steel Institute of Great Britain. The lecture will be illustrated with sterioptican views.

The students do not seem to realize the seriousness of Band situation. It is a fact that unless the organization gets greater financial support there will be no band hereafter.

Of course nothing can be accomplisned before the holidays, but much should be done after the recess. A mass meeting in the interests of the Band should be held at that time. There is not a student in the University who wishes to see the Band drop out of the list of excellent University organizations.

Mrs. Richard Butler of New York has given Columbia $5,000 with which to found a competitive scholarship in memory of her husband, the late R-ich ard Butler. It is provided that this scholarship is for the benefit of boys or men born in Ohio, which was Mr. Butler's native state. The holder may, at his option, enter Columbia College or any one of the graduate schools or the professional schools of law, medicine or applied science. The scholarship will be awarded for the first time in September, 1904.

BELLE MEAD SWEETS.

A FEW TOASTS.

THEY ARE OLD BUT RETAIN THEIR FLAVOR LIKE BELLE MEAD SWEETS.

Here's to you as good as you are
And here's to me as bad as I am
But as bad as I am
And as good as you are
I'm as good as you are as bad as I am
Because
I always eat Belle Mead Sweets

You may be foolish
And sometimes very wrong
You may have a temper
Which dosen't last very long
You may be full of jollity
That, everybody knows
But you will always find friends
Where the Belle Mead Sweets goes.

The sum of $10,000 has been received from an anonymous donor, $5,000 of which is to be expended under the direction of the presidents in meeting the current needs of the university.

The University of Wisconsin next June will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the graduation of its first class. Few institutions of learning, especially in the West, have grown so rapidly or attained such high standing as this one. In its half century of existence it has sent out 5,000 sons and daughters, many of whom have achieved distinction.

DEUTSCHE VEREIN CELEBRATES CHRISTMAS.

The Deutsche Verein met Tuesday, the 15th, in the gymnasium to celebrate Christmas. More than 150 members were present. A large tree, with numerous candles added greatly to the charm of the evening.

The program was most enjoyable. A piano duet was rendered by the Misses Baker and Pennypacker; several German songs were pleasingly given by the Misses Ross, Rumrill and Messrs. Hauke and Lowe; and a violin solo by Mr. Bothe.

Mr. Roeder gave a short talk on Christmas in Europe. Speaking of Germany, Mr. Roeder said that the actual celebration takes place the evening before, while on Christmas day calls are exchanged.

While waiting for "Santa Claus," each member, provided with a lighted candle, marched several times around the room, singing a Christmas carol. Then Dr. Otto, as "Knecht Ruprecht," appeared with bag and switch in hand and gave the students good advice for the coming year.

Each one received a napkin with "Frohliche Weihnachten" on it. The occasion was considered one of the most enjoyable ever held by the club.

Refreshments were served in German style, consisting of German Lebknechen Pfeffernisse and chocolate.

MERRY CHRISTMAS.

There is something distinctive about a gift book bought at Wolcott's bookshop. Every book on the shelves possesses a charm that will not pass away with the fleeting years. "Good" books, "delightful" books, and "lovable books that will be a bonanza to Christmas buyers. Remember Wolcott's bookshop.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL 1 No. 79. SYRACUSE, N. Y., MONDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1903. PRICE TWO CENTS

OTHER COLLEGES.

News Gathered from Various Colleges of the Country.

Five days will be devoted to the celebration, beginning with the Sunday of the baccalaureate address. Throughout the jubilee it is planned to have a series of addresses by distinguished scholars from Europe, representing numerous departments of university research. The great growth of state universities will be brought out by the celebration; in fact, the exercises are built about the idea of showing this growth as much as the development of the University of Wisconsin.

Wisconsin was still in the pioneer stage when the university sent out its first graduates on July 26, 1854. Levi Booth, now in Denver, and C. T. Wakely, who is dead, constituted the graduating class. The junior class had but one member, the sophomore and freshman classes nine each. William F. Vilas, who has received a national reputation, was one of the freshmen. For many years the university had practically no financial aid from the state, but in 1870 it began to get attention and appropriations. The Civil War practically broke up the university for a time, its students nearly all going to the front for the support of the Union. The close of the war brought a new period of growth and inspiration for the university, and by 1870 it had nearly 500 students.

After the reorganization of 1866 the agricultural department became an integral part of the university, a radical departure from the policy of most other Western state institutions. Co-education was provided for in the reorganization of 1866, but for many years the young women were educated separately from the young men. The first appropriation made by the Legislature for the university was to construct the woman's building. There are now 3,000 students and the faculty and instructors number more than 200.

Vassar College has begun a campaign to raise $200,000 for educational endowment in order to secure a like sum conditionally offered by John D. Rockefeller. The growth of the college has made its present funds entirely inadequate to the demands upon them, and there is great need of the additional endowment. Mr. Rockefeller's contribution is restricted to general educational endowment. Up to this time there has been pledged, mostly through the efforts of the alumnae, about $50,000. The assumption that Vassar is well endowed is entirely unfounded. In 1861 Matthew Vassar founded it with half his fortune, and at his death gave it the other half. The whole sum, almost unparalled in his day, amounted to $800,000. Since 1865, when the college was opened, it has added to buildings and grounds over $1,000,000, and to general endowments over $600,000. But its students have increased to 930, its faculty to upward of 80—and since 1886 the salary account in the educational department has advanced from $43,935 to $101,735 in 1903-1904.

THE ORATORICAL CONTESTS.

Preliminary Contest.

The ten students whose orations have been chosen shall deliver their orations before a board of judges in a preliminary contest.

The judges shall select four men and four women for the final contest.

Syracuse Daily Orange

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL. I. NO. 80. SYRACUSE, N. Y., TUESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

PRINTED ON THE HILL

The Daily Orange is Now Printed in a Shop Owned and Operated by Students.

There is one ideal which has been before the minds of the men allied with the Daily Orange ever since its inception, That is to publish the paper on the Hill, in a plant controlled by ourselves.

As the days and weeks passed by and the disadvantages of publishing a daily newspaper in a job printing office became more obvious, this ideal began to take more definite form, and now, after several weeks of preparatory work, the ideal has been realized.

The first floor of the barn on the old Raynor Estate, corner of Irving avenue and Croton Street, has been leased from the Orange Club and built over to meet the requirements of a modern printing plant. New machinery and type to the value of nearly $1,500 have been installed in readiness for all the needs of the paper and all kinds of high class printing. No expense has been spared in order to secure a printing plant which will, from a technical standpoint, make possible a college daily which will be second to none among the sixteen dailies in the field.

Syracuse is the third university to have a daily newspaper plant which is owned and controlled by the students. Brown was the first to adopt the plan, and in several years of experience has found it satisfactory in every respect. Colmmbia was the second, the Spectator, becoming the owner of its own printing plant only a month ago. The Syracuse plan, while somewhat dissimilar to that used elsewhere, is, the management believes, the best that is possible under the conditions existing here.

The printing plant is owned by a corporation known as the Orange Publishing Company, the directors and stockholders of which are all students, including A. Stanley Copeland and Irving R. Templeton '04, Clement T. Robertson '05, Henry H. Curtiss '06, and Ralph W. Abell '07. The formation of this corporation and the low rate which it has made for printing the Orange will make possible the publishing of the paper throughout the year without allowing a debt to accumulate, and will give better news service than would be possible in a downtown office.

The shop, which will be known as the Orange Print Shop, is in charge of a capable printer, a union man, who has had nearly twenty years of experience in the printing business. His chief assistant will be Ralph W. Abell, '07, who has had five years' experience in the business. Other student workmen will be employed when necessary.

For a few days the print shop will be seriously handicapped owing to the fact that the blizzard which has been raging has hindered the connection of lights and motor with the city wires. While waiting for this work to be done much of the type will of necessity be set by the dim light of kerosene lamps and the giant Universal press, weighing over a ton, will be "kicked" by foot.

Within the course of a week, however, the plant will be in complete working order, ready for the inspection of the students.

The Syracuse Evening Herald, commenting editorially on the new plant, says:

"The Syracuse Daily Orange, a paper published by the university students, will be hereafter entirely the work of the students. They will act as type setters, pressmen, reporters, proofreaders and, in fact, fill all the positions connected with a paper. Many veteran newspaper men, who themselves started in at the bottom, will consider this, no doubt, as the most practical "school of journalism" yet projected."

TRACK COACHES ELECTED.

The Athletic Governing Board last week selected J. A. R. Scott as head coach and Courtney D. Whittemore as assistant coach of the 1904 track team. A call will be issued to-day for all track candidates to report for practice. The track work has been much handicapped by the fact that nothing definite has been known about the coaches, but this will not interfere seriously with the work of the year.

Nothing yet has been decided about the various meets. There will be a meeting early this week of the captain, coaches, manager and track committee to decide upon these and upon other important matters relating to track athletics.

The seventy-fourth regiment of Buffalo has offered a sufficient guarantee to pay all the expenses of 20 men to take part in the indoor meet to be held there February 10 with Cornell and the regimental athletes. If Manager Edwards can obtain the State Armory down town for our athletes to train in, it is probable that this proposition will be accepted. It would be useless, however, to accept unless some such place can be obtained. Negotiations are pending with both Williams and Cornell for dual meets.

FRAT. HOUSE QUARANTINED.

Saturday morning, Dec. 26, the Beta Theta Pi house in Irving avenue was placed under quarantine by the city Board of Health. Mr. Fred Millspaugh '01, of Batavia, was found to be suffering from a mild attack of smallpox, taken while visiting at his home. He was removed to the City Hospital, where he is now convalescing. The men under quarantine are Whittemore, '01, Woolsey, '02, Stokely, '05, Ellis, '04, Sorondo, '06, Hawley, '07. As yet these men have shown no signs of the disease. The quarantine will not be lifted until next week.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The special offer of $2.00 for a year's subscription to the DAILY ORANGE has been extended to January 8, 1904. After that date the regular rate of $2.50 will be strictly adhered to.

JAMES J. BELDEN.

Prominent Trustee of the University Dies on January First.

Just after the advent of ihe new year the city of Syracuse lost one of its most valued citizens and Syracuse University one of its best friends in the person of the Hon. James J. Belden, who died at the Vanderbilt Hotel Friday morning at the age of seventy-eight. Mr. Belden fittingly closed his active life by what Dr. H. L. Elsner, the attending physician, called "the most remarkable death I ever saw."

Mr. Belden was born in Fabius, Onondaga county, where in his early years he clerked in a store. The early fifties found him in California with the gold excitement. Returning to Syracuse, he engaged in public contract work and soon became independently rich. He was mayor of this city for two consecutive terms and also member of Congress for two terms. He left an estate of nearly $8,000,000.

Mr. Belden was a most active trustee of the University and a member of the Finance and Library committees. His interest is shown by his valuable gift to the library some years ago.

It is said that every worthy charity in the city is remembered in his will. Truly, a generous close to an equally generous life.

DR. VAN DE WARKER'S BOOK.

Considerable stir has been aroused during the past week by the publication of a book by Ely Van de Warker, M.D., under the caption of "Woman's Unfitness for Higher Co-education." Dr. Van de Warker is a local physician of prominence and a member of the Board of Education. His book is a bitter attack upon co-education and, to use the language of one of the local newspapers, "he handles the subject without gloves."

Naturally from his extended residence here, the author makes Syracuse University the basis for many of his allegations. His only authorities, however, are newspaper reports which he makes no attempt to substantiate. The flimsiness of the Doctor's data may be seen when it is known that he made the slight Long Branch incident of last year an "outbreak of social license which cause the citizens of Syracuse to hold their breath." Throughout the book the Doctor makes several gross charges against the feminine portion of the student body of this University. One of his statements is as follows:

"When a young woman is exposed to the deteriorating influence of a college for both sexes, she invites her own degradation."

The incident may now be considered closed, for the Syracuse Journal in its issue of January 1 contains a two-column article by Chancellor Day which effectually answers every argument of the Doctor, that is as far as Syracuse is concerned, and establishes the falsity of his statements in the minds of all those that read the Chancellor's letter. His exact statement as to the true condition of affairs is as follows: "Since Syracuse University first came into existence . . . it has had not one scandal."

CLASSICAL CLUB.

The Classical club has arranged for a series of lectures to be given in Assembly Hall, University block, during the winter. The proceeds of the course will be used for the purchase of books for the Seminar library.

The first lecture will be given January 21 by Prof. B. B. Richardson, who for the past ten years has been director of the American school at Athens. The lecture will be an illustrated one upon the subject of the excavations at Corinth from an archeological and biblical standpoint. Dr. Richardson is an authority on this subject. He has made it a matter of special study, and is one of the foremost Greek scholars in America, as well as a very interesting lecturer.

Early in March, exact date not yet announced, a lecture on the Ancient Roman Religion will be given by Dr. M. H. Morgan, professor of Classical Philogy at Harvard.

The third lecture will be given by Dr. Peritz on some subject in the field of semitics.

Course tickets will soon be placed on sale.

NOTICES.

Next Monday evening, Jan. 11, is the date set for the trials for the intercollegiate debate team. The call was published in the Orange before the Christmas recess. Professor Losey is anxious to have enough candidates, if possible, to be able to select two teams to keep in training until just before the time for the submission of the final forensic. In this the best possible results can be secured. The probable date for the debate is March 30.

There will be an important meeting of the English Club this evening at the Kappa Alpha Theta House in Irving Avenue. At this time the date for the production of the English play will be set if possible. Committees will also be appointed to take care of the business end of the performance. The program for the evening will be in charge of the entertainment committee, which has arranged for the reproduction by the club of several old English games.

From this time on the rehearsals for King Lear will assume a more serious nature. The coach announced yesterday that each member of the cast would have to give prompt attendance at every rehearsal in order to make the play a success. The rehearsals for this week are as follows:—

Wednesday, 4 p. m., Act I, entire.

Friday, 4 p. m., Act II, entire.

Those appearing in the first scene of these acts are expected to report promptly at four, the others in time to make their appearance when their cue is given, in order that there may be no delay.

It is indeed with great pleasure that the Daily Orange greets the student body with "A Happy New Year." As a paper we have the extreme good fortune of starting the new year with a complete new plant owned and controlled by ourselves. We have attained our ideal in this direction, but we still are striving for the highest standard as a daily college paper. The successful consummation of our plans has been due in a great degree to our able business manager.

In carrying on our business of job printing in connection with our paper we solicit the patronage of the student body and the authorities. We promise first class work at reasonable rates.

In the death of Hon. James J. Belden, Syracuse University suffers a severe loss. Although burdened with large responsibility in business and political life, Mr. Belden, throughout his years of service on the Board of Trustees, has been unremitting in his efforts to further the welfare of our University.

Dr. Van De Warker's book, assailing a coeducational form of education should not be taken too seriously. His whole argument, if argument it may be called, relative to the so called immoral tendencies of higher coeducation, is, so far as Syracuse University is concerned, based on sensationally written newspaper reports and a few particular instances from which the doctor makes some bold and altogether unwarrntable generalizations.

Every branch of spring athletics will be in full swing this week. We would urge every man in college with any ability in athletic sports to get out, and do his part in keeping up the high standard of Syracuse.

TUTORING CLASS.

A class to review freshman algebra is now being organized. Sessions will be held in Hall of Languages as follows:

Section (1) will be held on Thursday p. m., from 2 to 4, Jan. 5, 1904; on Thursday from 2 to 4 p. m., Jan. 7; on Tuesday from 2 to 4 p. m. Jan. 12; and on Thursday from 2 to 4 p m. Jan. 14.

Section (2) will meet Tuesday evening from 7 to 9, Jan. 5; Wednesday evening from 7 to 9, Jan. 6; Tuesday evening from 7 to 9, Jan. 12, and Wednesday evening, Jan. 13, from 7 to 9. If another session is found necessary it will be arranged later.

ALUMNI MARRIAGES.

One of the most brilliant of the many social functions which took place during the holiday season was the wedding, solemnized Thursday evening, December 31, in the Central Baptist Church, when Miss Harriet Lucile Baldwin, '03, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Baldwin, was married to George Martin Van Slyke, '01, of Brooklyn.

Both bride and groom are recent graduates of Syracuse, being members of Kappa Alpha Theta and Delta Upsilon respectively.

The bridesmaids were Miss Maud Millington of Herkimer, Miss Beatrice Throop of Port Gibson, Miss Maisa Parker of Akron, Miss Lillian Mead of Albany, Miss Gertrude Woodford and Miss Amy Glisman of this city. The ushers were John Harmon and Richard Lord of Brooklyn, Reginald Imperatori of New York, Winfield Van-Slyke of Carthage, and Dr. Alfred W. Armstrong and Charles P. Tyrell of Syracuse. Frederick Nusbickle of Lyons attended the groom as best man.

After the impressive church ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Furman street which was attended by more than two hundred friends and relatives of the young couple, including many of their old college friends.

Carl E. Dorr, '00, and Amelia L. Morgan, '99, were married at the home of the bride's parents at Rome, N. Y. The service was performed by the groom's father, Rev. C. E. Dorr, of Watertown. The couple were unattended and the ceremony was witnessed by only a few relatives and intimate friends. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white crepe de chine trimmed with duchess lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorr will reside at 200 W. Castle street where they will be at home after February 1.

Carl Dorr is a former captain of the 'Varsity football team and one of the most prominent city alumni. He has been one of the ablest assistants to the coaches this past season. He is a member of Delta Upsilon and since graduation has been practicing law in this city. Mrs. Dorr is a member of Gamma Phi Beta.

TRACK MEN CALLED OUT

Hard Practice Will Begin at Once--Prospects are Fair.

At a meeting of the track committee together the coach and manager of the 1904 team it was decided to call out all the track candidates for enrollment. This includes all the old men as well as the new candidates. Tne meeting will be held in Prof. Scott's office.

Owing to the crowded condition of the gym, it is not definitely known as to when the regular practice will take place. Prof. Scott will present the matter to the classes to-morrow and find out what arrangements can be made. Announcement will be made later.

Th track teame will be seriously handicapped this year from the fact that training has not been begun earlier. Cornell has had her men out for nearly two months now.

The fact was announced yesterday that the team would not go to Buffalo on account of a lack of a place to train. Last fall estimates were made out and submitted to the committee for an excellent board track, tho whole construction of which would cost less than two hundred dollars. Nothing was done, however, toward the construction of such a track, and now the team and interest of the univeraity have to suffer from the lack.

The old material left as a nucleus for the team is as good as has been had in years. Captain H. L. Gardner, who tied the intercollegiate record in the pole vault last year, is in fine condition and is expected to do even better this year.

William C. Lowe, last year's captain and the all star man of the team, has still another year to compete under the four-year eligibility rule. He holds the college record in the high jump and also takes the hurdle and broad jump. His presence will strengthen the team materially.

Cornelius Van Duyne, is another championship man from whom better things are expected this year.

Lowe, in the hurdles, will be supported by Cook and Robertson, the latter a new man in the event but who made good last year.

Treible will help out the champion in the high jump.

In the dashes there will be the old men, Ralph, Sechner, Trombly, Crowell, Esmay and Lipe. In these events the coaches hope to develop much new material.

Squires, who did so well last year in the half, will look after that event, assisted probably by Erway. Squires' running mate, Sayre, is not in college this year.

Both Wise and Stokely are out of college this year, leaving the team without any mile men. The coaches will have to develop men to fill the places of the old milers.

Boyd, who holds the S. U. record in the two mile, will better his time this year. There is a possibility that little Vorhis, the sophomore who surprised everybody last fall at the inter-class meet, will do something worthy in that event.

In the broad jump, besides the regular track men, Lowe and Ralph, the two baseball men, Rutherford and Burrill, are expected to take a few points,

The prospect of material from the freshman class is not very bright. There are a few stars, but outside of these the first year class does not promise much material.

WM. C. LOWE.

Cole, the Elmira sprinter, comes here with a reputation, which he started in to live up to last fall. Gidley, a youngster, has been commented on for the dashes, although he has no record.

Much is expected from Mount, the freshman who, without previous training, threw the shot over thirty feet last fall. With college coaching he ought to make the man needed for that event.

The general outlook, however, is very bright. The freshman class may show up better than the coaches expect. The old men are certainly as good as any team ever worked with before. The prospects point to a successful season, notwithstanding the handicaps.

LARGE GIFT TO THE UNIVERSITY

James J. Belden Leaves a Bequest of $150,000 for Syracuse.

The will of James J. Belden was read yesterday morning before his relatives. Announcement was made of a magnificent gift to Syracuse University. Mr. Belden, who for many years has been a trustee, leaves $150,000 to be used in the interests of our University. One-third of the total amount is given as a special gift to the Medical College.

This is not the first time that Syracuse has been benefited by the generosity of Mr. Belden. During the many years that he has been a trustee of our growing University, he has always shown in a substantial way that he has had our interests deeply at heart. The gift is a fitting climax to many others, some of which are unknown to the general public.

LYMAN C. SMITH'S GIFT.

Mr. Lyman C. Smith has again shown his generosity to Syracuse University by presenting it with a handsome large oil painting of Chancellor James R. Day. The painting represents the Chancellor in cap and gown. It has an appropriate gold frame. The picture is now hanging in the Chancellor's office in the Library building. It is from the artist Ghold of Auburn, N. Y.

ORANGE PRINT SHOP NOTES.

The lighting company do not yet see the dignity of our undertaking and our need for power, so we are still kicking the press.

The Daily Orange wishes to express its hearty thanks to "Doctor" John Cunningham for his efficient aid in getting out the first issue under the new auspices. As soon as "Doc" Cunningham heard that the Daily Orange had nearly invaded the campus with a plant he plowed through the drifts over the back of the hill and hunted up the shop. The door wasn't closed behind him before his coat was off and in less time than it takes to tell it he was "kicking" the giant press and taking out the second and third pages of the paper.

TUTORING CLASS.

A class to review freshman algebra is now being organized. Sessions will be held in Hall of Languages as follows:

Section (1) will be held on Thursday p. m., from 2 to 4, Jan. 5, 1904; on Thursday from 2 to 4 p. m., Jan. 7; on Tuesday from 2 to 4 p. m., Jan. 12; and on Thursday from 2 to 4 p. m. Jan. 14.

Section (2) will meet Tuesday evening from 7 to 9, Jan. 5; Wednesday evening from 7 to 9, Jan. 6; Tuesday evening from 7 to 9, Jan. 12, and Wednesday evening, Jan. 13, from 7 to 9. If another session is found necessary it will be arranged later.

MARGARET LOUISE TOTMAN.

Announcement was made yesterday morning of the death of Miss Margaret Louise Totman, '06, of this city. Miss Totman left college for the vacation in excellent health. During last week she was operated upon for appendicitis, the result being that she died at her home, 303 Montgomery street.

Miss Totman was a conscientious student. She stood well up in all her classes and was a favorite with both faculty and fellow students. Her death will be mourned by her many friends.

Miss Totman was a member of Alpha Phi.

A meeting of the Sophomore class was held after chapel yesterday morning to take action upon the death of Miss Totman. Committees were appointed to draw up resolutions and send flowers to the funeral.

The Eastern and Central divisions of the Modern Language Associations of the United States met at Ann Arbor during the holidays. Dr. F. J. Holzwarth, Dr. Otto and Mr. Boyesen represented Syracuse at the convention. The Eastern division will hold its convention at Brown University the coming year, while the Western division holds its meeting at Chicago. Joint meetings of the associations are held only once in five years.

NOTICES.

There will be a very important meeting of the Junior class immediately after chapel Thursday.

C. HOUSEKNEHT, Pres.

Next Monday evening, Jan. 11, is the date set for the trials for the intercollegiate debate team. The call was published in the Orange before the Christmas recess. Professor Losey is anxious to have enough candidates, if possible, to be able to select two teams to keep in training until just before the time for the submission of the final forensic. In this the best possible results can be secured. The probable date for the debate is March 30.

From this time on the rehearsals for King Lear will assume a more serious nature. The coach announced yesterday that each member of the cast would have to give prompt attendance at every rehearsal in order to make the play a success. The rehearsals for this week are as follows:—

Wednesday, 4 p. m., Act I, entire.

Friday, 4 p. m., Act II, entire.

Those appearing in the first scene of these acts are expected to report promptly at four, the others in time to make their appearance when their cue is given, in order that there may be no delay.

Announcement was made yesterday of the fact that Syracuse University would not be able to compete in the indoor meet at Buffalo because of the lack of a floor to train upon.

The cost of construction of a board track is very slight, a matter of comparatively few dollars. It seems unfortunate that such a track could not be constructed here and thus put our track team on an equal footing with those of other colleges.

An indoor meet with Cornell and the Seventy-fourth Regiment would be very advantageous. It would give the coaches an opportunity to get a line on their material and also give the men a contest to quicken their efforts during the long spring training.

It is very urgent that some action be taken this week in the interest of the University Band. As we explained before the holidays, the organization is deeply in debt, resulting from a combination of circumstances.

The plan of having the students get up another concert is hardly possible at this late day. We would suggest that the senior class, or the two upper classes, hold a meeting and devise a scheme whereby the students can all aid in raising the debt, and so continue the organization of which we can all be proud.

AMERICAN HISTORICAL LECTURES

Tickets will be placed on sale this week for the course of lectures on American History arranged for jointly by the Historical Association and Principal Wickes of the High School. The lectures are to be given by Prof. William Harrison Mace and Mr. Wickes. They will be interspersed with patriotic concerts which will be well worth hearing. The proceeds will be given to the purchase of historical literature at both the High School and University.

The dates and subjects of the various lectures are here given:

Jan. 15. "Adoption of the Constitution." William K. Wickes.

Jan. 22. "Men and Women from Washington to Jefferson." Mr. Wickes.

Feb. 5. "The Roots of the Conflict over Slavery." Professor W. H. Mace.

Feb. 12. "The Struggle for More Slave Territory." Professor Mace.

Feb. 19. Patriotic concert by High School students under direction of Mr. Wickes.

Feb. 26. "Break-up of Whig and Democratic Parties." Professor Mace.

March 4. "Conciliation, Secession and Emancipation." Professor Mace.

March 11. Patriotic concert by University students under direction of Harold Adkins.

All these lectures will be illustrated by appropriate tableaux.

PERSONAL AND ALUMNI.

Representatives of Syracuse University were much in evidence at the recent educational convention held in Syracuse.

Dr. William H. Mace gave a very interesting address before the Academic Principals on "Underlying Principles of History Teaching."

Dr. W. Martin Smallwood, '95, spoke before the State Science teachers on Biology as a Cultural Study. Principal Guy H. Baskerville, '93, lead in a discussion on "The Effect of Present Methods of Teaching English on the Students' Appreciation of Good Literature" before the Academic Principals.

A large number of alumni attended the various conventions, and many class and fraternity reunions were held.

H. A. Smith, '03-dx, who has been in the employ of the Central New York Telephone company in this city, has accepted a lucrative position with the Central Union Telephone company in Columbus, O. He left for that city Monday evening.

Mp. Frederick Snow, '06, suffered a severely sprained ankle while on the glee club trip. He will be compelled to use crutches for several weeks.

Mr. Grove H. Patterson, '05, of Oberlin college, is visiting on the hill. Mr. Patterson was formerly a student at Syrucuse, and is a brother of Professor Patterson at the University.

DR. C. P. HUTCHINS WILL BE HEAD COACH

Football Coaching System Definitely Decided by Selection of Head Coach.

The announcement was made yesterday of the selection of Dr. C. P. Hutchins of Carlisle, Pa., as the head coach in foot-ball for next fall. The system adopted is identical with the one exressed at length editorially in the Daily Orange last month. It will employ a head-coach at a good salary, and several graduates as assistant coaches. Dr. Hutchins' acceptance as head-coach is certain, but no assistant coaches have as yet been named.

Dr. Hutchins will come to Syracuse with an excellent reputation. He is a Williams man, and also a graduate of a medical college. During the past two years he coached the Dickinson College football, baseball and track squads. Last fall he turned out a splendid foot-ball eleven, which surprised many of the Eastern critics. It defeated the strong Penn State team 6 to 0, Lehigh 17 to 0 and snowed under Lafayette in the final game 35 to 0.

Dr. Hutchins is not only an all-round coach but has had valuable experience as a trainer, in which his doctor's degree is a valuable aid. He has been engaged for one year, and will not enter upon his duties until next fall.

KING LEAR MANAGEMENT.

The permanent committees chosen by the English Club at its last meeting for the business matters connected with the production of King Lear in the spring are as follows:

Costume Committee—Miss Richards, chairman; Mrs. Eaton, Miss Carpenter, Oscar J. Brown, '06.

Committee on Printing and Advertising—Dr. Eaton, chairman; J. R. Allen, '04, Joseph A. Mosher, '05, Lewis F. Collings, '06.

Ticket Committee—Dr. Tilley, chairman; Frank A. Patterson, '04, George A. Goldstone, '04, Miss Mary F. Williams, '04, Miss Bessie Hook, '04, Miss Emily Johnson, '04, Miss Isabelle Coffin, '04, Arthur F. Rider, '05, Miss Grace H. Enwistle, '05. Floyd W. Treible, '06, Miss Louise Dahlmann, '06, Everett D. Voorhis, '06, Jacob C. Tressler, '06.

Committee on General Management—Professor Morris, chairman; Mrs. Losey, Miss Florence Giles, '05, Miss Sarah A. Thomas, '05, Robert Park, '05.

Committee on Patronesses—Miss Richards, chairman; Miss Losey, Seth Rice, '05.

MUSICAL CLUBS

The Glee and Instrumental Clubs were unusually successful in their recent holiday trip. On December 19 the Clubs appeared at Oneida, and gave an interesting concert which was well attended,

The regular Eastern trip was commenced on December 22, with the first Concert in the Wagner Opera House at Canajoharie, N. Y. The attendance was fair and the men had a pleasant time. The Theta Phi fraternity men at Johnstown had charge of the next date, which was filled by the Club appearing in the fine new Y. M. C. A. Building of that town. Here the men were greeted by a good crowd, which showed its appreciation of an excellent program.

Thursday morning, December 24, the men visited Schenectady. While there they went through the great General Electric Works, under the guidance of Mr. Everson '00, one of the chief engineers. In the evening a private concert was given at Troy for the Riverside Club, one of the fashionable clubs there. After the concert the men enjoyed a dance.

It was at Troy that many of the men had a unique experieece in getting a night's rest. Some succeeded in getting to sleep about 5 a. m., only to be awakened by a fire in the city.

Christmas was spent in Albany, where all the men had a most enjoyable time. In the afternoon Governor Odell and wife gave the Clubs a reception at the Executive Mansion. In the evening the Clubs appeared at the First M. E. Church before an audience of 1,100. The Rev. Dr. Brown '81 is pastor of this church. The young people of the church gave a reception to the Clubs after tne concert.

Ballston Spa, December 26, was thd next date, and December 28 the Clubs played at North Adams, Mass. Both concerts were well attended. Many of the men visited at Williams college while in Massachusetts.

Mr. H. O. Smith '02, was responsible for the concerts at Huntington and Northport, L. I. He is to be commended for the successful concerts at these two places. On Decembre 31 a matince was given at King's Park in the afternoon.

Goshen city was entered on January 1. Mr. Guy Baskerville '97 entertained the Clubs while there in a most excellent manner, under the auspices of the High School. The concert in the evening was a decided success. It is said many of the men left their places of entertainment with the greatest reluctance. On January 2 the last concert was given at Whitney's Point.

The Clubs gave a total of twelve concerts, and covered over 1,000 miles on the trip. It was considered the most successful of recent years.

NOTICES.

There will be a very important meeting of the Junior class immediately after chapel today.

C. HOUSEKNECHT, Pres.

Tomorrow, Friday, at 4 p. m. the second act of King Lear will be rehearsed. Those appearing in the first scene are urged to be present promptly at four.

Chancellor Day spoke in chapel yesterday on the life of James J. Belden and his magnificent gift to Syracuse

SYRACUSE ENTERS BUFFALO MEET

Orange Track Athletes Will Meet the Cornell and 74th Regiment Cracks at Buffalo.

Syracuse will enter a team in the Indoor meet to be given in the great Buffalo Armory on February 20. This was definitely decided yesterday at a conference between Chancellor Day, Dr. Smallwood, Coach Scott and Manager Edwards of the track team.

The 74th Regiment authorities have given a guarantee which will cover the expenses of twenty men. It is not certain, however, that Syracuse will enter the full number. Cornell, however, will enter at least twenty men.

It was very doubtful during the last few days as to whether the Orange team would enter. This hesitation came from the fact that the facilities for indoor work are very poor, and the meet is in the near future, allowing but a short time for training.

The authorities will do their best however, to enter a good team at the time of the Buffalo meet.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE CLASS OF 1906.

Whereas, In view of the loss we have sustained by the decease of our friend and classmate, Margaret Louise Totman, and of the still heavier loss sustained by those who were nearest and dearest to her; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the Class of 1906 of Syracuse University, consider it but a just tribute to the memory of the departed to say that in regretting her removal from our midst we mourn for one who was, in every way, worthy of our respect and regard.

Resolved, That we sincerely condole with the family of the deceased in the dispensatihn with which it has pleased Divine Providence to afflict them, and commend them for consolation to Him who orders all things for the best, and whose chastisements are meant in mercy; be it further

Resolved, That this heartfelt testimonial of our sympathy and sorrow be forwarded to the family of our departed classmate by the secretary of this meeting.

BASE BALL SCHEDULE

Coach Costello and Manager Manley have decided to drop six of the dates arranged for the Southern trip. This will cut down one week on the Southern schedule. Too much time taken from study by a long schedule is the reason assigned for this arrangement.

The games left out are the ones arranged with Mercer, University of Georgia, Clemson College, Furman University, Davidson College and the University of Virginia. Now the trip will not take the men further south than North Carolina, and will come for the most part within the Easter recess.

Coach Costello will not call out the candidates until after the mid-year examinations. The batteries this year will probably practice in the Armory.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The special offer of $2.00 for a year's subscription to the DAILY ORANGE has been extended to January 8, 1904. After that date the regular rate of $2.50 will be strictly adhered to.

DEBATING AT WESLEYAN,

Stewart F. Hancock, Wesleyan, '05, will doubtless be on the team which meets Syracuse this winter. His article, Wesleyan Debating, which recently appeared in the Debater, will be of general interest to all Syracuse students.

Every iasge college has its paculiarities in undergraduate activities, and Wesleyan is no exception to this rule in its manner of conducting intercollegiate debating. The greatest difference between debating at Wesleyan and other institutions is perhaps the entire absence of faculty coaching in any way whatsoever. Williams and Wesleyan allowed faculty coaching in the first Williams-Wesleyan debate with the result that the contest took on more the aspect of a debate between the faculties than the students of the two institutions. Since that time an agreement between the two colleges has limited the faculty help to the mere preparation of biographies on the subjects for debate. This scheme on the whole has been satisfactory, as busy professors are thus saved much valuable time, and the debaters encouraged to put their own individuality and brains into their wosk.

With each year, debating bas come to be recognized as a more important phase of undergraduate activity. A singular coincidence emphasises this fact. Last year G. F. Hurd, '03, for three years the best debater in Williams, was chosen Class Day President at Williams; while John Langdale, '03, holding a similar place in debating at Wesleyan, was chosen to the same office. The problem of proper recognition for debaters has been solved here as at most other colleges by the presentation of watch febs, inscribed on one side with the college letter, a "W" witb crossed gavels, and on the other with the debater's name and the various contests in which he has represented his college.

The Daily Orange announces a change in the editorial arrangement of getting out the paper. Since the first issue the editor has had the sole responsibility for every issue of the daily. During the past four monthsthe task has been an immense one, compelling the person in charge to work into the small hours of the morning every week day so as to keep up the paper, and his studies.

Hereafter Mr. Lloyd S. Cheney, 1905, who was news editor, and Mr. Oscar J. Brown, 1906, an associate, will be known as the Managing Editors. They will have the sole responsibility for three issues of the Daily Orange each week, and the editor will have charge of the remaining three of that week. This will lift the burden of the editor to some extent, and will doubtless result in better news service.

NEW BOOKS FOR LIBRARY.

The books purchased at an auction in New York recently for the historical Library have arrived. Among them are the bound volumes of the Illustrated London News from 1843 down to the present time. The books were purchased with tne proceeds from last year's lecture benefit, and are one of the most valuable additions to the library this year.

TRACK MEN OUT.

First Practice This Afternoon--Meets with Buffalo, Cornell, Colgate and at Mott Haven.

The first meeting of the candidates for the 1904 track team was held in the gymnasium yesterday afternoon. About 50 men reported, over 20 of whom were freshmen. This will mean probably a squad of nearly 65 men.

At the meeting Coach Scott first outlined the work for the new men and spoke of the coming meet at Buffalo. Training is to be carried on in the gym Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 5 p. m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays the distance men will take cross country runs. In a short time three days a week will be spent in the armory.

Captain Gardner, ex-Captain Lowe and Manager Edwards each said a few words of encouragement.

The meets already arranged for besides the one at Buffalo are the intercollegiate meet at Mott Haven and the meet with Cornell. This latter meet will be held either here or at Ithaca, April 30 or May 7. A meet may be arranged with Colgate to take place there.

About 16 men besides the coaches and management will be taken to Buffalo February 20. A better showing is expected this year than last.

The first practice will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clok.

Several members of last year's team did not report yesterday. Those who reported were:

Dashes—Mitchell, Cole, Stickles, White.

Hurdles—Boeheim, Mowers, Dillenbeck, Lowe, Houck.

Half Mile—Stebbins, K. B. Squires, Hayes, Gordon.

Mile—Chidister, Michelsen, Wells, Pierce, Perkins, Cain, Call, Wilson, D. C. Squires, Magoon, Lord, Betty, Boyd, Lobdell, Coulter.

Jumps—Gardner, Treible, Gregory, Southworth, Perry, Houck.

Weights—Van Duyne, Mount, Church.

ARTHUR B. PEASLEE

With the advent of the new year came the sad announcement of the sudden death of Arthur B. Peaslee.

Mr. Peaslee was at a party at his home town of Oneida, watching the incoming of the new year. A few minutes after midnight, he was stricken with heart disease, and fell dead.

He graduated in the arts course with the class of 1896, and entered the law course from which he was graduated in 1898. He was at once admitted to the bar, and has built up a successful practice at Oneida. He was a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity. He was a brother of Clarence L. Peaslee, '93, and Miss Mary E. Pearslee, '03.

TRIALS FOR DEBATE TEAM.

Interest is now centering about the trials for the intercollegiate team, which are to be held Monday evening in the Hall of Languages. Only about two months and a half will elapse between the time the team is chosen and the debate takes place. The question will be, Resolved, That some form of compulsory arbitration should be established to settle disputes between capital and labor when such disputes interfere directly with the common interests of the community.

The following men have already announced their intention of trying for the team: E. H. Sumner, G. K. Warren, A. A. L. Baldrey, G. S. Brown, W. F. S. Rogers, Robert Park, F. L. Pitts, Wesley Hook, Lloyd L. Cheney, C. Z. Spriggs, G. A. Goldstone, Clifford Searle, J. R. Rubin, F. L. Hartwell, Earl Rice.

FRESHMEN VS. JENNERS.

The freshmen basket-ball team will meet the five from Jenners' Preparatory School in the gymnasium tomorrow evening. The latter five has been playing snappy ball this season and a fast game is looked for.

The freshmen will probably line-up as follows: Kirchgasser and Millen, forwards; Powell, center; Coit and Evans, guards. The admission to those who do not hold season tickets will be fifteen cents.

Season tickets can now be obtained for 75 cents.

PERSONAL AND ALUMNI.

E. J. Boyd '03 principal of Dundee High School and Miss Ina M. Eull formerly a teacher in Manlius High School were married on December 24th at the home of the bride's sister in this city.

Mrs. Henry W. Thornton of Chicago, formerly Miss Katie Brown of Syracuse University is one of the few survivors of the Iroquois Theatre fire. Mr. Thornton was seated in the first row of the balcony and was about the only one in that part of the building who escaped.

On account of illness, Prof. J. M. Richards, temporary head of the English department, has been unable to meet her classes for the past few days.

Miss Ada McDermott, '04, has been seriously ill with appendicitis. She was compelled to undergo an operation yesterday at the House of the Good Shepherd.

THE SENIOR BALL

POSTER CONTEST

The Senior Ball will be held under the auspices of Phi Kappa Alpha on February 11, at the Alhambra. Arrangements are being made which assure the student body that the affair will be the greatest success in college history.

Liberal prizes will be given for the poster contest, providing a sufficient number enter. The dates on which all posters must be in is January 27. The first three prizes are $8, $5 and $3.

THE 1905 ONONDAGAN

Results of the Prize Contests--Printing to Begin Next Week

The 1905 Onondagan is getting fairly into shape now, and the material is now nearly all in. Printing will begin next week, several weeks earlier, it is believed, than ever before. The printing is done in sixteen-page forms; and so while part of the book is sent on immediately, some parts of the book can be held back, possibly two weeks later. No part, however, will be delayed beyond its scheduled date for the admission of late matter. Easter vacation begins this year March 30th, several weeks earlier than usual. It had been hoped to publish the 1905 ONONDAGAN before Easter vacation, but as it takes eight weeks to print the book, this will be impossible this year. The book will, however, come out immediately after, about April 10; the exact date will be announced some weeks beforehand.

1905 ONONDAGAN Contests No. 3 and 4 were withdrawn for lack of sufficient entries. These contests would have had to be withdrawn anyway, however, to make room in the already overcrowded ONONDAGAN, for an even more interesting and important special feature, announcement of which will be made in the DAILY ORANGE next week.

In Contest No. 2 there were really three contests. The prize for the best cover design has not yet been awarded.

The prize for the best humorous drawings was given to Mr. Haynsworth Baldry a junior student in the Painting Department for his set of caricatures on the class drawings. Mr. Fred Lear of the Department of Architecture received the second prize for his set of two drawings to illustrate the new style "Greeting." There were altogether nine entries in this contest.

The third contest, that for serious drawings, was a close one, rendered so by the large number of entries made, about thirty-five. The 1905 ONONDAGAN will undoubtedly have more and better drawings than any annual heretofore, having as it does, such a large selection to draw from.

The first prize, two dollars and a copy of the ONONDAGAN was finally awarded to Mr. Markland, a Freshman in the Architectural Department for a very carefully worked out pen-and-ink Indian "Frontispiece." The second prize was won by Mr. Baldry for a wash-drawing, illustrating a short-story by the editor-in-chief, to be published in the ONONDAGAN. This full-page illustration of the stories is another of the many distinctive features introduced by the 1905 ONONDAGAN. This drawing is one of a set by Mr. Baldry; and pictures an especially dramatic moment. The third prize was so closely contested for that the judges were forced to finally award three third prizes of equal merit. Each of the following receive copies of the ONONDAGAN: Miss Lois Kupfer for "In Memoriam," a wash drawing; Miss Katherine Picard for a "Golf-girl," in pen-and-ink; and Mr. Lee Wallace for a "Crew-Man," a wash drawing. This contest was gratifyingly successful.

Five entries were made in Contest No. 1, two short-stories and three poems. All were good, as good indeed as most of the stories in past ONONDAGANS. But they were not up to the higher ideal which the editors have set for the 1905 ONONDAGAN. They are not as good as Syracuse students can write, not as good as the writers themselves can write, and the 1905 ONONDAGAN intends to have only the best or nothing.

For this reason this contest was also withdrawn. Some change may be made later.

Contest No. 5 had a large number of entries, though not as many as had been hoped. The first prize was awarded to Mr. Seth Rice, '05; the second to Miss Theresa K. Tobin, '05. It would hardly be fair to the writers to name their contributions. The latter's was in verse.

Contributions to the Literary and Grind Departments are still the 1905 ONONDAGAN'S greatest needs and will be gladly received, and to the former paid for. These forms are among the last to go to press, hence writers have about three week's time yet. But this means three weeks, not four.

All senior records are due next week Tuesday, January 12th. They will however be received (up to the day the forms are shipped) on payment of a fine of twenty-five cents apiece. No senior records can be received for any excuse whatever after Saturdry, January 16th, and the management cannot guarantee the inclusion of records received after the 12th. No excuse or explanation need be made for this arbitrary action on the part of the Board.

NOTICES.

Syracuse has settled some vexing problems in a satisfactory manner during the past few days. After Coach Scott had been reappointed the question of an entry to the Buffalo indoor meet was still to be decided. This has been answered in the affirmative.

It is not in keeping with our great University to be so seriously handicapped in indoor work. Even at this it is hoped a good team can be developed to meet the Cornell and 74th Regiment cracks February 20th. The meet will serve an excellent purpose in arousing a keen competition among the candidates early in the year, which will be for the best interests of the team.

The selection of an able head coach for the 1904 football eleven is a very gratifying fact. Dr. Hutchins, according to the report, is well qualified for the place. With several good graduates as assistant coaches, the Orange football standard should be well advanced next fall.

DEBATING AT WESLEYAN.

(Concluded from yesterday.)

The members of the debate team are chosen by a committee of judges from ten men selected by the College Debating Society as the best debaters who have spoken before them during the year. Usually, three or four debates are held to sift these ten down to three who compose the team as, in this way, each man is given a chance to speak on both sides of the question and to show just what he can do in rebuttal and in the various emergencies which arise in debating. Further practice is given to the debaters in extemporaneous speaking at the annual College Debate for the Briggs Prize of fifty dollars. The debaters know the question about two months before the debate, but do not know what side they are to take until forty-eight hours before they are to speak. This short notice makes it impossible for the contestants to learn an oration on the subject under discussion, and gives them the best possible practice in extemporaneous speaking and the ability to think on their feet. In my opinion, too much emphasis cannot be placed on this last named phase of debating, as the power to express one's self clearly and forcefully at almost a moment's notice is the most valuable gift a public speaker can have, and in no way can it be acquired so well as in debating.

In conclusion, I should say that not only is debating a good thing for those who take part, but it is also a great factor in promoting friendly relations between the two colleges who are thus brought in contact with each other. The necessity of strict training of athletic teams rarely permits the teams of one college to know personally the members of the teams of another college, whereas in debating there is every opportunity for the representatives of the contesting colleges to become acquainted and to cultivate a friendly feeling between the respective institutions. If intercollegiate debating did nothing more, I think it would be justified on the ground that it does much to lessen the jealousy and ill-feeling which seem inevitably to characterize the athletic relations between rival colleges.

HISTORICAL LECTURES.

A series of Lectures for the Benefit of University and High School.

On January 15 will begin a series of Patriotic and Historical Lectures on American History. The lectures will be given by Dr. Mace and Prof. Wicks, principal of the High School. Each will be followed by a tableau illustrative of the lectures, the proceeds will be donated to the two Institutions, and used to acquire material for the history department.

A meeting of the Historical Association was held yesterday to make final plans and arrangements. The members of the faculty of this department each addressed the association. A committee was appointed to have charge of the sale of tickets, the members being Messrs. Rubin, Edwards, Cribb, Moore, Evans, Warren, Sowers, Matthews, Houseknecht, Eddy, and Misses Knapp, Rice, Sholes, Hitchcock, Mickle, Tobin, Best, Matthews, Searle, Haven. A committee consisting of Messrs. Sowers, Templeton, Wright, Young, and Evans was appointed to have charge of advertising the lectures in the papers.

The price of the season tickets are two dollars each, or 35 cents for single lectures. A special rate of half price is offered to students.

In connection with the series of Patriotic and Historical Lectures to be given soon, the Committee has issued the following letter;

Dear Sir:—A new era of civic duty is upon us. A greater America demands greater Americans. Never before in our history has there been so much need of a genuine patriotism as now. The fire of '76' and '61 ought to be rekindled in the breast of every American in order to deepen his faith in American ideas and institutions. This helpful love of country—this unwavering faith in American destiny—this higher citizenship—must be rooted in an intelligent knowledge of American History.

No definite plans have yet been made. But the following course of eight numbers, covering the period from the Revolution to the Civil War, each lecture accompanied by illustrative tableax, can be arranged for, providing adequate financial support can be assured:

Jan. 15. "Adoption of the Constitution." William K. Wickes.

Jan. 22. "Men and Women from Washington to Jackson." Mr. Wickes.

Feb. 5. "The Roots of the Conflict over Slavery." Professor W. H. Mace.

Feb. 12. "The Struggle for More Slave Territory." Professor Mace.

Feb. 19. Patriotic concert by High School students under direction of Mr. Wickes.

Feb. 26. "Break-up of Whig and Democratic Parties." Professor Mace.

March 4. "Conciliation, Secession and Emancipation." Professor Mace.

March 11. Patriotic concert by University students under direction of Harold Adkins.

The proceeds of the course will be given to the two great educational institutions in the city—the University and the High School—for the purchase of badly needed historical materials. Profs. Mace and Wickes will willingly donate their services.

In behalf of the Committee,
CHAS. ANDREWS.

CLASSICAL CLUB LECTURES

The Classical Club of Syracuse University announces the following course of lectures to be given in the Assembly Hall of the University Block.

Feb. 4. Prof. Rufus B. Richardson, Ph. D. "The Excavations at Corinth."

Dr. Richardson was for the past twelve years Director of the American Archaeological School at Athens.

March 3. Prof. Morris H. Morgan, Ph. D., LL. D., "The Religion of the Ancient Romans."

Dr. Morgan is professor of Classical Philology at Harvard University.

March 24. Prof. Ismar J. Peritz, Ph. D., "The Influence of Babylonian Art on Prophetic Imagery."

Dr. Peritz is Professor of the Semitics at Syracuse University.

Price of course tickets, $1; single lectures, 50 cents. Price of course tickets for students, 75 cents.

The Classical Club presents this course of lectures in the interests of classical study, and for the benefit of the Seminar library.

BASKETBALL TO-NIGHT.

The strong Jenner's Preparatory School five accompanied by rooters with good lungs will journey to the gymnasium this evening to meet the freshman five. The freshman team will probably line-up as follows. Kirchgasser and Millen, forwards; Powell (capt.), center; Coit and Evans, guards. An admission fee of 15 cents will be charged those not holding season tickets.

The board of control of the University of Michigan has authorized Manager Baird to go East and arrange a game with either Harvard, Yale, Princeton or Columbia, for next year. It seems almost certain that a game will now be arranged with Columbia to be played at New York on next Thanksgiving Day.

THE HERALD.

The January number of the University Herald appears with the opening of college. The issue contains a large number of contributions by various students. Arthur Fremont Rider has two poems, entitled "Three Threads of Gold" and the third of a series of Sonnets, entitled "Coming." There is a story of the railroad by George R. Guard, entitlee "A Race Against Time.,, Winifred A. Reynolds contributes a brief history of Salt-making in Syracuse. This is followed by a short story—"The Professor's Box." by Eleanore Cross.

A very interesting piece of reading is an article on "Chinese Anecdotes,, by Lois R. Kupfer. There are also several short sketches, signed only by initials. They each differ in character, there being a poem, a list of history, an anecdote, etc. These are followed by the usual departments comprising editorials, alumni news, college news of the month, and short poems from other college literary papers.

A movement has been started at Ann Arbor to compel the boarding house keepers to serve the students better milk.

On January 15th occurs the first number of a course of patriotic and historical lectures. The students of the University should take a deep interest in these lectures, not only for the great benefit which one would derive from them but as well because they are intimately connected with the life of the University. The lectures are given principally to arouse a sense of genuine patriotism among the present generation of citizens. The ideas and love of country as existed in '76 and '61 will be revived.

Dr. Mace and Prof. Wickes of the High School are to give the lectures. Both have willingly donated their services in order to accomplish the above named purpose of the course, and also to aid in the purchase of much needed historical materials for the institutions which they represent. In consideration of these facts, it is no more than just that the students should do their part, and aid in making this worthy cause a success.

FRESHMEN WIN.

Defeat Jenner's Preparatory School in Exciting Basketball Game.

The freshman basketball five defeated the representation from Jenner's Preparatory School hy the score of 28 to 3 in a rough but very interesting game in the university gymnasium, Saturday evening.

The game from the start was snappy but rather rough. A great deal of pushing and shoving was done; however the game from the spectators' point of view was exceptionally interesting.

The passing by the freshmen was excellent. Owing to the excellent guarding done by Whelan, of Jenners', Kirchgasser, the star freshman goal thrower, was unable to find the basket more than three times. One of these goals was a feature of the game, being thrown from the middle of the field.

The game started off with a rush, Powell scoring the first point for the freshmen on a foul; Evans and Kirchgasser following with baskets. A hard struggle ensued during which Powell scored on another foul and Millen threw a basket. The half ended with the score of 10-0 in favor of the freshmen.

The fecond half opened favorably for Jenners', Taft throwing a basket. The freshmen, however, soon got matters in their own hands, Powell, Evans and Millen each throwing one goal, while Kirchgasser found the basket twice.

The line-up follows:

Syracuse (28)	Jenners (3)
Forwards.
Evans, Kirchgasser	Barcus, Bradley
Center.
Powell (Capt.)	Taft (Capt.)
Guards.
Coit, Millen	Whelan, Barnes

Referee—C. C. Burt: umpire—W. C. Lowe; scorer—R. L. Simmons; timers—C. J. Honseknecht, J. B. Barnes. Time of halves—20 minutes. Goals faom field—Powell 6, Kirchgasser 3, Evans 2, Millen 2, Taft 1. Goals from fouls—Powell 2, Taft I.

QUARANTINE LIFTED.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning the seven men imprisoned in the Beta Theta Pi chapter house were allowed their liberty once more. Hearty were the greetings when the erstwhile prisoners met their brothers who had been imprisoned without. Mr. Frederick Millspaugh is rapidly convalescing from his illness, which it is now believed was not smallpox at all.

The Automobile Club of Syracuse gave a banquet at the Yates, Wednesday evening and one of the features was a very elaborate Menu Program printed by the June Press.

The freshmen and sophomore gymnasium classes are now drilling together, to make way for the indoor track practice.

CRISIS IN FAR EAST.

Professor Hawkins Speaks on Relations of Japan and Russia.

In response to a petition signed by all the members of the class in Political Economy III, Professor Hawkins addressed the class and several visitors Saturday morning, on the subject "The Relations of Japan and Russia in the far East."

Professor Hawkins opened his subject by showing the various causes which have been leading to the present Crisis in affairs; extension of Russian power and influence in Manchuria, Russia's policy of selfishness in trade relations, the lease of Port Arthur and its closure to foreign trade and the institutional differences in the two people.

Next the vast international interests involved in this Crisis were forcefully presented. America, England, Germany, France: in fact all commercial nations are all vitally interested and connected with the trend of events in the East.

In view of the complete antithesis of of aims, purposes and institutional life of tho two peoples, Professor Hawkins believes that war is inevitable; and that when that comes it will involve several other nations.

Speaking of the comparative chances of victory in a conflict between Japan and Russia, the Professor argued that Japan has the advantage, owing to nearness of base of supplies, high degree of patriotism, alertness of her soldiers and the fact that the war would center in a country whose climate was such as to conduce to the physical welfare of Japan's Army. "There is reason to believe" Professor Hawkins said "That the boasted Siberian Railroad will be inadequate to carry the troops and war munitions necessary to carry on a successful war with Japan. Furthermore it is very likely that China will join Japan in throwing off the yoke of her oppressors"

In closing. the speaker said that a victory for Japan in such a struggle would probably be for the interests of the world.

A meeting of the Science Association was held in the Biological lecture room, Steele Hall, Friday at 4:20 p. m. Dr. A. M. Reese presented a paper on Recent Biological Work of the Government.

Great interest is centered in the trials to be held this evening for the intercollegiate teams. This year as last we meet a college, Wesleyan, noted for its fine debating teams. Syracuse must keep up the good work of the last two years, and win in the contest.

There are about twenty men who will participate in the trials. Well may he who wins a place esteem it a high honor. So soon as the men are chosen, they will begin active team work.

In their department the class debating societies should willingly aid the contestants. Such assistance will go far towards winning the final debate.

DEBATE TEAM CHOSEN.

Men Who Are To Meet Wesleyan March 30.

The trials for the intercollegiate debate team held last evening in the Hall of Languages resulted in the choice of the following men: Lloyd L. Cheney, Fred L. Pitts, George K. Warren and Ernest H. Sumner. The captain or alternates have not yet been decided on but will be chosen as training progresses.

Messrs. Warren and Sumner were on last year's team and Mr. Cheney was captain of his class team last year. Mr. Pitts has been active in his class club.

The judges were D. Raymond Cobb, H. A. Eaton and F. D. Losey.

The team chosen will begin active work at once. Wesleyan has been at work nearly two months.

Unusual interest has been shown in debate this year. A thorough organization of debating interests from class clubs to the Debating Union is in part responsible for this. The team will have the hearty support of the student body.

Each college is to submit a list of ten judges. This will be returned to the opposing college, placed in order of preference. One judge will be chosen from each of these lists. Chancellor Day and President Raymond will decide upon the third judge.

Each speaker is to have twelve minutes on the principal argument and five minutes for rebuttal.

FRANK PARSONS DYE.

The friends of Frank Parsons Dye, '05-ex, were pained to hear of his sudden death from pulmonary tuberculosis at his home in Forestville, N. Y. Mr. Dye graduated with honor from the Forestville High School in 1900. He entered the University in January 1902 where conscientious work once more won him comment and admiration. Last spring he was stricken with pneumonia, resulting from exposure in track work, and was removed to the hospital. After a partial recovery he went immediately to California to convalesce. During the early part of September he returned home, a certain but hopeful victim. From the first he battled bravely and patiently and hope was his until the coming of New Year when he was forced to his bed. Through the mercy of the Father his sufferings were relieved last Tuesday morning.

His loss will be mourned by a host of friends who remember him for his cheerful disposition and never-tiring loyalty to his friehds and the University.

PROFESSOR FLICK'S LECTURE.

Professor Flick will deliver an address this afternoon at the City Hall before the teachers of the city. His subject will be "Russia." Prof. Flick made special study of the conditions in Russia during his recent travels in that country.

LEAR UNDER WAY.

Plans on Foot for a Larger and Better Production than the English Club Has Ever Given.

Now that committees have been appointed and are starting their work, plans are beginning to take definite shape for the production of King Lear. The plans so far given out point to a most successful performance. The efforts used to attract crowds will be the best that can be put forth. The cast is much better than the one that so successfully rendered "The Taming of the Shrew" two years ago.

The date is not yet decided. Prof. Morris, the chairman of the Committee on General Management, announced yesterday that it would be some time in April.

This committee is already planning to rent scenery from New York to assist in staging. The committee have not decided the number of times that the play will be given. "The Taming of the Shrew" had but one performance, but the sentiment already expressed seems to favor an afternoon and two evening performances of King Lear. There is also a great deal of favorable talk of going out of town for one or two renderings. This plan is followed by dramatic clubs of many colleges.

The committee on advertising will be one of the busiest committees of the entire management. More advertising will be done this year than was done two years ago. The advertising will all be very artistic, Dr. Eaton, the chairman of the committee, is authority on all matters of art, and anything which comes out under his direction will be worthy of the English Club.

Owing to the illness of Miss Richards, the chairman, the costume committee has as yet had no meeting and has made no arrangements. Miss Richards has already promised, however, that the costumes will surpass those used two years ago. The work of the rehearsal under Prof. Losey is progressing finely. The plan followed this year is different from the one used before.

The play is to be given entire twice before much attention is given to detail. On Friday of this week the rehearsal of Act 5 will complete the second rehearsal.

After the examinations the play will be taken up more carefully, each character receiving more of the coach's attention. No rehearsals will be held during the mid-years.

The cast itself is an excellent one and according to Prof. Losey there is no doubt that the production will surpass "The Taming of the Shrew."

The Crouse College French Club met last evening at the D. K. E. House, the guests of H. L. Gardner and G. S. Wright.

NOTICES.

The first rehearsal of the Glee Club for the city concert will be held to-night at 7 p. m. sharp in Crouse college. All members who expect to sing at that time must attend all rehearsals from Tuesday on. There is a great need for tenors and all men who can sing that part will help the club by coming out for these rehearsals.

H. M. FREDERICKS.

1904 ONONDAGAN.

Subscribers who have not yet received a copy of the 1904 Onondagan will have their copies delivered next week. All subscribers who have changed their address since the subscription was given should at once notify the business manager. A limited number of copies is still on sale at the Co-Op, Hall of Languages, and at Bailey & Sackett's book store down town.

HYZER W. JONES, Business Manager

All students are requested to report at once all changes of city address to the Registrar so that they may be correct in the catalogue.

The next regular meeting of the 1905 Onondagan Board will be held to-night at the Phi Gamma Delta Chapter House.

The rehearsals for King Lear this week will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday instead of Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The various parts for the different days are as follows:

Tuesday, 4 p. m., Act 4,
Thursday, 4 p. m., Act 5.

There will be a meeting of the Christian Association's Graduate Advisory Committee next Wednesday at 5:45 P. M. to elect successors to Dean Brooks and Edwin Nottingham. Their term of office expires at this time.

Senior records for the 1905 Onondagan must be handed in at once. In two more days the time limit for handing in these records will have passed.

The examination in English III will take place Thursday, January 28th, 8-10 a. m.

Basketball season tickets taken up at the Yale game are procurable at the Treasurer's office.

Beginning with the second semester Eng. .IX and .X1V will be offered as half-year courses, for this year only. Students desiring to take either of these courses, and finding a conflict of hours, should consult with me at once. All registrations for these courses should be handed to me not later than Jan. 20th.

The production of King Lear by the English department promises to be exceptional in many particulars. The cost of staging and producing the play will exceed that of anything heretofore attempted,

The students who are trying for the cast are being thoroughly trained under the efficient coaching of Professor Losey. The fact that the latter will take the part of King Lear is, in itself, noteworthy. It is possible that the play will be given more than one night, so great is the interest it will arouse.

The English department is assured of the hearty co-operation of the other departments in the colleges, so well do the departments support each other in building up the University.

OTHER COLLEGE NEWS.

A new department of Physical Education has been formed at Columbia University. It forms part of the Teachers' College, and is to provide teachers and supervisors with training in the various phases of school hygiene and physical training. The professional course demanding as a requisite two years of special work, and covering two years of special work in physical education, will lead to the bachelor's diploma at Teacher's College and with certain added courses to the degree of Bachelor of Science from Columbia University.

Harvard's catalogue, recently issued, shows the University to have a population of 6718. This includes all those connected with Harvard in any way, as well as the pupils in the Summer School last season and Radcliffe College. In Harvard University there are 4,328 students. Of these 2,073 are in the College, 548 in the Laurence Scientific School, 402 in the Graduate School, 52 in the Divinity School, 738 in the Law School, 383 in the Medical School. 115 in the Dental School, and 32 in the Bussey Institute.

The catalogue shows that Harvard has in its various libraries 639,700 volumes, exclusive of 280,000 pamphlets in Gore Hall and a number of pamphlets in the department libraries.

The new catalogue of Princeton University, which has just been published, shows a total registration of 1,431 students as compared with 1,583 last year. This is a gain of 48.

Dr. Francolini of Rome publishes a statement declaring that the source of the Clitumnus, a small Umbrian river sacred to the ancient Romans, may contain radium. He bases his opinion on a description by Pliny and on passages in the works of many writers from Virgil to Byron and Carducci. The waters at the source of the river are the color of violet.

Receipts from football at the University of Pennsylvania this year omounted to $47,810.90. The expenses of the team were $22,052.99, leaving a balance of over $25,000. Baseball brought in $5,214.05, the track team $3,981.52, while the contributions for rowing were only $370.55. The cest for maintaining the crew was $23,781.27, a much larger amount than usual, owing to a new coaching launch.

After defraying the expenses of all other sports, all of whom lost money, and after paying a deficit of over $2.500, there is a balance of $780.36 in the treasury.

Professer Ellers Hausen, a German, has invented a method of sxtracting zinc whito from refuse slag. He and Sir William Ramsay successfully experimented at Hafan mine in North Wales recently, showing that a ton of zinc white can be extracted from fifteen tons of slog by a far simpier and cheaper process than is now used in a roundabout production from spelter.

VOL. I. NO. 87. SYRACUSE, N. Y., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

CENTRAL ALUMNI TO MEET

The Regular Meeting of the Central New York Alumni to be Held Next Week.

The regular meeting of the Syracuse alumni of the Central New York Association will be held the latter part of next week. The date has not been settled definitely, but it is expected January 21 will be fixed for the dinner.

The Central Alumni Association includes residents of the nearby towns as well as Syracuse, who are alumni of the University. The association was organized over a year ago, but has held no meeting since its organization. It is therefore welcome news to the more enthusiastic alumni that such a meeting is coming to pass.

Syracuse University has been fortunate in having a number of hustling alumni associations in distant cities, the most notable being New York and Buffalo. The alumni here in town have been somewhat diffident in forming such a home association, although there are three hundred or more alumni in this city alone.

The association, however, has awakened to new life with the new year, and great things are planned for the future. The coming dinner is expected to be one of a series of two or three to be held in the next five months.

The dinner, at which it is planned to have several hundred present, will be in the nature of a large athletic council. The athletic outlook in all branches of sport will be discussed. Among the prominent speakers will be Chancellor James R. Day and Mr. Lyman C. Smith.

It is also possible that several prominent alumni from Albany, Rochester and Buffalo will be present.

PHILOSOPHICAL CLUB.

On Monday evening in the Assembly Hall, Mrs. Ellen Mitchell lectured before the Philosophical Association of the University on Goethe's View of Evil. By her forcible and masterly treatment of Goethe's great drama, "Faust," the lecturer held the close attention of all present. At times she rose to eloquence in her enunciation of its world-famed truths and vivid portrayal of its finely drawn characters. The audience was small, but most deeply appreciative and owes a debt of gratitude to Mrs. Mitchell.

CHANGE IN TUTORING CLASS.

For those who were unable to be present at the first and second meetings of the algebra review class, a session will be held on Tuesday forenoon, Jan. 19, from 10 to 12, in room 32, Hall of Languages. Inequalities and a part of permutations and combinations will be covered.

VARSITY VS. ST. JOHN'S.

Basketball Five Meets Soldier Boys Saturday Evening -- Return Game with St. Lawrence.

Saturday evening the 'Varsity Basketball team will meet the five from the St. John's Military Academy. A series of games with this institution is an annual feature of the ba5ketball season and is looked forward to with pleasure by the friends of both teams.

The teams will line up as follows:

Syracuse.	Position.	St. John's.
	Forwards.
Kirchgasser, Twombly or Millen.....		.....Barber, Simpson
	Center.
Powell or Kinne.....		.....Geracle
	Guards.
Houseknecht, Beady or Niles.....		.....Gay, Wilson

Manager Rice is trying to arrange a return game with St. Lawrence University to be played in the Gym. February 6. He has not yet received any reply. Earlier in the season St. Lawrence defeated Syracuse 14-13. Capt. Houseknecht's boys are anxious to make grod this defeat by a decisive victory which they are confident of winning on their own field.

The fact that the schedule is rather long this season has caused some criticism from the faculty. Manager Rice may be called upon to abandon the western trip even against the wishes of the team. It is to be hoped, however, that the team may be allowed to finish the schedule as given.

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM.

The Chicago Maroon, the daily paper published by the students of Chicago University, recently published the following article relative to the Syracuse "School of Journalism:"

"The Syracuse Daily Orange, the student publication of Syracuse University, is now being printed in a shop owned and operated by students. Syracuse is the third university to have such a plant. Brown and Columbia have shops controlled by students. The printing plant is owned by a corporation known as the Orange Publishing Company, the directors and stockholders of which are all students. In the printing shop all but the foreman are students. New machinery and type to the value of $1,500 has been installed. As practical "schools of journalism" these three college dailies are not now excelled.

The Junior class at its meeting yesterday morning decided to send flowers to Miss Emily Tetman, '05, who is seriously ill at her home. Miss Totman's illness is much to be regretted at this time, coming, as it does, just after the death of her sister, Margaret.

The heating plant has begun operations. Steele Hall is being supplied with heat from it.

NOTICES.

1904 ONONDAGAN.

Subscribers who have not yet received a copy of the 1904 Onondagan will have their copies delivered next week. All subscribers who have changed their address since the subscription was given should at once notify the business manager. A limited number of copies is still on sale at the Co-Op, Hall of Languages, and at Bailey & Sackett's book store down town.

HYZER W. JONES, Business Manager

All students are requested to report at once all changes of city address to the Registrar so that they may be correct in the catalogue.

There will be a meeting of the Christian Association's Graduate Advisory Committee Thursday afternoon at 5:45 to elect successors to Dean Brooks and Edwin Nottingham. Their term of office expires at this time.

Senior records for the 1905 Onondagan must be handed in at once. In one more day the time limit for handing in these records will have passed.

The examination in English III will take place Thursday, January 28th, 8-10 a. m.

Basketball season tickets taken up at the Yale game are procurable at the Treasurer's office.

Beginning with the second semester Eng. IX. and X1V. will be offered as half-year courses, for this year only. Students desiring to take either of these courses, and finding a conflict of hours, should consult with me at once. All registrations for these courses should be handed to me not later than Jan. 29th.

Jan. 5, 1904. EDGAR C. MORRIS.

A very important business meeting of the Classical Club will be held in the Classical Seminar room Thursday evening, January 14, at 8 o'clock. It is desired that every member be present.

MINNIE D. CROFOOT, Sec'y.

Several valuable volumes have been added to the historical library. One of the best acquisitions is a series of the Illustrated London News from 1842 to 1861. There were previously in the library about a dozen volumes of the same paper beginning with the year 1860. Several volumes on American and European History are also among the new books. There are about 40 volumes in all.

Some of the seniors are diffident and slow in handing in their records for the 1905 Onondagan. This action on their part is false modesty, if anything.

Every person in the 1904 class should wish a complete and accurate record of his honors in the college annual. During the present year a man's record may be well known to his associates. In years to come, however, the 1905 Onondagan with its accurate and complete records will be invaluable in many respects.

Mr. Takasugi will lecture on "Russia and Japan" on Thursday evening at the University Ave. M. E. Church at 8 p. m. Mr. Takasugi has received his Ph. D. from Boston University; and has also been a professor in a large university of Japan for ten years. He has come to America for advanced study in History and English.

HISTORY DEPARTMENT.

The University Historical Association has been elected to membership in the American History Association, and will hereafter receive the publications of that association. These publications include the History Review, Reports of Committees and Proceedings or papers read.

The American History Association includes many leading history societies in the United States. In its ranks are included the leaders among the professors and teachers of history. Mr. Henry C. Lea of Philadelphia, Pa., is president of the association, and Mr. Goldwin Smith of Toronto is first vice president.

Professor Hawkins addressed the business men of Skaneateles at their annual banquet of their association last night. Owing to the fact that the professor will not return to Syracuse in time to meet his first class this morning one of the senior major students will conduct the class.

CHAPEL TALK.

Chancellor Day Makes an Earnest Appeal to the Students Against Dishonesty in Exams.

There was an unusually large chapel audience yesterday morning. Chancellor James R. Day sdoke at length on the dishonesty of "cribbing" in an examination.

Before reaching his subject he paid a glowing tribute to the intellectual ability and character of the American people. He said "The glory of America is that the thinking is done by the people. The average audience in this country is certain to wake up a speaker." In speaking of the homes from which the students came, the inference was made that all the students would resent the thought that their parents were dishonest. So "the students," argued the Chancellor, "should be as good as the homes from which they came, and go back benefited by the privileges they had enjoyed at college."

"Every student is expected to go into the examinatians and do honest work. The idea seems to be prevalent in this country that it is not wrong to cheat in examinations."

"Let me say," continued the Chancellor, "that to cheat in an examination is the embodiment of a lie, and it is a mean lie. The fact is Syracuse is so related to the honor system that a dishonest student should be asked to leave the University at once, by the united sentiment of an outraged student body."

"Four students have already been dismissed for cheating. It is possible that two more may be asked to go in the near future."

In discussing the chances of expulsion for dishonesty, Dr. Day said they were seven out of ten, and ten out of ten for suspension.

The Chancellor held that it was no disgrace to flunk an examination, after hard, conscientious work. He also proved that the students are not through with Syracuse University and its authorities when they are graduated. In many cases the authorities are appealed to for references of a former student, who is trying to secure a place of trust. It has been the usual thing to send out excellent references because the men deserved them from work done while in college.

"Women naturally take to goodness," said the Chancellor, "so we shall not discuss them at this time. I am speaking especially to the freshmen."

"In the outside world some men say, 'Opportunity means Sin.' Why? Because that is what it means to them.

"Here at Syracuse we must be honest and thorough. I would rather be able to have THOROUGHNESS cut on the front of one of our colleges and mean what it says than be given $5,000,000 fer an endowment."

The large and appreciative audience showed itself to be in full sympathy with Chancellor Day's earnest appenl.

PROFESSOR HAWKINS URGES FEDERAL INCORPORTION.

In his final lecture before his class in Trusts and Monopolies yesterday, Professor Hawkins spoke of the Legal Aspects of the Trust Problem.

After enumerating :ome of the abuses of the present system of corporation organization, the speaker urged that federal incorporation of the larger corporations would result in a great diminution in the evils now existing. Compulsory publicity is inadequate to suppress the evils. Federal incorporation with provisions making overcapitalization impossible is, Professor Hawkins believes, the best remedy which has yet been proposed for the present great economic evils of corporations.

RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, God in his wisdom has seen fit to remove from us our beloved classmate, Frank Parsons Dye, be it

Resolved, That we, the Class of 1905 of Syracuse University, do extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family of the deceased in this, their sad bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, and be published in the college papers.

MEDIC NOTES.

The annual initiation banquet of Mu chapter of the Nu Sigma Nu fraternity will be held Friday evening at 9 P. M. in the Vanderbilt hotel. The ninth annual meeting of the alumni will be held preceding the banquet.

The toastmaster will be Dr. T. H. Halstead. The initiates are Francis Hulst, 1904, H. B. Williams, 1905, and Linus H. Bagg, James W. Graves, Lester H. Lang and Ray H. Rulison of the Class of 1907.

'VARSITY MEETS U. P.

A baseball game between the 'Varsity and the University of Pennsylvania has been arranged. It will take place at Philadelphia on May 25.

Professor Flick of the historical department leaves for New York to-day. While there he will address the students of Drew Theological Seminary on the "Historical Aspects of Christianity."

SENIOR WEEK.

Plans Made--Most Prominent Events are the Ball and the Glee Club Concert.

Members of the Senior class are making arrangements to have a great Senior Week, the second week in February.

The only two dates definitely filled at present are February 10th and 11th. On the former date the city concert of the Musical clubs will be held. This promises to eclipse every preceding concert in all respects making for success.

The Senior Ball, which is the social event of the latter half of the year, will be held on February 11 at the Alhambra. Phi Kappa Alpha has already appointed its committees, and all are hard at work on the arrangements.

Everything in connection with the ball will be on a larger and more magnificent style than heretofore. It is expected there will be thirty-six regular dances and also extras. This is a greater number than is customary.

The events for Monday and Tuesday evenings of that week are still undecided. It is planned to hold a Senior dance, for Seniors only, on Monday evening. This will be a subscription dance and will depend for its success on the members of 1904.

House parties at the various fraternity and club houses will be the order for Tuesday evening. The social affairs of the week will terminate with the Senior Ball on Thursday evening.

The members of Eta Pi Upsilon, the young ladies' Senior society, stoutly deny that they intend to run the Senior Ball, even if it is leap year. They are on the trail of the reperter who put such a story in the city evening paper.

JOHN D. LYMAN.

John D. Lyman, one of the wealthiest residents of this city, died suddenly Tuesday evening. He was known and loved as a man of great generosity and deep sympathy.

"A Friend" was the cognomen he went by when his assistance was received, and under that name many a munificent sum has been given by him to Syracuse University, but never was his name mentioned in connection with these gifts.

SYRACUSE FOURTEENTH.

In upholding the ideal of honor and fair dealing before the students yesterday morning, the Chancellor performed a great service to every man and woman fortunate enough to crowd into the chapel. High ideals, forcibly presented as they were in yesterday morning's address, cannot but inspire one with higher purposes.

But is there not an influence possible during the examination period which is even more far reaching in its moral effect than an inspiring speech? Such an influence pervades the university life of some of the older colleges of the east, the result of the establishment of the honor system of examination.

In these universities there is no faculty supervision of examinations beyond the giving out of the questions, each student being placed entirely on his honor, required only to sign a statement that he has neither given nor received assistance.

Present Syracuse students who have had one or more year's experience in a university where the honor system has been adopted state that their examination experiences in these universities have been of infinite value in strengthening their characters and instilling in them the highest conception of honor.

There are some who, admitting the beneficient workings of the system elsewhere, hold that its adoption in Syracuse University would be unwise. The honor system is an Ideal: It has been found practicable in other universities. Is it not a reproach to the honor of the students of Syracuse University to maintain that the establishment of this system here would result disas trously?

During the coming examinations, which will doubtless be held under the system of faculty supervision, the students will have the opportunity of showing, by a maintenance of the highest integrity, that they are worthy of being trusted under the Ideal System.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL. I. NO. 89. SYRACUSE, N. Y., FRIDAY, JANUARY 15, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

THE LIBRARY OPEN EVENINGS

Students Using the Privilege to Good Advantage, Especially Since the Holidays.

It may not be known to some of the students that the library is open for use until 10 p. m. every week day evening. This change has been in order since December 16th last. Many of the students, however, have made the most of their opportunity. The number of those who used the library the second evening after the opening was twelve. Since the holiday vacation that number has been increased. After the stormy winter weather is over, the evening attendance will probably compare much more favorably with the day attendance.

The same general run of books is used in the evening as during the day. Some students recognize the value of the books so well that they bring their own text books to the library in the evenings for study.

The library assistants have charge of the evening work who also attend to the daily work. The assistant who takes charge in the evening works from 5 to 10 p. m. For this work, she is excused from an equivalent amount of work during the week.

There is no doubt that the new system of library hours will be a great benefit to both the student body and members of the faculty.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TEAM.

The intercollegiate debate team met for the first time last evening. The conference was held with Prof. Losey at his home. Plans for the general treatment of the question for the Wesleyan debate were discussed. The team will begin hard work at once. The Wesleyan team has been chosen for some time, and have been at work on the question. This will mean much hard work for the Syracuse team in order to overcome this handicap.

CHANGE IN TUTORING CLASS.

For those who were unable to be present at the first and seeond meetings of the algebra review class, a session will be held on Tuesday foreneon, Jan. 19, from 10 to 12. in room 32, Hall of Languages. Inequalities and a part of permutations rnd combinations will be covered.

ERNEST H. SUMNER,
712 Comstock Ave.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Are you going to the Senior Ball? Whether you are or not, you ought to call at Kellar's and see the $4, $4.50 and $5 shoes now marked down to $3.50.

THE COLLEGE SHOE STORE,
E. Genesee and Fayette streets.

TRACK TEAM WORK.

The track team are doing more in winter training this year than ever. The methods lead toward those used in the large colleges in having out-of-door training. A plan is in vogue whereby the sprinters, who have hitherto had all their winter work within-doors, may run outside. A track is plowed out inside the regular track. The ground being uncovered in this way makes an excelent track for the sprinters to use. The cinder track could not be used as it is frozen too hard.

A new weight man has shown up. His name is Kelly and his preparatory school record in the shot-put is over thirty feet. With collegiate training he ought to make good. Training will soon be begun in the Armory as the time before the Buffalo meet is rapidly lessening.

The men now registered are:—W. Y. Boyd, W. J. Boyd, B. P. Boeheim, W. C. Bryant, A. J. Chidester, H. C. Cole, M. D. Church, M. H. Cain. C. A. Call, J. H. Coulter, F. B. Crocker, G. P. S. Cross, R. P. Davis, I. S. Fitch, G. Gregory, J. G. Gordon, F. F. Houck, E. G. Hawkins, L. L. Lord, J. M. Lobdell, J. W. Mitchell, H. C. Michelson, M. T. Mount, H. H. Magoon, H. O. Mowers, C. H. Niedrick, R. W. Pierce, R. G. Perkins, F. G. Perry, H. B. Park, G. S. Rutty, C. T. Robertson, H. H. Stebbins, K. B. Squires, J. L. Southworth, W. S. Stickles, D. C. Squires, J. G. Sillenbeck, A. Sorondo, F. W. Treible, C. E. Temple, N. F. Taylor, C. Van Duyne, F. L. Wells, A. L. Wells, W. G. Wilcot, G. H. Wilson, M. White.

Besides these men several old men have not as yet reported for training, but will join the team later and greatly strengthen it. Among them are Lowe, Ralph, Crowell, Cook, Sechner. Fred Schade, the hurdler, will not run this year but will come out for base-ball. Erway will be debarred from joining the team on account of ill health.

Coach Whittemore was released from quarantine Sunday and is well pleased with the team, especially with the sprinters, who are under his special care.

PERSONAL AND ALUMNI.

Miss Eva Sherburne, '05. will not return to college until the beginning of the new semester on account of ill health.

Miss Ada McDermott, '04, is able to be out of the hospital and is at present at Winchell Hall, though not attending her classes on the hill.

Miss Ballard of Utica is the guest of Miss Jeannette Howarth for a few days.

T. Marion Crawford, '05-ex, who is gaining a wide reputation as an able elocutionist, started yesterday for the west. He has for some time made Syracuse his headquarters, but hereafter his address will be Salina, Kas. On his way west, Mr. Crawford has dates in Rochester, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Mr. E. D. Shepard, father of Edwin H. Shepard, a student at the Syracuse College of Medicine, died Monday at the State Hospital at Rochester.

FIRST HISTORICAL LECTURE TO-NIGHT

Professor Wickes Delivers the First of the Series.

The first of the series of patriotic and historical lectures will be given this evening in Assembly Hall, University Block, by Prof. Wickes of the High School. The subject will be "The Adoption of the Constitution. Prof. Wickes has attained a high reputation as a lecturer, and is a most entertaining and interesting speaker. Those who attend this evening will without doubt feel more than repaid. The lecture will be followed by a tableau entitled "The Signing of the Constitution." This will be presented by students of the High School, and will doubtless be given in a very entertaining manner.

The students have responded very liberally to the call for aid. The committee having in charge the sale of tickets have not as yet been able to determine the exact number sold, as the various students who took tickets to sell have not yet reported to the committee. It is estimated, however. that a good number of tickets have been disposed of and the course of lectures is now an assured success.

DEBATING CLUBS.

The Junior, Sophomore and Freshman debating clubs met last evening. The Senior club met the week before, and hence no meeting was held last evening. The Junior club discussed the question, "Resolved, That some form of compulsory arbitration should be established to settle disputes between labor and capital, when such disputes interfere directly with the common interests of the community." The speakers were: Affirmative, Cheney, Pitts, Rice; negative, Rogers, Hartwell, Soper.

The question before the Sophomore club was, "Resolved, That more stringent laws should be enacted regarding European immigration."

The freshmen debated the question, "Resolved, That church property should be taxed as any other property is taxed." The speakers were: Affirmative, Gridley, White, Schafer; negative, Campbell, Hawkins, Andrews.

None of the clubs will meet again until after examinations. At this first meeting the election of the various officers will occur.

NOTICES.

All students are requested to report at once all changes of city address to the Registrar so that they may be correct in the catalogue.

The examination in English III will take place Thursday, January 28th, 8-10 a. m.

Basketball season tickets taken up at the Yale game are procurable at the Treasurer's office.

Beginning with the second semester Eng. IX. and XIV. will be offered as half-year courses, for this year only. Students desiring to take either of these courses, and finding a conflict of hours, should consult with me at once. All registrations for these courses should be handed to me not later than Jan. 29th.

Jan. 5, 1904. EDGAR C. MORRIS.

Men desirous of nomination for the assistant football managership must hand their names to Dr. Burchard before Thursday, Jan. 21, 1904.

All nominations for assistant track manager must be handed to Dr. Smallwood before Thursday, Jan. 21, 1904.

A reading of the German play, "Papa hate erlaubt," will take place Saturday noon at 12 o'clock.

WALER E. OTTO.

The course of Biology I. will be changed in some respects the next semester. The course will be especially adapted to major students in the department. Dr. Hargitt and Dr. Smallwood will deliver the lectures.

William C. Huntington, Ph. D., who has just been elected president of Boston University, received the degree of S. T. D. from Syracuse University in June, 1903.

A very perceptible difference in the temperature of the college buildings is noticeable since the new heating plant has been in operation. Rooms which before were only too often uncomfortably cold, have been made comfortable. Perhaps the change in conditions is best illustrated in Steele Hall, where a few days ago a class had to be excused because of the cold. The same room, under the new system, has been more than moderately warm.

The activity of the new plant represents the completion of another building among the many which stand as testimonials to the indefatigable energy of Chancellor Day. It is another sign of the progress which is so essential a feature of a great university.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL. I. NO. 90. SYRACUSE, N. Y., SATURDAY, JANUARY 15, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

THE HONOR SYSTEM.

The Opinions of Members of the Faculty--What the Students Think.

The honor system of examinations has been under deep discussion by the student body during the past few days.

The reporters on the Daily Orange have interviewed many members of the faculty on the subject. A number of the faculty refused to talk of the matter, some were unwilling to speak for the public benefit and the rest were in favor or opposed to the scheme.

The honor system, as used at several eastern colleges, was in vogue at Syracuse for three years in the '90s. According to one of the older professors on the faculty, the evils of the system were increased each year. The student board which tried cases usually exonerated their classmates. It was for this reason the system was abolished.

Dean Smalley, in discussing the question, said he was hardly in favor of establishing the system at present. "I saw the 85 per cent. scheme abolished with regret on my part," said the Dean, for I believe such a system of excusing those students from examination who have passed above 85 per cent. for the semester to be a good one."

"Some of the professors are in favor of holding examinations but once a year. I am not in favor of this, for I believe the present semester examinations to be much more satisfactory. As it is now the mid-year tests are a great strain on the students, and this would be doubled by having yearly examinations. The young ladies in particular would suffer too much."

Dr. Mace favors the honor system. "I like the honor system," said the Doctor, "and I have always favored it. I do not, however, like the attitude of the students toward the professors during examinations. Some seem to think their instructors are spies."

Dr. Holzwarth is opposed to the adoption of any such system. He holds the students would not prove better now than the students of earlier times when the system was tried.

Prof. Place, who is from Dartmouth, said: "The honor system is in vogue at Dartmouth and has been successfully tried at Princeton. It creates a fine sentiment of honor among the students. I approve the system strongly."

Prof. Patterson says he is not in favor of establishing such a system at Syracuse. He thinks the theory is good, but in practice it would not be a success.

Prof. Jean Marie Richards said: "I have never seen the system in operation. It would be practical if student honor would allow students to report fellow students."

Rev. R. Alfred Waite expressed a favorable opinion, saying: "I think it a good thing. I think that student government is the only way to govern students."

GEOLOGICAL GIFTS.

Mr. P. D. Barnhardt, mining engineer and metallurgist, has presented the University with a valuable collection of specimens. Mr. Barnhardt, whose home is in this city, is president of one of the large gold mining companies of Colorado. He has signified his intention of making further similar gifts to the University. The collection just received includes rhodochrosite crystals, extra fine calcatd crystals, fluorite, petrified wood from Arizona, quartz crystals, crystallized realgar and opiment, gold ore and rock in which it occurs, and satin spar.

'VARSITY MEETS ST. JOHN'S

A Close and Exciting Game is Expected--St. John's Has a Very Strong Five.

The 'Varsity basketball five will meet the team from St. John's Military Academy in the Gymnasium this evening. A very exciting game is looked for. Syracuse has never before been able to defeat the strong Manlius team, but as the team this year is stronger than usual, a victory is expected to-night. Whatever the result will be, however, it is certain that a fast, snappy game will be played.

The players are all in good condition, and promise to do as well as when they defeated Yale last month. It is possible that several new men may be tried out in the game.

Manager Earl G. Rice has received word from St. Lawrence that the dates offered for a return game to be played here are not satisfactory and could not be accepted.

He has also received permission from the Chancellor to take the Western trip as at first planned. The Chancellor said that in making this decision he was influenced by the excellent showing of all the men on the team in their college work. It is probable that he was also influenced by the excellent showing that the team made against Yale. The trip occupies about ten days and is the longest ever taken by an Orange basketball team.

BUFFALO ALUMNI MEET.

The monthly dinner of the Syracuse University Alumni Association of Buffalo, N. Y., was held Tuesday evening at the Centrall Y. M. C. A. dining room in the "Queen City of the Lakes." Among those present were, R. Templeton, W. Burgess, M. E. Adams, G. Nichols. W. H. Kirkwood, D. F. Phelps, C. S. MacDougal, J. Middleton, R. B. Adams, C. E. Branch and C. M. Underhill. Various matters of interest to the University were discussed and committees were appointed to prepare communications which will be announced later. The weather is fine in Buffalo and skating is good.

SENIORS AND GRADUATES.

Seniors and graduates who expect to teach next year should register at once with the Faculty Committee on Teachers' Appointment. The office of the committee is in room No. 72 of the Hall of Languages; office hours 10 to 11 on Mondays and Fridays.

Every graduate of Syracuse University who is teaching or expects to teach should be enrolled with the committee, as it aims to find positions for those who have none and advance those now teaching to higher positions. The committee consists of Professors Hopkins, Smith and Holzwarth.

BLACK DRESS SUITS.

Young men, here's a good chance to dress well at little cost. Special for Saturday only, all our young men's black suits that have sold at $15, $18 and $20, in one lot to close at $12 a suit. The fabrics are black Thiber, black unfinished worsted, black Vicuna and black clay diagonal. SATURDAY ONLY. Kearney Bros., Clothiers and Tailors, Vandetbilt square. "Where they sell for less."

NOTICES.

Rev. Philip Cole, pastor of the First Reform Church of this City, will speak before the Christian Association to-marrow afternoon. This is the Bible Study Rally meeting. It will be held at four o'clock in the Gymnasium. All students are welcome.

The election of assistant managers for the Glee and Instrumental Clubs will be held next Tuesday at the regular rehersal.

All students are requested to report at once all changes of city address to the Registrar so that they may be correct in the catalogue.

The examination in English III will take place Thursday, January 28th, 8-10 a. m.

Basketball season tickets taken up at the Yale game are procurable at the Treasurer's office.

Beginning with the second semester Eng. IX. and X1V. will be offered as half-year courses, for this year only. Students desiring to take either of these courses, and finding a conflict of hours, should consult with me at once. All registrations for these courses should be handed to me not later than Jan. 29th.

The winter weather makes it necessary for the students to exercise great care in many things about college. One of the places in which the courtesy of the men towards the women can be shown is in entering and leaving the college buildings.

In the Liberal Arts building there is usually a crowd at the door at the beginning of every recitation period, endeavoring to get in or out. Some of the men at such times show an entire lack of common sense, to say nothing of courtesy. If they can enter or leave the building as they wish it never occurs to them that it might be respectful to give the young ladies precedence.

It is the custom to have the freshmen or under classmen hold the door for the young ladies. This need not debar any man, however, who is a gentleman, from the duty.

This winter will probably develop exceptional respect for the young ladies on the part of the young men, and so deserve no further mention.

OTHER COLLEGE NEWS.

The military department of the University of Minnesota has received a communication from Gen. Allen, head of the constabulary in the Philippine Islands, asking that recommendations of university cadets be sent him for positions in the constabulary. The constabulary is the military police force of the Philippines, and cadets recommended from Minnesota will receive the rank of second lieutenant. The prospective policemen are to assume their duties early in the spring.

The museum of the University of Iowa has been given the valuable and curious specimen of an early ancestral form of the great pearly nautilus. It was quarried from hard blue limestone, and is over five feet in length. It is believed to be only part of an individual that when alive was over fifteen feet long.

A notable art exhibit is being held by the University of Nebraska in its library building. Several of the best examples of American painting are on view in the art room, among them being J. S. Sargent's portrait of W. M. Chase and paintings by Loeb, Chapman, Mova and Potthast.

Basketball Five Defeats St. Johns in Spectacular Game--Large Attendance.

For the first time in the history of basketball between the two institutions Syracuse defeated St. Johns with a decisive score of 49 to 7. The soldiers' team is much younger than former teams and was at a disadvantage, being greatly outweighed. The youngsters put up a good, snappy game, however, despite the disadvantages they labored under.

The game was a very interesting one. Captain Houseknecht during the first half played his second team and during the last half played the regulars. This gave the spectators a bit of practically two games.

The second team started off to roll up a higher score in their half than the Varsity would be able to beat. This over anxiety lead to great confusion and the half was nearly half over before they settled down to steady play. They kept the ball in St. Johns' territory nearly all. the time, however. St. Johns made the first basket, but did not make another until nearly the end of the half. Score, first half, 15-4.

St. Johns started the play against the Varsity in the second half by one basket, the last they made in the game. The Varsity then with fast snappy playing boosted up the score so fast that the spectators could not keep tally. Kirchgasser and Twombly alternated throwing the baskets with occasionally one by Powell to make a little variety.

Two fouls were called on Brady during this half for rough playing, but his good work was not at all detracted from. The work of the entire team was excellent. Nearly 150 saw the game. The line-up:

Syracuse (49)	(7) St. Johns
Forwards
Millen, Kirchgasser	Barber
McAdam. Twombly	Simpson
Center.
Van Duyne, Powell	Gerstle
Guards.
Niles, Houseknecht (capts.)	Day
Kinne, Brady	Wilson

Umpire—C. A. Nichols. Referee—J. A. R. Scott. Scorer—R. L. Simmons. Timer—P. M. Gallup. Goals—Barber 2, McAdam 2, Van Duyne 2, Kirchgasser 10, Twombly 6, Powell 3, Millen, Niles, Wilson. From fouls—Niles, Wilson.

The game with Colgate comes next Saturday and from the interest shown there will probably be a large attend-

1904 FOOTBALL CAPTAINS.

Below is a correct roster of the generals-to-be on every football team from Maine to 'Frisco.

Strangely enough, the choice between a lineman or a back for captains on the big elevens is evenly divided. However, more halfbacks will be captains in 1904 than in any other position. Next come the tackles. Fullbacks and quarterbacks are even up with the guards, while fewer captains will be ends and centers than any other positions.

It is a much mooted question as to which position is best for a captain to play, but in the selection of a man to lead a team the following year, generally the best man gets the commanding vote, no matter what place he holds down. It certainly seems advantageous for the quarterback to be captain, considering that he plans the plays and calls the signals. But Cornell shows up as the only big team to make a quarterback captain for next autumn. Usually the honor falls to the halfbacks, who have the fullest chance possible to make brilliant runs and get a great defensive work, thus being very conspicuous and being put more in line for a captain's berth. Some great football stars have been quarterbacks in the past, notably Daly of Harvard and West Point, having had in that position the best opportunity to inspire a team that might have lost.

Of the big four in football, Yale seems to have chosen the man who will probably be the most brilliant leader in 1904. J. J. Hogan, All-American tackle, is the Blue's choice, and he stood close to DeWitt at top of the ladder in 1903.

The masterhands in football next year are as follows:

College.	Position.	Captain
Syracuse	halfback	Robert Park
Princeton	halfback	W. E. Foulke
Yale	tackle	J. J. Hogan

THE ACADEMY OF SCIENCE

Dr. Smallwood Gave the Address of the Day--Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Academy of Science was held Friday, January 15, in the rooms of the Historical Association in the Syracuse Savings Bank building. After the usual routine business, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. Kraus; vice-president, P. F. Schneeder: secretary, Dr. Reese; treasurer, Miss Louise W. Roberts.

Mr. Schneeder and Mr. Wheelock of the section on Geology reported on the local geologic discoveries of the year. Mrs. L. L. Goodrich gave a report of the work of the Botany section. Dr. Hargitt spoke of the investigations of the Zoology section, and paid a glowing tribute to the late H. A. Butcher, chairman of the section.

The address of the day was given by Dr. W. M. Smallwood of the Department of Biology. He said in part:

The spirit of commercialism has so crept into our life to-day that we are liable to ignore the esthetic side of any question. Yet no one desires to be called a barbarian. Yet a man may be a barbarian as regards his knowledge of the advancement in other lines of work than his own. Culture may be defined as the attitude of the mind. Biology has the tendency of opening the mind to perceive. The real value of a subject is what it does for the student. Biology makes the student answer the questions "how" and "why."

Culture may also mean the openness of the mind. The value of Biology in general culture includes among other things:

(1) The study of law; the laws of life and the impossibility of disobedience to the laws of higher life.

(2) The interdependence of life. The conclusions of these bring in the evidences of laws and of a Creator.

Evidences of culture are also seen in the power of thought. General observations and then the critical observations are demanded of the student of Biology, as well as the ability to estimate the relative value of facts. Exactness of observation is developed by microscopic observation. Training in accuracy is also derived from the careful preparation of notebooks. Comparatively few people understand the nature of disease. This is evidenced by the large number of "patent" medicines and "quack" doctors. Biology gives a knowledge of such things.

Then there must be an esthetic openness of mind. This requires a cultured esthetic sense and brings about a love of nature. Some people see something beautiful and are attracted to the Biologic laboratory in order to know more of it, while in others the sense of the beautiful is developed by the systematic study.

What we see depends mainly on our point of view. The farmer sees the grain, the geologist the fossils, the botanist the flowers. And yet all make our lives the more joyful, the more hopeful, the more worth the living.

The president, Dr. Kraus, announced that on January 28 Mr. Archhold of the Western Electric company will give a demonstration in the physics lecture room of the High School. He has arranged some special apparatus to demonstrate two new electric lights, the Merritt and the Cooper-Hewitt.

LARGE BEQUEST TO THE UNIVERSITY.

John D. Lyman, whose death was announced in the Orange last Thursday, has left a large bequest to the University. The exact amount is not known as yet, as the will provides for a portion of the residuary estate. It is thought that the gift will exceed $100,000.

Mr. Lyman during his life was a munificent giver to the University, always, however, under the name of "A Friend."

PHI BETA KAPPA TO MEET.

It is probable that a meeting of the Syracuse Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa will be held about the first of June, and be addressed by some prominent men.

A committee of five consisting of Rev. Arthur C. Copeland, Prof. E. C. Morris, Prof. H. M. Burchard, J. M. Gilbert and Prof. E. N. Pattee has charge of the matter.

CHANGE IN TUTORING CLASS.

For those who were unable to be present at the first and second meetings of the algebra review class, a session will be held on Tuesday forenoon, Jan. 19, from 10 to 12, in room 32, Hall of Languages. Inequalites and a part of permutations and combinations will be covered.

ERNEST H. SUMNER,
712 Comstock Ave.

NOTICES.

The election of assistant managers for the Glee and Instrumental Clubs will be held to-marrow night at the regular rehearsal.

All students are requested to report at once all changes of city address to the Registrar so that they may be correct in the catalogue.

The examination in English III will take place Thursday, January 28th, 8-10 a. m.

Men desirous of nomination for the assistant football managership must hand their names to Dr. Burchard before Thursday, Jan. 21, 1904.

All nominations for assistant track manager must be handed to Dr. Smallwood before Thursday, Jan. 21, 1904.

Student activity on the hill which seeks to restrain the growing tendency to usurp the hour devoted to the Tuesday evening meeting of the Y. M. C. A. is an effort to maintain college custom and college courtesy. Since the organization of the association some seventeen years ago Tuesday evening from 6:45 to 7:30 has been reserved for its mid-week meeting, and it is not strange that, as one of the older organizations of the college, the association feels that its hour should not be encroached upon. We believe that the matter need but to be brought to the attention of the student body to have other Tuesday evening meetings deferred until 7:30.

Caswell Hall, the new dormitory recently erected at Brown University, is said to be one of the most commodiously furnished structures of its kind in the United States. It is furnished throughout in the best of dark-stained oak.

OTHER COLLEGE NEWS.

Cornell University believes that its debating team deserves the same recognition in the matter of banquets that the football and athletic teams in general receive. This week the team that defeated the University of Pennsylvania in debate, together with the teams that are to debate against Columbia, Hamilton and Colgate, will be formally banquetted at a mass meeting of faculty and students. President Schurman and several professors will address the gathering.

The McGill University Association at Montreal has passed the $80,000 mark in their building campaign. This is the amount originally aimed at. but it is now proposed to raise $10,000 more in order that the building may include dormitories for at least fifty men.

In order that Yale's new dining hall may not be a white elephant upon the hands of the university officials, as heretofore it has been, a plea has been made that every student patronize it who possibly can. Also each student has been asked to make a suggestion as to the management, especially as to serving. The tipping system, which has become almost unrestrained, is to be done away with.

COLGATE BEATEN IN FAST GAME

Syracuse Wins After a Hard Struggle--- Score 18 to 10.

Before the largest crowd of the season the Syracuse University basketball team scored a hard earned but decisive victory over the strong Colgate five by the score of 18 to 10. The enthusiastic audience had opportunity again and again to applaud the sensational plays of both teams. For Syracuse, Kirchgasser and Powell played their usual strong game, Twombly played his best game of the season and Brady and Houseknecht did excellent work in guarding such strong players as Runge and Brooks, as can be seen from the score, Colgate throwing but three baskets from the field. This is the third game between the rival colleges; the first two, played last year, were easy victories for Colgate.

After eight minutes of fast playing by both teams and some clever passing by Colgate, Powell scored the first basket from a foul. Houseknecht and Kirchgasser made baskets from the field and Runge scored a basket for Colgate. Score first half—Syracuse 6, Colgate 2.

The game from this point was close, but was marred by rough playing by both teams. Runge was ruled out of the game for his rough tactics and Leary substituted. Twombly, Kirchgasser and Powell by timely baskets rolled the Syracuse total up to 18 points while Colgate scored but twice more.

Captain Houseknecht said after the game, "I consider Colgate one of the strongest teams in the country and to win our team played its best game."

The decisions of Referee Rosoboro were impartial and his work was very satisfactory. A return game with Colgate will be played at Hamilton on March 12. when Colgate will endeavor to turn the tables.

CENTRAL NEW YORK ALUMNI

ANNUAL BANQUET.

The first annual banquet of the Central New York Alumni Association of Syracuse was held Thursday, January 21, at the Yates Hotel. The meeting was a decided success.

The toast list was an excellent one. Ex-Chancellor C. N. Sims gave an interesting story of "Syracuse of the Past." "The College Man of the World" was aptly described by Mr. Lieber E. Whittie '95. Chancellor James Roscoe Day made a stirring address on "Syracuse of the Present." "Athletic Remininiscences" was the theme of William Rubin, '93. Short speeches were made by Captains Clarence J. Houseknecht, '05, on "Basketball." Robert R. Stone, '04, on "Crew," and Robert Park on "Football.," Captains Moore and Gardner of the baseball and track teams were ill and unable to attend.

A new Syracuse song written by Professor Ernst Held, was sung by the University quartette.

Profesaor H. A. Peck spoke on "The Machinery of Athletics." The banquet was concluded by a speech on "The New Asseciation', by D. R. Cobb, '91.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, D. R. Cobb; vice president, William Rubin; secretary, F. E. Oliver, and treasurer, Willis H. Mitchell. Directors were chosen as follows: Willis A. Holden, E. L. French, Henry Phillios and Prof. F. J. Holzwarth.

ANNUAL ELECTION.

The election for commodore and vice-commodore of the navy, assistant manager of the track team and assistant manager of the football team, will be held in all the colleges to-morrow.

The men who were nominated for the offices are:

For commodore of the navy, Jacob E. Gramlich; vice commodore, Harry Myron, V. T. Stewart and R. R. Brockett. For assistant track manager, J. Arthur Distin, L. F. Ranney. For assistant football manager, Cyrus B. Griffith and F. E. Phelps.

NUMERALS GRANTED.

The Football Committee of the Athletic Governing Board has recommended that numerals be granted the following members of the class of 1906: C. M. Cortelyou, F. J. Kinney, F. J. Jones, S. Bettinger, R. Anderson, G. Van Dusen, W. Gerber, G. Rubenstein, W. L. Chandler and C. C. Kinne. Also the following from the class of 1907: Orville Cummings, L. C. Rice, R. K. Sheldon, R. A. Monahagn, C. F. Schaefer, R. L. Moore, M.F. Mount, A. L. Sloan, L. S. Coit, J. Wayne, G. Montgomery, A. W. Hartigan, H. G. McLear, J. G. Woolever, J. A. Coulter and T. A. McAuliffe.

ELECTED ASSISTANT MANAGER.

Frank E. Brundage, '05, has been elected assistant manager of the Glee and Instrumental Clubs. He will be manager of the clubs next year.

COSTUMES BEST IN THE COUNTRY

So Say New York and Philadelphia Experts --Professor Losey Back from Trip.

Professor Losey returned Wednesday evening from New York where he has been spending a week arranging for the costumes and effects to be used in the production of King Lear by the English Club. The terms arranged for were much lower than any the committee had dared hope for. It is probable that the costumes for the cast (numbering nearly eighty) will be furnished by Miller of Philadelphia. Among them are very expensive and can be obtained no where else in the country.

The costumes for the part of Lear, five in number, are to be furnished by Van Horn of New York. They are very elaborate. The wig and beard were made under Prof. Losey's personal supervision by Winkleman of New York.

Several photographs of Prof. Losey as King Lear taken by Rockwood last week are expected by the club in a few days. Winkleman, who has the reputation of being the best make-up man in the country, made him for the part. Mr. Rockwood, who has had years of experience in photographing actors, said that the costume was the best he had ever seen for the part.

A make-up man, a professional, is to come from New York and take supervision of the costuming the night of the production.

Besides the costumes prices were obtained on certain electrical effects which will be used to produce the effect of dawn and sunset and the storm on the heath. It is highly probable that these will be ordered and that an operator will be sent to take charge of them.

Since Professor Losey's return those having the matter in charge have become particularly enthusiastic and they promise a better and larger production than has ever been given by the university. The reports given above all tend to bear out their statement.

The play is to be taken to Rochester and Buffalo for two one night performances. It will be given here first, however, probably on April 13 and 14. A call will be issued soon for those who desire supernumerary parts, as they must be measured for their costumes. Advertising is already well under way.

From this time on the rehearsals will move more slowly. More attention will be given to detail and to the careful working out of each speech. It will be necessary to insist on extreme promptness of attendance and perfect preparation of lines. The rehearsals this week will be as follows:

Chapel, Wednesday 4 p. m., Act I, scenes 1 and 2.

Chapel, Thursday 4 p. m., Act I, sc. 3

" Saturday 4 p. m., " II, " I

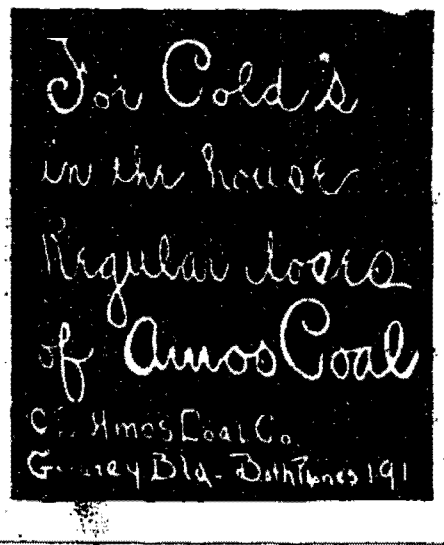
The Daily Orange resumes publication today after the mid-year's examination period of two weeks. In this issue we cover only the more important happenings of that time.

The first annual banquet of the Central New York Alumni marked the opening of a new epoch for Syracuse in this vicinity. No one doubts but that the Association will be an excellent medium for furthering all interests of our growing University.

The alumni who had the affair in charge are to be congratulated for its success. The officers for the past year well deserve a vote of thanks from their brother alumni.

The Association is destined to go forward with a steady growth. We would respectfully offer the honored association three suggestions which may aid this progress: First, that the price of the annual or semi-annual banquet be cut in two or made one-half what it was at the last banquet. Second, that the affair be always informal. Third, that the distance between the tables be reduced to a minimum compared to what it was.



We think the experience of other alumni associations proves the value of the suggestions offered for continued growth and enthusiasm.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

During the summer vacation the basement of Winchell Hall of Syracuse University will be completely overhauled, a new culinary plant installed and the dining room refitted and enlarged. Chancellor James R. Day has stated that it was the intention to make the culinary arrangements for Winchell Hall and Haven Hall equal to the arrangements in the best hotels in the country. The plans call for new ovens, large stationary coffee tanks and larger and better ranges. The dining hall will be enlarged considerably and made as attractive as possible. When completed the dining hall will be able to seat comfortably all the students in the dormitory and can also be used for alumni dinners or anything of that nature.

UNIVERSITY CHEMICAL CLUB.

The first regular meeting of the Chemical Club will be held Monday evening, Feb. 18th, at 7:30 in the chemical lecture room.

The meeting will be addressed by J. W. Beatty, head chemist for the Sweet Steel Company, on "Analysis for the Rarer Elements in Steel Alloys."

Students and faculties of the Engineering and Physics Dspartments and other interested persons are invited to attend. W. H. McCLELLAND, Sec'y.

COACH TEN EYCK HERE

Crew Candidates Report To-day--Possibility of a Second Crew at Ithaca.

Coach James A. Ten Eyck of the crews was in the crew room yesterday afternoon ready for work. The coach is looking much better than he did a year ago and is ready to enter into the work with all his strength and ability.

The coach had not seen Captain Stone until late in the afternoon, so the call for men was not issued. A call was issued yesterday afternoon for the freshmen to report at 4 o'clock and the 'Varsity candidates at 5 o'clock.

A new eight-oared shell is to be obtained this year. The coach said yesterday that if he could have a new four-oared shell he would enter a four-oared crew in the regatta at Poughkeepsie. When asked if a second crew would be sent to Ithaca, May 30, to take part in the triangular regatta, he replied that one would probably be sent if the authorities would send the boat.

The fact that the coach had arrived was rumored about yesterday and about 30 freshmen showed up and some were given a chance on the machines. Their names are:

A. L. Hale, L. S. Coit, L. C. Rice, T. H. Parkhurst, A. L. Barber, J. A. Sweet, M. C. Collister, R. W. Cady, R. S. Moore, A. M. Wygant, J. H. Brown, J. P. Heroy, A. H. Bullard, H. S. Cadmus, T. A. Rich, A. J. Woodard, H. H. Robinson, H. C. Michelson, O. E. Cummings, M. L. Mount, Chas. Packard, M. Winckiestein, A. Cauer, J. K. Kenyon, D. G. Stone, C. J. Hares, W. W. Andrews, H. J. Spencer.

HISTORICAL ABSURDITIES.

The review of examination questions which have been answered none too well, is apt to be a funeral occasion, but no one within earshot of the History room yesterday morning, would accuse Professor Mace's class in American History of being of a particularly serious disposition.

When Prof. Mace announced his intention of reviewing the examination questions the silence of death, broken only by a few sighs, reigned. As the hour proceeded, however, the Professor presented the answers to the questions in such a humorous manner that the entire class was soon enjoying such laughter as can scarcely be purchased at Dockstader's for a dollar.

The climax came when the question, "Who were the men opposed to the ratification of the Constitution?" was discussed.

"Several students," said Professor Mace, "Evidently armed with the examination papers of preceding years, after vainly attempting to frame an answer, wrote 'if you had asked it the other way, I could have answered it O. K."

"The names included in the list of opposers would put to shame any historian or chronologist.

Benjamin Franklin was included. He, being in Europe, is in measure accounted for—but James Otis, no one knows where he was, for he had been dead, lo, twenty years.

One member of the class, evidently of Catholic lineage, pilloried the name of a man dead two centuries, Martin Luther."

By the time the laughter had partially subsided. Mr. Rubin asked deferentially whether there was not a man named Luther in the Convention.

"I had promised myself, Mr. Rubin, never to expose you; but since you have brought it on yourself I am forced to tell. Yes, there was a Luther in the Convention, but Luther happened to be his first name."

THE TRACK TEAM.

Track practice has been progressing daily during the examination period, although a number of the freshmen have been rather delinquent in attendance. Now that the examinations are over, however, training will be harder than ever.

The track on the field will be cleared of snow as soon as possible and used for the runners. A picked squad is to train in the Armory, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The Armory makes a poor place to train, because the turns are so short. Several of the men blistered their feet in their first attempt at running, then only when taking it slow. The coach fears that as soon as sprinting is begun the team will have serious trouble.

Captain Gardner is recovering from his indisposition, and will probably begin training again this week.

The date for the various spring meets have not yet been arranged. The date offered for the Cornell meet is May 7th. The Colgate meet will probably be held here.

There is as yet no money in sight to send a relay team to Philadelphia, to the annual games. We have better material this year for a relay team than ever before and are more in need of the practice which participation in the meet would give. There seems however no possibility of sending a team. The promising material for such a team consists of last year's men: Sechner, Ralph, Twombly, Lipe and Robertson '05, and the new sprinter, Cole '07.

NEW YORK ALUMNI MEET.

The New York City Alumni Association will hold its annual dinner at the Hotel Manhattan, next Thursday evening. Chancellor James R. Day will be present and respond to a toast.

The annual banquet of the Albany Alumni Association will be held February 24.

INSURANCE.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company is represented in the University by Ernest H. Sumner as student solicitor. The student patronage will be appreciated highly.

GIRLS TO CONDUCT LEAP-YEAR BANQUET

1906 Girls Wish to Conduct Annual Affair---Clever and Original Scheme.

During the past week several of the sophomore girls have been busy circulating among their classmates and considering a proposition to conduct the coming sophomore banquet as a leap-year affair. The girls wish to have all charge, invite their partners, select a toastmaster (or toastmistress) and appoint the toast list.

The girls are already well massed for the scheme and it is probable that they will put it through at the next meeting of the sophomore class which is to be held next week. They have already obtained the appoval of the committee which has previously had the matter in charge.

One of the prime movers of the scheme told an Orange reporter yesterday, "Yes, we think it will be a fine thing and we intend to do it right, too. The boys needn't expect carriages but outside of that we'll have it right."

Advocates of the plan are hard at work at Winchell Hall and at the various sorority houses.

The plan, if put through, will throw all the burden of breaking up the banquet upon the freshman co-eds. The men would of courtesy keep out. This would make the banquet doubly interesting. The decision of the class in the matter will be awaited with pleasure.

KANT CENTENARY.

The members of the American Philosophical Association, by its officers, desire to call the attention of all teachers of philosophy to the fact that next February 12 is the centenary of the death of Immanuel Kant. They respectfully suggest that such memorial notice should be taken of this act as in each case seems practicable. It is hoped that a more formal celebration of the illustrious service of this great thinker may be arranged for at the next meeting of the association.

GEORGE TRUMBULL LADD,
President.
H. NORMAN GARDNER,
Secretary.

In observance of this centenary, the Philosophical Seminar, now studying the works of Kant, will hold an open session in the Philosophical Room, No. 30, Hall of Languages, on Friday, February 12, at 7:30 p. m.

The following program has been arranged:

Kant: The Man and the Teacher,
Prof. G. A. Wilson.
The Interest of the Scientist in Kant's Work, Prof. C. B, Thwing.
Kant's Philosophy of Art,
Dean Ensign McChesney.
Kant as Moralist and Theologian,
Prof. W. P. Coddington
The Influence of Kant upon Later Philosophy, Mrs. Ellen M. Mitchell.

All who are interested in commemorating the life and work of the great philosopher will be welcome.

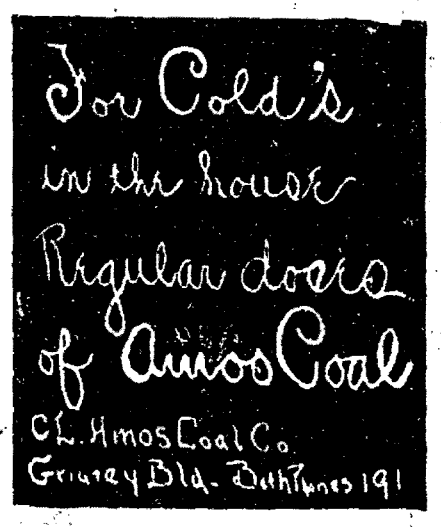
College custom has so little of originality in it that it is with pleasure that we read of a new offering in that line. The plan of the sophomore girls to run their class banquet as a leap year affair is certainly original, and from that standpoint as well as others commendable. The Daily Orange offers the ladies its best wishes for their success.

The important part which the spectators at an athletic contest play in upholding the honor of their respective institutions is apt to be lost sight of by some, yes, unfortunately by many of the students who attend. A player who, in a fit of anger, forgets himself so far as to resort to pugilistic practices, brings dishonor upon himself and upon his college; but when a considerable number of student spectators debase themselves to his level and vent their indignation by a melodramatic hiss, how much greater the dishonor which they brought upon their own university.

The act of the player is a one man act; while the act of a group of students reflects upon the standard of manliness of the entire University.



Moreover such ungentlemanly practices led to estrangement between universities and often to entire disruption of athletic relations.

A freshman whose experience as a spectator has been limited to hissing the villains at the Grand melodramas, may perhaps be pardoned for exhibiting the result of his training—but only once.

COURSE IN LABOR UNIONS.

At the request of many of the students in the Department of Political Economy, Professor Hawkins has consented to give a new course in Labor Unionism. This course may be taken either in connection with the Seminary work in Labor Unionism or separately.

The course will involve both theoretical and practical work, the practical aspects of Unionism being presented by employers of labor and officers and members of the various unions represented in Syracuse.

The class will meet tomorrow at noon for organization. All who have taken or are taking Courses I and II are eligible.

The first union to be studied will be the typographical union. A manager of one of the prominent local newspapers will tell the class about his experience with this union.

This course will prove exceedingly valuable as a supplement to the study of Trusts or Capitalistic Combinations which has engaged the attention of the class during the first semester.

MEDIC NOTES.

The Medics held a meeting yesterday morning and decided to give Mr. Erway their undivided support for assistant track manager. They feel that Mr. Erway has been unjustly treated. His work at the Medical College has been of a very high standard. In addition he is the only one of the candidates for assistant track manager who has earned his block "S" on the cinder path.

The second semester begins tomorrow (Feb. 3). New bodies have been placed in the laboratory already.

All Junior Pictures not in yet, and all grinds for Liberal Arts and other colleges must be handed in by the evening of Tuesday, February 4th. The 1905 ONONDAGAN goes to press this week Saturday. Arthur F. Rider, Editor-in-Chief; Wesley H. Douglass, Business Manager.

ELECTION RESULTS.

The Largest Vote Cast in the History of the University.

The election held in all the colleges yesterday was one of intense rivalry. All the electioneering, however, was done in a good-natured and gentlemanly way. The polls were opened at chapel time and were closed at five o'clock in the afternoon. About 11 a. m. there was a lull iu the activity of the embryo politicians. This was caused by the failure of the printer to deliver the second bunch of tickets on time. These tickets came within an hour, and the work went on.

The results follow. Jacob E. Gramlich was the only candidate for commodore, and now holds that office. For vice commodore Roy Brockett won with 499 votes, Harry E. Myron 415, and Vernon Stewart 320.

For assistant track manager, Arthur Distin won with 506, Ranney 320 and E. Van Camp 72.

Cyrus B. Griffith was elected assistant football manager with 647 votes, and Frank Phelps had 606.

INVITATION FROM U. OF P.

Manager Edwards received Monday an invitation from the University of Pennsylvania to participate in the intercollegiate games to be held there April 23. Syracuse is put in the second class with Cornell, Columbia, Georgetown and Amherst. The first class consists of Harvard, Yale, Pennsylvania, Princeton and Michigan. Syracuse may enter the championship class if she wishes. but it is planned to have colleges of about equal strength together.

SYRACUSE AND YORK TOWN

(TUNE, "RALLY ROUND THE FLAG")

There's a knickerbocker coat, boys,
With pockets deep and wide,
Down in the streets of old New York town;
And the men who wear that coat, boy,
Are true to Syracuse,
Down in the streets of old New York town.

CHORUS:—
Hurrah! for the candy,
Hurrah! for the oil;
Up with petroleum,
And down with the "spoil;"
And we'll rally round our flag, boys,
We'll rally once again,
Shouting for Archbold and for Huyler.

They are business first and last, boys,
Business first and last,
Down in the streets of old New York town;
But they never once forget, boys,
The needs of Syracuse. Down in the streets of old New York town.

CHORUS:—
There are other like them too, boys,
Others like them too,
Not all in "biz" in old New York town,
But they all agree with us, boys,
They all agree with us,
To whoop it up for Syracuse and York town.

And when the Campus' full, boys,
And Syracuse endowed,
Rich as a candy king in York town;
We'll not forget the crowd, boys,
We'll not forget the crowd,
That remembered Syracuse down in York town

CHORUS:—
Hurrah! for the candy,
Hurrah! for the oil;
Up with petroleum,
And down with the "spoil,"
For, we'll rally round our flag, boys,
Rally once again.
Shouting for Syracuse and York town.

COLTS RIFLES VS. SECOND TEAM.

The second basketball team meets the five representing Colt's Rifles in the gymnasium to-night. A good game is expected. To-morrow night the 'Varsity meets the team from the Potsdam Normal School. The admission to each game will be 15 cents, or to both 25 cents.

Saturday night the 'Varsity meets the Seminary team at Cazenovia.

ENGINEERS DROPPED FOR POOR WORK.

Lack of Preparation, Ill Health and Lack of Study the Causes.

The faculty of Smith College acting on the result of the mid-year examinations have voted to drop fourteen men from the course in engineering. These men were informed of the action by Dean Kent. The reasons given were, for some, lack of preparation. These were advised to spend the remainder of the year in a preparatory school. Others were suffering from ill health and were counseled to take rest. The majority were excused from lack of study.

The number included one junior, a few sophomores and a number of freshmen. The men had been warned previously, that their work was not up to the standard, and so the action was not wholly unexpected. Several other men have been warned that if their work does not improve next semester they will be requested to leave.

Dean Kent is exceedingly anxious to keep up the standard of scholarship and regards this action as only a preliminary step in setting a high standard for Smith College.

The faculty of Liberal Arts College will probably drop a few men after the first faculty meeting of the semester. This is done every year at this time. The standard insisted upon by the Liberal Arts faculty is not as high as it is in a technical school. The reason for this is that a professional man of any kind must know all the points that pertain to the technique of his profession. The men dropped were all asked to return next year if they can carry the work.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Sigma Rho Alpha, the architects fraternity, have pledged the following men:—W. I. Woodworth '06, G. S. Wright, G. Skinner. H. L. Smith, H. T. Marklank, H. D. Phoenix, '07.

The English Club was very charmingly entertained last evening at the home of Miss Theresa K. Tobin, 117 College Place by Mrs. Losey. She read several pleasing selections which were well received. She was especially good in several stories from Mary Wilkins.

Dr. Izmar Peritz gave a very interesting stereoptican lecture last evening (Monday), in Rome, N. Y., on "How we got our Bible." There was a large and enthusiastic audience.

BASEBALL MEN OUT.

Captain Geo. O. Moore, yesterday issued a call for all baseball candidates to report at 5 o'clock in the gymnasium. No practice will be held this afternoon, but plans for training will be given out by Coach Costello and the Captain.

We have sung songs to our campus, our professors and our athlete heroes, but never before have we had the opportunity of singing a rousing song in honor of the men who have, by their loyal financial support, made possible the Syracuse whose privileges we enjoy.

"Syracuse and Yorktown," contributed by a prominent alumnus of '84, strikes a note which should meet hearty response from every student. By making this song their own the students can show their appreciation of the support of the wearers of the "Knickerbocker Coat."

The phrase, "Up with petroleum," will no doubt be criticised by members of Professor Hawkins' department, who, after years of patient effort, claim to have discovered that it is not economically impossible for the Standard Oil magnates to endow a university without resorting to the expedient of raising the price of oil. If such a desirable condition of affairs actually exists, we have grounds to be doubly happy, but if it does not—well, let's sing the song anyway.

The Daily Orange regrets that through a repeated error of the printer the name of Mr. Van Camp was omitted as a candidate for assistant track manager.

SYRACUSE MEN HONORED.

The following is a clipping from the Buffalo Express of recent date. It describes the bauquet given the famous 22d Regiment relay team which defeated the crack 74th four in the last indoor meet held in the latter's armory at Buffalo:

"What proved to be one of the pleasantest affairs of the indoor athletic season was the banquet given in honor of the athletes of the 22d Regiment of New York at the Hotel Niagara by the officers of the 74th Regiment Athletic Association after the games last Saturday night.

It was a banquet which marked a great deal in regimental athletics and a notable gathering of former and present stars of the sprints were present. The cream of the 74th's athletes, its officers of long athletic experience, several well-known lawyers who gave the essential goodness to the speech-making part of the banquet, some of the venerable veterans and the six or seven 22d Regiment, runners and their managers sat at the banquet table..

Toastmaster Wolf sat benignantly at the head of the board and none escaped his vigilance. He made everybody get up singly and announce their best sentiment on the evening's doings. As the spirit of loquacity was strongly prevalent, for after the steins had clinked an appreciable while everyone was full of words, the toasts responded to were deserving of the loudly demanded encores which followed.

President Wolf allowed one of the older lawyers present to open the toast list. Richard H. Templeton, '99, who had just come from The Genesee, where the Lawyers' Club had finished banqueting, was in fine fettle for the opening address. Fourth on the list was a clever speech by the famous Meyer Prinstein, '01, champion broad jumper of the world, who ran the brilliant lap which cut down the 74th's lead. Prinstein's piece de resistance in the toast giving was "We Hated To Do It."

FIRST PROOF RECEIVED.

The first proof for the 1905 ONONDAGAN's illustrations was received from the engravers last week. This collection of drawings and pictures, about sixty in number, shows that the illustrations for the book as a whole have never been surpassed, a second batch of drawings and pictures, about 160 in all, is expected daily.

Eighteen forms out of a possible twenty-one or twenty-two in the book are complete and no matter intended for them will be received. It was intended to take this copy—practically the whole book to the printer last week—but the illness of the business house nearly a week has delayed printing manager, who has been confined to the somewhat. The three remaining forms including the Junior Pictures and the Liberal Arts grinds, both of which divisions were held over two weeks. The other forms will be kept for these and the whole book complete, goes to press this week Saturday. Junior Pictures will be received then, up to Thursday evening, February 4, and all delinquent Juniors, who have been delayed more or less by mid-year's, will please take notice. Plenty of grinds have been received from all the colleges except Applied Science and Liberal Arts. These grinds must be on the same date. Long grinds are especially desired. Grinds of other colleges will be gladly received also.

The ONONDAGAN will be printed by Humphrey of Geneva, the printer of the Alumni Record and the 1902 and other Onondagans. (The 1904 Onondagan was published by the Courier Publishing Company of Geneva.)

One of the new special features promised by the management are double-toned half-tones—a new process. All half-tone pictures throughout the book will be tinted in various colors. The business manager is sparing no expense to have the book as perfect an example of book work as possible; and the editor-in-chief is striving to attain a degree of thoroughness never reached heretofore. The ONONDAGAN, besides being an interesting and beautiful book, should be an "Encyclopedia of College Life" of every form.

The cover design has been decided on, a striking scheme in gold and black. The book will be bound in heavy art linen similar to the binding of the 1903 ONONDAGAN. A cilhonette outline of Crouse College forms the central feature of the cover design, and the whole gives a singularly beautiful effect.

As fast as reports of examinations come in they will be posted on the Registrar's bulletin boards. Freshmen can obtain their numbers at any time. Results will be posted by numbers, not by names.

CLASSICAL CLUB LECTURE COURSE

Dr. Richardson Delivers the First Lecture of the Course.

The first lecture in the course arranged by the Classical Club will be given this evening at eight o'clock in the Assembly Hall of the University Block. It is a privilege to be able to hear Dr. Richardson who has just returned to America after being for twelve years director of the American Archaeological School at Athens. Dr. Richardson is thoroughly familiar with all the points of interest in Greece, and is an authority in the important field of Archaeology, which sheds so much light upon the life and literature of Ancient Greece.

Dr. Richardson will illustrate his lecture with a large number of lantern slide views of the excavations at Corinth. He has been lecturing before the leading colleges in the East and goes from here to Philadelphia.

The second lecture in the Course will be one of unusual interest, on the religion of the Ancient Romans, by Prof. Morris H. Morgan Ph. D; L. L. D., professor of Classical Philology at Harvard University. Prof. Morgan while still a young man, has taken rank as one of the foremost scholars in the classical field. As a speaker he is clear and forceful. His lecture will deal with a subject to which he has devoted especial attention. The Classical Club is fortunate in being able to get Professor Morgan here.

Dr. Peritz will give the third lecture, his subject being "The Influence of Ancient Babylonian Civilization on the Minds of the Prophets." Dr. Peritz will illustrate his lecture with lantern-slide views of startling and important archaeological discoveries in biblical lands. This lecture will be of wide general interest, Those who have heard Dr. Peritz appreciate both his scholarly attainments and his clearness and skill as a lecturer.

Theta Chapter of Alma Zeta held a dancing party at the Empire, Monday night. The programs were printed by The June Press.

CREW PRACTICE.

The candidates for the freshman and Varsity crews are constantly increasing in number. Yesterday there were more than forty candidats out for the freshman crew alone There will be enough men out for the Varsity crew in a few days to complete two eights.

The freshmen are a very likely lot. They are heavier on the average than the men who tried for last year's freshman eight. Coach Ten Eyck does not wish to express an opinion on the men at this early stage. He is favorably impressed, however, with the candidates for both eights.

There were many interested student spectators in the crew room yesterday watching the men work out in the machine practice.

A SYRACUSE SONG

BY ERNST HELD, MUS. D.

Rally all, ye sons of Syracuse!
To our Alma Mater let us sing!
Let our cheerful voices loudly ring,
And may Heav'n with love our hearts infuse!

REFRAIN—Hurrah, Hurrah, Hip!
Press cup to lip!
Drink: by Syracuse we'll stay!
Let the Orange o'er us sway!

Maiden eyes, the dark, the gray, the blue,
Cheer our path, and bless us everywhere;
And our eyes may find one life to share
As companion, loving, gentle, true.

Rally then, ye sons of Syracuse!
To our Alma Mater let us sing!
Let our cheerful voices loudly ring,
And may Heav'n with love our hearts infuse!

COLLEGE MUSIC.

About once in a decade a song is written which has no ephemeral fame but becomes gradually a part of the nation's repertoir of loved melodies, simply because they are taken up by that portion of the world which always sings, namely the College and Glee Club men. It seems to be indigenous to the nature of the college chap to break into song on each and every occasion, and it is to these cheerful and lusty young voices that we owe not a little of our familiarity with the very best of modern popular music. On the night of the big Yale and Columbia game the restaurants of New York were crowded with enthusiastic youths spoiling for noise and excitement, and it was pretty evident from their requests to the various orchestras that the present song craze among them is "Here's to the Nut Brown Ale," the drinking song which was interpolated tnto "The Princess of Kensington," without ny very sanguine expectations on the part of the publishers, but which won out amazingly because of its typical atmosphere of goodfellowship.

Previous songs from prominent theatrical productions which have been incorporated into most of the college glee books are: "Heidelberg," from "The Prince of Pilsen." "We're True to the College Days," from "Peggy from Paris," "We're All Good Fellows," from "The Chaperons," and the drinking song, "Here's to the Ones at Home," in "Capt. Barrington."

BASEBALL PRACTICE.

First Meeting of the Candidates Held Yesterday. Excellent Outlook.

About thirty men reported yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium to Captain Moore, for baseball work. Many of the older men did not turn up, but will report later.

The prospects are excellent for a first class team this season. Coach Costello has most of last year's star team as a nucleus on which to build this year. He can be relied on to continue his fine work as a graduate coach.

Among the old men who will be out this season are Captain Moore, Heffernan, Collins and Manley in the pitcher's box; Sanford, firstbase: Harry Baker, second base; Rutherford, short stop and Burrell, third base. None of these men is sure of his position, for the coach believes in giving the best man the place.

There are many promising freshmen out this year. The list so far includes; W. H. Griffith, short or third; Wilbur, pitcher; Carlton F. Potter, center field; Henry E. Brelos, catcher; Curtiss, catcher; Ed. Folley, outfield; Roy E. Wilson, short; W. S. Smith, outfield; Richard A. Monaghan, outfield; Henry Markland, first base; John Brennan, outfield; H. J. Pendergast, field; Benj. A. Keeney, short stop; James Dineen, pitcher; Geo. Hannon, pitcher: Henry Reed, pitcher; Clyde Wheeler, pitcher; James Conan, first base and field; Henry M. Detter, catcher and first base.

The pitchers and catchers will start regular work in the cage next Monday. They will practice there on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week. Practice for all candidates will begin February 15th.

A meeting of the Jenners Alumni Association of Syracuse University will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Psi Upsilon Chapter House. All memebrs of the association are urged to be present, as there is important business to be transacted.

JOHN J. HILL, Pres.

There will be an important meeting of the Freshman class held Monday, February 8, at 3 p. m., in Room 33-34 of Liberal Arts College. At this meeting the class officers for the second semester will be elected. By order of Executive Committee.

It is to be regretted that the students are so prone to tear down placards advertising University affairs. The complaint is being made, and justly, that the placards for the Musical Clubs' concert, are disappearing in a disgraceful way.

This habit of (so-called) "swiping" of placards is one which should be stopped at once. The sentiment of the managers of the various affairs, as well as the majority of the students, is opposed to such action. If the system is practiced much longer, some radical measures against it should be taken by the student body.

The idea that the social functions of Senior Week will seriously affect the work of the students, is erroneous. The students will certainly attend to their studies in their usual manner.

AT THE BASTABLE.

The Vance and Sullivan Company will present an original and complete production of the stirring drama, "Why Girls Leave Home," Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with matinees Thursday and Saturday. The story is an interesting one, and the play is said to be full of amusing comedy, touching pathos and thrilling sensation.

The Four Codans' musical comedy "The Governor's Son," concluded last night a three days engagement. The piece is a clean wholesome comedy and was enjoyed by well filled houses.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL. I. NO. 95. SYRACUSE, N. Y., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

AN EASY VICTORY.

The Varsity Five Defeats Potsdam by Score of 29 to 11.

The Varsity five easily defeated the Potsdam Normal basketball team in the gymnasium last evening by the score of 29 to 11. There were a good number of students present, considering that the Oratorio concert was held the same hour.

As Syracuse had previously defeated Potsdam on their own floor this season by the score of 30 to 12, an easy victory was looked for last evening. The game was interesting from the spectators' point of view. The ball used was a new one and consequently was unusually slippery. This kept the score lower than it otherwise would have been.

Twelve fouls were called on the Orange and seven on the Normals. Powell for the Varsity threw three of these and lost four. Cavanaugh also threw three but lost nine. Prof. C. J. Freeborn of Potsdam was very impartial in his decisions.

Kirchgasser was the first to find the basket. He located it twice during the first few minutes of play. At the end of the first half the score was 11 to 5.

The line-up:

Syracuse (29)	(11) Potsdam
Forwards.
Kirchgasser	Clark, Brownell
Kinne, Twombly	Cavanaugh
Center.
Powell	Eastman
Guards.
Niles	Abbott
Houseknecht	Carr

Referee—Prof. C. J. Freeborn (Potsdam). Umpire—Prof. J. A. R. Scott. Timer—W. C. Lowe. Scorer—L. R. Woodhull. Time of halves—15 and 20 minutes. Goals from field—Kirchgasser (7), Powell (2), Twombly (2), Kinne, Houseknecht, Abbott (3), Eastman. Goals from fouls—Powell (3), Cavanaugh (3).

CHANCELLOR SHUTS DOWN ON SENIORS.

Chancellor Day Wednesday afternoon told the Senior Ball committee that dancing must cease at 2 o'clock in the morning. The orchestra had been engaged until 5 o'clock and the Chancellor thought that this was carrying the matter into excess and accordingly announced that the ball must close at 2 This will inconvenience many of those who purpose to attend the ball, as some already have their programs made out for the entire thirty-six dances.

SYRACUSE ACADEMIC ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

Manager Sanford of the Academic Athletic association of the University has arranged a very good schedule for the coming season. The schedule as given below is yet to be ratified by the managers of the various teams. The schedule, however, will probably be accepted by all teams, except possibly, St. John's. It has not been definitely decided yet as to whether St. John's will compete for the championship or not.

The teams which will compete this year are especially strong. Syracuse High School won the cup offered by the Syracuse Academic Association, and Elmira High School won the cup offered by Cornell last year.

The schedule as arranged by Manager Sanford is as follows:

April 16...Utica at Rome.
" 23...Elmira at Utica.
" 23...Syracuse at Rome.
" 20...Rome at Manlius.
" 30...Utica at Syracuse.
" 30...Manlius at Rome.
May 4...Syracuse at Manlius.
" 4...Rome at Utica.
" 7...Syracuse at Utica.
" 7...St. John's at Elmira.
" 11...Elmira at Rome.
" 14...Utica at Manlius.
" 14...Rome at Syracuse.
" 18...St. John's at Syracuse.
" 18...Utica at Elmira.
" 21...Syracuse at Elmira.
" 28...St. John's at Utica.
" 28...Rome at Elmira.
June 4...Elmira at Syracuse.
" 11...Elmira at Manlius.

A BIG CLOTHING SALE.

Kearney Brothers, the enterprising clothiers on Vanderbilt Square, open a big unloading sale of clothing Saturday. It will pay you to come in and look at some of the fine suits and overcoats that will be on special sale for a few days. The overcoats are priced as follows:

$12.00 Overcoats are marked $6.98.
$15.00 Overcoats are marked $7.98.
$18.00 Overcoats are marked $8.98.
$20.00 Overcoats are marked $9.98.

The same reduction on young men's suits. The students that come here and trade are entitled to an extra discount of 10 per cent. If you want bargains in clothing call at our store Saturday or any day next week.

OLD TRACK MEN OUT.

Several old track men reported at the Armory last night for practice. These men will greatly strengthen the squad. They were: Crowell '04, and Burrell '06, sprints; Wells '05, and Sechner '05, quarter: and Lowe, last year's captain, hurdles.

FRESHMAN MEDICS.

The freshman class of the Medical College yesterday elected the following officers for the second semester:

President—Lester S. Lang; Vice-President, Miss Mabel Cobb; Secretary, James W. Graves; Treasurer, Edward B. Chapman.

ORATORIO CONCERT.

Large Audience Listens to Concert by Musical Students.

The musical students of the College of Fine Arts gave an excellent concert last evening in the Auditorium of Crouse College. A large number of students were present, as well as many people from the city. The concert was enjoyed and greatly appreciated by all present. Mr. Louis Baker Phillips was the conductor. The soloists were Miss Cora Violet Scott and Miss Anna Avery, sopranos; Mrs. Marie Lindermer Davis, contralto; Mr. Charles Clow Yates and Mr. F. F. Snow, tenors; Prof. Richard Grant Calthrop and Mr. Ralph Lamont Stillwell, basses; and Miss Annette May Snell, organ. Mr. George K. Van Dusen acted as accompanist. An interesting feature of the program was a chorus of one hundred and fifty voices.

The program was as follows:

Chorus and Trio—"The Heavens are Telling" (from the "Creator")..... Hayden.
Trio—Miss Avery, Messrs. Snow and Stillwell.
Organ Solo—Prelude to "Die Meistersinger"..... Wagner—Warren
Stabat Mater..... Rossini
(Sung in Latin.)
Quartet—Soprano, Miss Scott; contralto, Mrs. Davis; tenor, Mr. Yates; bass, Prof. Calthrop.

THE FEBRUARY HERALD.

The February number of the Syracuse University Herald, which appeared yesterday, is a truly representative University literary magazine, numbering among its contributions articles and poems, both serious and humorous, of undoubted merit. The number includes:

The Bridges that Never Are, a poem, by Lawrence A. Wilkins; Livingston '79—Jennie E. Gilbert; La Tombe Dit a la Rose, from the French—Arthur F. Rider; The Odd Cup—Eleanore Cross; Inspiration, a poem—Ida L. Reverley; Hypnotized—Lewis E. Collings.

Among the sketches, "Which?" owing to its theme and original treatment is particularly appealing, while the always-looked-for Dooley story by C. F. Phillips has an even greater interest than usual, being evoked by the much talked of book, "Th' Shadow Side uv Coidjication, or How to Git Yer Pitcher in the Post Slanderd, by Dr. Eli Van De Knocker."

A noticeable and desirable feature of the February "Herald" is the distinctive College spirit which pervades the entire number. Every Syracusan who wishes to read a bit of truly representative Syracuse literature, should read the February Herald at the earliest opportunity.

The June Press are printing some "swell" programs for the annual dance of the Danforth Athletic Club to be held to-night at Empire Hall.

NOTICES.

The regular meeting of the Science Association will be held in Room 21, Smith College, this (Friday) afternoon at 4:20 o'clock. Dean Kent will address the meeting on the subject, "Engineering and Economic Science."

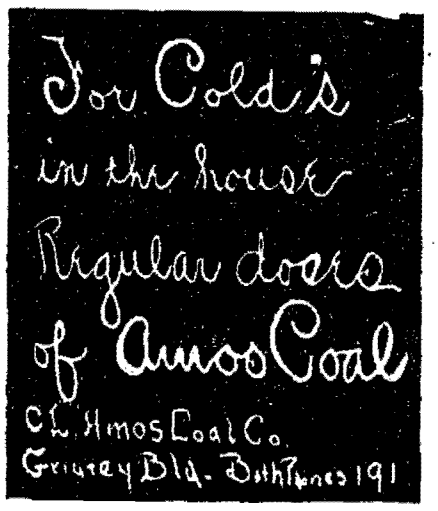
The Daily Orange wishes again to call especial attention to the series of historical lectures being given in the city. The lectures are under the auspices of the Historical Association of the University and the city High School.

Professor Mace delivers his first lecture on "The Roots of the Conflict over Slavery." Dr. Mace's reputation as an historical lecturer is too well known for further mention.

The lecture promises to be of unusual interest throughout. We urge the student support of these lectures most strongly.

AT THE BASTABLE.

The Vance and Sullivan Company will present an original and complete production of the stirring drama, "Why Girls Leave Home," Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with matinees Thursday and Saturday. The story is an interesting one, and the play is said to be full of amusing comedy, touching pathos and thrilling sensation.



The Four Codans' musical comedy "The Governor's Son," concluded last night a three days engagement. The piece is a clean wholesome comedy and was enjoyed by well filled houses.

PROFESSOR FRANK H. WOOD.

The Albany Argus of recent date says: Much surprise was occasioned in the State departments when the officers and executive committee of the Associated Academic Principals went to Governor Odell and urged upon him the advantage it would be to the educational system of the State to elect Prof. Frank H. Wood '85, of Chatham, as superintendent of public instruction.

This action by an organization which has always sided with the State board of regents in its fight with the department of public instruction, makes Prof. Frank H. Wood a leading candidate for Superintendent Skinner's place if the educational system is not disturbed this year.

Prof. Wood was born in Herkimer county in 1861, is a graduate of Syracuse University and was a public school teacher until after obtaining a diploma as a pedagogue in the New York University. He was urged to take his present position by leading educators who knew something about his qualifications. The position he occupies he obtained through the civil service and had no connection with political influence. The election occurs the second Wednesday in February.

THE TRACK TEAM.

Prospects for the Buffalo Meet Brighter than Last Year.

With the Buffalo meet only fourteen days distant, much interest is centered in the 'Varsity track team which will represent Syracuse against Cornell and the Seventy-fourth Regiment, in a triangular meet of three teams of twenty men each.

In some respects S. U.'s team will be stronger than that of last year. Most of last year's men are already out again this year and will have the advantage of their previous experience, although their condition can be expected to be no better than at this time last year. The use of the Armory alternate days of the week betters slightly facilities for training.

On the sprints, Syracuse is stronger than last year. Besides numerous freshmen who are unknown quantities, the following are showing up unusually strong: Crowell, '04, Sechner, Ralph, '05, Mitchell, Bunnell, '06, Cole and Gidley, '07.

Syracuse should make a good showing in the quarter-mile with Ralph, Sechner and Robertson, '05, to draw from.

On the half-mile, Squires, Stebbins, '06, Ranney and W. J. Boyd, '05, are the likeliest candidates. Squires is in unusually good physical condition.

In the mile, Wells, Rutty, D. C. Squires, '06 and Greenfield, '04, had the list. Coach Scott says that he hopes to have Powell, the star freshman basketball player, out for this event soon. Powell ran the mile for Masten Park high school.

In the two mile event Syracuse is stronger than last year. W. Y. Boyd is supported in this event by Lobdell, '05, and Vorhees, '06. Colter, '07, a green man in the event, is running very strong Coach Scott thinks he sees signs of promise in the man and is trying to improve his style.

Syracuse will gain some advantage in the Buffalo meet owing to a change in the schedule of events. The high jump, shot put, pole vault, and high and low hurdles have been added as point counting events.

In the high jump, Lowe is in average form and should win or tie for first place. Other men for the event are Captain Gardner, Treible, Cross and Hawkins.

In the shot put, the giant Van Duyn is hurling the sixteen pound sphere forty feet, but says he is as yet dissatisfied with his work. Other men trying for the event are Tucker, Church, '06, and Kelly, '07.

On the pole vault Syracuse's hopes are somewhat dimmed by the fact that Captain Gardner is greatly out of condition owing to past ill health. He has done practically no training as yet. Before the Buffalo moet last year, however, he vaulted only once or twice but tied for first place in the meet. Southworth is greatly improving in this event and may make an able second man.

In the hurdles Lowe and Robertson are the only men practising. The high hurdles will be made a 100—instead of a 120-yard race, while the 220-yard low hurdle race will be run in a circle instead of straightaway.

In an interview with Head Coach J. A. R. Scott he stated to an Orange reporter that twenty men will be taken to Buffalo exclusive of managers or coaches. There has been some talk of sending only a few "stars." Coach Scott would not so far commit himself as to say that S. U's prospects for a favorable showing are better than last year. Yet such is the general opinion.

BASKETBALL.

This afternoon the Varsity will play the fast Cazenovia Seminary five at Cazenovia. A very hard game is expected as the Cazenovia team is one of the strongest in the State. Last year they made a notable record in the city by defeating the Yale Rifles and St. John's teams in the armory.

This year they claim a stronger team than last season. Although we have confidence in our team's victory, a very fast game is anticipated. The Cazenovia team has not been defeated this year. Their last three games resulted in decided victories over the teams of Mansfield State Normal, the Thirtieth Separate Gompany of Elmira and Colgate Academy. This will be the last game that the Varsity plays before going on the Eastern trip, when they meet Williams, Amherst and Wesleyan.

NEW YORK ALUMNI BANQUET.

The annual alumni banquet of the New York Alumni held last Thursday night was a great success. There were present in the banquet hall of the Manhattan one hundred and ninety-five people, including several distinguished guests.

Among the honored guests were: Chancellor and Mrs. James R. Day, Mr. John W. Archbold, Bishop Andrews, George H. Daniels of the New York Central Railroad, Chancellor Mac Cracken, of New York University and General Joseph Wheeler.

Stephen B. Ayres '82 presided, and the speakers included Chancellor Mac Cracken of New York University, General Joseph Wheeler, Chancellor James R. Day of Syracuse University and George H. Daniels.

The alumni elected these officers: Stephen B. Ayres, president; Frank W. Goerth, first vice-president; Elizabeth L. Foote, second vice-president; Frank J. Marion, secretary; Miss Florence Heermans, cor esponding secretary; Fred Z. Lewis, treasurer.

One of the most interesting debates of the year took place Wednesday night in Hall of Languages. The question was: Resolved, "That Missionary study is as Beneficial to the College student as Bible study." The debaters on the affirmative were G. H. Wilson, assisted by Miss Mabel Hendricks; on the negative, G. J. Becker, assisted by Miss Mary Neff. The affirmative side won the debate.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONVENTION.

Dr. Halsey to Deliver Address of the Day. All Are Invited.

A considerable number of delegates to the first annual convention of the Student Volunteer Union of the colleges and seminaries of central New York have already arrived. More of the Volunteers and their friends are expected this morning.

At 2:30 p. m., the principal event of the convention will take place in the Gymnasium. All the students of the University and others who are interested in the work of Foreign Missions, are invited to share the pleasure of the Volunteers, in listening to addresses to be given by A. Woodruff Halsey, Secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions and Mrs. Mary S. Wilkinson, President of Folts Mission Institute.

Dr. Halsey is a Princeton man who has had wide and varied experience both in Mission work and in public speaking. Those who have in the past had the opportunity of listening to his addresses will be glad of the chance of again hearing him.

Mrs. Wilkinson is also a strong and delightful speaker. Besides addressing the convention, Mrs. Wilkinson is to remain and speak before the Christian Associations, Sunday afternoon. The complete program is as follows:

10:30 A. M.—Devotion, Discussion, Business.

I.—Opening Prayer.

II.—Reports.

III.—Fifteen minute discussion on each of the following topics introduced by five minute papers.

1.—Delegation Work, by James W. Nicol, Auburn.

2.—The Volunteer Band Meeting, by A. I. Nasmith, Colgate.

3.—The Self-preparation of the Volunteer Band, by Grove S. Brown, Syracuse.

2:30—Open Meeting.

Address—"The Prayer Life of the Missionary," by Dr. A. W. Halsey, New York.

Address—"The Supreme Qualification of the Student Volunteer," Mrs. Mary S. Wilkinson, Herkimer.

FRATERNITY INITIATES.

The following is a list of initiates in the fraternities which pledge the second semester:

Alpha Phi:—Misses Fannie Grant '05, Alice Grandy '07, Mabel Bernhart '06, Faith Buell '07, Anna Avery '07, Jetta MacDonald '07, Beula Johnson '07, Bertha Wood '07.

There are some who think that a spirit of hostility exits between the different colleges of the University, especially between those on the hill and the down-town colleges. However this may be, we are inclined to think that this state of affairs is more imaginary than real. One thing is sure, and that is, that no such a spirit should exist. Every man should be given a chance to win on his merits regardless of what college he is from. And on the other hand, no man should make a complaint when he is fairly and squarely beaten.

Those who place the interest of their own college above the interest of the University have failed to catch the true spirit of unity that exists in Syracuse. We are all children of the same benign mother and should all work for the common interest. This is the only way in which the highest interests of all can be reached. "A house divided against itself cannot stand."

"Does the College student of to-day do as much productive labor as he should?" is the question which is being discussed quite generally among various classes of people throughout the country. Some seem to be of the opinion that it is a disgrace for any man to produce less than he consumes. These theorists maintain that industry and the classics should go hand in hand, that every college man should spend sufficient time in productive industry to earn enough to pay his entire college expenses. Moreover, it is asserted that with a well organized Department of Industry in a university, four hours of useful labor per day would suffice to provide for the needs of every student.

There is no doubt but that such a system of compulsory self support would be of great service in adjusting many men to their material surroundings, but there are on the other hand, quite as many more whose lives would be injured by being compelled, prisoner like, to devote themselves to an uncongenial task.

Moreover, under the business conditions existing in the United States to-day, such a plan would be impracticable, owing to the immensity of the task of organizing student industry profitably.

It requires a great man to organize the scholastic work of 2,000 men and women effectually. An even greater man is required to so employ these 2,000 men and women that half a million of dollars may be paid them annually in wages without resorting to the bankruptcy court.

COMMUNICATION.

There is no doubt but that partiality has been shown in the reserving of seats for the annual University Glee Club Concert. Considering that the concert is a University affair, one of the functions of Senior Week in which all students are interested, partiality towards any particular students or groups of students is reprehensible.

The fact of the matter is, that when students appeared at Crouse College at the time when it was advertised that reservations would be made, 10 o'clock yesterday morning, all the most desirable sittings, including almost the entire lower floor, had already been reserved, some of these reservations being made as much as a week before the time advertised.

It would be wiser and more just, that in the future, in all university functions where seats are reserved, every student be given an equal chance, whether he belong to certain organizations or not. A protest is entered in behalf of the student body, and a plea is made for Fair Play. SENIOR.

SENIORS COMPLY WITH CHANCELLOR'S WISH.

In the conducting of the Senior Ball the committee in charge is to make an innovation which could well be patterned after by other social functions of like nature. During the past few years there has been a growing tendency to begin balls at a late hour and to break away at an hour when a goodly portion of mankind are beginning their daily tasks.

The Senior Ball of 1904, however, is to be conducted in a common sense manner. At eight o'clock, when the music begins, all are expected to be present, ready to enter into the spirit of the festivities. All those who attend will, it is believed, be able to enter upon their college work of the ensuing day in a manner which would be impossible if the hour of starting were deferred as it has been in the past.

When the management was interviewed, it was stated that the wish of the Chancellor as regards an early closing would be cheerfully complied with, but that it was necessary, in order to make the affair a success, that every one should plan to be present promptly at eight o'clock.

MASS MEETING THIS MORNING

Glee Club Management to Make a Statement --The Controversy in Full.

Between chapel time and the late evening hours on Saturday there was scarce a moment but that the contest for "Fair Play" in making reservations for the Glee Club Concert was going on, drawing towards the climax which was reached when Manager Wright agreed to make a full and satisfactory statement before the student body in chapel this morning. Following are the events which led to this end.

A mass meeting was held in chapel Saturday morning in the interests of the Glee Club concert which is to be held next Wednesday evening. George Hares, '04, acted as chairman of the meeting.

Wesley Hook, '04, stated that the object of the meeting was to make a protest against the method of reserving the seats for the concert. Mr. Hook claimed that although the sale of seats was advertised for Friday, Feb. 5, all the desirable seats were sold to various organizations previous to that time. All the seats which were left were either in the gallery or under the gallery.

This he claimed was discriminating against the majority of the students of the University. "It is unfair," he said. "It violates the principle of equality for which we fought at the time of the Revolution and the Civil War. We have our rights and we ought not to stand such treatment as this."

He moved that Manager Wright of the Glee Club be instructed by the meeting to call in all reserved seat tickets, except those reserved for the patronesses and that all seats should be placed on sale Monday morning, and no more than three seats should be sold to each person. The motion was seconded by Mr. Morecroft, and carried.

George Hares, the chairman of the meeting, said that he thought injustice had been done and that it ought to be righted. He appointed Messrs. Hook and Morecroft to convey the instructions to the manager of the clubs.

The committee conferred with the manager immediately after chapel. He claimed that justice had been done to all, and refused to accede to the requests of the committee.

After receiving the manager's refusal to carry out the orders of the motion passed by the students, the committee put the matter before the Chancellor, who urged that some compromise be effected before any serious breach be made among the student body. The committee, however, was unwilling to retire from its original position. "There must be a new reservation of seats."

CHANCELLOR DAY'S TRIP WEST.

Chancellor James Roscoe Day leaves the city to-day for a trip to Chicago. While there he will attend a conference of the presidents of all the Methodist colleges in the country.

The conference will last for two or three days. Forty presidents will meet at Northwestern University, to consider plans for the enlargement of the denomination's educational work. This plan involves a division of the church's territory into university, college and academy districts, in each of which there will be an institution of one of three kinds.

The larger and better equipped institutions at present are to become universities. They will receive equal endowments if possible and the appropriations will be large enough to make them equal to any institution in their part of the country. Northwestern, DePauw, Ohio Wesleyan, Vanderbilt, Syracuse, and Boston universities, will probably be of the future university class.

The university districts are to be subdivided into college districts, these in turn into academy districts, all these schools being affiliated. The general board of education of the Methodist church will have oversight. President Edmund J. James of Northwestern has agitated the scheme for some time, and it is partly owing to his efforts that the conference will be called. following a senate of the Methodist church composed of fifteen members. The value of the property involved in the consideration is $40,000,000, and there are in the universities and schools affected more than 3,000 professors and 50,000 students.

ANOTHER VICTORY.

In defeating the strong Cazenovia team Saturday afternoon the 'Varsity five added one more to its long series of victories. and gained some additional experience which will be of value in preparation for meeting the strongest basketball aggregations of the East next week.

The score, 22 to 6, is indicative of the comparative strength of the teams, but the score was no doubt kept down, owing to the small size of the gymnasium and the confusion arising from the fact that both teams wore suits of a similar color and appearance.

Aside from the consistent team work of the 'Varsity five and Powell's feat in throwing six out of a possible seven baskets on fouls the game was featureless. The line-up:

Syracuse (22)	(6) Cazenovia
Forwards.
Kirchgassar	Hathaway
Twombly	Jackson, Kent
Center.
Powell	Moore
Guards.
Brady	Davis
Houseknecht	Teck

Referee—Prof. J. A. R. Scott. Umpire—Mr. Farley of Cazenovia. Timer—Mr. Church. Goals from field—Kirchgassar 2, Twombly 2, Brady 2, Powell 1, Houseknecht 1. Goals from fouls—Powell 6, Kent 2.

SENIOR WEEK.

Preparations Point to More Festivities than Ever Held Before.

The social festivites for the coming week will be more varied and interesting than in former years. This is in spite of the fact that Chhancellor Day has compelled the Seniors to declare the Senior dance off, which was to be held this evening.

Tuesday evening many of the fraternities will give dances or dinner parties at their homes. Among the fraternities which will entertain are Delta Kappa Epsilon, Psi Upsilon, Phi Delta Theta and Beta Theta Pi.

The annual concert of the Glee and Instrumental clubs will be held in John Crouse College on Wednesday evening. Both the clubs are in excellent shape, and expect to render the best program ever given in Crouse Hall. The men have been practicing very faithfully every day for the past week, and have thoroughly mastered their difficult selections.

The annual concert has usually been one of the leading functions of Senior week, and this year it promises to hold a commanding position. The student body alone promises to fill the great hall, but there are hundreds of music lovers in the city who will also vie for seats.

The Senior Ball will be a fitting climax for the brilliant festivities of the week. The committee in charge, Phi Kappa Alpha, has been doing some tremendous work in preparation for the event. This function will be held in the Alhambra.

The men's fraternities which will have boxes include Delta Kappa Epsilon, Delta Upsilon, Psi Upsilon, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Delta Theta, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Gamma Delta and Chi Alpha Sigma, also the Orange Club.

Phi Kappa Alpha will have a box directly in front of the stage, and the other fraternity boxes will be arranged along either side of the hall directly under the galleries.

The dancing will begin at 8 o'clock, since it must cease at 2 a. m. of the following day. The dance program consists of thirty regular dances and six extras. The program card will be very elaborate—of gray satin, with "1904" in orange embossed on the outside. It is expected that two hundred and fifty couple will be in attendance.

The patronesses are Mrs. Frank H. Hiscock, Mrs. Willis F. Holden, Mrs. Lucina Dennison, Mrs. George H. Bond, Mrs. William A. Groat, Mrs. William B. Kirk, Mrs. W. K. Butler, Mrs. W. K. Pierce, Mrs. L. C. Smith, Mrs. Dennis McCarthy, Mrs. Robert Dey, Mrs. A. R. Peck, Mrs. J. S. Grey, Mrs. A. Walker and Mrs. W. A. Dyer.

On South Salina Street there is a printing shop whose name reminds us of "The Good Old Summer Time."

NOTICES.

The rehearsals for King Lear this week will be held as follows:

Monday, 4 P. M.—Act I., scene 1, 2.
Tuesday, 4 P. M.—Act II., scene 3.
Thursday, 4 P. M.— Act III.
Friday, 4 P. M.—Act IV., scene 1.

The Biological association will meet this evening at 7:30 P. M., in the Biological lecture room, H. S. Standand, M. D., will lecture on "Adaptation in Pathological Processes."

The Crouse College French Club will meet next Monday evening, February 8, at the Kappa Alpha Theta House.

A class in Entrance English for those who are delinquent in this subject will be organized Monday, Feb. 8, at 2 p. m. This class will meet regularly Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 2 p. m. in Room 60, Liberal Arts College.

There will be an important meeting of the Freshman class held Monday, February 8, at 3 p. m., in Room 33-34 of Liberal Arts College. At this meeting the class officers for the second semester will be elected. By order of Executive Committee.

There will be an important meeting of the Sophomore class Wednesday, February 10th, at 2.30 p. m., in room 46. The election of officers and such other business transacted as may come before the meeting.

OSCAR J. BROWN, Pres.

The regular meeting of the German Club has been postponed to one week from Tuesdya night.

Rehearsal of "Der fahrende Schuler" will be held Monday at 2:30 p. m. in the German office.

The Biological Association will meet on Monday, Feb. 8, at 7:30 p. m. in the Biological Lecture Room. Dr. H. S. Steensland, pathologist of the Medical College, will lecture on "Adeptation in Pathological Processes." Members of the Association and their friends are invited.

COMMUNICATION.

Editor Daily Orange:

As matters stand at the present time the University is liable to lose its band.

The band has been an important organization in the University, and its absence would be greatly felt. Since its organization it has received no support from the University, but has depended entirely upon the student body for its existence. Within the past few months new troubles have come to the management, and the band in now on the point of being broken up.

It rests entirely with the student body whether such shall be the case or not. The students should consider this matter seriously before allowing the University to lose this organization.

The football games, celebrations and other college features are greatly enlivened by the presence of the band. Not until such events occur, and the "music of the band" is not heard will the students fully appreciate what the presence of such music in the University means.

The student body, then, should come to the aid of the band. The band should by all means be made a permanent organization of the college. This can only be done by some immediate action on the part of the students.

In another column appears a news item copied from a recent copy of the New York Tribune, which presents very forcibly the practical workings of the honor system of examinations at Princeton. An honor committee, consisting of six students representing all the undergraduate classes, has recommended that the faculty expel five fellow students for cheating in examinations. This same committee has also, without any faculty action, and if reports are to be credited, without the knowledge of the college authorities, secured the arrest of the persons selling the printed questions before the examination.

The efficient and honorable work of this student committee is to be heartily commended; but Princeton is honored even more by the loyal manner in which the student body supports the honor committee in the performance of its duties. Princeton has reason to be proud of her honor system and of the high standard of manliness exhibited in maintaining that system.

The management of the Glee Club is to be commended for its zeal in insuring the success of the Annual Concert; but it is generally admitted, even by the members of the organizations receiving the privilege of early seat reservations, that the principle of giving this favor to organizations is vitally wrong.

Those who so vigorously maintained their rights Saturday morning displayed the true American spirit of democracy. However, it is doubtful whether the Glee Club management's act had been sufficiently reprehensible to call for the extreme rebuke involved in the motion which was passed by the students present in Chapel.

The effort which the Weekly is putting forth to aid the track team in securing the funds necessary for the accomplishment of the plans of the management is deserving of the hearty co-operation of the entire student body. The Daily stands ready to do its duty in assisting the track team in every possible way.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The Times-Republican of Canisteo, N. Y., for February 3, says: "It has been many years since patrons of a lecture course in this village have had an opportunity of hearing a more brilliant orator than Chancellor Day, of Syracuse University, who lectured Monday evening at Academy Hall, under the auspices of the Wimodaughsians. His subject was "A Mile a Minute" and he held his audience in the closest attention throughout."

Dr. J. Lynn Barnard '92, Professor of Political Science in Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., has presented to the Historical Association Library, through Dr. Flick, a very fine set of Milman's "History of Christianity," 3 volumes, and Milman's "History of Latin Christianity," 8 volumes. These books will be used in Dr. Flick's class in Church History.

After Mr. Wright and Mr. Hook had both appeared before the Chancellor a second time to argue their respective sides of the question, the matter was turned over to Dean Smalley.

A long discussion of the merits of the question ensued and after all other compromises had been rejected by the student committee, it was finally agreed that the original idea of having an entire new reservation of seats be abandoned; but that the management of the clubs should make a satisfactory statement before the students assembled in chapel this morning.

HONOR SYSTEM AT PRINCETON.

The following appeared in a recent issue of the New York Tribune:

Five members of the freshman class of Princeton have been expelled by the faculty on the recommendation of the honor committee of the students, for cheating at examinations. The faculty has decided not to make public the names of those expelled. Two residents of the town have been arrested, and are in jail in default of $1,000 bail, for selling examination papers to the boys.

It is alleged that a certain Thompson secured the examination papers which were sold to the freshmen through his son, who works in the shop where the papers were printed. Another man, Kinney, is accused of having approached a number of freshmen several times and of offering to sell them the papers at prices ranging from $10 to $30. The five boys bought the papers and used them in passing their examinations. Another freshman who was approached, but whose name is also kept secret, refused to buy the papers offered, and reported the affair to the honor committee.

The honor committee at once took the matter up, and set a decoy for the men who were offering the papers. A man, acting under their orders, represented himself as a freshman, and offered to pay $30 for the papers. When the men were trapped the arrest was made. The investigation of the committee led to the report to the faculty, recommending the discharge of the five students. The honor committee is composed of one member from each of the lower classes and two from the two upper classes.

The affair has caused the greatest excitement, and nothing else is talked of among the students. The action of the honor committee is generally commended by the students. Dean Harry B. Fine said that the faculty knew nothing of the affair until the committee recommended the expulsion of the guilty boys.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL. I. NO. 99. SYRACUSE, N. Y., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

FIRST CUT THIS WEEK.

Freshmen now Rowing in Squads---Light Men to be Cut Out.

Coach Ten Eyck yesterday told an Orange roporter that the first cut in freshmen crew candidates would be made this week. Some of the men have improved greatly since work started, while others have shown practically no improvement. These last, together with the light men will be dropped.

There are now 34 men out for the freshman boat. Machine No. 6 is being repaired and for that reason is out of commission, so only seven men are rowing in a squad. They are: Squad 1—Robinson, stroke; Brown, Mount, Hale, Stone, Michelson, Wygant. Squad 2—Coit, stroke; Moore, Spencer, Parkhurst, Bullock, Davis, McNevin, Squad 3—Badger, stroke; Cadmus, Andrews, Sweet, D. A. Davis, Cummings, Hares. Squad 4—Packard, stroke; Cady, Patterson '05. Becker, Ribe, Woodard, Lindsey.

The 'Varsity men out are: Packard, Rice, Dempster, Anderson, Squires, Salisbury, Kimberly, Smith, G. S. Brown, Taft, Patterson.

Captain Robert Stone has definitely decided that he will be unable to row this year. A new captain will probably be elected before the crews go on the water. The coach hopes to get out on the water as early as he did last year, which was March 7.

Commodore Gramlich is to measure off several courses on the ice this week so that buoys may be set when needed next spring. The machines are also to have an overhauling this week.

SYRACUSE MEN TO ATTEND Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION.

Syracuse is to be well represented at the Biennial Convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of New York State, to be held in Utica, Feb. 11-14. Already eighteen men are enrolled as delegates. Others expect to go as visitors.

The delegates who have been chosen are: R. A. Waite, George J. Becker, F. W. Hartwell, C. Vliet, C. E. Woodley, R. A. Grieser, A. E. Moody, H. T. Baker, L. B. McMickle, L. C. Wright, James Rourke, G. Stanley Brown, Roscoe M. Hersey, Jesse Lobdell, Charles H. Fenton, W. L. Chandler, R. G. Perkins, Pierce '07.

The program arranged for this State Convention is both educational and inspirational. Among the speakers are: Robert E. Speer, New York; Rev. Charles Wood, Philadelphia; Graham Taylor, Chicago, and Bishop Henry Potter, New York.

Special rates have been obtained over the railroads for the delegates and others who desire to attend. Any whose names are not already enrolled who desire to take the trip should report to Mr. Waite.

BANQUET SCHEME ABANDONED.

The sophomore girls interested in the scheme of giving a leap-year banquet held a caucus last week to decide upon a course of action to be pursued at the meeting of the class which is to be held to-morrow. At this time a number of the fair ones who have upheld the proposition joined forces with those who have opposed it and the scheme, which was at one time almost certain of being put through, is now no more.

In speaking of the matter afterward, one of them said, "We hated awfully to give it up, but there were some girls who wouldn't ask the fellows, and anyway, suppose we asked a man and he refused to go with us?" Another little co-ed, summoning all the dignity that 4 feet, 11 inches is heir to, said severely, "Why, do you think we would hold that banquet that way and ask a man to go with us? No indeed, I can assure you that it is beneath us." The banquet will be held in the usual way, probably in a week or two.

TRADES UNIONISM.

The class in Unionism which has recently been organized, listened to the first of a course of talks by prominent labor union representatives yesterday. Mr. James A. Horton, the business agent of the Carpenters' union, told about the purposes and methods of organization of the Carpenters' unions, narrating some interesting facts about the local organization and answering questions asked by Professor Hawkins and members of the class.

Mr Horton told very frankly of the methods he employed to "Make the employers know that it was to their interests to employ union labor." He admitted that the employer had a right to hire whom he pleased, but asserted that the union has a right to put a man on the "Unfair" list, if he avails himself of that "right."

When asked te explain the manner in whieh a man is declared unfair, Mr. Norton said that the business agent or "Walking Delegate" reports the alleged "Unfair" acts to the local body of the union. If this body considers the report valid, it is referred to the grievance committee of the Central Body who interview the employer before taking final action.

In answer to a question regarding the strength of the union in the city, the speaker said that out of a total of 765 bonafide carpenters in Syracuse, 625 belonged to the union.

SMITH COLLEGE NOTES.

The Sophomore engineers will meet Tuesday at 8:30 A. M., to elect officers for the present semester.

The class in "Shop Machinery," visited the Straight Line Engine Works, Saturday afternoon. with Professor Shepard.

To-night is the night set apart by many of the fraternities and the Orange Club for entertaing at their respective houses on the hill. Many out of town guests will be present at these parties which are to be made a feature of Senior Week.

CONTROVERSY AMICABLY SETTLED

A Compromise--Management Acknowledges Wrong and Neutral Body Admits Hasty Action.

The controversy aroused by the alleged unfairness in the reserving of seats for the Glee Club concert is now settlod amicably and the incident may be considered closed. Manager Wright submitted a statement to a mass meeting held in chapel yesterday morning which was accepted and then Dean Smalley closed the matter with a little advice.

As stated in the Daily Orange yesterday morning the Dean called a meeting of the students after chapel exercises and called upon Wesley Hook '04 to state the position of the neutral body. He said that although they had retreated from their first position, still they stood for the principle and that as he thought the injustice done was unintentional the statement should be accepted.

The Dean then read the following statement from the management:

WHEREAS, It has come to the attention of the management of the University Glee and Instrumental Clubs that the neutral body of students in this University feel that there has been an injustice done them in the matter of reserving seats for the annual concert of the organizations to be held in Crouse College, Wednesday evening and that in this way their rights as men have been trampled upon.....the undersigned wishes to state, if an injustice has been done, it has been without any intention on the part of the management and they will admit that the policy pursued might have been improved so as to have eliminated the appearance of injustice and they offer their regrets that such improvement was not made.

CARL P. WRIGHT, Manager.

This statement was accepted by the meeting.

The Dean stated that he thought the management was wrong in their action and he said that next year different arrangements would be made. He thought that it was the proper thing for the fraternities to sit together, but that it was not right for them to have the privilege of reserving their seats before every student in the university was given the opportunity. He regretted that there should be any friction between fellow students in the university and hoped that the matter was now satisfactorily closed.

AT THE BASTABLE.

"McFadden's Row of Flats" will be given the first three nights of this week with matinees Monday and Wednesday. It is the New York Journal's original production, but is said to be "all new except the title."

NOTICES.

In compliance with the wishes of many members of the class, I desire to call a meeting for the elections to the 1906 Onondagan Board to be held Wednesday, Feb. 10, at 2:30 p. m. in Room 46. OSCAR J. BROWN.

Election of Junior class officers for the second semester will be held this (Tuesday) afternoon at 1:30 P. M., in room 33-34, Liberal Arts College.

C. J. HOUSEKNECHT, Pres.

The German Seminary will meet Wednesday, February 10th, at 5 P. M.

W. E. OTTO.

The rehearsals for King Lear this week will be held as follows:

Tuesday, 4 P. M.—Act II., scene 3.
Thursday, 4 P. M.— Act III.
Friday, 4 P. M.—Act IV., scene 1.

There will be an important meeting of the Sophomore class Wednesday, February 10th, at 2.30 p. m., in room 46. The election of officers and such other business transacted as may come before the meeting.

OSCAR J. BROWN, Pres.

The regular meeting of the German Club has been postponed to one week from tonight.

The yearly Y. W. C. A. dues may be paid to Miss Eunice Fitch, 615 Crouse Ave., Miss Lyla Johnston, Tri-Delta Chapter House. or Miss Florence Giles, 905 Walnut Ave, TREASURER.

As fast as reports of examinations come in they will be posted on the Registrar's bulletin boards. Freshmen can obtain their numbers at any time. Results will be posted by numbers, not by names.

Tickets for the Glee Club concert can be obtained from members of the clubs or at Dwight's. Reservations of seats made without extra charge on and after February 5th, at Crouse College and at Dwight's.

FRESHMEN ELECT OFFICERS.

The Freshmen yesterday elected the following officers: President, Alton L. Wells; Vice-President, Miss Caroline Abells; Secretary, Miss Cora Williams.

The announcement of the banquet of the New York Alumni Association calls to mind a custom which is already in vogue in several universities. The student body elects from the senior class men to represent the students at each of the more important alumni banquets, providing for their transportation expenses.

In this manner the alumni of distant cities are kept in close contact, not only with the faculty of their Alma Mater, but also with the undergraduate life.

Moreover, such a participation of undergraduates in these banquets is of distinct benefit to the men themselves and to those whom they represent. Let us hope that in the near future the student body of Syracuse may be officially represented at such alumni functions as that which occurred last week at the Manhattan.

Happily, the controversy over the reservation of seats for the Glee Club Concert has ended without resulting in the discord among the students which many feared. The committee which had the matter in charge is to be congratulated for its earnest efforts to right the wrong which had been done and to insure for future years a strict adherence to the old principle of democracy so dear to the hearts of Syracusans.

NEW YORK ALUMNI DINNER.

Supplementary to the brief news notice of the New York Alumni banquet which appeared in Saturday's Daily is the following account sent later by our alumni correspondent, Steven B. Ayres '03, the president of the New York Alumni Association:

Rarely is a University alumni banquet so fortunate in having among its participants so many honored men as was the banquet of the New York Alumni of Syracuse University last Thursday evening. Around the festive board were "Fighting Joe" Wheeler, John D. Archbold, George H. Daniels, John S. Huyler, Chancellor Day and Chancellor McCracken of New York University, and many others well known in the business and professional life of New York.

The large number of alumnae among the banqueters, many of them the wives of men they had met at Syracuse was evidently quite a surprise to General Wheeler; for he remarked in beginning his toast that the fact that women were to be present had not been confided to him; else he would not have come so near being absent. At close of General Wheeler's toast to "The College man as a Fighter," the tune of "Dixie" was enthusiastically whistled by the alumni.

Chancellor McCracken in the course of his remarks, commended Syracuse for coming out squarely as a denominational institution. "Syracuse" he said, "is the only Church University in America, that speaks out in a bold, unmistakable manner." "How different from the neutral universities on wheels that roll into the class of State Universities long enough to obtain a bag of money and then roll back into the neutral ranks."

John D. Archbold heartily endorsed the words of Dr. MacCracken regarding Syracuse as a denominational institution. A handsome souvenir, in the shape of a silver watch fob with the orange flag on one side and on the other an inscription commemorating the occasion. These souvenirs were presented by Mr. Archbold annonymously through the toast master, Steven B. Ayres. Mr. John S. Huyler also presented souvenirs of the occasion.

Colonel William H. Rowe entertained those present greatly with some bright, new stories effectively told. Chancellor Day, in responding to the toast, "Syracuse University, and what she stands for," roused the hearts of all present. The ideals, the purposes and

S. U. RELAY TEAM

Splendid Material Available--Immediate Student Support Needed.

If Syracuse University is going to send a relay team to the Philadelphia relay games on April 24, it is very necessary that this should be definitely known at once. Head Coach J. A. R. Scott says that if Syracuse is going to send a team, the coaches should know it immediately as the training will be considerably different with the possible members of the team.

Coach Scott is very enthusiastic over the possibilities for a team. He thinks that Syracuse has better material in this line than has been available for years. He says that very shortly he would start two teams training for the mile relay race. The teams would be made up from the following men: E. K. Twombly '04, J. L. Sechner. S. A. Ralph, C. T. Robertson '05, all of whom have run the quarter-mile previously; Crowell '04, the fast sprinter, who was tried out a few times last year; K. B. Squires '06, and L. Ranney '05, the speedy half-milers.

All who know the past work of these men will readily recognize what a magnificent relay team can be made from them.

Every one commends the "Weekly" for undertaking to raise a subscription to send a team. It is to be hoped that the "Weekly" realizes its responsibility in this matter and that it will raise the required sum as soon as possibie in order that the later success of an S. U. relay team may be assured. Active work must be done at once. Subscription papers must be circulated among the fraternities, sororities and boarding houses among the students in general.

Coach Scott states that he wishes to send a team of nine men to the relay games, the five men outside the relay team to be Syracuse "stars" in other events. The men sent would probably be: Lowe, for the hurdles and high jump; Captain Gardner, for the pole vault; VanDuyne, for the hammer throw; Squires, for the half mile, and Boyd for the two mile, or a sprinter, if a speedy man should be developed.

WILLIAMS TO-NIGHT.

At eight o'clock this morning the 'Varsity basketball team with Manager Rice left the city bound for Williamstown, Mass., where the strong team representing Williams College will be met tonight.

Each evening thereafter throughout the week games will be played. Thursday's game with Williston Seminary, it is expected, will not be so hard as to put the men out of condition to meet Wesleyan's five the following night.

Saturday evening the concluding game of the trip will be played at Amherst, Mass., where the wearers of the purple and white will be met.

No one will be taken with the team to act as an official, but a friend of V. V. Roseboro, who has so satisfactorily refereed the home games, will be picked up at Springfield, Mass., and taken along for the rest of the trip. The men to be taken are, Capt. Houseknecht, Niles, Twombly, Powell, and Kirchgasser. Brady, who was expected to take the trip, will not be able to go. His loss will be felt materially, but Niles, who has done such good work in the games in which he has played, can be depended upon to guard his man effectively.

Special arrangements have been made with Manager Rice so that telegraphic reports of each game will be wired to the Orange office, in time to appear in the following morning's edition. Full report of the Williams game, will appear tomorrow morning.

SENIOR WEEK OPENED.

Several fraternaties ushered in Senior Week last evening by various functions at the different chapter houses. Several were of a formal nature; while others were strictly informal.

The most elaborate preparations were made by Psi Upsilon and Delta Kappa Epsilon.

lodge on Walnut Park. About 65 guests

The latter gave a dinner-dance at its were seated around a U-shaped table in the large living room. The room was artistically decorated and colored electric lights adorned the chandeliers. In the hall, hiden by a bank of palms, the University Orchestra was stationed. Soon after nine o'clock dancing began and occupied the remainder of the evening.

The chaperons were: Mr. and Mrs. Edmund French, Mr. and Mrs. O. Edward Merrell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Pratt.

Psi Upsilon gave a German at its chapter house. Kapp's orchestra was stationed beneath the stairs hidden by palms and ferns. The other decorations were elaborate. The stairs were a mass of green surmounted by green arches studded with red and green lights. The octagon upstairs was fitted up as a trophy room.

The lower rooms were decorated with potted plants, ferns and palms. About 30 couples danced the German of 8 or 9 figures, one a Psi Upsilon figure with electrical effects, and another figure being pictures of the house. Refreshments were served in the dining room, which was fitted up in pink, and trimmed with pink blossoms and plants. The chaperons included Prof. and Mrs. Delmar Hawkins and Mrs. Dalton.

The Orange club gave an informal dance at its club house. Various electrical effects constituted the trimmings. About thirty couples were in attendance.

New York Epsilon of Phi Delta Theta gave a dancing party at Freeman Hall. About forty couples were present, including a number of out of town guests.

Phi Gamma Delta gave an informal party at its chapter house in Comstock Ave. About thirty guests enjoyed the evening.

ANNUAL CITY CONCERT

The Musical Clubs Give Their Concert This Evening in Crouse College Hall.

The annual city concert of the University musical clubs will be given in Crouse College Hall this evening at 8 o'clock. The management promise an unusually strong program for the evening.

The Glee and Instrumental Clubs have been practicing long and faithfully for the event. The clubs are strong rivals and both hope to win out in gaining popular approval.

Among the special features are a tenor solo by James C. Hoey '06, monologue by Arthur J. Sheldon '05, and a baritone solo rendered by Ralph L. Stillwell '05. Mr. G. Alexander Russell will give a piano solo.

"Success to the Five" is the toast that every one of us should drink at the breakfast table this morning. The basketball team leaves at 8 a. m. on the longest and hardest trip that a Syracuse basketball team has ever experienced. Williams, Amherst and Wesleyan, the old Triangular League of the east, whose teams have been justly renounded in all branches of athletics, are to be encountered. Here's hoping and trusting that the telegraphic reports, which Manager Rice is to send the Daily Orange after each game, will bring joy to us all.

How important is the song life of a modern university!—Even after the memory of the excitement of athletic victories has gone an old grad. still retains the memories of the songs the boys used to sing on the campus.

After all, the greatest happiness in life consists in having a store of pleasant memories. Are you desirous of increasing your store of happiness? Enter into this song life; if not as a singer, as a listener.

If in the past you have neglected the opportunity of enjoying this side of the life of Syracuse enter into it today.

The concert tonight promises to be distinctively Syracusan, a concert the memories of which will ever remain, bringing pleasure to those who attend long after the college days are over.

The first real "Senior Week" at Syracuse has opened auspiciously with the parties and receptions given by the various organizations of the University last evening. The name was first applied last year; but the period itself scarce justified the name. The use of the name, however, had its good effect in arousing the present Senior Class to endeavor to establish in Syracuse a week of festivities to be enjoyed and remembered; such a week as is so justly famous in other institutions of learning.

A continued observation of this custom, with moderation, as the Chancellor so wisely urges, will greatly benefit those who enter into the spirit of the festivities, and will result in an even wider recognition of the progressive spirit of the University.

FINE ARTS NOTES.

The members of the Chorus which rendered the "Stabat Mater" are to continue their regular practice Tuesday evenings and Wednesday mornings in preparation for a new oratorio, "St. Paul," to be presented early in the spring.

A call has been issued by Director Phillips for more volunteer members of the Chorus. It is desired that the "St. Paul" Chorus may be larger and contain more representatives from Liberal Arts Colleges and the other colleges than the Chorus which rendered "Stabat Mater."

"St. Paul," the oratorio, which is now being arranged for, has never before been presented in Syracuse.

His Family Stock.

The distinguished ethnologist was the guest of the prison warden.

He was ascertaining as nearly as possible the ancestry of the various classes of prisoners.

The warden, opening one door, said: "In that department are the kleptomaniacs."

"And what stock do they spring from?" asked the distinguished ethnologist.

"Steal preferred," said the warden, who was a great wag.—Baltimore American.

Texas George.

Rt. Rev. George Kinsolving, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Texas, is a giant in stature. On one occasion he was in Philadelphia, when a wild west show happened to be in town. He was swinging along the street one afternoon when he stopped to buy a newspaper. The newsboy looked at the massive figure surmounted by a big slouch hat, and said: "Say, mister, are you Texas Bill?" "No, my boy, I'm not," was the bishop's laughing reply. "I'm Texas George."

The Latest Street Craze.

The latest local craze is the shoestring watch fob. Since it invaded New York, not more than a couple of weeks ago, it has caused the sale of about 1,000,000 shoestrings. And still the demand exceeds the supply. The fobs do not come ready-made—you make them yourself by braiding together two shoestrings, which ought to be of sharply contrasting colors.—N. Y. Times.

INSPIRING MUSIC.

Annual Concert Given Last Evening a Decided Success--Audience Well Pleased.

The musical clubs of the University made a hit in their annual concert last night in Crouse College Hall. The clubs were in excellent condition, showing their thorough training in every number.

A large audience, truly representative of the University and the city, greeted the Clubs when they made their appearance and displayed continued interest throughout the entire program.

The whole concert was so well balanced that it is impossible to pick out any particular numbers as deserving of special mention. Both clubs maintained a high standard in every number; the Instrumental Clubs appearing to best advantage in a Piece Characteristic, "A Day in the Cotton Field." The rendering of "My Old Kentucky Home" was particularly impressive.

The Glee Club's work was evidently appreciated the most generally in its rendering of "Nursery Rhymes" with an encore, "Dried Apple Pies."

The solos of Messrs. Hoey and Stillwell were especially well rendered. They received deserved encores from a large and enthusiastic audience, as did most of the other numbers.

The climax of the enjoyment of the evening was reached when Mr. Arthur J. Sheldon appeared in a negro make-up with a copy of the University Catalogue in his hand. His clever improvisations and songs relative to current events called forth continued bursts of laughter. "Dr. Van De Knocker," "Hart" Cunningham, and the seat controversy shared the honors.

Mr. G. Alexander Russell was at his best in his piano solo, while the quartette made a favorable impression with their harmonious selections.

The patronesses who attended were: Mesdames Levi S. Chapman, Francis E. Bacon, Hattie T. Birdsall, J. Willis Candee, A. C. Flick, Henry A. Peck, C. J. Walch, Charles A. Schaefer, John Bates. H. M. Burchard, C. E. Chappell, D. Raymond Cobb, James D. Phelps, Wayne O. Conger, Henry H. Denham, James R. Day, Robert Dey, Andrew J. Feek, Charles F. Dow, G. F. Hadley, Delmer E. Hawkins, Charles H. SYRACUSE LOSES BY ONE POINT

Williams Wrests Victory From Orange After Hard Struggle.

(Special telegram to the Daily Orange)

WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS., Feb. 10; 11:30 p. m.—Victory in defeat is in brief the story of tonight's basketball game with Williams. A team recognized as one of the strongest in the country has been met on its own grounds and has been played to a standstill.

From start to finish the struggle for supremacy was very fierce, but was marred by scarcely any rough play. Williams secured a lead during the first few moments of play, but the Orange five soon got together well and put up a game which won the applause of the large crowd of Williams men in the galleries. Kirchgasser and Twombly each threw difficult goals at this point of the game and Niles and Captain Houseknecht both did excellent work in guarding the fast Williams forwards, The first half closed, however, with the score in favor of the Purple—Williams 16; Syracuse 13.

From the opening of the second half it became apparent that Syracuse was playing to win. The team worked together well, and in several important particulars outplayed their opponents. The passing and the basket throwing of the Orange forwards were particularly good, while Powell put up his usual speedy game at center.

The play became very hard and fast during the last moments before the final whistle blew, Syracuse gaining point by point. The excitement was intense. Just as victory seemed within easy reach, the referee's whistle blew. Final score—Williams 25; Syracuse 24.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA.

Professor Joseph E. Takasugi Ph.D., of Tokyo, Japan, will give a lecture on "Japan and Russia" in the first M. E. church, Thursday evening evening, February 18.

The lecture will be illustrated by some excellent stereopticon views, which are of unusual interest at this time. The lecturer is an especially able speaker on the subject he will represent. The admission is only fifteen cents, and all students are cordially invited to attend.

PREACHERS' CLUB.

At the regular meeting of the Preachers' club held Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing semester: President Geo. J. Becker; vice-president, R. Perkins; secretary-treasurer, Lyman Hale. Dr. Peritz of the Semetics department will address the next meeting of the club, which will be held next Tuesday evening.

SOPHOMORE ELECTION.

The Sophomores yesterday elected the following officers for the ensuing semester: President, Fayette W. Whitney; vice-president, Miss Grace Henderson; secretary, Miss Beulah Throop; treasurer, George J. Becker; chairman ef the executive committee, Daniel Blue.

The elections for the 1906 Onondagan resulted as follows: Business manager, E. N. Packard; assistant business manager, E. M. Jones

Board of editors—F. W. Barrett, A. G. Croft, Frank Baker, W. Y. Wilcox, Peter Grant, L. E. Collings. Misses Lyla Johnston, Mary E. Mott, Helen Potter, Mary Hart.

Manager Eddy of the "Weekly" presented the claims of the track team subscription. Blanks were passed and $30.60 raised.

PHI DELTA THETA ENTERTAIN.

After the Glee Club concert last evening the members of Phi Delta Theta who attended entertained their friends at the chapter house.

NOTICES.

The February meeting of the Syracuse Chemical Society will be held in the Medical College, Orange street, on Friday, February 12, at 8:20 p. m. Prof. E. N. Pattee, of Syracuse University, will speak on "The Rare Gases of the Atmosphere."

The orations for the Intercollegiate contest which have been submitted to the English department can be secured now at the English office.

The regular meeting of the Junior seminar was not held last evening on account of the Glee Club concert. The meeting will be held next Wedneshay evening.

The rehearsals for King Lear this week will be held as follows:

Thursday, 4 P. M.— Act III.

Friday, 4 P. M.—Act IV., scene 1.

The yearly Y. W. C. A. dues may be paid to Miss Eunice Fitch, 615 Crouse Ave., Miss Lyla Johnston, Delta Delta Delta Chapter House. or Miss Florence Giles, 905 Walnut Ave, TREASURER.

As fast as reports of examinations come in they will be posted on the Registrar's bulletin boards. Freshmen can obtain their numbers at any time. Results will be posted by numbers, not by names.

The daily press is a powerful factor in college life, just as it is in the business world. This was easily demonstrated within the past week, in our own experience. The Seniors wished to make this week one of prominence from a social standpoint. Functions more or less varied were arranged for Monday to Thursday evening inclusive.

The daily press in the city at once took up the subject, and so elaborated on it that the faculty was given a peculiar impression of the whole matter. This was briefly that the students were to enjoy a week of unrestrained recreation and festivities, while the professers were to wait until the week was over before college work would be resumed. As a result of this false impression, several functions were curtailed considerably.

We do not regret the action of the faculty in this matter under the circumstances existing. We do hope, however, that next year new light may be shed upon the subject before arrangements are carried so far as they were this month. Such understanding usually is accompanied by mutual benefit to both parties.

During the months that have passed since the Daily Orange came to be one of the factors of university life, those directly connected with the paper have been hard at work trying to produce a newspaper which would faithfully present the news and honorably represent the University.

In the course of these efforts the board of editors have been greatly aided by the interest displayed by some not directly connected with the paper in the work of newsgathering. There are, we know, a large number of other friends of the University and of the Daily, who could be of great help to us, both by telephoning news of special interest to our publishing headquarters, and by putting news items in the iron box in the entrance of Liberal Arts colleges.

There are some who are prone to criticize the Orange because it does not contain news of everything which is going on. There is perhaps justice in this criticism, but if our critic friends will co-operate with us to a greater extent, we know that we can further improve the news service.

Walter Edwards will present the newest "Sherlock Holmes" play the last three days of this week, with matinees Tuesday and Saturday. The play is a dramatization of A. Conan Doyle's novel, "The Sign of the Four," in four acts, with startling climaxes and situations. It has been most successfully presented in New York and other Eastern cities. Mr. Edwards is surrounded by an admirable company. The production is elaborate, and the drama one of intrigue, mystery and love, lighted by charming bits of humor and ludicious situations.

President Eliot of Harvard in his annual report which has just been made public states the public schoolboy has the advantage in efficiency over the boy from the private school. For the past year President Eliot has been studying comparative statistics of the two types of entrants to Harvard, and his conclusions are based on observations of seven hundred students. "Both in entrance examinations and in honors won in college the public schoolboy outstrips the boy who has had a private tutor, or has gone to a select school," declares President Eliot. "The public school boys are not only more vigorous and determined to gain knowledge, but they are also much more conscientious, a point which has often been denied."

HISTORICAL LECTURE.

The next number of the series of Historical lectures will be followed by a tableau, presented by the students of the Historical department. This department, together with the student committees, are making special preparations for presenting it.

The tableau will represent the campaign of 1840, depicting the leading characters of the time. The principal speaker will represent Henry Clay, who is addressing a polltical meeting of 20,000 people. The crowd singing the following campaign song, which is one that was actually used at that time:

Come ye who whatever betide her
To freedom have sworn to be true
Prime up with a cup of hard cider
And drink to old Tippecanoe.

Parched corn, men can't stand it much longer
Enough is as much as we'll bear
With "Tip" at our head in October
We'll tumble "Van" out of the chair.

Then, Ho, for March fourth, '41, boys,
We'll shout till the heavens arched blue
Shall echo hard cider and fun boys,
Drink, drink, to old Tippecanoe.

THE SENIOR BALL.

Greatest Social Success of the Year Held Last Evening.

Without doubt the most brilliant social event of the college year was the Senior Ball of last evening. The ball proved to be a success in every way. The greatest anticipations of the guests were fulfilled, and all present pronounced it a most pleasant affair. About 175 ceuples danced upon the spacious floor of the Alhambra from nino o'clock until the small hours of the morning. A number of people were also in the galleries, which were thrown open to the public.

The ball was given under the auspices of the Senior society, Phi Kappa Alpha. J. R. Rubin had general charge of the arrangements, and to him much credit is due for the very great success with which the entire program was carried out.

The large auditorium of the Alhambra was very beautifully decorated. The decorations, in fact, surpassed anything heretofore placed up at a similar function. The scene presented, with the row of electric lights just beneath the galleries and extending entirely around the room, was one of beauty. Just beneath the ceiling at the top of the galleries were draped a large number of red, white and blue flags. This section of the hall has never been decorated before, and it added much to the general effect. Hanging below the gallery, and draped from it were large orange and blue flags alternating with American flags. The stage was filled with palms, behind which was Kapp's full orchestra, which furnished the music for the evening. From the ceiling hung four strings of various colored pennants, reaching to the four corners of the room. The decorators who had the work in charge said that the auditorium of the Alhambra had never looked so well before. In fact, they said it looked far better than other halls which they had seen decorated for similar functions in other colleges.

The programs were of an especially neat design. They were in the form of card cases, having pockets on each cover. The covers were of pearl kid, lined with gray silk. Upon the front cover was stamped the University seal.

A GREAT NEWS WEEK.

Program for Special News Reports in the Daily Orange.

Friday—Full account of Senior Ball, including names of those attending. Papers to be on sale at the Alhambra at 1:30 A. M.

Saturday—Special Telegraphic News from Wesleyan game

Monday—Full account of Amherst Basketball Game and resume of the eastern trip.

The last page contained a fac-simile of the Phi Kappa Alpha pin. The program consisted of thirty regular dances, with eight extras. Refreshments were served on the stage during the intermission after the fifteenth dance.

There were ten boxes this year, all being very prettily decorated. In the center directly in front of the stage was the Phi Kappa Alpha box. This was especially large, extending the entire length of the stage. The box was banked with palms, and trimmed with American and college flags. The furniture was Flemish oak. There were punch bowls at each end.

The other boxes in order were as follows:

PHI DELTA THETA, which consisted of Japanese decorations throughout. The background was formed of Oriental draperies, covered with bead curtains. The sides were made by Japanese lanterns suspended at various lengths from the ceiling. From the center of the ceiling was suspended a large Japanese umbrella, from the handle of which hung a large handsome lantern of like design. From each rib of the umbrella hung a small Jap lantern. The furnishings of the box were in keeping with the other decorations, consisting of Japanese screens, fans, pillows, etc.

PHI KAPPA PSI. This box was furnished in Oriental throughout. The background was formed of Oriental draperies, as were also the sides and front. On the back wall was a large mirror, which made a very pretty effect. From the center was suspended a large shield, the fraternity emblem, it being draped in the fraternity colors, pink and lavender. The furniture consisted of divans draped with Oriental silks, Oriental stools, chairs, pillows, screens, etc. From two electric fans pink and lavender streamers were constantly kept waving. This box also contained a large punch bowl.

BETA THETA PI. The dominating color of this box was green. From the ceiling were hung electric lanterns. Upon the walls were a number of college and fraternity pennants. The box was furnished with Stickley furniture, and the usual outlay of pillows. An electric fan added much to the enjoyment.

ORANGE CLUB. This is the first year the Orange Club has been represented by a box, and it did itself credit. The box was finished in Oriental throughout. In the center of the background was an electric design in the form of theClub pin, having the letters "O.C". The walls were decorated with College flags and pennants, and the box was furnished with Stickley furniture. Pillows, Electric fans,and lanterns added to make it a very handsome box.

PSI UPSILON. This box was also finished in Oriental style, being draped with Oriental rugs on the sides and background. In the center was an electric device in the shape of the fraternity pin. The other decorations consisted of a large brass lamp in the center, two shields, divans, pillows, and Stickley furniture. A large punch bowl was also a feature of the box.

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON. The box was finished in Persian throughout and was especially characterized by a large number of pillows. The background was draped with Persian and fraternity rugs, leather with fraternity emblems burned on it. From the ceiling hung three electric lamps. The further decorations consisted of Stickley furninture and divans, pennants, etc.

PHI GAMMA DELTA. This was a very attractive box, being decorated in the fraternity colors, purple and white. The back wall was draped with purple, over which were lace curtains. In the center was an electric emblem of the pin. The furnishings were rush furniture, pillows, pennants and flags.

CHI ALPHA SIGMA. The box was decorated with the fraternity colors, Nile green and bronze. The background was of solid green, with numerous bronze plaques. The draperies in front were Oriental. In the middle of the backgrounds was an electric design, the regular fraternity pin. The other decorations were rush furniture, pillows, college and fraternity pennants.

DELTA UPSILON. The background of this box of Oriental design, the front being of the fraternity colors, gold and peacock blue. A large fraternity flag was suspended on the back wall. Rush furniture, electric fans, college and fraternity pennants, comprised the further decorations. A punch bowl added much to the attractiveness of the box.

Those present, as far as could be ascertained, were as follows, arranged according to the fraternity boxes:

The patronesses were Mrs. Frank H. Hiscock, Mrs. Willis F. Holden, Mrs. Lucina Dennison, Mrs. George H. Bond, Mrs. William A. Groat, Mrs. William B. Kirk, Mrs. W. K. Butler, Mrs. W. K. "Something New" seems to be the natural desire of the American heart. We love the old that has become dear to us, but we are ever reaching out for something which will satisfy a new desire.

"Alma Mater" and "Old Syracuse," the songs which have kindled the emotions of generations of Syracuse, will doubtless continue to be sung by loyal sons and daughters through the years to come, but in order to keep the Syracuse song spirit alive and active we must have at frequent intervals new songs to rouse the otherwise unresponsive chords in our being.

In the concert of Wednesday evening the Glee Club sang the old songs of Syracuse with more feeling and greater effect than they had ever been sung before. Listening to these noble hymns a deep feeling of reverence for Syracuse was instilled in every man and woman in the large audience, but the ideas of many in the hall were expressed by the woman who said, as she left the building. "It's too bad those bright musicians can't get up a new Syracuse song. It's the same old thing, year after year."

Yes it would be "Too bad" if no one in the University today had the technical ability, and what is more important, the loyal Syracuse spirit to compose such a song.

We need the song, yes many songs. The college song market is never crowded. Is there not some one; are there not a score among two thousand who have song spirit in their souls and a desire to leave as their offering to Alma Mater, the most enduring of monuments, songs that during the years to come will continue to rouse the hearts of the thousands?

The Daiiy Orange is not offering any prizes to bring forth these songs. They should come as a love offering, not called forth by sordid motives.

It is to be regretted that the student body of Syracuse does not take more interest in general elections. The complaint was made last year that the students entered into such contests at a late date. This year the matter has gone even father.

Two notable cases have come up this year to prove this seeming lack of spirit. Nominations were handed in before the holidays for the various assistant managerships. This election had to be postponed twice, because some of the nominees were deficient in college work, and also for the lack of sufficient candidates.

Another example has occurred only this week, in the election of officers for the General Athletic association. President George Hares has had to postpone this election twice, for there was only a handful of students present on both occasions. The final date is now set for next Tuesday after chapel. It is now left to the students to attend to the matter in a fitting matter.

This lace of spirit, or whatever it may be called, should be remedied once and forever, before the close of the college year. We would suggest that power be biven the Athletic Governing Board to fill all vacant offices, after the students havo been allowed the time limit for attending to the same.

AT THE BASTABLE.

Walter Edwards will present the newest "Sherlock Holmes" play the last three days of this week, with matinees Tuesday and Saturday. The play is a dramatization of A. Conan Doyle's novel, "The Sign of the Four," in four acts, with startling climaxes and situations. It has been most successfully presented in New York and other Eastern cities. Mr. Edwards is surrounded by an admirable company. The production is elaborate, and the drama one of intrigue, mystery and love, lighted by charming bits of humor and ludicious situations.

'Varsity Five Wins Out in Last Thirty Seconds of Play.

(Special telegram to the Daily Orange)

MIDDLETOWN, CONN., Feb. 13, 12:33 a. m.—The Syracuse University five defeated the Wesleyan basketball team in the last few seconds of play last night by the score of 21 to 20. The game was hard fought and exciting from the start and Syracuse played its best game of the season to win.

Kirchgassar, the clever Syracuse forward, started the game by quickly throwing three baskets from the field after very skillful passing by the whole team. Wesleyan then scored and the first half ended with Syracuse 10 to Wesleyan's 6.

Though tired from hard playing in the first half the Orange five fought like veterans against the determined efforts of their strong opponents. Wesleyan by the hardest kind of playing overcame the Syracuse lead and tied the score at 18 points. Syracuse then threw a basket from a foul and Wesleyan followed with a basket from the field, giving them the lead for the first time by one point. With only 30 seconds left to play and the Wesleyan rooters shouting themselves hoarse, Twombly, the veteran of the team, threw a sensational basket from the field a few seconds before the referee's whistle blew. Score—Syracuse 21, Wesleyan 20.

SYRACUSE REPRESENTED

Nearly twenty of the members of the University Y. M. C. A. are at present in attendance at the Biennial Convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of New York State bieng held at Utica. A large part of the delegation arrived in Utica Thursday afternoon, the remainder arriving yesterday,

This convention, judging from reports received yesterday, is in many respects the greatest one which has ever been held in Central New York. The speakers include the greatest religious thinkers and orators in the country.

Vernon T. Stewart '05, is pledged to Beta Theta Pi.

FIRST CUT YESTERDAY

Coach Ten Eyck Reduces Freshman Squad to Twenty-three.

Coach Ten Eyck last night made his first cut in the list of freshman crew candidates. Eleven men are dropped. This leaves a squad of twenty-three men. The freshmen retained are;

C. Packard, R. R. Moore, M. P. Mount, L. S. Coit, H. A. Robinson, A. M. Wygant, D. Stone, H. R. Cadmus, A. Hall, F. H. Brown, C. J. Hares, L. C. Rice, W. W. Andrews, H. J. Spencer, A. J. Woodard, H. C. Michelson, Orville Cummings, A. F. Armstrong, J. P. Hervy, J. S. Badger, D. A. Davis, L. Edwards, Sloan.

There was no cut made in 'Varsity candidates. All the men whose names appeared in Tuesday's Orange are still rowing and in addition Howells has joined the squad.

Despite the reports to the contrary Robert Stone, the captain, has at last arranged his work so as to be able to row. This fact will be welcomed by all those interested in the prospects for the 1904 crew.

HISTORICAL LECTURE.

The fourth of the series of Patriotic and Historical lectures was delivered at Assembly Hall last evening by Dr. Mace. His subject was, "The Struggle for more Slave Territory." The lecture was followed by a tableau presented by the students Historical party. It depicted a scene in the campaign of 1840. The principal part was taken by John W. Head, who represented Henry Clay. Clay makes a speech to a large audience on the question of slavery. The scene was typical of the time represented. The crowd sang an old political campaign song which was one actually used during that campaign. Many of the crowd carried placards which were characteristic of their political views. The lecture and tableau were each a decided success and greatly enjoyed by all present.

FINE ARTS EXHIBIT

The Departments of Fine Arts College Preparing Special Work for World's Fair.

The Departments of the College of Fine Arts are busy preparing their material for the exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition. Considerable interest is being shown by the students.

The Architectural department has its preparations nearest completion, and the drawings will be mounted this week. Several days ago photographs were taken of the different drafting rooms. Being the first since the rooms were redecorated, they will make a favorable showing in the exhibition. At the same time photographs of a few of the theses of graduated men were taken.

As the Senior class is now working upon their theses they were unable to do any special work. A number of the problems done by them earlier in the year have been photographed. Among the number selected were several designs rendered for the Beaux Arts competition, that received mention in that competition at New York city.

The members of the Junior class are making full sized details of various portions of buildings upon sheets twenty-eight inches by twenty-two inches. They are also placing their architectural problem upon sheets of the same size. These, together with the free hand drawings from life and architectural casts, selected from the entire department will be exhibited in a number of large portfolios.

About six weeks ago the regular problem assigned to the Sophomore class was a design for a building to contain the exhibit of the Syracuse University at the Exposition. To be of an ornamental nature, and erected upon a plot of ground seventy feet square; and to contain rooms for the special class of work exhibited. The best designs rendered for this problem will be sent to St. Louis.

The Orders of several of the members of the freshman class have been photographed and will be exhibited in the portfolios. As a whole this work will compare favorably with work shown previously at the Pan-American.

The members of the Normal Arts course are working up designs for wall paper, book-covers, etc., which will be sent. The painting department as yet has not selected the paintings and compositions it will send.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

Sunday is the World's Students' Day of Prayer. Chancellor James R. Day will address the Christian Associations Sunday afternoon in the gymnasium at 4 o'clock.

NOTICES.

Rehearsals of King Lear for next week will be as follows:

Tuesday, Act I.
Thursday, Act II.
Friday, Act III.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

The Engineering society will meet Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 21. Smith college. Prof. J. H. Barr, formerly Professor of Machine design at Cornell University, will address the meeting. J. H. MORECROFT, Pres.

An important meeting of the senior class will be held Friday afternoon, February 19, at half past three, in Liberal Arts College in room 33-34. At this time all the classday officers will be elected. JOHN W. HEAL, Pres.

The regular meeting of the General Student Athletic Association will be held next Tuesday after chapel. At this meeting the officers of the association for the ensuing year will be elected. It is desired that a large representation of all the colleges be present at this time.

A class will be formed to remove F. E.'s in German I, II and III. All students wishing to join this class can make arrangements by seeing Mr. W. C. Lowe at the German office from 12-1 and 2-4 Saturday.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The executive committee of the freshman class met yesterday afternoon and elected H. S. Cadmus, chairman. The committee which was appointed by A. L. Wells, president of the class, is as follows: Misses J. E. Warmath, J. M. Carpenter, Beulah Johnson, Maude Merritt, Grace Faluks. Messrs. H. S. Cadmus, J. O. Coit, Ross Bacon, Leon Turner, C. F. Potter, Dwight Stone, Orville Cummings, and William Walrath.

At the meeting yesterday afternoon an appropriation was made to purchase blank slips for the class treasurer to use in collecting the dues.

Mr. P. J. Schlosser, the talented young man who has gained such a reputation as a Socialist writer, addressed the class in Socialism yesterday. Mr. Schlosser ranks in the registrar's office as a Freshmen but his address on the tendencies of modern industrial life was listened to with interest by the upperclassmen taking the course in Socialism.

"How can they do it" was the question which many readers of the Orange asked as they read the report of the Williams game in the Thursday issue and the full account of the Senior Ball in yesterday morning's edition. To those who are familiar with the present conditions of the publishing department as compared to the conditions existing when the paper was printed in a downtown job office, the reason is apparent.

A newspaper published in its own office has advantages which make possible a far better service than could possibly be given under different conditions. By undergoing the additional expense of night labor it is possible to present in the morning events of importance which took place the preceding night.

Now that the Orange has the facilities of a modern printing office, with telephonic and telegraphic communication with the world, these facilities will be taken advantage of to the utmost.

It is earnestly to be hoped that the rather unusual festivities of "Senior Week" will not cause the student body to forget the approaching sophomore-freshman debate. Although a different manifestation, debate represents college activity and college interest quite as much as do the events of "Senior Week."

The debaters have been working hard; the question, college athletics, is a live one; the sophmores showed last year that, in debate, they are no mean combatant; the freshmen represent a class rich in good debaters. These conditions forbid anything but an interesting contest.

The interest in debate as shown in the University leads us to believe that the students need but to be reminded of the date, Monday evening February fifteenth in the Chapel of the Hall of Languages, and an audience large, interested and enthusiastic will greet the debaters.

PREPARATIONS FOR KING LEAR.

The first installment of the photographs of Professor Losey as King Lear have been received. According to several experts they are among the best that Rockwood ever put out. They are to be used in advertising the production.

As stated in the Orange about two weeks ago, the play will be given here the 12th and thirteenth of April. The Lyceum theatre of Rochester has been engaged for April 14. The management are trying to arrange for a production of the play in Buffalo, on April 15, and also one in Albany, April 11. This will make a trip across the state of five days.

The cast to be taken along, numbers about sixty. The trials for the supernumerary parts will be held in a short time.

The University of California on February 29th, will observe its annual "Labor Day." At this date in 1896 the custom was established by six hundred students who worked with picks, shovel, and wheelbarrow to improve the campus. The co-eds of the institution cheered their brawnier classmates on to greater efforts by serving refreshments, or riding on the empty dump carts. The day became a very popular one, but in the last year or two the campus has been kept in good condition. Now, however, the students are petitioning for a chance to swing picks and rake pebbles and leaves once more—assisted by the Co-eds.

The sixth annual international chess tournament between a team from Oxford and Cambridge and one from Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Columbia will be held in the latter part of March. Harvard and Yale are each entitled to two representatives on the American team, and Princeton and Columbia one each. The contest is for a silver shield offered by J. N. Rice of New York.

AT THE BASTABLE.

Walter Edwards will present the newest "Sherlock Holmes" play the last three days of this week, with matinees Tuesday and Saturday. The play is a dramatization of A. Conan Doyle's novel, "The Sign of the Four," in four acts, with startling climaxes and situations. It has been most successfully presented in New York and other Eastern cities. Mr. Edwards is surrounded by an admirable company. The production is elaborate, and the drama one of intrigue, mystery and love, lighted by charming bits of humor and ludicious situations.

LAW STUDENTS VS. MORNING MUSICAL CLUB.

"Broke in on the Recital. Students raised a rumpus at the Morning Musicals' concert. Mrs. E. S. Jenney pleaded with them to be quiet, instead, they marched into the hall in lockstep fashion." Such was the headline to an article in the Syracuse Herald, Wednesday evening, which the law students wish to brand as the product of the vivid imagination of some Herald reporter.

It is true that there was some disturbance, but not such as would warrant the article which appeared in the above mentioned paper. "The Morning Musical club" hold their concerts in the Assembly Hall of the University block, and on Wednesday morning the club was disturbed to this extent, namely, that students in passing from the class room into the corridor seized one or two fellows and thrust them through the door into the Assembly hall. This was the extent of the disturbance and although the law students do not wish to justify themselves for this, yet they would like the story truthfully told.

As far as disturbance goes the students get the worst end of the deal. The classical, vocal and instrumental productions are not entirely conducive to good recitations, and especially are they annoying when examinations are in progress; yet never once have the students complained of these things.

Dean Brooks in speaking of the matter this morning said that he wished that the law students were not confined to such close quarters, but that they might have a building in which they could sing and shout as they pleased, when the classes were not in progress. The dean also said that he felt sure when he read the report in the paper that it had been greatly exaggerated, that he had entire confidence in the students to look at the matter philosophically and adjust themselves to the existing circumstances and surroundings.

The orations for the Intercollegiate contest which have been submitted to the English department can be secured now at the English office.

FRESHMANsSOPHOMORE DEBATE.

The interest of underclassmen, now that Senior Week is passed, is centering in the annual interclass debate which takes place on Monday evening, in the chapel of the Hall of Languages at 8 o'clock. There is generally more interest shown in the Freshman-Sophomore contest than in the other interclass debates, probably on account of the rivalry between the classes. This seems to be the case this year and everything points to a large attendance Monday evening.

The question, which was incorrectly stated in the Orange yesterday morning, is: Resolved, That athletics as at present conducted in our more prominent American colleges does not advance the moral and intellectual life in students.

The sophomores, who are to have the negative side of the debate, will be represented by the following team: Jacob C. Tressler, captain; Oscar J. Brown and Roy L. French. The freshman team, which will try to uphold the question, consists of L. S. Coit, captain; Mr. Phillips and A. E. Wemett.

The judges already selected are Herbert B. Myron '01, who for the last two years has captained the intercollegiate team, and D. Raymond Cobb '92, one of the alumni who has always shown the highest interest in the debating affairs of the university. The third man is not yet decided upon.

The sophomore team which is to meet the team representing the Orophelian debating society of Alfred University March 23 is at work at this question: Resolved, That labor unions are not promoting the general welfare.

The intercollegiate team is also hard at work on the Wesleyan question. The date for this contest is March 30.

At a meeting of the Sophomore Debating Club Thursday evening Messrs. Brown, Tressler and Croft were appointed a committee to carry on negotiations with the sophomore class of Williams and to arrange a date if satisfactory terms can be obtained. The debate if held will be at Williams about May 1.

'VARSITY FIVE'S EASTERN TRIP

Defeat Amherst 38 to 26 ---Summary of Trip--- Schedule of Western Trip.

After the close victory over Wesleyan the Syracuse University five continued its fine work by defeating Amherst decisively by the score of 38 to 26. Almost from the start Syracuse held the lead. The hard games played on the trip seasoned the players for the last struggle. The team work was perfect. Niles outplayed his man and Kirchgassar and Twombly located the basket with ease. Captain Houseknecht and Powell, the clever center, played a fast passing game. Amherst could not stand the fast pace and in the last half Syracuse showed its best speed. The line-up:

Syracuse (38).	(26) Amherst.
Forwards.
Twombly	Crawford
Kirchgassar	Beach
Center.
Powell	Stroke
Guards.
Niles	McCrae
Houseknecht	Rounseville

Referee and umpire—Metzdorf.

Goals from field—Beach 4, Stroke 6, McCrae 1, Rounseville 2, Niles 1, Powell 3, Houseknecht 2, Kirchgassar 5, Twombly 6.

Goals from fouls—Powell 4.

Halves—20 minutes.

Syracuse University has reason to be proud of its team. Playing four of the fastest teams in the east, the plucky five captured two games. The Williams game was lost by only one point and on a foreign field it may be counted as a victory for Syracuse.

In the Williston team the 'Varsity met the best five in its career, the seminary boys not having lost a game on its own floor.

The Wesleyan game was the most exciting and satisfactory contest on the trip. The team was then in fine shape and passed beautifully, and earned a well deserved victory.

The good work of the team can be seen when it is noted that Williams, Amherst and Wesleyan scored victories ever the strong Colgate team.

The team starts on its western trip Tuesday, playing Geneva College, Buhl A. C, Alleghany College and Oberlin.

INSURANCE.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company is represented in the University by Ernest H. Sumner as student solicitor. The student patronage will be appreciated highly.

CHANCELLOR DAY HONORED.

The recent conference of Methodist college presidents in Chicago was a failure so far as the adoption of President James' plan was concerned. This plan called for a unification of all Methodist colleges and universities under one head.

Chancellor Day was one of those who did not consider the plan feasible. After the general discussion, the following resolution was introduced, but not acted upon out of courtesy to President James:

Resolved, That we, the members of the College Presidents' Association, have heard with interest and pleasure the papers of President James and President Murlin on the unification of the Methodist educational institutions, but we as an association do not consider the plan practical nor do we look upon it with favor.

Chancellor Day was elected president of the Association of Methodist College Presidents.

In speaking of the plan, Saturday, and its reception by the presidents at the conference, the Chancellor said, "President James' project did not meet with much acquiescence on the part of those present. The sentiment of the conference was opposed to any such union. I told the presidents in session that our institution here is open to all classes and that at least half of the students and a majority of the members of the faculty are of denominations other than that of Methodist. President James proposed some things, however, in connection with his scheme that would be of advantage."

KANT CENTENARY CELEBRATED.

Before an appreciative audience, papers upon Kant were given by Professor Wilson, Professor Thwing, Dean McChesney and Mrs. Mitchell, last Friday evening in the Philosophical Room, Hall of Languages.

Professor Wilson opened the session by words of welcome to the students of Kant, who had come from our city to hear papers upon the famous philosopher. He then spoke briefly about Kant as a man. Among the traits accentuated were Kant's regularity of work, attractive personality, peculiar wit, and intense concentration to his common rotine work. Kant's aim was to stimulate thought in his students, and as a result he made a race of thinkers.

Professor Twing then spoke on Kant's contribution to science. This proved a fruitful subject, both in interest and instruction. Among the contributions touched upon were Kant's definitions which have remained unchanged to the present day. Some of the scientific questions which Kant attempted to solve were these: Is the earth slowing in time of rotation? He answered this in the affirmative. He believed the earth to be solid at the center. His Nebular Hypothesis was almost perfect. Kant's paper on, "Is the Earth Growing Old" was shown to be fruitful to science in many ways. Kant was far in advance of his time in scien-

CREW STATISTICS.

Freshmen Weighed Saturday--Varsity Statistics--Heavy Crews.

Coach Ten Eyck weighed the twenty-three freshman crew candidates Saturday afternoon who were left after the first cut. The candidates compare favorably with those of former years. The average weight is 157 21-23 pounds; the heaviest man weighs 187 pounds and the lightest man 135 pounds. R. R. Moore's weight was not obtained, as he had been excused from practice for Saturday afternoon.

The statistics for the 'Varsity candidates had previously been taken. The average weight is 168 1-2 pounds. Two men weigh 185 pounds which is two pounds less than the heaviest freshman candidate. The lightest man weighs 160 pounds.

The average age of the 'Varsity men is 22 years. The oldest man is 27 and the youngest 19. Taft's statistics have not yet been taken, as he was absent for practice when the men were weighed.

The indoor track meet at the 74th Regiment Armory in Buffalo, will occur on February 20th. The contest, this year as last, for first honors will be between Cornell, the 74th Regiment and Syracuse.

Last year Syracuse did not make a very good showing for lack of proper facilities in indoor work. These conditions have been improved somewhat this year. There is no doubt that the Orange team will meet first class opponents, and a hard struggle will ensue.

There is one factor which will assist materially in helping our team on to victory. The support to be given the men depends on undergraduates and the Buffalo alumni. The latter performed their duty admirably last year, and can be depended on to do the same this month.

It is the duty of all undergraduates, who are able, to go to Buffalo and support the team. Monday, February 22, is a legal holiday. This will allow those who take the trip a three days' visit in the Queen City of the Lakes. The vigorous cheering of a goodly number of undergraduates will go far toward attaining a team victory.

PRIZES FOR ECONOMIC ESSAYS.

In order to arouse an interest in the study of topics relating to commerce and industry, and to stimulate an examination of the value of college training for business men, a committee composed of Professors J. Laurence, University of Chicago, chairman; J. B. Clark, Columbia University; Henry C. Adams, University of Michigan; Horace White, Esq., New York City, and Hon. Carroll D. Wright, National Commissioner of Labor, have been enabled, through the generosity of Messrs. Hart, Schaffner and Marx of Chicago, to offer four prizes for the best studies on any one of the following subjects:

1. The causes and extent of the recent industrial progress of Germany.
2. To what is the recent growth of American competition in the markets of Europe to be attributed?
3. The influence of industrial combinations upon the condition of the American laborer.
4. The economic advantages and disadvantages of present colonial possessions to the mother country.
5. The causes of the panic of 1893.
6. What forms of education should be advised for the elevation of wage-earners from a lower to a higher industrial status in the United States?
7. What method of education is best suited for men entering upon trade and commerce?

A first prize of one thousand dollars, and a second prize, five hundred dollars, in cash, are offered for the best studies presented by Class A, composed exclusively of all persons who have received the bachelor's degree from an

The Roman Catholic University of Washington during the next few years will carry out a much more liberal policy than in the past. The authorities will attempt to make it a world-famous institution, drawing students from every country. In a recent meeting the trustees of the university decided to add departments of pedagogy, a bureau of statistics and scriptural instruction. The bureau of statistics, it is said, will be the most comprehensive ever carried on by an educational institution covering the entire United States, as well as foreign countries. The Knights of Columbus have donated $50,000 for the endowment of a chair of American history.

tific thought and method.

Dean McChesney then read a paper on "Kant's Aesthetic." This was bright, and brought out Kant's relation to the Fine Arts. Here again Kant showed his wide knowledge of this field by holding that we should not study Art for Art's sake but for humanity's sake.

A paper was to be given by Dr. Coddington, but he was necessarily detained. All present felt keenly disappointed.

Mrs. Mitchell then gave a paper on "Kant's Influence upon other Philosophers." Those treated especially were Haeckel, Fichte, and Schopenhauer. This paper showed clearly the great influence of Kant in moulding the philosophy of these men. Especially was emphases laid upon the beneficial effect of Kant's moral teaching about will and duty. The question of Haeckel's idea of the self, and non self, and what Haeckel meant by self consciousness were strongly impressed upon those present. The meeting was a rare treat. It is to be hoped that others will be given.

THE DEBATER APPEARS.

The Debater, a magazine originated in 1902 by Charles H. Dayton, ex-'03, for the purpose of stimulating interest in debate among the schools and colleges of the United States, has entered upon a new stage of progress.

In the February number, which has recently appeared, is an announcement of the fact that The Debater has been chosen as the official organ of the Student League of America. Debating interests will maintain a prominent place in The Debater, but many pages will be devoted to other school and college activities.

The initial number of Volume III is a very attractive one, containing features which should make for success to Mr. Dayton and the others connected with the enterprise. The cover design, by J. W. Foster of Fine Arts College, is very appropriate, while the stories and articles are well written and carefully selected. Mr. Loomis Baldrey's article on "Debating at Syracuse," illustrated with pictures of Crouse College and the debating team of 1903, is full of valuable information.

FRESHMEN WIN ANNUAL DEBATE

Debate Keen and Spirited---Excellent Rebuttals---Judges Announce Close Case.

In the chapel of the Hall of Languages the freshmen won in the annual debate in a very spirited contest. The debate was one of the best that has ever been held between two classes or organizations within the University. Both teams were careful to avoid assertion and to keep on the question.

The battle was fought out on the special issues, each side claiming that theirs was the proper case. The debate was resplendent with analysis and parallel cases. These were met with more analyses and parallels.

Earl E. Sperry, Ph. D., was the chairman of the meeting. He opened the meeting with some timely remarks on the question.

The debate was opened for the affirmative by Wm. M. Wemett. He spent some time defining the phrase, "Athletics as at present conducted." He took football as a typical college sport and showed how professionalism, betting and abnormal interest of the student body were among the most prominent characteristics of the game. He stated as the issue in the question that athletics to promote the moral and intellectual must create a desire to know the best that has been said and done and a desire to do one's best.

Mr. French covered the same ground for the negative. He made a distinction between intellectuality and scholarship. He maintained that the way to determine whether or not athletics was promoting the moral and intellectual life was to compare the conditions which attended upon athletics as at present conducted, athletics with all its evil, and conditions with no athletics. "College students," said Mr. French, "are either better or worse because of the existence of athletics. We claim they are better."

Albert E. Phillips attacked the issue brought out by Mr. French with an analogy. He spoke of a man in a laboratory breathing impure air and said that the remedy was not to deprive the man of all air, but to give him better air.

His main points were on the fact that recruiting, professionalism and the kindred evils of athletics mitigated against the desire to know. His argument was well supported by authority.

Oscar J. Brown, who followed Mr. Phillips, claimed that the analogy brought forward was not a fair analogy, as air was a necessity, while athletics was not. He claimed that athletics help intellectual life by creating enthusiasm and spirit. He quoted several college presidents.

Mr. Coit, the captain of the freshmen, treated the moral aspect of the question, claiming that the athletes were worse off morally because of athletics. He maintained that the choice was not between bad athletics and no athletics, but between bad athletics and good athletics.

Jacob C. Tressler, the captain for the negative, answering Mr. Coit, said that the negative admitted that there were evils in athletics, but claimed that the discussion was not upon that question. He claimed that these were evils made by the morals of the student body at large.

The rebuttals were especially fine, both sides sticking by their respective issues. Each speaker covered the ground taken in the direct.

While the judges were considering the decision, Prof. Sperry amused the audience by referring to the various analogies brought out by the debaters.

D. Raymond Cobb gave the decision to the freshmen. He spoke feelingly of his connection with the debating interests of the University. He commended the advancement of debating work. Much credit is due Prof. Losey for his excellent coaching of both teams.

About 150 listened to the arguments.

PERSONALS.

The following were guests of Gamma Phi Beta during Senior Week: Miss Kowald, of Buffalo; Miss Olive Gordon, of Williamson; Miss Schoepflin, of Liberty; Miss Hooker, of Fairport and Miss Sophie, of Watertown.

Miss Ruth Gordon and Miss Ruth Piatt are ill with the grip.

Mrs. Frank Gordon and Miss Olive Gordon are now guests of Gamma Phi Beta.

Miss Bessie Throop spent Sunday at the Kappa Alpha Theta chapter house.

Mr. Raymond Phelps '03, is visiting at his home on Irving ave.

Mr. F. W. Whitney '06, was suddenly called home last night to attend the funeral of a friend.

Mr. Harvey Couch of Elmira, visited at the Phi Delta Theta chapter house Thursday and Friday of last week.

Mr. C. E. Howard, '01, of New York, has been visiting at the Beta Theta Pi chapter house for a few days.

Miss Adelaide E. Wheeler gave an informal reception in honor of Miss Porter at the Delta Delta Delta chapter house last Saturday evening.

Miss Edna Hollingsworth visited her brother, Arthur Hollingsworth, at the Phi Delta Theta chapter house the latter part of last week. Mr. Charles Hague and Mr. Harry Howard were also his guests during the week.

The freshmen of Kappa Kappa Gamma entertained last eveding at the chapter house.

The engagement of Mr. Harry L. Gardner, '04, captain of the 1904 track team, to Miss Sarah L. Remer was announced Saturday evening at a Valentine party given by Miss Anna J. Umbrecht.

BASEBALL PRACTICE.

All Candidates Out for Regular Work on the Hill--Good Freshman Material.

About thirty men met Captain George Moore yesterday afternoon in the cage for regular work. They will continue to report at this time for regular practice. It is probable that the number of men will be increased considerably by the end of this week.

Coach Costello gave the men a preliminary talk on the hours to report, and the nature of the practice. The squad was given light work in fielding, bunting and short runs to the bases. On account of the limited cage space the work is somewhat handicapped. It is hoped that this can be relieved by dividing the men into squads and have them report at different times of the day. This has usually been the case in practice work for the Medic and Law candidates.

The batteries are in fair shape after their work at the armory of the past ten days. There are more candidates for the batteries this year than for several seasons past.

The freshman material this spring is very promising. It includes strong men from all sections of the East, who should give good accounts of themselves this season.

Among the men out are the following:—Captain Moore, Heffernan, Collins, Manley, Sanford, Harry Baker, Rutherford, Burrell, W. H. Griffith, Wilbur, Carlton F. Potter, Henry E. Brelos, Curtiss, Ed. Folley, Roy E. Wilson, W. S. Smith, Richard A. Monaghan, Henry Markland, John Brennan, H. J. Pendergast, Benj. A. Keeney, James Dineen, Geo. Hannon, Henry Reed, Clyde Wheeler, James Conan, Henry M. Detter.

THE GERMAN CLUB.

The German Verein will meet in the gymnasium tonight at 7:45 p. m. The program is:

Experiences in Germany Miss Walsh
Solos - Misses Erskine and Colvin
Piano duet Messrs. Roeder and Houck
Violin solo - - - Mr. Levy

German conversation and refreshments complete the evening.

The German Verein will present the one-act comedy, "Der Besuch im Carcer" in the Liberal Arts College, next Tuesday, Feb. 23rd. A synopsis of the play will be printed in English for the benefit of those who cannot understand the German. Two other short plays will be given later. The public is invited.

Among the handsome and valuable structures destroyed by the recent disastrous Baltimore fire was the Chapter house of Phi Kappa Psi located in the doomed portion of the city.

NOTICES.

Dr. B. C. Loveland, specialist in nervous diseases, formerly head of Clifton Springs Sanitarium, will lecture before Mr. C. D. Skinner's class in Psychology, on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock in room 71.

J. R. Rubin still has a few of the 1903 football pictures. Those men who wish to secure the same should see him at once about the matter.

The Wyoming Club will meet tonight at the Delta Upsilon chapter house, corner of Marshall St. and Ostrom Ave.

ELIZABETH OPP, Sec'y.

Prof. Frank H. Wood of Hamilton college will address the Historical Association in the Seminar room Saturday evening on "Some Aspects of the Panama Question." Mr. Wood is an alumnus of the University and a good address is assured.

Rehearsals of King Lear for next week will be as follows:

Tuesday, Act I.
Thursday, Act II.
Friday, Act III.

All branches of spring athletics are now in full swing, since the baseball men started training yesterday. Each of these sports requires a large number of adherents to make it a success. It is our desire to see the largest and most successful teams representing the Orange this year that ever existed at this University.

Syracuse had unusual success last year in all lines of spring athletics. This season witnesses a large number of candidates out for the teams. But this number should be greatly increased, especially in track and baseball work.

Every man in the University has not the ability to pull an oar, hold down a field position on the diamond or run the dashes in record time. Some are physically incapable of entering athletics. A large proportion however have some ability in these lines. We urge all such to come out and try for something.

The erroneous idea prevails with many that unless one has ability already exhibited he is out of the race. This has been proved to be decidedly false by college trainers the country over.

It is the duty of all men having the time and physical strength, and not otherwise engaged, to come out and try to make the Syracuse teams this spring, the best that ever were seen on our campus.

When asked what feature of the Eastern trip of the basketball team impressed him most strongly, Capt. Houseknecht answered that the hearty and concerted cheering which the spectators joined in giving, was one of the most striking experiences of the trip.

To the ordinary spectator basketball is not as stimulative to vocal expression as some of the other college sports. However, the interest in the game is increasing so much, particularly in the colleges visited on the recent trip, that cheering is almost continuous throughout the game.

It is this intense interest in the game displayed by the entire student body which has made it possible for the smaller colleges of the east to make such a determined stand against the strong Orange five.

A greater display of this spirit here at Syracuse will be of great service in maintaining the high standard displayed by our basket ball team this season.

Owing to the fact that night news telegrams from the west are not received until an early hour in the morning it will be impracticable to give accounts of the night's games on the following morning. However, the Daily Orange will post each morning, telegrams on the bulletin board in Liberal Arts College, giving full account on the following day.

SENIOR ELECTIONS.

The regular meeting of the Senior class which will be held Friday afternoon, promises to be of unusual interest. The election for senior class president of the University will occur at this time.

The custom now holds that each college in order of founding shall have the senior class president, for the second semester of the year. This includes the entire commencement program. The honor is indeed a great one.

This year the position falls to the Law College. The following members of the senior Law class have announced their candidacy: Francis A. Canfield, Robert Wilcox, Charles Sleith, Charles Crane. Already the friends of the various candidates are hard at work making a personal canvass among the "Hill" and Medic seniors. Since all the colleges have a vote in the matter it promises to be unusually close and exciting. The other class day offices also have many aspirants.

AT THE BASTABLE.

"Young Tobe Hoxie," with "heartaches of pathos" and "sideaches of laughter," will be at the Bastable the first half of the week with Ernest Lamson in the title role. The play is a rural drama, with rustic characters and an air of the country about the piece which makes it entertaining and refreshing. Mr. Lamson creates a large share of the amusement with his quaint dry humor. There will be matinees Monday and Wednesday.

PRIZES FOR ECONOMIC ESSAYS

In order to arouse an interest in the study of topics relating to commerce and industry, and to stimulate an examination of the value of college training for business men, a committee composed of Professors J. Laurence, University of Chicago, chairman; J. B. Clark, Columbia University; Henry C. Adams, University of Michigan; Horace White, Esq., New York City, and Hon. Carroll D. Wright, National Commissioner of Labor, have been enabled, through the generosity of Messrs. Hart, Schaffner and Marx of Chicago, to offer four prizes for the best studies on any one of the following subjects:

1. The causes and extent of the recent industrial progress of Germany.
2. To what is the recent growth of American competition in the markets of Europe to be attributed?
3. The influence of industrial combinations upon the condition of the American laborer.
4. The economic advantages and disadvantages of present colonial possessions to the mother country.
5. The causes of the panic of 1893.
6. What forms of education should be advised for the elevation of wage-earners from a lower to a higher industrial status in the United States?
7. What method of education is best suited for men entering upon trade and commerce?

A first prize of one thousand dollars, and a second prize, five hundred dollars, in cash, are offered for the best studies presented by Class A, composed exclusively of all persons who have received the bachelor's degree from an American college since 1893; and a first prize of three hundred dollars, and a second prize of one hundred and fifty dollars, in cash, are offered for the best studies presented by Class B, composed of persons who, at the time the papers are sent in, are undergraduates of any American college. No one in Class A, may compete in Class B; but any one in Class B may compete in Class A. The committee reserves to itself the right to award the two prizes of $1,000 and $500 to undergraduates, if the merits of the papers demand it.

Competitors are advised that the studies should be thorough, expressed in good English, and not needlessly expanded. They should be inscribed with an assumed name, the year when the bachelor's degree was received, and the institution which conferred the degree, or in which he is studying, and accompanied by a sealed envelope giving the real name and address of the competitor. The papers should be sent on or before June 1, 1905, to

VOL. I. NO. 106. SYRACUSE, N. Y., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

THE BASKETBALL FIVE.

Brief Record of Individual Work of the Players---Schedule of Week's Games.

With only a day's rest after their hard trip east, the basketball five, strengthened by the addition of Kinne as substitute forward, started on a second long trip. Brady, however was unable to take the trip. Last evening the Liverpool Athletic club was met, but up to midnight the score had not been received at the Orange office. To night the team plays Geneva college; tomorrow, Buhl A. C.; Friday, Allegheny; Saturday, Oberlin. Telegraphic dispatches will be sent to the Orange after the Alleghany and Oberlin games.

The basketball team is justly deserving of the interest which is being centered upon it. The hard, consistent work, on the Eastern trip and the months of preparation which have preceded it, have made a team deserving of interest.

In response to requests from several sources the Daily Orange gladly publishes a brief individual record of the men who played on the recent Eastern trip and who are engaged in a hard series of games throughout the West.

Manager Earl Rice has played basketball for a number of years and last season played guard on the 'Varsity. He has shown fine executive ability in his position and has arranged the strongest basketball schedule a Syracuse team has ever had. His idea of issuing season tickets has proved a great success and has made the large guarantees demanded by Yale, Colgate and other teams possible.

Captain Houseknecht, age 23 and weight 145 pounds played, for 4 years on the Batavia High School and Y. M. C. A. teams. He made the 'Varsity team in his freshman year playing at forward. Last year he played center and this year to strengthen the team where it has heretofore been weak, he is playing guard. His ability as captain has been proven time and again this season, and much credit can be given to him for the excellent work of the team.

Twombly, weight 140, age 21, the veteran of the team has played for four years as forward, last year being captain. His quickness and aggressiveness have made him a tower of strength. On the eastern trip his work was highly praised and it was by his sensational throw of a basket from the field that Syracuse won the Wesleyan game by a single point.

Brady, weight 151, age 22, is now playing as guard on the team for the third year, having made the team in his freshman year. For two years he played on the crack team of the Syracuse classical school. His accurate and skillful passing has made him especially strong in his position and his work this year has shown great improvement.

Kirchgasser, weight 135, age 19, came to Syracuse this year, after having played 5 years on the Buffalo Masten Park team and playing first substitute on the championship German Y. M. C. A. team of Buffalo. The great feature of his work is his accurate basket throwing making seemingly impossible shots in every game. He plays fast and passes sure. It is doubtful if there is a better forward among colleges this year.

Powell, weight 135, age 19, the clever center, was a team mate of Kirchgasser, playing on the Buffalo Masten Park team for 5 years and being captain for two. Though comparatively short, his muscular development enables him to outjump the greater number of his opponents. He is very aggressive and covers the floor with great speed. His basket throwing abilities have scored many points for the Orange and his passing is sure.

Niles, weight 142, age 20, has shown wonderful developments this year and played a very strong game as guard on the eastern trip. This is his first year on the 'Varsity.

Altogether these men form as strong a college team as there is in the country and such a team should receive the enthusiastic support of the student body in all its games. The next home game is with Cornell on March 5th, and the appreciation of the students could not be better shown than by an enthusiastic reception at that time.

The scores of the games played to date follow:

Syracuse	21	Oswego	7
"	30	Potsdam	12
"	13	St. Lawrence	14
"	15	Yale	5
"	49	St. Johns	7

SUPERNUMERARIES FOR KING LEAR.

I should like to meet in the History room, Hall of Languages, on Tuesday afternoon February 23, at 3 o'clock, all who wish to act as supernumeraries in the coming production of "King Lear." Inasmuch as it will be necessary to have several complete rehearsals of the play on afternoons between now and the opening performance, I hope that none who have regular afternoon work, or whose college duties will thereby suffer, will apply for a place in the cast.

We shall need seven women and about fifteen men. They should be of average size, easy and graceful in bearing, and quick to respond to suggestions. Each candidate who is accepted will be supplied with a costume or costumes. All supernumeraries will accompany the cast to Auburn, Rochester, and Buffalo.

FREDERICK D. LOSEY.

THE BUFFALO TEAM.

Final Trials Held Yesterday Afternoon--Team Leaves Friday.

The final trials for judging the make-up of the team which will represent Syracuse in the triangular meet in Buffalo Saturday were held in the armory yesterday afternoon. Coach Courteney D. Whittemore was in full charge in the absence of Coach J. A. R. Scott, who is still confined by illness. The men were in good physical condition, except for numerous colds. No very definite idea of the speed of the men in the different events could be obtained, owing to there being no regularly defined track.

Frank O'Neill, '04, captain and head coach of the 1903 football team, was out yesterday for the first time, practising for the pole vault.

Manager Edwards has provided rubbers for the men, who gave them a good rub down after trial yesterday. This prevents the men from becoming stiff and sore.

Coach Whittemore did not give out the list of men chosen for the Buffalo team but they will be selected from the name following. The team leaves for Buffalo Friday afternoon on the Empire. They will make their headquarters at the Hotel Niagara, nearly opposite the great Seventy-fourth Armory.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S ADDRESS.

The Assembly Hall in the University block was well crowded last night despite the storm. The occasion was an address of President Woodrow Wilson, of Princeton. He handled his subject "Patriotism" as only a master mind is capable of doing.

The speach was clear and concise. It discussed the citizen's duty to his country in several aspects. The audience was thoroughly interested throughout the excellent address. Everyone went away feeling it was a privilege to hear such a gifted man.

When you meet a well dressed man the chances are that his derby was made and sold by Selleck the Hatter, 341 S. Warren St.

NOTICES.

The regular meeting of the English club was not held last evening on account of the meeting of the German club. The postponement of the English club meeting to February 23, is acknowledged by the German play, scheduled for the same evening, being given on April 1, instead.

At the next meeting of the Classical club, which will be held in the Seminar room, Thursday evening, February 18th, Professor Place will give a summary of the last six books of Virgil's "Aeneid" and will read from the ninth Book. MINNIE D. CROFOOT, Sec'y.

Dr. B. C. Loveland, specialist in nervous diseases, formerly head of Clifton Springs Sanitarium, will lecture before Mr. C. D. Skinner's class in Psychology, on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock in room 71.

J. R. Rubin still has a few of the 1903 football pictures. Those men who wish to secure the same should see him at once about the matter.

Prof. Frank H. Wood of Hamilton college will address the Historical Association in the Seminar room Saturday evening on "Some Aspects of the Panama Question." Mr. Wood is an alumnus of the University and a good address is assured.

Rehearsals of King Lear for this week will be as follows:

Thursday, Act II.
Friday, Act III.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

An important meeting of the senior class will be held Friday afternoon, February 19, at half past three, in Liberal Arts College in room 33-34. At this time all the classday officers will be elected. JOHN W. HEAL, Pres.

Students are requested to call and get our special prices on photos—either singly or in groups. M. H. BUNN, Photographer, 402 S. Salina St.

CHALLENGE FROM ALLEGANY.

Professor Losey yesterday reported the receipt of a challenge for an intercollegiate debate from Allegany college. It will probably be impossible to accept this challenge as all debates have been arranged for that can be given this year.

The interest shown by the audience Monday evening in the freshman-sophomore debate was but one indication of the growth that has attended debating in Syracuse since the organization of the various debating clubs. The persistency of the debaters in sticking to their issues and the way in which they kept upon the subject instead of digressing was but another.

At the time that Professor Losey suggested the reorganization and centralization of all the debating clubs in the University, interest in debating was practically asleep. Several clubs existed, but a sort of petty rivalry kept them from doing the good that otherwise might have been done. Interclass debates were unknown. No intercollegiate debates had ever been held at Syracuse. Once in a long time, perhaps, there would be an inter-society debate, but even then interest was at such a low ebb that only a few turned out to hear the efforts of the speakers.

Now each class in the Liberal Arts College is represented by a strong club. The clubs are all governed by uniform rules. Each is under control of a central organization composed of an equal representation from each club. A regular series of interclass debates is to be carried on.

The freshman-sophomore contest was but one of the series of interclass debates to be carried out this year. In a short time the juniors and seniors are to have a debate and the winning team in this contest is to debate the freshmen who so ably won the contest Monday evening.

And now among other colleges Syracuse is gaining a reputation in debate. Other colleges are seeking to obtain debates with us. Wesleyan, Williams and Dickinson are some of those who feel that they meet in Syracuse an honored foe.

More than that, interest is increasing closer at hand. Over 150 people heard the debate the other evening. This was really a large number, when we consider the other affairs that were going on that same evening. Interest is centering around the contest with Wesleyan which is coming off March 30.

Debating at Syracuse is much improved under the new regime. It is receiving more support. It needs still more. Support given to debate is self help. "It blesseth him that gives and him that takes." Let even greater interest be shown in the coming debates.

It is now opportune to start the movement for an outdoor board track if Syracuse wishes to take her proper place in the indoor track meets of the future. There is a strong probability that we shall possess such equipment with a year in which to work.

Indoor meets for colleges are gradually growing into popular favor. This winter sees a notable increase over last year in the number of such meets. Syracuse takes part in her second indoor meet at Buffalo this coming Saturday.

The relative standing of the contestants in this meet is determined very much by the facilities each possesses for indoor training. Syracuse is undoubtedly the poorest in this respect. As a result she is certainly going to have a hard struggle to come out better than third. Such a position won (?) in two successive years is not conducive to a higher standard for the Orange team in public opinion.

A board track is not only a necessity for indoor meets; but also for a good showing in all spring meets. We sincerely hope that Syracuse will possess such epuipment for next year.

FINE ARTS NOTES.

The election of officers of the Sophomore class of Fine Arts College resulted as follows: Vice-president, Miss Gove; treasurer, Mr. Cramp.

The election of E. N. Packard for business manager of the 1906 Onondagan was confirmed. The following three members were elected representatives of Fine Arts College on the 1906 Onondagan board: Miss Ethel Wells, Miss Lois R. Kupper and Mr. Barott.

AT THE BASTABLE.

"Young Tobe Hoxie," with "heartaches of pathos" and "sideaches of laughter," will be at the Bastable the first half of the week with Ernest Lamson in the title role. The play is a rural drama, with rustic characters and an air of the country about the piece which makes it entertaining and refreshing. Mr. Lamson creates a large share of the amusement with his quaint dry humor. There will be matinees Monday and Wednesday.

CREWS HARD AT WORK

Freshmen Rounding in Shape--New Men Out.

Since the cut was made in freshmen crew candidates last week crew practice has been hard and constant. The freshmen are rounding into shape. The faults of rushing the slide and slow recovery are being eradicated as fast as possible by Coach TenEyck. These faults will not all disappear until some time after the crews have taken to the water.

Some trouble is being experienced with the machines. No. 8 is now out of service while being repaired. Tomorrow if the weather permits Commodore Geamlich and Coach TenEyck will take a party out on the lake to measure off the course upon the ice. A four mile course will be laid out on the eastern side of the lake, and each half mile marked. If time permits a course for the spring class races will be lined out with the finish in front of the Yacht Club House.

Certelyou, '06, the football man has joined the 'Varsity squad. He is doing very well for a beginner. Another new freshman has showed up, Rogers by name.

The coach hopes to get on the water as soon as he did last year. This gives the crews the full benefit of actual rowing experience, which no amount of machine work can take the place.

The coach looks upon the machines as hardly anything more than mere exercises. A man's surroundings in a boat and the substitution of a twelve foot oar makes a great deal of difference in the handling of it.

There will probably be about sixteen freshmen taken out upon the water. The coach has not yet announced whether or not there will a cut in 'Varsity candidates before that time.

SUPERNUMERARIES FOR KING LEAR.

I should like to meet in the History room, Hall of Languages, on Tuesday afternoon February 23, at 3 o'clock, all who wish to act as supernumeraries in the coming production of "King Lear." Inasmuch as it will be necessary to have several complete rehearsals of the play on afternoons between now and the opening performance, I hope that none who have regular afternoon work, or whose college duties will thereby suffer, will apply for a place in the cast.

We shall need seven women and about fifteen men. They should be of average size, easy and graceful in bearing, and quick to respond to suggestions. Each candidate who is accepted will be supplied with a costume or costumes. All supernumeraries will accompany the cast to Auburn, Rochester, and Buffalo.

DEBATING PROGRESS.

The intercollegiate debate team had a meeting yesterday. The members reported on research work. Assignment was made of the different ground to be covered by each speaker.

The Wesleyan question was discussed in the argumentation class on Tuesday. It is also the subject which the Seniors will debate this evening. Messrs. Hook, Boyd and Warren, will uphold the affirmative, and McLachlan, Baldrey and Wikoff, the negative.

The Junior club will discuss the following question at its next meeting: Resolved, That the United States was and is justifiable in recognizing Panama as a separate and distinct government. Affirmative—Messrs. A. E. Moody, Hoyler, Soper; alternate, Moshier. Negative—W. P. Moody, Diefendorf, Hanners; alternate, Brown.

The next meeting of the Sophomore club will be on February 25. The question is: Resolved, That Municipal ownership and operation of street railways would be expedient. Affirmative—Messrs. Chidester, Jacobs, Jacobson, alternate, Hale. Negative—Messrs. French, Mason, Wells, alternate, Curtiss. The election of officers will occur at this meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Debating Union this afternoon.

Professor J. A. R. Scott has recovered from his slight illness and is now meeting his classes as usual.

PRIZES IN HISTORY.

Two Prizes Offered to Senior Major Students --- Contest Closes May I.

Two prizes of $25.00 each are offered for the two best essays submitted by senior history major students. One prize is supported by the Onondagan Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution. The limitations to this contest are that the essay must treat of some subject connected with the American Revolution and must be presented on or before May 1st next. This contest is annual and the prize was won last year by W. H. Polsen. The second prize is offered by John C. Tennant '01, subject to the same conditions as the former prize contest, except that the essay must treat of some subject in connection with the Civil War Period. This prize was inaugurated last year and the prize was given to D. O. Decker.

Students are requested to call and get our special prices on photos—either singly or in groups. M. H. BUNN,

NOTICES.

The February meeting of the Onondaga Academy of Science will be held in the College of Medicine, Orange St., on Friday, the nineteenth, at 4:30 p. m. Dr. E. H. Kraus will lecture on "Some Interesting Mineral Occurrences in the Salina Epoch." Illustrative specimens will be exhibited. All interested persons are invited to be present.

ALBERT M. REESE, Sec'y.

At the next meeting of the Classical club, which will be held in the Seminar room, Thursday evening, February 18th, Professor Place will give a summary of the last six books of Virgil's "Aeneid" and will read from the ninth Book. MINNIE D. CROFOOT, Sec'y.

J. R. Rubin still has a few of the 1903 football pictures. Those men who wish to secure the same should see him at once about the matter.

Prof. Frank H. Wood of Hamilton college will address the Historical Association in the Seminar room Saturday evening on "Some Aspects of the Panama Question." Mr. Wood is an alumnus of the University and a good address is assured.

Rehearsals of King Lear for this week will be as follows:

Thursday, Act II.
Friday, Act III.

In the midst of the raging storms of winter we are reminded by the coming Senior class day election that the days of caps and gowns, and "Sweet girl graduates" are coming in the not distant future.

Some officious individuals are also trying to remind us, through the city press, that the present system of choosing a Senior president from a definite college year, in rotation, is unjust, and are prophesying a recurrence of the strife which disrupted the student body of the University in the preceding year.

It is possible that the present system of rotation of the class presiding may not be the absolutely ideal system. It is perhaps not impossible for the reporter who announced the portending conflict to frame a plan which would be more generally acceptable. However, the plan as it now stands represents the best and most careful judgment, and is serving each year to avert the inter-college strife which would otherwise be certain to result.

A Liberal Arts Senior may think that it is unjust for a college of little more than one hundred students to have equal representation with a college of a thousand. Perhaps he is right, but so argued the representatives of Virginia at the Constitutional convention when little Rhode Island desired an equal representation in the United States Senate.

The large States and the small States of the Union have not yet gone to war, over the question of unequal representation. Why the necessity of blowing up a war cloud over a like question in Syracuse, when the present conditions are generally accepted peacefully?

There seems to have been an almost entire absence of chapel speakers at the University so far this year. This lack of speakers has been more noticeable this year than for years preceding. It is with the hope of bettering such conditions that we simply mention the matter now.

Every upperclassman who has had the pleasure of listening to some of the noted chapel speakers of the past two years, will vouch for the benefit derived. The student body needs no extended proof of the broadening influence emanating from speeches of varied, but noted professional men.

We would respectfully request that chapel speakers be even more prominent as a part of college life than heretofore. We have had the good fortune in the past of hearing men like General Gordon, the famous Confederate, and others of like caliber. Such speakers, however, have been "few and far between."

College life tends to broaden and develop all who partake of it. Most of the Universities of the country recognize chapel speeches by prominent men as one of the influences tending to a like effect. They accordingly make it especially significant as a fixed feature of the collegiate course. Why should Syracuse delay longer in adding this excellent feature to the University course? We firmly believe that an address such as President Wilson of Princeton recently delivered in this city on "Patriotism," to be more than worth the time which might be taken from the studies. It is possible also that this feature be made permanent without detriment to the study hours. We hope this matter will be given the consideration it deserves.

The upper class men at the University of California hereafter will reign over the unfortunate freshmen and sophomores with a rod of iron. It has been decided to inaugurate a system of senior control in all minor matters of under class discipline. The men of the senior class will preside unofficially and take part in the deliberations of the committee on students' affairs. This committee will handle all undergraduate misdemeanors, such as disturbance of class meetings, acts of vandalism on the campus, and will officiate at class ruohes and elections, and will also regulate hazing. The bonds which the various classes are required to deposit to protect the university buildings against defacement are to be removed, thus giving the seniors entire control and making them responsible for destruction of college property.

BUFFALO TEAM NAMED

Names of Men to Compose S. U.'s Team Given Out Yesterday.

The names of the men who will compose the team representing Syracuse against Cornell and the Seventy-fourth Regiment A. A. of Buffalo in the indoor track meet tomorrow night were given out yesterday by Head Coach J. A. R. Scott. Each team may enter two men in every event and may enter three men in the 440-yard and 880-yard dashes and the mile and two-mile runs. Through Cornell's influence the 220-yard circular low hurdle race has been changed to a 100-yard straightaway race. This makes the event virtually a dash.

The men who will go to Buffalo with the events they will enter are as follows:

100-yard dash—Burrell '06, Cole '07.

220-yard dash—Crowell, Cole.

440-yard dash—Ralph, Robertson, Sechner '05.

880-yard run—K. B. Squires, Hayes, Ranney.

One mile run—W. Y. Boyd '06, Wells '06, Rutty '06.

Two mile run---Lobdell, Vorhees '06, Coulter '07.

100-yard high hurdles—Lowe '03, Robertson '05.

100-yard low hurdles—Lowe, Robertson.

High jump---Lowe, Hawkins.

Pole vault---Captain Gardner '04, Southworth.

Shot put---Van Duyn '04.

The team is in as good condition as can be expected, with the exception of Captain Gardner and ex-Captain Lowe. Gardiner has not practiced the pole vault for several weeks, owing to weakness caused by his recent illness. The veteran Lowe, the mainstay of the team, injured his right foot while hurdling Monday. This will only handicap him in the hurdles, as he takes off from his left foot for the high jump.

The team will he accompanied by Manager E. S. Edwards and Coaches J. A. R. Scott and C. D. Whittemore. A large number of students will also witness the meet. The team will not leave this afternoon as previously announced but will probably start on the Empire tomorrow afternoon, reaching Buffalo about 4:15. The meet commences at 8 o'clock.

The team was unable to practice yesterday afternoon, as the armory was closed on account of smallpox quarantine.

The Union Academy Circle met Wednesday evening with Miss Whitcomb and Miss Collins at 1008 East Adams street. Those present were: Mr. Mott and Miss Voorhees of the Classical school, Clarence B. Dempster, E. J. VanCamp, Miss Bessie Stallwood, Miss Minnie Tanner, Miss Erma Sherwood, Miss Florence Collins, Miss Lillian Whitcomb, Ethelbert Hungerford, Merle Ralph and Bruce Sprague.

DEBATING INTERESTS.

It was announced before the class in Argumentation yesterday that the challenge from the Williams Sophomores for debate with the Syracuse Sophomore team had not been accepted, largely on account of the impossibility of the present team's preparing for another debate in addition to the one scheduled with Alfred. Professor Losey is already overburdened with work and would be unable to coach another team effectively.

However, the challenge from Alleghany for an inter-collegiate debate has been accepted. Alleghany is to submit within ten days, two questions from which Syracuse will choose question and side. The qnestion chosen, will, it is planned, be selected as the subject for the Senior-Junior debate. From the six men comprising these teams, three will be selected to debate Alleghany.

If the proposition submitted by Syracuse to Alleghany is accepted, the debate will take place at Meadville, Pa.

The present center of debating activity in the University is in the class in Argumentation which meets with Professor Losey twice each week. At each meeting spirited debates are held in which the members of the class are exhibiting very keen interest. Yesterday the following subject was discussed: Resolved, That the United States was, under the conditions existing November 6, 1903, justifiable in recognizing the socalled de facto government of Panama. Messrs. Jennings, Baldrey and Rubin presented the affirmative dealing with the question on four grounds, Legal, Moral, Economic, Political. The negative, supported by Messrs. Kelley, Copeland and Hook, held mainly to the legal and moral issues involved, and won the decision.

At the next meeting of the class on Tuesday, the question debated by the Sophomores and Freshmen, Resolved, That Athletics as at present conducted in our more prominent American colleges, does not promote the intellectual and moral welfare of the students, will be discussed. Affirmative: Messrs. Brown, Collins, Rider. Negative: Rogers, Diefendorf, Anderson.

Accounts of the debates of the class clubs will be published in tomorrow's Orange.

SENIOR ELECTION.

The Election of Senior Class Officers for the University Held Today---Close Contest Expected.

The most important class meeting of the year will be held in the Liberal Arts College this afternoon at 3:30 in room 33-34. The occasion is the election of the senior class officers for the University. All members of the senior class in the various colleges are expected to be present on time so as to prevent all unnecessary delay.

The contest for class president and valedictorian promises to be especially interesting. The custom now in vogue holds that each college of the University in order of establishment shall be honored with senior class president. Accordingly, the College of Law will have the office this year. In the senior class of that college there are four men aspiring to this position. Each has been busily at work during the past two weeks. Everyone of them seems quite confident now that the honor will be thrust upon him. The result will be a close and exciting ballot. The candidates for the presidential chair are Messrs. F. A. Canfield, Charles Crane, Charles Sleith and Robert Wilcox.

Each college will elect its own vice-president as is the custom. The contest for the other offices is secondary to these offices. The office of valedictorin will doubtless be close. Tho leading candidates are Louis Chaloux and Geo. Moore. There seems to be no eager aspirants for the chairmanship of the executive committee, for it has lost much of its original power under the new order of things.

President John Heal will call the meeting today on time, and late comers will lose the interesting part of the election.

THE CASINO, BY C. W. JONES.

A photograph of the sketch from which the above cut was made will be on exhibit at the World's Fair at St. Louis next year.

NOTICES.

The February meeting of the Onondaga Academy of Science will be held in the College of Medicine, Orange St., on Friday, the nineteenth, at 4:30 p. m. Dr. E. H. Kraus will lecture on "Some Interesting Mineral Occurrences in the Salina Epoch." Illustrative specimens will be exhibited. All interested persons are invited to be present.

ALBERT M. REESE, Sec'y.

J. R. Rubin still has a few of the 1903 football pictures. Those men who wish to secure the same should see him at once about the matter.

Prof. Frank H. Wood of Hamilton college will address the Historical Association in the Seminar room Saturday evening on "Some Aspects of the Panama Question." Mr. Wood is an alumnus of the University and a good address is assured.

Rehearsals of King Lear for this week will be as follows:

Friday, Act III.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

An important meeting of the senior class will be held Friday afternoon, February 19, at half past three, in Liberal Arts College in room 33-34. At this time all the classday officers will be elected. JOHN W. HEAL, Pres.

The treasurer of the Freshman Class will be in the Registrar's office from 9:40 to 10:00 a. m. each day, from Feb. 22 to Feb. 27 inclusive, for the purpose of receiving the annual class dues of fifty cents. All members are urged to pay at once as there is at present not sufficient money in the treasury to pay the bills against the class.

L. H. CORNWALL, Treas.

One of the most important senior class meetings of the year will be held this afternoon. The election of senior officers for the whole University will occur at this time. Especially significant is the office of president. According to established customs the college of law secures that honor this year. There seems to be some discussion of changing the system of electing president. We consider such a change at this time to be unfair and out of order. Such will only be in order when every college of the University shall have been honored with a senior class president, or in the year 1906.

It is necessary that two suggestions be observed in the election this afternoon. First, that every member of the senior class give thorough consideration to the relative merits of the four candidates, so that the best man should be selected for the place. Every member of senior class should be so proud of his class that he will be above voting for any one man, simply as a personal favor irrespective of that man's ability.

Each candidate for president should be allowed a letter to represent his interests, in a manner similar to our general athletic elections. The senior president of Liberal Arts will doubtless adopt all such methods as is necessary for an election satisfactory to all concerned. This will eliminate all electioneering or other disturbance after the meeting is called to order.

The New York politician who expressed the opinion that college life served no purpose in preparing for the active duties of modern political life, ought to pay a visit to Syracuse just at this time.

The printing presses are busily engaged in printing ballots for the candidates for the senior election to occur today, the courageous workers braving the blasts of winter to scour the Hill in search of seniors who have not heard in full the story of the virtues of their candidates, how metropolitan, how truly preparatory for the battles of municipal politics!

There are some who are inclined to be a little ashamed of the conditions as they exist, but looking at the matter in a common sense manner, we cannot but see that in a University containing so many students as Syracuse, engaged in such widely varied pursuits, it is impossible, even for the members of the senior class, to know each other sufficiently to conduct an election without the usual attendant electioneering. Let us accept the conditions that exist as signs of our greatness and diversity of interests. Let us not disparage the fact that we have grown from the old town meetin' to the munincipal form of college politics, but let us, each one, do our part in making these conditions ideal.

SUPERNUMERARIES FOR KING LEAR.

I should like to meet in the History room, Hall of Languages, on Tuesday afternoon February 23, at 3 o'clock, all who wish to act as supernumeraries in the coming production of "King Lear." Inasmuch as it will be necessary to have several complete rehearsals of the play on afternoons between now and the opening performance, I hope that none who have regular afternoon work, or whose college duties will thereby suffer, will apply for a place in the cast.

We shall need seven women and about fifteen men. They should be of average size, easy and graceful in bearing, and quick to respond to suggestions. Each candidate who is accepted will be supplied with a costume or costumes. All supernumeraries will accompany the cast to Auburn, Rochester, and Buffalo.

AT THE BASTABLE.

Mr. Montgomery Irving, assisted by a strong supporting company, will present Chas. E. Blaney's latest success, "For His Brother's Crime," the last three days of this week. Mr. Blaney has written many good melodramas and comedies, and this, his latest, is said to be one of his best. The real secret of the success of Playwright Blaney lies, perhaps, in the fact that he understands what the public wants and hastens to give it to his patrons. Two carloads of special scenery are carried for the production besides a pair of spirited race horses who appear in the most thrilling climax of the piece. There will be matinees Thursday and Saturday.

ONONDAGAN BOARD.

Now that the law college and medical college have elected their representatives, the 1906 Onondagan Board is complete. The Board is composed of the following members: Liberal Arts—A. J. Croft, W. G. Wilson, Frank Baker, L. E. Collins. F. W. Barrett, P. T. Grant, Mary Hart, Lyla Johnston, Mary Mott, Helen Potter. Applied Science----A. J. Squires, E. D. Wood. Fine Arts----E. I. Barott, Lois Kupfer, Miss Wells. Law college----J. M. Seymour, E. North. Medical college----Baldwin.

It seems this year that various colleges have taken it upon themselves to make some deviations from precedent, which is causing some trouble among the sophomores. E. N. Packard was elected business manager by all the colleges, and E. M. Jones was elected assistant manager by Liberal Arts and Fine Arts. But Applied Science has also elected an assistant manager from their own number, and it is this which is causing the trouble. The students in Fine Arts have elected three representatives this year, whereas heretofore only two members of the Board have come from that college. The Medical college, however, have chosen but one representative this year, although they had two on the 1905 board.

The business manager will call a meeting of the board soon, at which time the editors-in-chief will be elected.

VOL. I. NO. 109. SYRACUSE, N. Y., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

SENIORS CHOOSE OFFICERS.

Class Day Representatives Elected--Wilcox Chosen President.

Before the meeting of all colleges was called, the Liberal Arts Seniors met and elected Harry Barber as vice-president for Liberal Arts College Senior class.

Promptly at four o'clock the meeting of the Senior class of the University was called to order, President John W. Heal of Liberal Arts College presiding. After a half hour had been devoted to speeches in nomination of the candidates for president, nominations were declared closed, and the class proceeded to vote on the names of Charles L. Crane, Robert E. Wilcox, Francis A. Canfield and Charles S. Sleith. According to college custom, all of the nominees were Law Seniors.

Robert E. Wilcox was declared elected by a majority vote on the first ballot. John Heal conducted Mr. Wilcox to the chair where he gave an excellent speech, which was indicative of the right man in the right place.

Miss Heath was the unanimous choice of the class for secretary, as was Robert Morey for treasurer.

Louis B. Chaloux was the nominee for valedictorian. The secretary was instructed to cast a unanimous vote for Mr. Chaloux as the choice for this office.

Nominations for Salutatorian followed, including Harold Morecroft of the College of Applied Science, and Clarence Benjamin and Wm. J. Young of Liberal Arts College. Harold Morecroft was declared elected on the first ballot.

Messrs. George K. Warren and Arthur L. Evans were nominated to the office of Orator. Mr. Warren was declared elected.

The aspirants for Pipe Orator as nominated were Messrs. J. R. Rubin, George Moore, Halsey and W. Hook. Mr. Halsey was elected on the second ballot.

The nominees for Address to the Class of 1905 included Charles Woodley and Ray Phillips. Mr. Woodley was elected to the office.

Miss Snyder and Miss Hunt were nominated for Prophetess. Miss Snyder was given that honor. Miss Jennie Gilbert was the unanimous choice of the class for Historian.

Unanimous ballots were cast for the last three offices. Miss Hook was chosen Poetess, Roy Allen as Tree Orator and Edward J. Cannon as Chairman of the Executive Committee.

The track team leaves for Buffalo on the 7:30 train from the N. Y. Central station. The men arrive in Buffalo at noon, and will put up at the Niagara Hotel, which is within a block of the 74th Armory.

PROFESSOR LOSEY AS KING LEAR.

Photographs of Professor Losey as King Lear have been put on sale at the Co-Op Store. The photographs were taken by the well known theatrical photographer, Rockwood, of New York during Professor Losey's recent trip. They are of exceptionally fine quality, and Rockwood himself expressed pride and pleasure in the way in which the pictures turned out. Professor Losey is taken in various positions suggested by situations in the play. The costume in which he appears is the superb dress—the identical dress—in which he will appear in the first act of the play. So fine is the costume, that although the costumes as a whole are hired from Philadelphia, this costume is especially hired from the New York firm which owns it. It is difficult to imagine a more satisfactory get up. The photographs on sale are large, full length pictures which will make it necessary to sell them at 75 cents each. A little later, however, smaller photographs will be offered for sale at less price.

Mr. Harry Foland was elected yesterday as vice-president of the Senior class from Smith College, and Saul Lavine and Harold Morecroft were elected Chairman of the Executive Committee and Chief Engineer, respectively.

DEBATING UNION.

Action Taken as to Meetings and Absentees--Other Business.

Much important business came up before the meeting of the Debating Union Thursday afternoon. Since the holiday vacation the various clubs have not been meeting on the same night. This has caused much inconvenience, especially as some meetings were arranged for the same night on which the Classical Club meets. It was decided that henceforth the clubs should meet biweekly, beginning Thursday, February 25.

There are in the debating clubs, as in all other societies, some members who take very little interest. There are several members who have been continually absent from meetings. It therefore seemed necessary for the Union to take some action. A motion prevailed to the effect that all persons who had been absent for three consecutive meetings should be droppod from the roll, unless they present a written excuse satisfactory to the Debating Union before the next regular meeting of the clubs.

The Union also discussed the general debating interests of the University. It was the opinion of the members that the authorities of the University should make provision for more advanced work in forensics. Now that debate work has come to take so important and active a part in college life, it seems that more facilities should be provided. A committee was appointed to frame a petition and present it to the Chancellor, asking for more adequate provisions for debate work at Syracuse. The committee appointed consisted of Messrs. Warren, Sumner and Cheney.

The next meeting of the Debating Union will be held on the first Monday of March at 5 p. m.

CORNELL PROTESTS LOWE.

The Cornell track team management have written to the authorities of the Indoor meet which is to be held at Buffalo today, protesting the entry of William C. Lowe who is to represent Syracuse in the hurdles and jumps. The grounds for the protest are that Lowe is a professional, as they claim that he holds a salaried position in the University. The local authorities deny this. They maintain that they will run Lowe in spite of the protest made.

Ex-captain Lowe is, without doubt, the best all-round man on the team. The events that he will take this evening barring accidents, will bring up the Orange standing materially.

The Cazenovia Club met Thursday evening with Miss Giles at the Alpha Phi chapter house. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, F. A. Boyd; Vice-President, Miss Florence Giles; Secretary, Miss Lewis; Treasurer, Mr. E. T. Lewis.

VACATION MONDAY.

Dean Smalley announced yesterday in chapel that there would not be any classes held Monday, Washington's Birthday.

WILL NOT GO TO BUFFALO.

It has been found upon investigation that it will be impossible to obtain either one of the two best theatres on the night that the production of King Lear was scheduled for that city. Rather than lower the tone of the undertaking by producing the play in an inferior playhouse, the management have decided to give up the idea of going there. It is probable that some other place will be secured for that same night.

NOTICES.

The Syracuse High School Congress Alumni Association will meet Monday, Feb. 22, at 11 a. m. at the new High School building. Prof. W. H. Mace of the University will deliver an address upon "Washington and his Time," and Prof. Wickes will lecture upon James Russell Lowell, whose birthday it is. All Ex-Congressmen are invited.

HENRY NEAL HYDE, Pres.
LOOMIS BALDREY, Clerk.

The Mathematics Club will meet Wednesday evening, Feb. 23, with Miss Alma Hurst at 309 East Willow Street. W. K. Plattner'05 will read a paper on "Scales and Notations."

The Glee Club will meet for practice Monday afternoon at 2:00. Everyone is expected to be present, as this is the practice for the benofit concert.

RALPH L. STILLWELL.

Prof. Frank H. Wood of Hamilton college will address the Historical Association in the Seminar room Saturday evening on "Some Aspects of the Panama Question." Mr. Wood is an alumnus of the University and a good address is assured.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

The treasurer of the Freshman Class will be in the Registrar's office from 9:40 to 10:00 a. m. each day, from Feb. 22 to Feb. 27 inclusive, for the purpose of receiving the annual class dues of fifty cents. All members are urged to pay at once as there is at present not sufficient money in the treasury to pay the bills against the class.

At various times during the year we have heard more or less so-called "knocking" about the Orange. We believe this is not so prevalent as during the first part of the year, and there is doubtless reason for it. We do not send out the paper as a model piece of journalism. But various students of the University seem to make an effort to examine the paper minutely, and endeavor to find mistakes. We realize as well as the students that there are mistakes, but also that many students take altogether the wrong attitude in criticizing the paper.

Few students realize the many disadvantages with which a daily paper was launched at Syracuse, few realize the amount of work that has been put upon it, and how little thanks has been received for such work. In criticising the paper we must remember in the first place that it is a daily, that a certain amount of news must be turned in each day, and that our sources for news are limited. Then we must also consider the fact that the paper is edited and managed entirely by students; and these students cannot devote their entire time to this work. They receive no credit for such work on their college courses, and are required to carry the regular number of hours. Then, too, the same quality of work cannot be expected from students as from men who have had a large experience.

We believe that the paper has improved greatly since it was established six months ago. It now has facilities and equipement which are surpassed by few college dailies. The whole work, however, does not rest with the management. The students should do their part as well. They can greatly aid in making the paper a success if they would furnish us with any news which may come to their notice. If we fail to get various news items, it is because the students fail to give them to us. We do all we can to obtain the news, but try as we will, there are items which we miss. In the various buildings are boxes placed there for the express purpose of furnishing the students with a means to get news into the paper.

If, then, the students will do all they can to help us with news, if they will remember the disadvantages with which we have to labor, if they will criticise kindly, and, above all, if they will be patient with us, remembering that the paper is but a child in college journalism, we will do all in our power to make the Orange truly representative of Syracuse.

On Tuesday morning, the next edition of the Orange will appear, containing among its features full accounts of the Buffalo Meet and of the Western basketball trip.

An expression used by one of the speakers in the recent Sophomore-Freshman debate has been causing some little perturbation of mind, especially among the freshmen. The speaker intimated that the standard of grading was so arranged here at Syracuse that it was a disgrace for one to graduate without receiving honors. For the comfort of any freshmen who may fear the grading is too low we suggest first of all that the statement was made in the heat of debate and, no doubt, intended as a hyperbole, secondly that the policy of the faculty is that of increasing very materially the standard required for honor marks, and thirdly that the results of two or three examinations will remove all their doubts as to the rigidity of the courses offered. We believe that the great number of honors awarded is due largely to the fact that Syracuse is fortunate in having a class of students who are earnest, honest workers, students who realize the seriousness of college life and put into it their best effort.

AT THE BASTABLE.

Mr. Montgomery Irving, assisted by a strong supporting company, will present Chas. E. Blaney's latest success, "For His Brother's Crime," the last three days of this week. Mr. Blaney has written many good melodramas and comedies, and this, his latest, is said to be one of his best. The real secret of the success of Playwright Blaney lies, perhaps, in the fact that he understands what the public wants and hastens to give it to his patrons. Two carloads of special scenery are carried for the production besides a pair of spirited race horses who appear in the most thrilling climax of the piece. There will be matinees Thursday and Saturday.

SUPERNUMERARIES FOR KING LEAR.

I should like to meet in the History room, Hall of Languages, on Tuesday afternoon February 23, at 3 o'clock, all who wish to act as supernumeraries in the coming production of "King Lear." Inasmuch as it will be necessary to have several complete rehearsals of the play on afternoons between now and the opening performance, I hope that none who have regular afternoon work, or whose college duties will thereby suffer, will apply for a place in the cast.

We shall need seven women and about fifteen men. They should be of average size, easy and graceful in bearing, and quick to respond to suggestions. Each candidate who is accepted will be supplied with a costume or costumes. All supernumeraries will accompany the cast to Auburn, Rochester, and Buffalo.

FREDERICK D. LOSEY.

The Preachers' Club will meet in the gymnasium February 25 at 7:30 p. m.

The program will be a general discussion of the following subjects: How shall the evening service be conducted? What shall be done with the inactive members of the church?

VOL. I. NO. 110. SYRACUSE, N. Y., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

SYRACUSE SHOWS UP WELL.

Team Does as Well as Captain and Coaches Expect--Score not Indicative of Meet.

The track team went to Buffalo with the idea that they would finish third in the meet. They did so but not without honor. The showing made was much better than last year; although handicapped in many ways, we finished close to the 74th Regiment.

The number of points gained by Syracuse was 9 1-2, the places being 3-2-1 instead of the intercollegiate count of 5-3-1. The men had much to contend with. The fact that Squires with a broken ankle which will require his leaving athletics for the rest of the spring is only one indication that they fought and fought hard.

Many of the men were disabled from one cause or another. Burrell was ill, Lowe was having trouble with an ankle and Captain Gardner had not vaulted in over two weeks until the night of the meet. Taking everything into consideration the men made an excellent showing.

In the hundred yard dash, Burrell, in spite of his recent illness, showed up well although he was not placed. In the 220 yard dash, Cole should have had third place but he was disqualified just at the tape.

Ralph ran a fine race in the 440. He drew the pole position and took the pace making the race his own until the last ten yards. Here with a big spurt one of the 74th Regiment men beat him out for tape. His second was Syracuse's first score.

In the half mile much dirty work manifested itself much to the detriment of Syracuse. Squires and Ranney were both roughly used. It was here that Squires' ankle was broken. Ranney was knocked down and his chances for the race spoiled. Hayes, the only Syracuse man left in the race, did better than he ever has before but did not succeed in getting a place.

Of the entries in the mile, Rutty was the only man who was able to follow the crowd. Wells and Coulter were forced to drop out.

The two mile was a plucky race from an Orange standpoint. Boyd was pocketed by Cornell at the very start. All through the race he was banged about but he stuck to the race and succeeded in finishing third.

In both the low and high hurdles Lowe took third place. He was much handicapped with a lame ankle.

In the high jump Lowe tied Porter of Cornell for second place.

In the pole vault, Captain Gardner tied for second place. This is rather remarkable considering the fact that he has been sick and has not been able to train for more than two weeks.

VanDuyne carried off one point for the Orange by winning third place in the shot-put.

The star of the meet was Schutt of Cornell. He took first in the two-mile and second in the mile. Cairns, the opponent of Lowe in his star events, was in good form taking firsts in the low hurdles and high jump. It is the opinion of those who saw the meet that Cornell's team is even better than last year.

Both the captain and the coaches are well satisfied with the showing of the men. They expected more of some individuals but were satisfied with the team as a whole. The result was much better than last year.

From now on training will be different from that followed so far this year. The Armory will not be used but more cross-country running will be done.

FOOTBALL PLANS.

The various authorities interested in next season's football plans have been for some time planning for next fall's campaign. Manager Earl Ackley has been in correspondence with the various colleges in regard to the schedule. The dates arranged for have to be ratified by the Governing Board so that nothing has as yet been given out regarding the schedule but enough has been learned to insure that an excellent schedule will be offered. It will probably be announced in about a month.

The method of play will be about the same next year as usual. Instead of depending upon mass plays for their games the open style of play will be used. This will mean fast, snappy playing, such as has characterised the team in years past.

Dr. Hutchins, the new coach, will probably be in town some time this spring for the purpose of meeting the men. He is an excellent trainer, both in theory and practice. His medical experience has given him a knowledge of anatomy and his athletic experience serves as an excellent supplement to this.

There will probably be no spring training this year. although the men not in some other branch of athletics may be called upon to run for a period. It has been decided to attempt to choose a definite second team this year. That is, it is wished to make the places on the second team as fixed as those on the first. This does not necessarily mean two schedules.

The matter of assistant coach has not been fixed yet. Dr. Hutchins wishes to have as an assistant some one who is familiar with his methods. This is not in accordance with the plan outlined by the Board, i.e., a head coach with graduate assistants. It is not decided as to what will be done.

At a meeting of the '06 law class February 16 the following officers were elected.: President, Charles F. Hellganz; vice-president, V. H. Harding; secretary and treasurer, Mr. Rubenstein; members of Onondaga Board, J. M. Seymour and George North.

THE WESTERN TRIP.

Strong Teams of West too Much for Varsity Five---Resume of Games.

After an exceedingly long and hard trip through Pennsylvania and Ohio, the 'Varsity basketball team reached the city at a late hour last night, rather disappointed at the outcome of the series, but rounded into championship form by their experience, and confident of success in the games to come.

"Where is the basketball team?" "What did they do last night?" were among the questions which were asked almost hourly at the Orange office and at the other newspaper offices during the past week. However, nothing definite was known of the work of the team before the telegraphic despatch reporting the Allegheny game reached the Orange office, Saturday morning and was posted on the Liberal Art's bulletin board.

On Monday afternoon, Feb. 15th, the team left the Central Station and owing to delay in train service wereforced to ride all night in order to reach East Liverpool to meet the Athletic Club of that city Tuesday night.

The game was fought on the floor of Rock Springs Dancing Pavilion in the presence of nearly a thousand people. Owing to the extremely smooth condition of the floor, the Syracuse players found it very difficult to keep their footing. The first half closed with the score 14 to 12 in East Liverpool's favor. During the second half the Athletics increased their lead; final score, East Liverpool 32, Syracuse 18.

Commenting on the game, the East Liverpool Daily Crisis praises the individual work of Twombly and Powell, and says of the team as a whole, "The visitors put lots of snap into their play but never once did they stoop to questionable practices to gain a point. It may truthfully be said that they are the cleanest and most scientific bunch of players who have ever been in our midst."

On Wednesday evening the Geneva College team was encountered at Beaver's Falls, Pennsylvania. The Geneva team weighed on an average 186 pounds, and at the start of the game roughed things up, gaining a lead of 16 points in the first half. As the game proceeded, the superior training of the lighter team asserted itself, but the lead gained by the Geneva heavyweights in the first few minutes of play proved insurmountable. Game ended with score 37 to 19, in Geneva's favor.

On Friday night Allegheny College team was met at Allegheny, Here again the fast, aggressive work of the opposing team took Syracuse off its feet in the first half with a result that a lead was established which not even the excellent work of the latter part of the game could overcome. The game closed with the score Allegheny 16, Syracuse 8.

Another long, fatiguing trip and the team found itself in Oberlin, Ohio. face to face with the Oberlin five. Here again the opposing team gained a big lead in the first half. With the score 11 to 2 against them, the Orange five began to get into the game with a vengeance, but notwithstanding their desperate efforts, the second half closed with the Oberlin boys way in the lead. Score 27 to 12.

Yesterday the team stopped off in Batavia, N. Y., and played a game with the Y. M. C. A. team of that city. This is the team that Houseknecht captained so effectively before entering college.

HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION LECTURE.

Frank Hoyt Wood '91, now professor in Hamilton College, gave a very interesting address before the Historical Association in the Seminar room, Saturday evening. His subject was "Several Aspects of the Panama Question." Professor Wood upheld the action of the government, although he claimed to be an anti-imperialist. He condemned the action as rather hasty, but held that it was the best thing for both Panama and this country. It was also legal according to his interpretation of international law.

A large number of students enjoyed the lecture and the refreshments which followed it.

DEPARTMENTAL NOTES.

Political Economy.

The class in Labor Unionism will be addressed on Monday by the State President of the Retail Clerks' Union of America.

Mr. Erasmus Pellenz, the well known Syracuse Fire Marshall, has consented to address the class in Socialism at the next two sessions.

NOTICES.

The treasurer of the Freshman Class will be in the Registrar's office from 9:40 to 10:00 a. m. each day, from Feb. 22 to Feb. 27 inclusive, for the purpose of receiving the annual class dues of fifty cents. All members are urged to pay at once as there is at present not sufficient money in the treasury to pay the bills against the class.

L. H. CORNWALL, Treas.

The Mathematics Club will meet Wednesday evening, Feb. 23, with Miss Alma Hurst at 309 East Willow Street. W. K. Plattner'05 will read a paper on "Scales and Notations."

The story that was told at the beginning of the training season is being told anew about the halls and other places where college men congregate. The story is the old truism that without training facilities you cannot develop a track team that will compete successfully with a team that can take advantage of such facilities.

The results at Buffalo showed several things. One was the truth of the fact just mentioned. Another was that we have some very good material for track athletics if we had the facilities for giving them the training they require. A third, all will agree, was the futility of sending a poorly prepared team to take part in a meet.

Such a proceeding disheartens the men, it puts the standing of the college below where it ought to be and prevents us from getting the recognition we deserve in our athletics.

But let us not be altogether pessimistic. Perhaps next year will see a board track and earlier training. Even slight improvement will bring about great changes.

A feature of college life which seems to be going into disuse at Syracuse is the custom of singing the class songs after chapel. Frequently within the last few weeks one or more of the classes have not been represented at the time these songs should be sung. It is not because the men are absent from the building at the time. The lower corridor of the Hall of Languages is often crowded so that it is almost impossible to pass from one end to the other.

The agitation which seeks to increase the number of Syracuse songs is praise-worthy, but we suggest, too, that the present ones be made use of. A few minutes after the chapel exercises spent in singing, even though the songs are not distinctively local, would, we believe, tend toward a closer student sympathy and a more pronounced college spirit. We urge all the classes, at least, to make the class songs a general, enthusiastic and vociferous expression of class spirit rather than a duty to be performed with as much expedition as possible.

The yearly action of the Liberal Arts faculty in dropping certain students who are deficient in their studies taken Saturday is a little heavier than usual. The dropping of that number cannot, however, fail to have a salutary effect on the students that remain. That there should be many that are deficient is a matter for regret. But those students who have the welfare of the University most at heart feel that the action of the faculty is the best that could be taken for the general good of the institution.

To some people, "cinch" courses and low standards have been of the things characteristic of this University. A little of this no doubt exists here, but such action as that taken Saturday will insure the speedy abolition of such ideas as are prevalent among some students.

It is to be hoped, too, that this will not only be a lesson to those that remain, but also the fifteen. They have the privilege of returning another year and showing the student body that they are capable of better things.

The baseball team suffered heavily from the cut. This is to be regretted, but nevertheless, we cannot consistently sacrifice our scholarship standards for the sake of excelling in athletics. The action of the faculty is to be commended.

ANNUAL DINNER OF DELTA KAPPA EPSILON.

Seventyfive members of the Central New York Association of Delta Kappa Epsilon gathered around the banquet tables at the chapter house last evening. Among the guests were prominent alumni of Syracuse and of other Universities who have made Central New York their home. The toasts announced by Giles H. Stilwell, Sigma '81, were inspiring to all those in attendance.

The toast list: The Modern D. K. E.—Rev. Alexander Wouters, Tau '93.

Alumni Interests—William A. Dyer, Upsilon '86.

SUPERNUMERARIES FOR KING LEAR.

I should like to meet in the History room, Hall of Languages, this afternoon February 23, at 3 o'clock, all who wish to act as supernumeraries in the coming production of "King Lear." Inasmuch as it will be necessary to have several complete rehearsals of the play on afternoons between now and the opening performance, I hope that none who have regular afternoon work, or whose college duties will thereby suffer, will apply for a place in the cast.

We shall need seven women and about fifteen men. They should be of average size, easy and graceful in bearing, and quick to respond to suggestions. Each candidate who is accepted will be supplied with a costume or costumes. All supernumeraries will accompany the cast to Auburn, Rochester, and Buffalo.

FACULTY DROP STUDENTS.

The action of the Smith College faculty in dropping fourteen men on account of poor work was repeated at a faculty meeting in the College of Liberal Arts Saturday. This time fifteen students were dropped from the two lower classes. Two of this number were women. The reasons for dismissal were in some case lack of application, in otherss poor preparation. Some of the number were promising athletes. The baseball team will lose heavily by the cut.

This action is in accordance with the yearly practice of the faculty although the number is not ordinarily quite as large.

ENGLISH CLUB.

The English Club will meet this evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Seminar room. The Rev. Dr. Philip H. Cole, pastor of the First Reformed church, will speak upon "Wordsworth, the Poet of Simple Life." Dr. Cole is a well informed man on English literature. He was at one time professor of English at Union College.

Students are requested to call and get our special prices on photos—either singly or in groups. M. H. BUNN, Photographer, 402 S. Salina St.

CREW CANDIDATES SKIP ROPE.

Amusing Scene in Crew Room---No Communication from Ithaca.

The crew room furnishes a great deal of amusemeni to those who stroll around to watch crew practice on the afternoons that the girls occupy the gymnasium. Up to this time the men have done without the regular run on those days. The coach has now conceived the idea of having the men take the same amount of exercise in the room through the medium of jumping the rope. In consequence the crew room looks like a school-girl's playground, after the men have finished rowing.

Much amusement is furnished by watching tbe different styles of the game; some carry out the old both-feet at-once style while others use the toe-and-heel style and other one-foot-one jump. Some reflect the local color of their home town by introducing entirely new styles of the jump. Some, among the freshmen particularly, have recourse to the old pepper-and-salt and freeze-out methods. A large number show conclusively that they never will be able to successfully play the role of girl. This exercise will give way to outdoor running as soon as the weather permits.

The coach is well satisfied with the freshmen. They average in size and weight better than did last year's men. The coach said yesterday, "If they take hold of the oar as well as I hope they will, our freshman crew will probably do as well at Poughkeepsie as last year, and that was fine."

The 'Varsity men are nearly all in fine fettle with the exception of Cortelyou who has been ill for a few days.

The persistent report in the city dailies that Cornell has sent an invitation to send a second crew to Ithaca on Memorial Day is not confirmed by the authorities. Neither the coach nor the captain has heard of it. Commodore Gramlich has been in Buffalo since Saturday and up to the time of leaving had received no communication.

ERRATA.

Harry T. Baker was elected vice-president of the senior class of Liberal Arts College Friday afternoon. Francis A. Hulst, a member of the senior class of the Medical College, was elected Pipe Orator.

By mistakes of reporters and proof-reading, these names appeared in Saturday's Orange as Harry Barber and Francis Halsey respectively.

Professor Emens has been called out of town because of the illness of his father.

HARDEST TRIP ON RECORD.

Massachusetts, Vermont, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio West Virginia. Within the past twelve days the basketball five has visited each of these states, playing a series of ten hard games, winning four and losing six of the games. Probably no college team in the United States has ever traveled so far and played so many hard games in the same length of time.

The western series of games proved much harder than the management had anticipated when the trip was planned. Interest in basketball has grown very intense throughout Ohio and Pennsylvania, as is evidenced by the fact that some of these games were witnessed by nearly a thousand people, among them hundreds of big lunged rooters, and further by the fact that these spectators were willing to pay fifty cents for a seat.

The game with East Liverpool, played on a waxed floor, within a complete. wire cage, was replete with fun and jollity. Before the players appeared the scene resembled the Roman populace at a gladiatorial combat. "Bring 'em on, Bring 'em on," the crowd yelled as the Orange five were preparing to make their appearance.

At Geneva the plucky fight of Niles against a 200-pound forward evoked applause. "Shake off that flea, Joe; Shake off that flea," they yelled at the big fellow as time and again Niles spoiled a chance for a basket.

Not until the team returned at midnight Monday, did news of the two successes of the trip, Buhl A. C., and Batavia, reach Syracuse. Following is a resume of the trip.

Tuesday, Syracuse 18, East Liverpool 32; Wednesday, Syracuse 19, Geneva 37; Thursday, Syracuse 32, Buhl A. C. 18; Friday, Syracuse 8, Allegheny 16; Saturday, Syracuse 12, Oberlin 27; Monday, Syracuse 23, Batavia 13.

Total—Syracuse 112, Opponents 137.

SOCIETY ITEMS.

The D. U.'s entertained at their chapter house last evening.

The young ladies of Delta Delta Delta entertained in a novel way at their chapter house last evening. The guests were invited to attend a "summer picnic" and to come attired accordingly. Naturally, the appearance of the young men, coatless and clad in duck and flannel trousers, caused much merriment.

Miss Dorothy Oliver, of 722 Irving Ave., entertained a number of her friends at a Washington Party. Monday evening. A pleasant feature of the entertainment was "take offs" on the students and members of the faculty and a visit from a phrenologist of New York. Those present were Mrs. Smith, Mrs. W. E. Taylor and Misses Comson, Vail, Pudney, Howland, Grace Smith, Jacobson, Moran, Saxe, Lydell, Elsie Jones, Laura Mott and Gertrude Mosher.

Miss Edith Hedges '06 has now recovered from an attack of tonsolitis.

CHANCELLOR DAY IN ALBANY

Speaks Before Finance Committee of the Legislature on the New Agricultural College.

Chancellor James R. Day, who was one of the speakers at the Albany alumni banquet, remained in Albany yesterday to forward the interests of Syracuse.

A bill for expending one-quarter of a million dollars, has been introduced into the legisture for a State Agricultural college. The location of the proposed college has not been decided. It is claimed by several of the smaller colleges that undue influences has been user by a prominent University to have the new state college located on its campus. However this may be, many of the colleges in this state firmly believe that the state should not favor one particular uhiversity in appropriations ih preference to others having good claim for similar aid.

Chancellor Day, who was accompanied by several other college presidents, spoke in behalf of appropriations for other colleges outside of Cornell. It is true that at present the latter university is the only institution of this nature receiving state money. The claim of many other universities in the state for annual financial aid is just as worthy as that of Cornell.

The Chancellor in forwarding the claims of Syracuse, argues as follows: "Cornell makes a great deal about giving 600 free scholarships to the State, but they are more than paid for in the grant. Syracuse university distributes more scholarships without any financial aid from the State than Cornell does with it. We have twice as many principals in the academies and other preparatory schools of the State as Cornell has. In fact, we have more teachers in this State than any other college. In view of this I think that we ought not to be disregarded altogether by the State. We paid out over $10,000 in taxes last year. Think of that going into the coffers of our closest competitor."

A total of $800,000 has been received by Cornell from the State in the last thirty odd years. Chancellor Day has always been in favor of a more equal distribution of State money. The outcome of the present issue is awaited with interest.

SUPERNUMERARY TRIALS.

About fifty responded to the call for "supers" in the cast of King Lear yesterday afternoon. There will be about seven women and fifteen men chosen. The list will be announced in a few days.

NOTICES.

The treasurer of the Freshman Class will be in the Registrar's office from 9:40 to 10:00 a. m. each day, from Feb. 22 to Feb. 27 inclusive, for the purpose of receiving the annual class dues of fifty cents. All members are urged to pay at once as there is at present not sufficient money in the treasury to pay the bills against the class.

L. H. CORNWALL, Treas.

The Mathematics Club will meet Wednesday evening, Feb. 23, with Miss Alma Hurst at 309 East Willow Street. W. K. Plattner'05 will read a paper on "Scales and Notations."

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

The tutoring class under Mr. William Lowe in German will meet at 7-8 o'clock Wednesday evening in room 31.

Dr. J. C. Carson, Superintendent of the State Asylum for the Feeble Minded, located at Syracuse, will give a lecture next Monday evening before the Philosophy Club on "The Treatment of the Feeble Minded." Dr. Carson is a man of wide reputation and deserves a good audience.

Basketball practice will be postponed until next Tuesday evening, thus giving the men a chance to rest.

Victory, and the spirit of winning are not everything, even in in "Athletics as at present conducted." A reputation for sending out victorious teams is not the highest athletic honor that a University can attain. A reputation for a display of the sterling qualities of manhood under the most trying conditions brings more credit to the University which sends out its teams than a score of empty victories. The track team at Buffalo and the basketball team in Pensylvania and Ohio have brought to the University the sort of honor that does not end with the memory of of a score.

Professor Losey's call for all students wishing to compete for supernumerary parts on the King Lear Cast to come out today, should meet with a hearty response from the students.

The play of King Lear is an especially difficult one to stage, and to act. The greatness of the task is even appalling when undertaken by an amateur company. There is a certainty of its success however, under the able management which will superintend the performance for Syracuse.

Professor Losey and his associates have worked long and faithfully on the play. The cast is being greatly perfected in the work.

The supernumerary characters should be as capably handled as any other characters. It is for this reason that no student, who wishes to make the play, should look with disdain on a secondary part. The whole play to be a thorough success should be well balanced, and representative of the best ability in the student body.

The contention of Chancellor Day in the interests of Syracuse, for a more equal division of state educational appropriations is a most worthy one.

Cornell has been materially assisted, and her welfare greatly advanced through a goodly appropriation from the state every year. She is practically alone in receiving such money.

Many of the universities in the state have as just a claim to such state aid as has Cornell.

Syracuse, as the Chancellor shows, is most deserving of a share in the annual appropriations. It is hoped the state legislature will fix this expenditure basis for the future.

ALBANY ALUMNI MEET.

AT THE BASTABLE.

Harry Clay Blaney's "Across the Pacific," which is presented at the Bastable to-night is built around incidents of the war in the Philippines and contains thrilling situations, including a realistic blockhouse fight. The popular little comedian, Harry Clay Blaney, in the character of Willie Live, the newspaper correspondent, still heads the list with his quick wit, his ever-ready kodak and his sure shot revolvers. The entire company, nearly sixty in number, are far above the average in cleverness. There will be a matinee this afternoon.

Hats and caps suitable for all occasions can be found in large variety at Selleck's Hat store, 341 South Warren St. "The place where you are treated white."

DEAN KENT ON EDUCATIONAL SYSTEMS.

Dean William Kent of the Smith college of Engineering recently made an address before the eastern district convention of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity now in session in New York city, In his remarks on Educational systems, Dean Kent said some things which have occasioned surprise. He is quoted as saying that the children of New York State are taught in a happy-go-lucky way; that there is only the faint trace of system in the so called Educational System. The Board of Regents have, according to the report of Dean Kent's speach, neglected their duties and have devoted themselves very assiduously to internal strife. As a result the public schools of the New York State today are 100 per cent less effective than they were thirty years ago.

OTHER COLLEGES.

Cornell ranks fifth in the intercollegiate basketball league, with one game won and three lost. Harvard's defeat by Princeton Friday puts her at the tail end position, with four games lost out of five.

Columbia heads the list with a clean record. Five games won. Pennsylvania ranks second while Princeton and Yale are tied for third position with two games won to three defeats.

The new boards of editors for the Harvard Crimson and the Yale Daily News have been named.

BASEBALL PRACTICE.

Candidates Work Out Daily in the Cage. Promising Men Dropped.

The baseball candidates are now working out daily in the cage, and getting in shape for an early spring campaign.

Four promising men were recently dropped from college on account of poor scholarship. Included among the four were two crack infielders and two good infielders. This loss will weaken considerably the prospects for a star team.

Coach Costello is optimistic in view of the men now out. He believes that Syracuse has excellent prospects this season, and is working hard to make these good. He divides the men into squads and gives each a thorough praetice.

The batteries are given separate work, and as yet are not allowed to limber up very much. The coach believes in holding down the pitchers to a moderate speed at this early stage, on the theory that cold weather is bad for fast try-outs. The candidates for both in- and outfield are given the same routine work, because of the limited cage capacity. One squad at one end of the cage is practiced in bunting and base running, while the other squad is drilled in infield work on short hits and pick ups.

The freshman candidates promise well, and several men will make strong bids for 'Varsity positions. Coach Costello hopes to have all the men in shape for starting an early schedule.

The schedule this year is long and hard, but promises well for Syracuse. It is on this account that a strong second team will be developed this year. The second nine will be capable of filling up 'Varsity positions at any required time.

SUPERNUMERARIES CHOSEN.

The following have been selected as supers for King Lear: Messrs. O. J. Brown, C. B. Griffith, H. B. Belcher, Hungerford Lord, F.G. Jones, McNevin, J. M. Mosher, Wallace Pierson, Carleton Potter, R. E. Smith, E. H. Sumner, W. H. Ramsay, D. C. Squires, F. H. Sornberger, A. E. Stacey, C. P. Wright, H. B. Yard, Chas. Wells, F. W. Whitney, E. R. Smith.

Misses Dowsland, Allison, Fox, Lois Kupfer, Potter, Thayer, Wright, Young. These will be measured for costumes this afternoon.

CORNELL GAME CANCELLED.

Word has been received by Manager Rice of the basketball team that Cornell will be unable to meet the Orange five this season. This is the result of action by the Cornell faculty prohibiting any more dates out of town. Manager Rice is however trying to arrange matters so as to have the game.

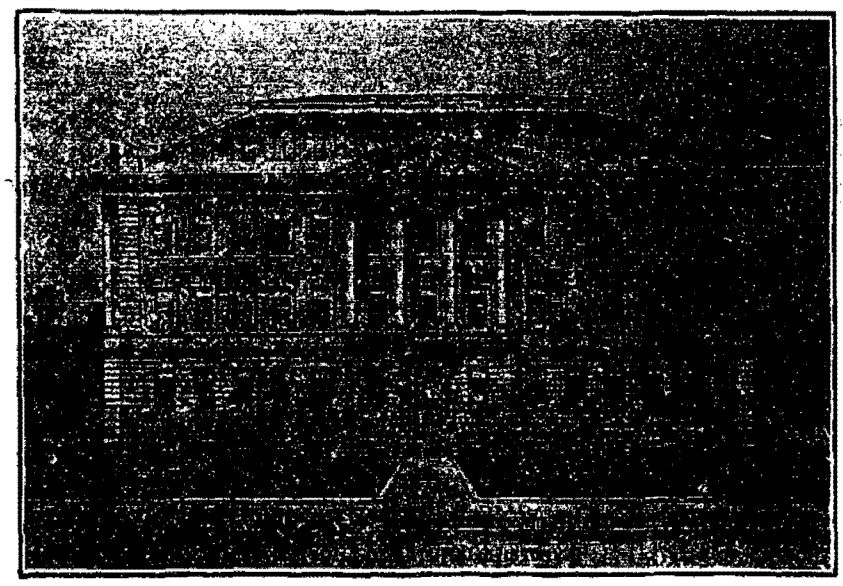
THE ENGLISH CLUB MEETING.

Regular meeting of the English Club was held Tuesday evening in the Seminar rooms. The Rev. Phillip E. Cole of this city gave an interesting address on "Wordsworth, the Poet of the Simple Life." After the recital of some interesting personal experiences in the Lake Region of Englad, Wordsworth's home, the speaker pointed out the three characteristics of his work which made the poet preeminently the poet of the simple life; though he confessed that Wordsworth was not really so simple as he himself wished to be regarded.

In the business session which followed the report of the library committee in regard to keys for the seminar room was received. Their recommendation that the room be left open as heretofore was provisionally adopted and a motion was passed that they draw up and report at the next meeting a simple set of rules to govern the use of the library. Reports from the advertising committee and from Professor Losey regarding the progress of the play were listened to with attention. In regard to the prices to be charged for the local presentation of "Lear" there was some discussion, and the matter was finally laid over until next time. The general opinion seems to be in favor of the regular Wieting prices, including fifty cents for the gallery. The production of "Lear" will undoubtedly be up to the average of Wieting plays and well worth the money.

CROUSE COLLEGE RECITAL

Fine Arts Students Give Excellent Recital Before Large Audience.



The recital at Crouse College yesterday afternoon was a decided success The chapel was crowded and standing room was at a premium. The audience was fully appreciative of the excellent programme rendered. There were two organ numbers, the first being an "Introductio and fugue in D minor" by Merkel, rendered by Henry Girard Hollon, who gave a dignified interpretation of this difficult number. Katherine Adams Bemis of Syracuse played the second organ number, "Marche funebre et chant seraphique" by Guilmant. Miss Bemis deserves a great deal of praise for the brilliancy of execution and the ease of manner in which she played this difficult number of Guilmont's.

Cora Violet Scott sang the "Waltz Song" from "Romeo and Juliet" in her pure soprano voice in a manner which charmed her listeners.

The two violin numbers, (a) Aboratio (b) Intermezzo from Suit No. 1, by Bertha Emma Jones, were especially pleasing because of the musician's exceptionally sweet tones and graceful execution.

The two piano numbers were both excellent; the first, by Laura Carolyn Schafer who played a concerto in F sharp minor in a masterly and dignified manner. The second piano number, Rubenstein's Concerto in E, rendered by Frieda Parker, was particularly pleasing. This was the first public appearance of Miss Parker and she scored a deserving success.

The last number, a Quintette in E minor by Sinding, rendered by Miss Beatrice Throop, piano; Miss Jones, first violin; Miss Gertrude Woodhull, second violin; Professor Becker, viola; Professor White, 'cello. The first and second violins brought out the beauty of this sweet and delightful number which the audience fully appreciated. The harmony was exceptionally fine, the entire selection being rendered in a very creditable manner.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. PAUL

On Friday night of this week at 8 o'clock at University Avenue Church, a chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Paul, the Methodist fraternity, will be organized. This society has attained great strength in the denomination, having now over 400 chapters, containing 20,000 men. Its purpose is to unite men socially and fraternally and to employ their energies systematically for Christ and the Church. All members of the faculty and students who are interested in such a movement are invited to be present and become charter members of the Brotherhood.

ALUMNI PERSONAL.

Miss Edistina Hendrix '05-ex, who entered Indiana University last fall will take part in the production of "The Rivals" by the Dramatic club of that University. Miss Hendrix has recently been ill but is now convalescent.

Dr. Maurice Packard '96, has been appointed lecturer in the clinical department of the New York Polyclinic Medical school and hospital.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

New York Beta of Phi Kappa Psi celebrated Founders Day last Friday night by an elaborate smoker given the local alumni. Among the chapters represented were Amherst, Columbia, Cornell, Allegheny, Northwestern and the University of Kansas. About sixty-five were in attendance.

The executive committee of the Sophomore class consists of the following: Messrs. F. H. Plumb, W. Y. Boyd, C. C. Williams, F. G. Jones, S. E. Andrews, C. E. Miller, C. M. Steuber.

Misses Lulu Shearman, Elizabeth Mogg, Mabel Bell, Frances Thayer.

The announcement that the basketball game scheduled for March 8th, between Cornell and Syracuse, has been cancelled owing to Cornell faculty action was received by the students with general expressions of surprise and disappointment.

It is indeed to be hoped that Manager Rice may be successful in his efforts to bring about a reconsideration of the matter at Ithaca. There is good reason to believe that the Cornell management will also do its best to make possible the meeting as originally arranged.

After two weeks of continuous traveling and playing on foreign fields, the basketball team is back, ready to take the rest which they need so much. Two weeks of jolting and jarring by day and night, in all sorts of conveyances, Pullmans, day coaches, trolleys and stages. A hard team to meet and new conditions to adapt themselves to every night. Few of those who not experienced such a life realize the hard work which the men have been doing.

That the Western trip was not more successful is not to be wondered at when the adverse conditions under which the men played is taken into account. No team is physically capable of keeping up a high standard of play, night after night, after weeks of fatiguing travel.

It is very honorable to be represented by a team which travels through five states in twice as many days, playing every night. It is to be hoped, however, that the lesson taught by the result of the recent trip may be well learned, and that in the years to come, plans shall not be made which will be impossible of proper attainment owing to the physical limitations of the men.

Various reports have appeared in the city newspapers of a recent reception held at Winchell Hall. These stories have been of the nature truly called "yellow journalism," and were given out by college reporters. The offense against the Y. M. C. A., and the young ladies in the Winchell dormitory has been continued for several days.

It is just such stories as these that please the associated press of the country. They are circulated everywhere when once started, and like rumor they grow as they travel. The result is that Syracuse University and its system of co-education are ridiculed by those who do not realize the true conditions here.

We do not fail to realize the position of the college reporter on a city daily. He stands, as has been said, "Between the devil and the deep blue sea." On the one hand, the city and sporting editors demand stories which can be displayed under scare headlines, on the other, the college community demands true and fair presentation of affairs.

What shall he do? Please the editors, bring temporary pleasure to the readers, and set stories afloat which propagate the tribe of "Van De Knockers?" Even if a man with a George Ade temperament should be willing to forego the pleasure of a display of his peculiar genius by doing so he can save his alma mater the notoriety which is almost sure to follow such an exhibition of comic journalism.

Professor Charles W. Smiley, of Harvard University, is carrying on a unique experiment in psychology. He maintains that a man cannot translate from one language to another correctly if his mind is prepossessed with opinions on the subject. Professor Smiley has taken several Greek students who have never read the Bible and who do not believe in Christian doctrines, and is securing from them translations of the Bible from the Greek. He believes that only in this way can an exact translation be secured, since the former translators have been influenced by their previous knowledge of the contents.

A round trip ticket from Berkeley, California, to the Yosemite Valley over the Santa Fe road was the prize given by the management of the University of California annual for the best cartoon. The result of this liberal offer was that so great a number of high-class cartoons were submitted as to assure the forthcoming annual the best artistic feature yet obtained. A large prize was also given for the three best photograhs of University buildings.

The annual report of President Eliot of Harvard University contains the statement that the tendency toward a three years' college course is becoming stronger. President Eliot in the report said about football that it was the least scientifically played of any game at Harvard, and further that so many students accompany the team on its trips that college work is seriously interferred with.

AT THE BASTABLE.

Fred E. Wrights musical comedy, "The Beauty Doctor," is presented the last three days of this week by the original company of 60, headed by Henrietta Lee, who made such a hit in Fiddle-de de last year, as "The young lady who wanted to do something original to startle society." The story of "The Beauty Doctor" deals with the beauty culture fad, and is handled in a broadly satirical style, affording opportunity for an endless amount of amusement. PROFESSOR LOSEY AS KING LEAR.

Photographs of Professor Losey as King Lear have been put on sale at the Co-Op Store. The photographs were taken by the well known theatrical photographer, Rockwood, of New York during Professor Losey's recent trip. They are of exceptionally fine quality, and Rockwood himself expressed pride and pleasure in the way in which the pictures turned out. Professor Losey is taken in various positions suggested by situations in the play. The costume in which he appears is the superb dress—the identical dress—in which he will appear in the first act of the play. So fine is the costume, that although the costumes as a whole are hired from Philadelphia, this costume is especially hired from the New York firm which owns it. It is difficult to imagine a more satisfactory get up. The photographs on sale are large, full length pictures which will make it necessary to sell them at 75 cents each. A little later, however, smaller photographs will be offered for sale at less price.

The board of editors of the Northwestern Magazine have stirred up the feminine wrath of Northwestern University by refusing to accept a cover design for the magazine wherein a young woman is the central feature of the landscape. The hardly masculine editors declare that the women of the university are coming too prominently before the public, and that a design placing more emphasis on the men is desirable.

CAST COMPLETED.

"Supes" Rehearse with Cast in Act V---Preparations for Mammoth Production.

The "supes" for the cast of King Lear had their first rehearsal yesterday in the chapel. The entire cast were measured for costumes and the supos were then put through their "stunts" for Act V of the play.

This makes a change in rehearsals. The cast has so familiarized itself with the lines as to allow two acts to be given in one afternoon. This will be done on two days next week. In the week following that, there will be a rehearsal of the entire play; the first to be given.

Those who have been following the rehearsals are very much elated over the results already obtained. The climaxes with which .he play abounds are very artistically worked out.

The business end of the performance is also very busy. Performances are scheduled for Auburn on April 11, in Syracuse April 12 and 13, and Rochester April 14. Negotiations were begun yesterday to obtain a theatre in Albany on April 15. This will complete the trip.

A special car will probably be chartered in which to transport the cast. As stated before, a make-up man and an electrician operator from New York, will accompany the play.

Contracts for advertising matter are already let. In fact an indebtedness of over $2,000, has been assumed to make the play a success. It can easily be seen from this that no effort is being spared to make the production worthy of tae tragedy itself.

Large pictures of Professor Losey as he will appear in the title role have been on sale at the Co-Op for several days. Smaller pictures are expected soon.

Much interest is being shown among the students. It is probable that several of the fraternities will occupy boxes. The competion for desirable ones promises to be keen.

Professor Losey said the other day in regard to the city performances, "I expect that every seat for both performances will be taken and all the boxes crowded."

ST. JOHNS CANCEL DATE.

Manager Rice yesterday received a letter from St. Johns Military Academy cancelling the game which was to be played at Manlius March 2. The statement made was that the action was taken "for unforeseen reasons." The team played here earlier in the season. The result was a score of 29 to 3 in favor of Syracuse.

Professor and Mrs. Frederick D. Losey will give a reading this evening at Canisteo. Wednesday evening Professor Losey gave a reading before a large audience at Groton.

THE 1905 ONONDAGAN.

Rapid progress is being made on the 1905 Onondagan. The editor-in-chief has been receiving proof for over a week now, and barring unforseen delays the book will be out at the date hoped for. All copy has been in the hands of the printer for some time.

Business Manager Douglass has placed an order for six hundred copies instead of five hundred as was at first intended; the large number of subscriptions already received rendering the the former number necessary.

The number of pages in the book is now drfinitely known. There will be 408, over a hundred more than the 1903 Onondagan, and some forty more than last year. The book will be paged, and there will be a comprehensive index, thus facilitating ready reference.

Another new feature of the book will be the arrangement of all material under colleges. For instance the Medical College faculty and senior records, junior pictures, fraternities, societies and grinds are grouped together; and the other colleges are arranged in the same way. This will change considerably the general appearance of the book, and will be a marked improvement.

Ths amount of actual material in the book will be very much greater than last year, for every effort has been made to condense and crowd as much matter as possible to the page. Hence there will be no partially blank pages.

SECOND CREW CUT.

Coach Ten Eyck yesterday announced another cut in the candidates. The following men are retained: Wygant, Hale, Brown, Robinson, Michelson, Andrews, Woodard, Rice, Davis, Coit, Mount, Cummings, Armstrong, Stone, Packard, Moore, Edwards, Spencer, Hares, Rogers.

LECTURE AND TABLEAU

Tableau to Illustrate Interesting Event in Social Life.

Professor Mace will deliver the lecture tonight in Lincoln Hall of the High School building. His subject will be "The Breakup of the Whig and Democratic Parties." This is the sixth number of the course, and will be a very interesting one. The lecture will be followed by a tableau which will be especially interesting, as the scene which it represents is laid in Syracuse. The tableau is called "The Jerry Rescue," and will be depicted in three scenes. The celebrated rescue took place in October, 1851, on what is now known as South Clinton street. The first scene represents the hearing of the alleged slave which was held in an office in a building on West Water street. In the second scene the negro is shown escaping from the court room in the building. Between this scene and the following Jerry is recaptured, and the last scene shows the mob rescuing Jerry from a room in the buiding which has come to be known as the "Jerry Rescue" building.

"Jerry" was a mulatto about 40 years of age who had worked in Syracuse for a number of years as a cooper. While at work one morning in the First ward he was arrested by marshals under the provisions of the Fugitive Slave law. He was handcuffed and taken to the office of United States Commissioner Joseph F. Sabine in the Townsend block. At his hearing there Samuel J. May, Gerrit Smith and other prominent abolitionists were present. Leonard Gibbs of Washington county offered his services as counsel for the accused man and there was opposed to him District Attorney Lawrence and Joseph Loomis, counsel for James Lear, the agent of "Jerry's" master.

It was finally found necessary to adjourn to a larger room in the building in order to accomodate the constantly increasing crowd. The feeling was high at the time in behalf of the negro and there were numerous threats of release. A farmer from Oswego county by the name of Tanner was one of the loudest in his appeals for the release of the man, and while he was speaking "Jerry" made a dash for liberty through the spectators.

The pursuit of the officers was handicapped by the mob and the man succeeded in running up Watter street as far as State street before he was recaptured. He was then brought back and imprisoned in a room in what is now known as the "Jerry Rescue" block which stands on the south bank of the canal in South Clinton street. The infuriated mob, however, broke down the doors of the building and took the negro from the hands of the four marshals who did not make much of a show of resistance. The details of the escape had been carefully planned by his rescuers and the negro was soon moved over the "Underground railway" to Canada.

DEBATING CLUB.

Last night was the date set by the Debating Union for all the clubs to meet. They did not all abide by this request, however. The Juniors met and discussed the question, "Resolved, That the United States was and is justifiable in recognizing Panama as a separate and distinct government." The speakers were: Affirmative, Messrs A. E. Moody, Hoyler, Soper. Negative, Messrs. W. P. Moody, Diefendorf, Hanneis.

THE GERMAN PLAY.

The German department will present Der Besuch im Karzer, the first of a series of three plays to be given in German, next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in room 56 of Liberal Arts College. The play is a one-act comedy, and is said to teem with delightful episodes of German school life. No admission will be charged to see the performance. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Students are requested to call and get our special prices on photos—either singly or in groups. M. H. BUNN,

Next Tuesday evening the German department will present the first of three plays. It is a one act comedy depicting German school lifo with its true characteristics. Every student who is able, should set aside the date to witness this charming comedy. The performance is given without charge, and the German department is deserving of a large attendance.

Travel is said to broaden and develop the mind. It is not within the power of many to travel in Europe and enjoy the scenes of Germany, Every one has this opportunity of securing a true picture of German life as it is to day, and each should take advantage of the opportunity when presented next Tuesday.

The time is approaching for the Syracuse Wesleyan debate. Little more than a montv remains in which the teams may prepare for what bids fair to be a hotly contested forensic struggle, The Syracuse team is putting much time and more energy in preparing for an aggressive presentation of its side of the case. It remains for the student body to see to it that Crouse College Hall is filled to overflowing on the evening of March 28. A little effort on the part of the students will do more to advertise the coming debate than much printer's ink. We urge upon the students the importance of their part in making the debate in every way a success.

A feature not on the program at the recent public recital was a chorus of subdued talk in the corridor at the rear of the hall. The conditions existing in the corridor at such times are not always conducive to the quiet enjoyment of the musical numbers, yet it seems reasonable to suppose that if visiting is the thing in view, it can be accomplished more satisfactorils in less crowded quarters. If, on the other hand, the people standing in the corridor wish to hear the music they are seriously hindered by the thoughtlessness of those who seemingly have not that desire. Uncomfortable conditions may tend to lessen interest in the program, but any such lack of interest should not be made to detract from the pleasure of others.

Perhaps in few particulars has the University advaneed more rapidly during the past than its libraries. The departmental libraries have almost without exception acquired additional books. These books are, in many cases, expensive editions worthy of the most zealous care of the students. The report from those who have the libraries in charge that during each year, books leave the libraries never to return, indicates gross carelessness on the part of some students. We can hardly believe that there is in Syracuse, a student so devoid of honor as wilfully to neglect to return to the library a book taken from it. Such an act would represent the most culpable form of deceit, the betrayal of a freely bestowed trust.

The general library is much improved by the new addition to the building and by the improved system of lighting. Many students take advantage of the "open door" during the evening. With a definite endowment for library purposes, the development of Syracuse University along library lines seems assured.

Fred E. Wrights musical comedy, "The Beauty Doctor," is presented the last three days of this week by the original company of 60, headed by Henrietta Lee, who made such a hit in Fiddle-de-de last year, as "The young lady who wanted to do something original to startle society." The story of "The Beauty Doctor" deals with the beauty culture fad, and is handled in a broadly satirical style, affording opportunity for an endless amount of amusement. ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The Mathematical Club met Wednesday evening with Miss Hurst. W. K. Plattner read a paper on "Scales and Notations." A discussion followed the reading. The club has secured room 75 Hall of Languages for use as a seminar and library. A committee was appointed to estimate the cost of fitting furnishing this room. The meeting adjourned to an informal session when refreshments were served and a good time was enjoyed.

Dean Smailey has received the proof for the new University catalog. The proof will be corrected at once, and the catalog will be published as soon as possible.

Some time ago the Sophomore committee who were collecting money to insert the crew picture in the 1905 Onondagan succeeded in getting several freshmen to contribute. The freshmen are now apparently trying to retaliate as several sophomores have received notices from the treasurer of the freshman class stating that they are in arrears in class dues.

Central New York Colleges and Preparatory Schools Hold Two Days' Session.

The Bible Institute of the colleges and preparatory schools of Central New York meet in the gymnasium this morning. The session will continue today and tomorrow. Delegates will be present from Cornell, Hamilton, Union, Colgate and Rennsalaer Polytechnic Institute. There will also be representatives from Cazenovia Seminary and Colgate Academy. Dr. Peritz will address the meeting this evening, after which there will be an informal reception.

The sessions promise to be very ininteresting. All students interested in Bible study work are invited to attend the meetings. The question box and discussions today will be practical and especially valuable to all who are, or intend to be Bible teachers. Dr. Peritz needs no introduction to the students of Syracuse. The Institute is especially fortunate in having with them at this time, Mr. Clayton S. Cooper of New York, the International Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Bible department.

The complete program is as follows:

SATURDAY.

10:30 A. M.—Question Box, conducted by Clayton S. Cooper, New York.

2:30 P. M.—Ten minute papers on the following topics:

1. Bible Study and Evangelism.
   William A. Ferguson, Hamilton.
2. Importance and Benefit of Personal Bible Study.
   Byron W. Reed, Union.
3. The Morning Watch.
   Carl F. Heintze, R. P. I.
4. Bible Study and Theological Unrest.
   F. W. Scheidenheim, Cornell.
5. The Real Aim of Bible Study.
   F. W. Harding, Colgate.

SATURDAY EVENING.

7:30—Address: The Aim of the Teacher.
Dr. Ismar J. Peritz, Syracuse.
Reception.

SUNDAY.

4:30 P. M.—Bible Study Rally.
Address by Clayton S. Cooper, New York.

CHANCELLOR DAY IN CHAPEL.

Chancellor Day honored the student body yesterday in chapel by a short, concise talk on the obligations of the students and their organizations to the University, and of the latter's attitude to the student.

He said the students should be very careful of their financial status at all times. He also stated that the faculty sent no student from college, but that the student did that act himself. The talk was aptly illustrated by the relation of several episodes.

INVITATION FROM CORNELL

Syracuse Asked to Enter Second Crew in Triangular Regatta May 30 Will Probably be Accepted.

Commodore Jacob C. Gramlich yesterday received an invitation from the Cornell rowing authorities to participate in a triangular regatta on Cayuga Lake, Memorial Day. The regatta is for second crews. After conference with the coach it was decided to accept if the sanction of the Governing Board could be obtained.

In order to send a successful second crew the navy should have a new eight. Goach TenEyck has been asking for a new boat ever since he has been here, but has not received one.

The crew will be made up probably last year's freshmen crew and the substitutes, men who have not rowed upon a 'Varsity crew.

PROFESSOR MORRIS H. MORGAN.

The students of Syracuse have a real treat in literature coming to them on March 5, in the second of a series of lectures given under the auspices of the Classical Club. This association has had the extreme good fortune of securing, through the influence of Professor P. O. Place, the services of Professor Morris H. Morgan, Ph. D., L.L.D., of Harvard University. He will lecture in the Assembly Hall of the University block on "The Religion of the Ancient Romans"

Dr. Morgan is professor of Classical Philology at Harvard. He is an exceptionally forceful and graphic speaker. The subject of his lecture will present a field of peculiar interests not confined to students of the classics. In fact the subject will be given in a way that is thoroughly cultured, and at the same time popular. The first lecture of the course was attended by 350 people.

Syracuse will be honored by a visit from this noted speaker. The University Club will give Dr. Morgan a reception after the lecture.

DELEGATES TO Y. W. C. A.

Misses Anna Rice, Minnie Taylor, Ida Anderson, Elizaheth Hook, May Meter, Lyla Johnston, Iva Lydell and Josephine Vail left yesterday to attend the Annual State Convention of the Young Women's Christian Association. The convention, in session from Thursday night to Sunday, promises to be very helpful and interesting.

OFFICERS ELECTED,

The Sophomore Debate Club Thursday elected the following officers: President, Chandler; vice-president, Mason; secretary, Chidester; treasurer, Anderson.

THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Many Valuable and Rare Volumes Have Been Recently Presented--The Benefactors.

It was only during the past year that the English department acquired and fitted up the large southeast room on the third floor of Liberal Arts College. The aim of the department is to make this an ideal English seminar room.

A person would scarcely believe that a department through individual effort by professors and students, could attain so much in a limited time. Remarkable as the growth has been the good work is constantly going forward.

Many gifts have been received by the department to build up the seminar library which is open to the use of all students in the department. Among the recent benefactors are Professor Edgar Coit Morris, head of the department; H. L. Paddock, Charles A. Green, Dr. Eaton, Miss Marie Young and Miss Elizabeth Hook, and W. La Vay Wise '03. Henry Danziger, Jr., '90, who makes a valuable gift, published in Syracuse in 1896 a book entitled "Death as an Art End in Literature.

The latest volumes received by the department and those presenting the same follow:

Publications of the Early English Text Society, 150 vols., $400—given by H. L. Paddock and Chas. A Green.

Works of Richardson, 20 vols., $20—given by Henry Danziger, Jr., '90.

Works of Smollet, 12 vols., $22—given on by Dr. H. A. Eaton,

Beer's English Romanticism in the XVIIIth Century; Words and Their Ways in English Speech, Greenough and Kittredge; The Works of Wordsworth; Collin's Poetical Works—given by Miss Marie Young.

Landor's Pericles and Aspasia. 2vols.; The Works of Matthew Arnold; Bacon's Essays and Wisdom of the Ancients; Poem of Wm. Blake; Pilgrim's Progress; Lamb's Essays of Elia—given by Dr. H. B. Eaton.

Jusserend's English Wayfaring Life in the XIVth Century; The Dramatic Works of John Lily. 2 vols. (Fairholt) —given by Miss Elizabeth Hook.

Saintsbury's Loci Critici—given by Professor Morris.

Mauly's Specimen's of Pre-Shaksperian Drama, 2 vols.—given by W. La Vay Wise '03.

Dr. J. C. Carson, Superintendent of the State Asylum for the Feeble Minded, located at Syracuse, will give a lecture next Monday evening before the Philosophy Club on "The Treatment of the Feeble Minded." Dr. Carson is a man of wide reputation and deserves a good audience.

MORE TROUBLE.

The troubles of the seniors who promoted that much talked of Senior Dance which never took place are not yet ended. Every day brings forth some new and startling developments. The latest is the act of the proprietor of Freeman Hall in demanding payment for the rent of the hall.

The argument that the hall was not used on the night in question evidently does not appeal to the proprietor, for bills have persisted in coming.

Yesterday a bill was presented to the Chancellor made out to the Senior class The legal lights of the class assert that the original contract for lease of said hall on said night is not binding against the class because made by unauthorized agents. The agents who negotiated the lease also disclaim responsibility. There is some talk of leaving the matter to the freshman law class in contracts for final arbitration.

PROFESSOR LOSEY AS KING LEAR.

Photographs of Professor Losey as King Lear have been put on sale at the Co-Op Store. The photographs were taken by the well known theatrical photographer, Rockwood, of New York during Professor Losey's recent trip. They are of exceptionally fine quality, and Rockwood himself expressed pride and pleasure in the way in which the pictures turned out. Professor Losey is taken in various positions suggested by situations in the play. The costume in which he appears is the superb dress—the identical dress—in which he will appear in the first act of the play. So fine is the costume, that although the costumes as a whole are hired from Philadelphia, this costume is especially hired from the New York firm which owns it. It is difficult to imagine a more satisfactory get up. The photographs on sale are large, full length pictures which will make it necessary to sell them at 75 cents each. A little later, however, smaller photographs will be offered for sale at less price.

NOTICES.

Dr. Barton Cruikshank, formerly President of Potsdam Institute of Technology, will address the meeting of the Engineering Society, Monday at 5 p. m. GORDON EDSON, Pres.

The tutoring class in German under W. C. Lowe will meet today from 5 to 6 in room 31.

The rehearsals for King Lear next week will be as follows: Tuesday, 3:30 p. m., Act I and II. Thursday 3:30 p. m., Acts III, IV and V.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

Basketball practice will be postponed until next Tuesday evening, thus giving the men a chance to rest.

Chancellor Day has been making a strenuous effort the past week to obtain for Syracuse a portion of the state appropriation for colleges. The money appropriated by the state has heretofore been given entirely to Cornell. Chancellor Day, together with presidents of various other universities in the state, has come forward with objections to such use of state educational moneys. It hardly seems a matter of justice that the state, with its large number of colleges and universities, should bestow all its gifts to promote education in the state to only one of the many educational institutions. Cornell meets the objections by declaring that she gives annually a large number of scholarships to students throughout the state. This seems plausible at first. The scholarships granted by Cornell are given by competitive examinations in the various districts of the state. In this way notice of such scholarships is constantly brought before the public, and the public are thus led to believe that Cornell is a great benefactor. But it is not so generally known that Syracuse gives annually more scholarships than does Cornell. When we consider that Syracuse receives no state money, we are able to judge with more fairness as to which institution is doing more to aid the young people of the state to obtain a college education. Syracuse is doing as much or more unaided as Cornell does with the yearly state appropriations back of her.

We are also told that Syracuse has no title to any part of this money inasmuch as she is a denominational institution. Such argument seems fallacious on the face of it. Because an institution is founded and supervised by some particular religious sect, does it make such institution less worthy of state aid? And Syracuse is a denominational institution in no greater degree than this. Students of all sects and beliefs are found enrolled, and there are no restrictions whatever as to religious duties.

We hope, then, that a more just and impartial division of the money appropriated by the state may hereafter be made. We hope the appropriation now before the legislature will not be handed out to only one institution. Such a request seems to be nothing unreasonable, but merely a matter of justice and equity.

Syracuse has had many classes of benefactors since its foundation. Not the least among these have been the friends, alumni and students, who from time to time have presented some volume or series of volumes to the department libraries.

It is not in the power of everyone to be an L. C. Smith, an Archbold or a Belden; but it is possible for each, by a self sacrifice, to be a benefactor to one or more of the departments. In building up a department in any way, we are surely strengthening the University. May we then in giving honor to benefactors of the past, follow in their footsteps during the future.

A promenade band concert, a tennis tournament, a baseball game and track meet! All these pleasures our college brothers and sisters in Leland Stanford are enjoying while we continue to brave the wintry blasts. Let us not be too envious of our far Western cousins. These delights are in store for us and will improve as we wait. Spring is surely coming. Mr. McAshley assures us that by the Fourth of July we shall prefer ice-cream soda to hot chocolate, so be patient.

Professor P. O. Place will give the second of his series of lectures today at 2 p. m. in the Greek room to sections D and E of Latin I. The lecture on "Roman Houses" will be illustrated by some fine slides collected by Professor Place.

Fred E. Wrights musical comedy, "The Beauty Doctor," is presented the last three days of this week by the original company of 60, headed by Henrietta Lee, who made such a hit in Fiddle-de-de last year, as "The young lady who wanted to do something original to startle society." The story of "The Beauty Doctor" deals with the beauty culture fad, and is handled in a broadly satirical style, affording opportunity for an endless amount of amusement. CHRISTODORA HOUSE BARREL.

On Monday afternoon, Feb. 29, at 2 p. m., there will be a committee at the Y. M. C. A. office, Hall of Languages, to pack a barrel for Christodora House. All students who may be interested are requested to bring cast off clothing, partly worn shoes, old magazines or illustrated weeklies.

Christodora House is the Young Women's Settlement of New York City, and is one of the most energetic and successful of the philanthropies of that great city. It stands in need of our cooperation, for the winter has been so severe that the supplies at the House have not nearly met the needs of the community. Equipment for many of their activities is lacking for which funds are in demand. Who will join in a Lenten self sacrifice offering for this work? By saving a dime or a nickel here and there we should be able to send a goodly sum at Easter time. Miss Isabel McGregor is in charge of the barrel and will gladly give any further information.

All students wishing to attend the lecture by Dr. Morgan of Harvard, under the auspices of the Classical Club should procure their tickets early.

Students are requested to call and get our special prices on photos—either singly or in groups. M. H. BUNN, Photographer, 402 S. Salina St.

THE NEW SONG BOOK

Buffalo Alumni Offer Prizes for Syracuse Songs--Important Communication.

To all interested in the welfare of Syracuse University, greeting and congratulation:—The Syracuse University Alumni Association of Buffalo, N. Y., in behalf of the project of securing for our beloved Alma Mater a suitable and representative song book, containing the old songs, dear to the hearts of all who as students and alumni have sung them; and songs yet to be written, of the proper spirit and subject matter to perpetuate the traditions of Syracuse University and lend dignity and enthusiasm to all gatherings of whatever sort, where Syracuse men and women assembled; we desire to advance the following proposition, desiring that it may be received in the right spirit and that the alumni, students and friends may lend a shoulder to the wheel and see the matter through to a successful culmination.

The Syracuse University Alumni Association of Buffalo, N. Y., agrees to give the sum of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) as prize money for the writing of songs relative to the University and suitable to be sung on any and all occasions where Syracuse University alumni and students may be gathered.

We suggest that this money be divided as follows, fifteen dollars ($15.00) to be offered as the prize for the best song written, and ten dollars ($10.00) as a prize for the second best song written.

It is further suggested that the different alumni associations be written to and asked to join in this enterprise of offering prize money and to assist in the work of arranging for the collection and consideration of songs; to that end letters have been dispatched to the association of Central New York, Chicago, New York, Albany and Rochester.

We recommend that a committee of at least three persons representing the faculty, students and alumni be appointed to receive and pass upon the merits of songs submitted and the awarding of the prize money (providing the songs submitted are of sufficient merit) and that this committee be empowered to use any or all of the songs submitted whether prize winners or not, in compiling and publishing a Syracuse University song book.

YALE.

The two basketball games which Yale was to have played with Harvard in the intercollegiate series have been cancelled because of the action of the Harvard faculty in respect to out-of town games. The Yale team will take two short trips into Rhode Island and Massachusetts instead.

At a swimming meet held in the gymnasium tank Wednesday evening, men were chosen to go to Philadelphia to meet Pennsylvania in the first round of the intercollegiate water polo and swimming championships.

MINNESOTA.

At a meeting of the Dramatic Club held Monday, the matter of the presentation of "Everyman" was discussed. None of those who read for the character of "Everyman" impressed the committee as being able to render the part properly. The faculty directors think a professional should be secured to play this part.

Edward Rogers, the famous football player who captained the Carlisle team in 1900 and who for the past three years has made such an enviable record as left end on the Minnesota team, has been chosen head coach of Carlisle Indian School for 1904.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, CAL.

The university bulletin for Saturday displays notices of a tennis tournament, an interdepartment field meet, a baseball game and a debate.

A promenade band concert was scheduled for the evening.

BASEBALL.

The candidates for the University baseball nine are now getting a hard trying out every afternoon. The men have been divided into two squads; the batteries work in the armory under the eye of Coach Henry Costello and the other infielders and outfielders practice in the cage under the supervision of Captain George Moore. Every afternoon the men report for practice at 3:30 o'clock.

Up to date only one call has been issued for candidates. This call includes all second team men and the freshmen. The 'Varsity men will report in a few days.

The freshman pitchers at work are Truax, Cogwin and Reid. Crow '06 is also out for this position. Those out for catchers are: Wilson, Dexter and Brelos, all 1907 men.

The squad at work in the cage is first drilled in bunting, then Captain Moore bats some liners down the cage to give the men practice in picking up grounders.

The coach and captain are satisfied with the efforts of the men, but say that the action of the faculty of Liberal Arts has materially weakened the chances for a successful team.

THE GERMAN PLAY.

The German Club Will Present a Charming One-Act Comedy.

The members of the German department will present a one-act comedy, Der Besuch im Carcer, in room 56 of Liberal Arts College tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The students who are to participate have been drilled long and thoroughly in their parts. No admission will be charged, and the public is cordially invited to attend. Following is the cast and synopsis of the play:

Prof. Heinzerling, Schuldirektor ..... William G. Gaertner
Quaddler, Pedell.... Edward H. Stoecker
Anna, seine Tochter..... Miss Buell
Rumpf..... Dr. Otto
Knipke..... Peter J. Grant
Heppenheimer..... George M. McAdam
Hutzler..... Dana C. Squires
Morike..... Earl Wikoff
Schwarz..... Roy L. French
Schwalble..... Earl B. Niles
Secundaner..... H. D. Smith

Professor Heinzerling, the director of a small German gymnasium, enters the class room to find Rumpf, one of his students, making sport for his classmates by imitating the professor. For this misconduct, Rumpf must serve three days in the Carcer. Rumpf pretends to be offended at this. In the Carcer, while conversing with Quaddler, the Pedell, Rumpf continues to imitate the professor in his peculiar manner of speech. Prof. Heinzerling, when the Pedell informs him that Rumpf continues to make fun of him, goes to the Carcer to call Rumpf to account. When an opportunity presents itself, Rumpf locks the professor in the Carcer in his place and disappears. Rumpf then goes to Quaddler's home, and imitating the professor's voice, commands the Pedell under no circumstances to allow Rumpf to escape from the Carcer. Meanwhile, the enraged professor in the Carcer is making a great ado. The Pedell appears on the scene, but does not unlock the door, thinking that Rumpf is within and is still imitating the professor. Rumpf appears now to be in love with Anna, the Pedell's daughter, who forces through the crack in the door of the Carcer, a letter, in which she informs Rumpf that she considers his love for her ridiculous. This letter falls into the hands of the imprisoned professor. The professor remains in the Carcer until Rumpf unlocks the door, having first obtained the promise from the professor that he will not punish him. The comedy ends in reconciliation and a "Hoch" to Professor Heinzerling.

Chancellor Day addressed the Onondaga County Farmers' Club Saturday morning, his theme being practical methods of agricultural education. The Chancellor spoke of the disadvantages of the centralization of agricultural training in one institution and of the benefits to be derived by a wider distributiou of agricultural instruction.

SYRACUSE TO MEET CORNELL.

Arrangements have reached such a point that it is practically certain that Cornell and Syracuse will meet in football next fall. Manager Ackley has visited Ithaca and had several conferences with the Ithaca management. Both institutions are agreeable to a game early in the season. The place for the contest has not been settled definitely at this time. It is hoped to arrange matters so that if the first game is fixed for Ithaca, the return game will occur in Syracuse the following year.

The students of Syracuse are pleased to see a resumption of athletics in this branch between the universities. It is four years since the rival football teams met. The last game was won by Cornell 6 to 0.

SIGMA RHO ALPHA.

The annual initiation and banquet of Sigma Rho Alpha, the Architectural fraternity, was recently held at the Candee House at the Valley. The following men were initiated: W. I. Woodworth '06, G. S. Wright '07, H. T. Markland '07, H. D. Phoenix '07, G. B. Skinner '07, and H. L. Smith '07.

Toastmaster H. L. Gardner called for the following toasts: "Architecture," E. H. Sackett; "Possibilities," O. J. Story; "Sigma Rho Alpha, Past and Present," C. F. Park; "The Chapter," F. E. Clifford, and "1907," G. B. Skinner.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA.

The local chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta held its initiation banquet at the Vanderbilt hotel Saturday evening. The initiates were: Misses Julia Whipple, Glens Falls, N. Y.; Maud Merritt, Buffalo; Florence Wilson, Havana, N. Y.; Mabel Wambaugh, Hornellsville, N, Y., 1907: Alsa Partridge, Canandaigua, N. Y., 1905.

NOTICES.

Dr. Barton Cruikshank, formerly President of Potsdam Institute of Technology, will address the meeting of the Engineering Society, today at 5 p. m. GORDON EDSON, Pres.

Professor Bushnell desires to call the attention of the students in Freshman Latin to the increasing importance in the course of the "Latin Prose," and to correct the impression that failure in this part of the subject is not a serious matter.

The rehearsals for King Lear this week will be as follows: Tuesday, 3:30 p. m., Act I and II. Thursday 3:30 p. m., Acts III, IV and V.

Dr. J. C. Carson, Superintendent of the State Asylum for the Feeble Minded, located at Syracuse, will give a lecture this (Monday) evening before the Philosophy Club on "The Treatment of the Feeble Minded." Dr. Carson is a man of wide reputation and deserves a good audience.

The coming month of March is probably harder than any other on those in spring athletics. It is a point midway between indoor work and outdoor practice. The candidates are beginning to weary of the long indoor strain and confinement.

For these and other reasons such men should receive the evident support of the students. It is only necessary that those outside drop into the gymnsium and watch the men at work, to encourage all the candidates for track, baseball or crew. If only to show an interest in the training the students should go around and see the men at hard practice.

The constant growth of Syracuse is manifesting itself daily by the good work and excellent lectures offered by various departments.

The classical club, representing that department, is offering a first-class course of lectures to the public. The benefits of these will tend to upbuild the University by materially strengthening the seminar library, and sources for original research.

One exceptional lecture is offered by the club for March 5. Syracuse is to be honored by the presence of a noted Harvard professor, Dr. Morgan. He will lecture on "The Religion of the Ancient Romans." This lecture is deserving of the support of the student body as a whole; representing as it does, the best in classical scholarship and the development of a more substantial intercollegiate spirit.

Syracuse is rapidly becoming a University, in the broad sense of the term, and there is nothing that tends more fully towards this than the work carried on by the departments as exemplified by the classical club.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that we publish this morning a communication from the Buffalo Alumni Association. In their efforts to preserve the old songs and to stimulate the production of the new, the loyal alumni of Buffalo deserve the hearty co-operation of the undergraduate student body.

For several years we have felt the lack of a song book and have vainly awaited the era of new song production. The student publications have urged the need of new songs, but apparently with no direct result. The poets and musicians are still devoting their attention to themes of love and classical music.

The Buffalo alumni, realizing that college spirit plus the desire of some immediate reward is apt to be more productive than the same spirit unaccompanied by any such desire, are offering prizes which, both from a material and honorary standpoint, are worthy of a man's best effort.

It will be noticed, however, that the Buffalo prizes are for the writing of the words alone. It is expected, no doubt, that other alumni associations will offer similar prizes for original music to make the songs complete.

A meeting of the college body should be called at the earliest opportunity to consider and pass on the recommendations of the Buffalo Alumni Association.

PROFESSOR LOSEY AS KING LEAR.

Photographs of Professor Losey as King Lear have been put on sale at the Co-Op Store. The photographs were taken by the well known theatrical photographer, Rockwood, of New York during Professor Losey's recent trip. They are of exceptionally fine quality, and Rockwood himself expressed pride and pleasure in the way in which the pictures turned out. Professor Losey is taken in various positions suggested by situations in the play. The costume in which he appears is the superb dress—the identical dress—in which he will appear in the first act of the play. So fine is the costume, that although the costumes as a whole are hired from Philadelphia, this costume is especially hired from the New York firm which owns it. It is difficult to imagine a more satisfactory get up. The photographs on sale are large, full length pictures which will make it necessary to sell them at 75 cents each. A little later, however, smaller photographs will be offered for sale at less price.

PROFESSOR TRIGGS.

So much has appeared in the daily press relative to the dismissal of Professor Triggs from Chicago University; so many sarcastic remarks have been made regarding the professor himself, that it is a pleasure to read in what estimation the students of Chicago University, those who know him, hold him.

The following appeared as an editorial in a recent number of the Chicago Maroon.

"The Daily Maroon is sure that it expresses the sentiment of a majority of the students in expressing regret that the trustees should have found any necessity for the recent action regarding Dr. Triggs. We shall miss a popular instructor. Dr. Triggs' students think him a great teacher. He had things to say worth while listening to. He expressed his ideas in a simple, clean-cut, suggestive manner. He made his students think for themselves. As for the man himself, his modesty, his fortitude through periods of disgusting and undeserved notoriety, his candor and perfect courtesy have made for him warm friends of all those students with whom he has had personal dealings."

WINCHELL HALL GIRLS ENTERTAIN

Large Number Enjoy the Leap Year Party at the Yacht Club.

Last evening the Syracuse Yacht Club house on Onondaga Lake was the scene of one of the most unique and merry parties ever held within its walls. The young women of Winchell Hall entertained their friends with a dinner-dance in honor of Leap Year Day. The arrangements were very well planned, the young women doing all in their power to act the gentlemanly part and to see that their partners were not neglected nor allowed to become "wall-flowers" for a single second. The party left Winchell Hall at about five o'clock. Two special cars took them to the Yacht Club. On their arrival a dinner of several courses was served in the large dining room. About one hundred young people enjoyed each others company and the sparkling wit of a few who are noted on the hill for their brilliant conversation and impromptu after dinner speaking. The places of the guests were marked by hand painted dinner cards in the shape of white Easter lilies. After dinner the dining room was cleared and some of the party spent the evening playing games and having an informal chafing-dish party. The billiard and pool tables were also well patronized. The others went to the dancing room where the University Orchestra played for dancing. A program of twenty-four dances seemed only too short and when the strains of "Home, Sweet Home" were heard the party again took their cars for the city.

Never in the history of the dormitory has Winchell Hall been able to entertain its friends as it has wished to, but last night the guests voted the girls royal entertainers and ideal gentlemen.

Miss Abelles had as her guests Miss Goodman and Miss Fish of Rochester. Miss Rashkower was the guest of Miss Matthews, Misc Bucquanan of Miss Burt and Miss Quackenbush of Miss Loomis for the dance.

Professor and Mrs. Scott, Professor and Mrs. Losey and Mrs. Reynolds acted as chaperons.

The following men were the guests: Messrs. Bentley, Shepherd, Frieze and Mellows, of Cornell; Green, of Watertown; Grant, of Watkins; Bailey, of Manlius; Charles, of Herkimer; Burt of Colgate; Professor Dryer, Dr. Goodwin and Messrs. Decker, Kimmel, Mullen, Gramlich, Cannon, Whitney, Distin, Lipe, Bryant, Elmer, G. G. Merry, Hollingsworth, Shafer, MacMurray, Griffith, Crowell, Barrott, Claude Terry, Race, Harry Barber, Twombly, Robertson, Edson, Wood, Harry Terry, Snow, Squires, Templeton, Sanford, Ackley, Berry, Tyrell, Mills, Cheney, Math, Phelps, Fowers and L. Baldrey of Syracuse.

Yesterday afternoon as the large party of young men and women were changing from the city cars to the lake cars, a small army armed with cameras took numerous "shots" at the lucky men who represented the "Lily Whites."

Some of the young men not on the famous list and whom the city papers name "the sore heads" have composed numerous songs with which to console themselves. Following is a verse to the tune of "King Alcohol:"

"We're coming, we're coming, a bright little band,
We're the select fifty, you'll please understand.
We don't use tobacco, nor go on a tear
And "Fudge" is the strongest we say when we swear.
Rah for the Lily Whites, Oh Fudge
Oh Fudge, Oh Fudge, Oh Fudge."

TRACK TEAM DROPPING OFF

Men not Attending Practice Regularly--More Interest Needed.

Since the meet at Buffalo the interest of the various track men, especially the old men, seems to be lessening. Very few of the old men have been reporting regularly. The most of those out are either freshmen or candidates who have not as yet made good.

This show of non-interest on the part of the track men will seriously handicap the team because of the early meets scheduled. Captain Gardner yesterday issued a call to all the candidates to stand by the team. This will probably have the desired effect.

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, death has removed from us our friend and classmate, William Ziders Scarborough; be it.

Resolved, that we, the members of the class of 1905 in Syracuse University, hereby express our appreciation of his character and worth while among us, and our sorrow at his early death; and be it

Resolved, that we extend our heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved family; and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family, and that a copy be published in each of the college papers.

'VARSITY BASEBALL CANDIDATES REPORT.

Coach Henry Costello has issued a call for last year's 'Varsity baseball men to report for practice at the cage today. As some of the candidates, especially the Law men, have afternoon work, from now on there will be practice at 10:30 and 3:30 o'clock. The coach and Captain George Moore will meet the new candidates at these hours today.

CALL FOR TRACK TEAM.

The candidates for the track team who have not been out for practice since the Buffalo Meet will find it to their advantage to report in the gymnasium at 5 o'clock Wednesday, March 2. The early meets scheduled and the condition of the weather, necessitate keeping up the practice from now on.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Wallace A. Pierson '05, recently presented some specimens of gold ore to the Geological department of the University.

NOTICES.

A meeting of the Student Association to consider the communication from the Buffalo Alumni on the new song book, is hereby called for Wednesday morning at chapel time.

ERNEST H. SUMNER, Pres.

The next regular meeting of the Daily Orange staff will be held Saturday evening at the Phi Delta Theta house in Irving avenue.

All students who have not made returns for the Historical lecture tickets are requested to meet J. R. Rubin in the History seminar room at 10 o'clock this morning.

On Thursday at 11 a. m., in room 37 of the Liberal Arts Building, Professor Bushnell will give a reading from Nepos and Livy upon the topic "Hannibal's Early Career and the Victory at the Ticinus." Visitors will be welcome.

At a later date will be given a reading from Sivy upon the Battle of Cannae and one from Pliny upon the Destruction of Pompeii. The second is introductory to an illustrated lecture upon Pompeii.

All members of the cast for King Lear who have not been measured for costumes are requested to report for measurement this afternoon at rehearsal.

There will be a meeting of the 1906 Onondagan board in the Hall of Languages at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening, March 3. The editor-in-chief will be elected at this time.

Basketball practice will be resumed this evening.

C. J. HOUSEKNECHT, Capt.

The Liberal Arts French Club will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 at Professor Patterson's residence on Beach Street.

Professor Bushnell desires to call the attention of the students in Freshman Latin to the increasing importance in the course of the "Latin Prose," and to correct the impression that failure in this part of the subject is not a serious matter.

The rehearsals for King Lear this week will be as follows: Tuesday, 3:30 p. m., Act I and II. Thursday 3:30 p. m., Acts III, IV and V.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

Syracuse athletics is in need of many of the assessories that money can buy, but nothing is needed more than a new eight oar shell for the aquatic department.

Of the two shells purchased in 1902, only one is fit for a race; while the third "shell" is so old and heavy that the term "barge" is more truly discriptive. If we are to give the three crews the full benefit of the training which this late season will allow on the water, a new shell is necessary. If the finances of the Navy will permit such a purchase the aquatic outlook for Syracuse will be appreciably brightened.

During the past year the central postoffice in Syracuse has established a dozen or fifteen new branch stations in various parts of the city and suburbs. It would seem pertinent to inquire at this time concerning the advisebility of putting such a substation in Liberal Arts College. The treasurer does a postal business greater probably than any regular sub-station in the city. Were a regular money-order branch placed there the office would receive some return for the no small amount of extra work which they now perform and, on the other hand, the students and faculty would have the advantage of increased money-order and postal facilities. We respectfully refer the matter to the attention of the postal authorities.

Reports have come to the student body, from time to time, of bills unpaid by classes or student organizations. When a bill is left unpaid the down-town merchant looks to the Chancellor for payment of the same. The result is that the Chancellor is caused much unnecessary trouble, and the students responsible receive the disapprobation of their fellows.

Such proceedings would never occur if care was taken by all financial agents of student organizations. Every class and society by exercising keen discrimination in the choice of treasurer, can easily secure itself against all danger from this source. It is readily recognized that an organization, like an individual, makes or unmakes its reputation for financial soundness by its ability "to pay up."

The standing of the University is harmed by such organizations as fail to pay their debts. In the minds of outside people the University is recognized to a great extent by student societies. The duty of all student organizations to keep a clean balance sheet is self-evident. It is hoped this duty will never again be neglected to the injury of the fair name of our progressive University.

There is a movement on foot at present which promises to be of inestimable value to the future welfare of our University. It is the formation of Bible study classes in every fraternity or boarding club connected with the University. The object of such classes is the systematic study of the Bible for the upbuilding of Christian manhood, and enlightenment to the whole student body.

This has been adopted and is working successfully in leading Universities of the East and West. At Harvard one of the leaders is "Home Run" Franz, the star athlete. Out at Michigan Captain Redden of the football team, although not a professing Christian, has given the movement his hearty approval and is leading in this study.

Membership in such classes is not limited to church members, but anyone who is earnestly in sympathy with the work is invited to join, or aid in forming such a study class. A small class may be much more efficient and beneficial than a large one. All interested in such study are cordially urged to forward the good work in every society or organization.

The benefits to our growing University, from an organized band of such character and representative of every phase of college activity, will constantly tend to increase as the years go by.

A race war is imminent at Berea, Kentucky, over the passage of a bill prohibiting co-education of the black and white students at Berea College. This bill was passed through the influence of a number of prominent citizens who appeared before the state legislature and advocated non-education of the negroes. The bill only awaits the signature of Governor Beckham to become a law, and if this happens a serious outbreak among the negroes is feared. Promoters of the bill have been warned not to appear in public so bitter is the feeling against them. President William G. Frost in a public address recently against those who wish to see the bill go through, so worked upon his audience, who were mostly negroes, that it was difficult to prevent a riot at the conclusion of his speech. Berea College was founded in 1855, and has now about 800 white and 150 colored students. The college has drawn its patronage especially from the mountain whites.

AT THE BASTABLE.

The stirring melodrama, "Shadows of a Great City," appears at the Bastable the first three days of this week under the able management of C. B. Jefferson. The great city is New York and the story is of the present day. Of villiany there is plenty, the sort that most men have encountered either in a greater or less degree. There is a large amount of scenery showing the East River, Hell Gate, and several scenes in New York. There is plenty of good, wholesome comedy in the piece. Matinee Wednesday.

YALE.

The report of the University Athletic Association published in Thursday's News shows that last season's football season neted a profit of $27,968. The profit on the Syracuse-Yale game was $980.00. Barring the Harvard and the Princeton games the largest attendance of the season was at the Syracuse game.

HARVARD.

Captain Hurley of the Harvard Eleven has announced that Edgar W. Wrightington, Harvard '96, would be head coach of next seasons team. Wrightington is a resident of Boston, where he is engaged in business. He played left half-back on the Harvard University Eleven for four years, and was captain of the team during the season of 1896. He pulled bow oar in his Sophomore year and rowed No. 3 in his Senior year.

CORNELL.

The fencing team defeated Harvard at Ithaca by a very narrow margin Friday evening—Score 5 to 4.

At New Haven on the same evening the basketball team met with a defeat at the hands of Yale. Score Yale 29, Cornell 18.

On Saturday evening the Williams five defeated Cornell by the decisive score of 52 to 0.

BROWN.

The eligibility rule controversy continue to engage the interest of undergraduates and alumni. There is a strong sentiment in favor of abolishing these rules. The Athletic Association formed a new set of rules to govern sports; but the "Corporation" has made these new rules ineffective until action is taken at the regular meeting of the Corporation in September.

REPLY FROM ALLEGANY.

A reply has been received from Allegany College accepting the conditions offered by the Debating Union for an intercollegiate debate. Allegany is to submit two questions at once. Syracuse is to return the choice of question and side. The debate is to take place at Meadville, Pa., and Allegany is to pay all expenses of a team to that place.

The question chosen will be debated by the juniors and seniors in the interclass debate and the team will be chosen from the debaters of that evening

ALLEGHENY SUBMITS TWO QUESTIONS

Labor Question will Probably be Chosen--- Other Intercollegiate Debates.

Professor Frederick D. Losey yesterday received a letter from Allegheny offering the following questions for the Allegheny-Syracuse debate to be held in Meadville during May:—Resolved, That Munincipalities should incorporate all Naturalistic Monopolies; Resolved, That the Trade Unions are detrimental to the Industrial Welfare. The latter question will probably be accepted although the choice of sides has not yet been made public.

As stated before, this question will be discussed by the seniors and juniors in their annual interclass debate which is to be held soon. From the men who debate then, the team, consisting of three men will be chosen. The date of the contest will be sometime in May, exact day to be announced later.

The following are some of the intercollegiate debates in other colleges:

The Stanford Debating Committee has received the following telegram from the University of California submitting the question for the Intercollegiate debate.

"Resolved, That in cities of the United States of over forty thousand inhabitants a system of munincipal government concentrating executive and administrative powers in the mayor should be adopted. Note: The mayor to have power to appoint and remove heads of departments and chief city officers, except the treasurer and controller; all subordinates to be appointed by heads of departments under civil service rules. The power of the mayor in conjunction with the heads of Departments to include the purchase of materials and supplies, the construction and control of public works, the granting of licenses and franchises subject to confirmation of the council, and the making of estimates for the following fiscal year, said estimates not to be increased by the council."

The question for the coming Yale-Princeton debate is:

"Resolved, That the Government of the United States was warranted in recognizing the independence of the Republic of Panama." Princeton will defend the affirmative side of the question.

The question debated by the Minnesota and Iowa teams February 26, was: "Resolved, That the United States should now abandon the protective tariff policy." Minnesota upholding the affirmative was awarded the decision.

Williams and Dartmouth are to debate the following question, Dartmouth upholding the affirmative. "Resolved, That the Sherman anti-trust act of 1890, as interpreted by the eighth circuit court of the United States in the 'Northern securities case' is hostile to the best economic interests of the people of the United States."

DR. CORSON'S LECTURE.

The address of Dr. J. C. Corson before the Philosophical Association on Monday evening was greatly appreciated. His theme was "A Study of the Feeble Minded." Dr. Corson is in his twentieth year of service in the Syracuse Institution for the Feeble Minded, and speaks with authority. The speaker pointed out the difference between idiocy and insanity and discussed the most interesting features of the general subject. He said the chief causes of idiocy are congenital, developmental and accidental. Among the accidental he especially referred to the use of opiates, soothing syrups, etc. given to young children as a specific cure. Dr. Corson believes that heredity is the most potent cause of idiocy. He believes the disease is not curable but capable of improvement and most patients reach the highest grade of intelligence at the age of 18. The address was enlivened by amusing incidents and illustrated by means of pictures.

At this meeting was announced the gift of 8 volumes of the works of Jonathan Edwards by Rev. Theron R. Green of Phoenix. Book day will be observed the second Monday after the Easter recess, at which time it is hoped the department library may be largely increased.

LILY WHITES BEFORE A JUDGE

D. O. Decker and Z. D. Race were placed on trial before Judge Solomon Furgeson of the junior law class yesterday morning, upon the charge of having broken the custom of the class by joining themselves to the "Lily Whites" and wearing the insignia of that body during recitations After the evidence for the plaintiff was heard the case was adjourned. The defendants are preparing their case which will be heard before the court this morning. The best legal talent has been secured by the defendants.

SOPHOMORES TAKE NOTICE.

There are still some delinquents on the class tax of $1.00. The names of those who have not paid by March 8, will be handed to the Chancellor at that time. This applies to the colleges of Liberal Arts, Fine Arts and Applied Science. A new assessment of 25 cents per member was also imposed at the class meeting, February 29. I will be in the treasurer's office during chapel time.

GEORGE J. BECKER, Treas.

LIBERAL ARTS FRENCH CLUB.

The Liberal Arts French Club will meet this evening at 7:30 at the home of Professor Patterson 314 Beach street. All students in French are invited. Professor Patterson will be the speaker of the evening. French games will be played and refreshments served.

'VARSITY BASEBALL MEN OUT.

Nine Block "S" Men From Last Year's Team Now In College.

Last year's 'Varsity men reported yesterday for baseball practice. At 10:30 a. m., Captain George Moore met the men who have afternoon classes. The rest of the men reported at 3:30 p. m. to coach Henry Costello. From now on the squad will be divided in two divisions, one reporting for practice at the cage in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

A number of the last year's regular team men could not go out yesterday, but will report in a few days. About twenty-five candidates, including the freshmen, worked under the direction of Captain Moore, yesterday morning; and about twenty-five men put through preliminary practice by Coach Costello in the afternoon.

The real hard work has just begun. Every day now after practice in bunting and picking up grounders, the practice is ended by a run outdoors. Coach Costello and Captain Moore each puts on his suit and takes the work with his men. Coach Costello even ran with his squad, yesterday.

A goodly numbor of last year's team are now in college. In fact just enough to make up a nine if they played different positions, but as it is, not an outfielder of former years is back in college.

The following, all of them block "S" men, who played at different times on the last year's 'Varsity team, are now in college: Captain Moore, Collins, Boland and Heffernan, all pitchers; Sanford, first base; Baker and Pulford, second base; Burrell, third base; and Rutherford, shortstop.

As there are such a large number of candidates now working, the coach will make a cut the latter part of the week in order to give more individual attention to the men.

Assistant Coach Sanford says that out of town games will be arranged for the second team. He is now corresponding with the managers of several prominent preparatory ball teams with that purpose in view.

DER BESUCH IM CARCER.

Last evening in the Hall of Languages a goodly number of students and their friends saw the production of the German one-act comedy, "Der Besuch im Carcer." The comedy was an enjoyable one, treating of German school life. Dr. Otto was particularly good in the character of Rumpf, the mischief maker. He was well supported. Miss Faith Buell '07, the only lady in the cast, did very creditable work.

MASS MEETING.

There will be a mass meeting in chapel this morning to consider the proposition of the Buffalo Alumni Association for a Song Book.

SYRACUSE-COLGATE.

There will be a mass meeting after chapel Thursday morning in the interest of basketball. An effort will be made to secure a large number of men to accompany the team to Colgate.

NOTICES.

The tutoring class under W. C. Lowe will meet this evening in room 31 from 7 to 8 o'clock.

A meeting of the senior class is called in room 33-34, Liberal Arts College, Friday, March 4, at 4 p. m. for the transaction of any business which may properly come before the meeting.

ROBERT E. WILCOX, Pres.

The next regular meeting of the Classical Club has been postponed until Thursday evening, March 17, when Professor Place will lecture on "The Roman House." On the evening of March 5, Professor Morgan will lecture on "The Religion of the Ancient Romans" in Assembly Hall of the University Building.

MINNIE D. CROFOOT, Sec'y.

The attention of the class in English I is called to the list of Wordsworth's poems on the bulletin board in the hall of the College of Liberal Arts.

H. A. EATON.

A meeting of the Student Association to consider the communication from the Buffalo Alumni on the new song book, is hereby called for this morning at chapel time.

ERNEST H. SUMNER, Pres.

The next regular meeting of the Daily Orange staff will be held Saturday evening at the Phi Delta Theta house in Irving avenue.

On Thursday at 11 a. m., in room 37 of the Liberal Arts Building, Professor Bushnell will give a reading from Nepos and Livy upon the topic "Hannibal's Early Career and the Victory at the Ticinus." Visitors will be welcome.

At a later date will be given a reading from Livy upon the Battle of Cannae and one from Pliny upon the Destruction of Pompeii. The second is introductory to an illustrated lecture upon Pompeii.

There will be a meeting of the 1906 Onondagan board in the Hall of Languages at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening, March 3. The editor-in-chief will be elected at this time.

The rehearsals for King Lear this week will be as follows: Thursday 3:30 p. m., Acts III, IV and V.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

The call of Captain Gardner for all track candidates to report at five o'clock today should bring out a large number of men. It is a fact that since the Buffalo meet the men have been laggard in their work, and the practice has been more or less haphazard as a result.

This condition should be remedied at once. Every man who has ability, or thinks he has, should come out today and get into the training. Syracuse has a hard schedule of meets for the spring, and it is only by throwing all the available material into the work that we can end the season successfully.

Several of the old men who are not training properly should get rid of the mistaken idea that a man can be a victor without training. Such example is not conducive to the best work on the part of the new men. The freshman class has some material that should develop well with a season's practice. The student body is now expecting these various factors to work in harmony henceforth, for the highest interests of Orange athletics.

One of the things that was dearest to the hearts to those men who last year went out into the world to represent this institution was the little time spent in singing and cheering after chapel exercises each morning. It was heart stirring to be one of a hundred or more men singing and shouting together for Alma Mater. It was one of the great things which contribute to the abundance of college spirit which last year manifested itself in all lines of college activity. Hardly a morning would pass without some song or cheers.

Those who enjoyed these events last year notice and deplore the present state of affairs. The after-chapel singing is made a farce.

The freshmen sing their song and then slink downstairs as if the college had no more use for them. No steps are taken to inculate into them the very essence of college spirit, comradeship with fellow students, the feeling of having a common bond of fellowship. Why can we not as last year have this all important feature of our college life? We are asleep in that line now. Let's wake up.

THE BIBLE INSTITUTE.

The University Bible study leaders received a great inspiration from the Bible institute held here last Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Clayton S. Cooper of New York City, did most to give character and enthusiasm to the institute. Mr. Cooper conducted the session Saturday afternoon, which consisted of ten minute papers and discussions. The papers were presented by representatives from five institutions of Central New York.

The address by Dr. Peritz in the evening on "The Aim of the Leader" was very earnest and helpful. He said this has been called a Christo-centric age. All true Bible study leads ot Jesus Christ, and the out-come should be the reproduction of the Christ-life in our lives. At a conference at 2:30 Sunday afternoon some very practicable and feasible plans for extending Bible study were discussed and adopted.

At the regular Association meeting at 4 o'clock, Mr. Cooper gave one of the strongest addresses that the students have heard there this year. He spoke of the lamentable ignorance of the Bible on the part of the average college man. But on the other hand he said that the number of men enrolled in Bible study classes in the United States has almost doubled in the past year.

The stirring melodrama, "Shadows of a Great City," appears at the Bastable the first three days of this week under the able management of C. B. Jefferson. The great city is New York and the story is of the present day. Of villiany there is plenty, the sort that most men have encountered either in a greater or less degree. There is a large amount of scenery showing the East River, Hell Gate, and several scenes in New York. There is plenty of good, wholesome comedy in the piece. Matinee Wednesday.

CAMBU-AMERICAN CLUB.

The various Welch students taking work in the University met last evening and honored St. David, the patron saint of Wales. Yesterday, March 1, was St. David's Day. A permanent organization was formed last evening. It is to be known as the Cambu-American Club.

There are altogether about ten Welch students in the University, two of whom are Welch born. The others are of Welch descent.

The ones who were born and played among the rocks and crags of the Land of the Davids are Sylvanus S. Davis and Evan M. Jones. Among those whose knowledge of Wales is more remote are Arthur L. Evans, Fred G. Jones, Cyrus B. Griffith, Cyrus Sweet and several young ladies.

Up to a late hour last evening an Orange reporter was unable to find whether or not the Irish students of the University are to hold a "wake" March 17 in honor of their patron saint, St. Patrick.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL. I. NO. 118. SYRACUSE, N. Y., THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

THE NEW SONG BOOK

A Meeting of the Student Association in its Interests---Committee of Five Appointed.

A meeting of the student association was held at chapel time yesterday. The occasion was the consideration of the prizes offered by the Buffalo alumni for new Syracuse songs, and the issuing of a new song book. The Buffalo Alumni Association has offered two prizes for the best songs submitted by the students. The first prize is one of fifteen dollars, and the second one of ten dollars in cash. The prizes are for the words only. It is expected that the other alumni associations will give suitable prizes for the best music to which the songs can be set.

A motion was made and carried that the president, Ernest H. Sumner, appoint a committee of five to have entire charge of awarding the prizes and issuing the new song book. The committee appointed follows: Dean Frank Smalley and Professor Frederick D. Losey, representative of the faculty, Professor Frederick Revels '97 of Fine Arts College, representative of the alumni, and J. R. Rubin and A. S. Copeland, representing the student body.

The meeting was then adjourned. It is understood the committee will meet in a day or two to formulate conditions governing the songs to be handed in, and other matters of interest which will be made public later.

THE WEST POINT GAME.

The West Point baseball management has cancelled the May date on which the Cadets were to play Syracuse. The Cadets have been ordered to St. Louis for May, and are unable to keep the date. Manager Edward Manley said yesterday that he was trying to schedule the same date with Amherst or Williams.

KING LEAR PHOTOS.

The rest of the photographs of Professor Losey as King Lear have come, and have been put on sale at the Co-op. There are three different views in the cabinet size at 25 cents each. There is also a large photograph, an enlargement of the head in the cabinet size, the head printed in the Herald a fortnight ago, at 75 cents each.

SOPHOMORES TAKE NOTICE.

There are still some delinquents on the class tax of $1.00. The names of those who have not paid by March 8, will be handed to the Chancellor at that time. This applies to the colleges of Liberal Arts, Fine Arts and Applied Science. A new assessment of 25 cents per member was also imposed at the class meeting, February 29. I will be in the treasurer's office during chapel time.

GEORGE J. BECKER, Treas.

SYRACUSE HONORED.

Dr. James Brownlee Sanford, ex-'92, is the recipient of an honor rarely accorded to citizens of the United States. He has been elected to membership in the Royal Geographical Society of London, a position coveted by men like Henry M. Stanley, Nansen, Perry, and other world travelers of note.

Dr. Sanford's home is now in Denver, Colorado, and though he is best known as speaker of the fourteenth general assembly, he has well earned the honor of becoming a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, for he has traveled extensively and his writings, covering the results of his observations, have appeared in leading periodicals, particularly those devoted to scientific research. He knows Mexico and its people thoroughly and has penetrated into some of the wildest parts of Africa on his researches.

Dr. Sanford was a Liberal Arts student while at Syracuse and a member of Phi Delta Theta. He has since received the degree of M. D. and is now doing much hospital work, chiefly surgical, at Denver, Colorado.

GARLOCK STRENGTHENS DEFENSE

At 10:30 yesterday morning the adjourned hearing of the celebrated "Lily White" case was docketed for the Law College court. Justin McCarthy and George Ferron appeared as attorneys for the defendants, who were charged with the offence of joining the select fiify. Fred Garlock, the principal witness for the defense, upheld the character of the accused gentlemen. Objections to the admission of Mr. Garlock's evidence by the attorneys for the prosecution, Earl R. Cross and R. A. Foster, to the effect that the witness was a constitutional fusser, were overruled by the court. Court adjourned at 11:30, the attorneys being given time to find new witnesses and to sum the case up this morning.

SOCIETY ITEMS.

Rho of Delta Gamma has announced the following pledges for the second semester: Miss Eunice Fitch '06, Miss Louise Johnson '07, Miss Maybelle Davis '07.

The engagement of Miss Irma Hard '03, of Oneida, to Mr. Frank Coleman, of St. Louis, was formally announced at Oneida last week.

Alpha of Alpha Phi entertained Alpha of Gamma Phi Beta at a thimble party yesterday afternoon.

Phi Kappa Alpha held a meeting at the Phi Delta Theta house Tuesday evening.

A special meeting of Iota Tau was held Tuesday evening at the Kappa Alpha Theta chapter house.

As was stated in the Daily Orange Tuesday morning, Williams defeated Cornell in basketball last Saturday by the score of 52 to 0. In connection with this it is interesting to note that Williams defeated the 'Varsity five, on its Eastern trip, by only one point, the score being 25 to 24.

ANNUAL SNOW BATTLE

Sophomores and Freshmen will Meet on a Field of Snow.

The time is now at hand when the knights of the lower classes will clash in a tournament of snow. The custom was started last year of fixing the last sophomore-freshman rush for the end of winter. Everyone who saw the struggle last February will remember distinctly the enjoyment derived from the contest. The struggle was held on the snowy eampus directly in front of Liberal Arts College. The participants could hardly realize the many ludricous scenes they presented to the spectators. The energy stored up through the winter was dispelled in a jolly, good-natured struggle lasting for a half hour. When the contest was ended the upper classmen justly declared the rush a tie.

It is for this reason that the present sophomore class is very determined to win the struggle this week. They realize the freshmen are superior in number, but hope to win out through experience.

The contest will doubtless be called for Friday at chapel time. This time is fixed because the faculty does not wish the rush to take the time of the students from their classes. The upperclassmen will have charge of the whole affair. Robert Park, captain of the 1904 'Varsity eleven, has been spoken of as referee. The classes, however, wish an impartial board. The two underclass presidents will probably agree today on the following committee: George Moore 1904, 'Varsity baseball captain; Harry Gardner 1904, track captain; Robert Stone 1905, crew captain, Robert Park 1905, football captain, and Ernest Sumner 1903 Liberal Arts and 1905 Law, president of the Student Athletic Association. The whole question will be settled today.

MONX HEAD.

The 1904 alumni and the 1905 members of Monx Head held their regular meeting Tuesday night at the Beta Theta Pi chapter house. After the regular business routine, refreshments were served and a pleasant time enjoyed.

The men present decided to give Monx Head a dance this month in which only the senior and junior members of the society will participate. It is hoped the Yacht Club house can be secured for the affair. A committee on arrangements was appointed to look after details.

SYRACUSE VS COLGATE.

A mass meeting will be held this morning, under the auspices of the University Weekly, in the interests of the basketball contest with Colgate. It is desired that a large number of rooters accompany the Orange five to Colgate for the contest. The meeting today will be representative of all the colleges. Some interesting speakers are expected to be present.

NOTICES.

The tutoring class under W. C. Lowe will meet this evening in room 31 from 7 to 8 o'clock.

A meeting of the senior class is called in room 33-34, Liberal Arts College, Friday, March 4, at 4 p. m. for the transaction of any business which may properly come before the meeting.

ROBERT E. WILCOX, Pres.

The next regular meeting of the Classical Club has been postponed until Thursday evening, March 17, when Professor Place will lecture on "The Roman House." On the evening of March 5, Professor Morgan will lecture on "The Religion of the Ancient Romans" in Assembly Hall of the University Building.

MINNIE D. CROFOOT, Sec'y.

The attention of the class in English I is called to the list of Wordsworth's poems on the bulletin board in the hall of the College of Liberal Arts.

H. A. EATON.

The next regular meeting of the Daily Orange staff will be held Saturday evening at the Phi Delta Theta house in Irving avenue.

On Thursday at 11 a. m., in room 37 of the Liberal Arts Building, Professor Bushnell will give a reading from Nepos and Livy upon the topic "Hannibal's Early Career and the Victory at the Ticinus." Visitors will be welcome.

At a later date will be given a reading from Livy upon the Battle of Cannae and one from Pliny upon the Destruction of Pompeii. The second is introductory to an illustrated lecture upon Pompeii.

There will be a meeting of the 1906 Onondagan board in the Hall of Languages at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening, March 3. The editor-in-chief will be elected at this time.

The rehearsals for King Lear this week will be as follows: Thursday 3:30 p. m., Acts III, IV and V.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

It is a pleasure to note the action taken by the students regarding the communication from the Buffalo Alumni relative to the new song book. The long hoped-for book of Syracuse songs now appears to be an assured fact. Alumni, faculty and students are all vitally interested in the project.

The committee appointed yesterday to make plans for the publishing of such a book, including the selection of songs, old and new, and the awarding of the prizes offered, has a long and arduous task before them. In this work they should have the hearty co-operation of the entire student body.

The energies of all who are able to express their Syracuse spirit in verse or music should be devoted from now on to the work of composing songs which will be worthy of a place in the new book.

B. D. B. INITIATES.

The initiates of B. D. B. are now being made the laughing stock of the college community. Most of the freshmen in the society are "rushing the season" by wearing straw hats around the college and in its halls. Other interesting stunts are scheduled for a later date.

DR. JOHN SEES A ROBIN.

"Doctor" John Cunningham announced yesterday morning that the postman, two freshmen and he himself had the honor of seeing the first robin of the season on one of the campus trees. He sang very lustily and was earnest in his prediction of spring.

LABOR UNIONISM.

Mr. R. B. Kinne, Business Representative of the National Machinists' Union, addressed the class in Labor Unionism yesterday. Mr. Kinne's talk was greatly enjoyed by those present, covering the subject of the conditions of labor in the machinists' trade very fully. The history and purpose of the machinists' union were well presented; while the personal observations and answers to questions from the class concerning arbitration and other important problems were particularly valuable.

The Lima Alumni Association are to enjoy a sleighride this evening.

"HE WAS ALL RIGHT!"

The large English history class sat with bated breath awaiting the opening of the campaign of questions by General Mace. "What was the matter with Napoleon?" was the first sally and it caused a murmur of revolt among the ranks of the class. "He was all right" was drawled out by some one in the rear lines. General cessation of hostilities caused by a roar of laughter.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

Professor W. W. Campbell, director of Lick Observatory has been awarded the Talende prize. This prize is given annually by the Academie des Sciences of France to the person who has made the most interesting observations or accomplished the work most useful to the progress of astronomy.

The several sororities of the University met Tuesday evening at the Kappa Kappa Gamma hause to discuss ways and means of promoting greater harmony among the Greek letter women of the college. Attempts were made to establish a rushing agreement similar to that in vogue at Stanford University.

DARTMOUTH.

Last week Dartmouth Hall was ruined by fire. This was the oldest hall in the university, being built in 1789.

Turner, Dartmouth's crack right guard, who twice scored against Harvard, will enter the law department of the University of Michigan. He is expected to take Maddock's place on the strong western team.

A BATTLE ROYAL.

Underclass Men Struggle for Victory After Chapel Today--Arrangements.

The freshmen are eargerly awaiting the snow battle in which they promise to vanquish the sophomores. The struggle will take place after chapel this morning in front of Liberal Arts college. The members of both classes will appear in old clothes and sweaters worthy of the occasion. All are expecting a good-natured half hour contest, or bombardment as the case may be.

Forecaster Ashley yesterday predicted cold weather and snow for today. Such is the ideal condition for the struggle. The two classes are expecting to keep warm even should the weather be somewhat cold. The freshman class put their reliance in a worthy leader "Doughty" Robinson, while the sophomores trust to the guidance of "Big Chief" Packard.

The committee to control and decide the battle for supremacy is Messrs. George Moore '04, Harry L. Gardner '04, Robert Park '05 and Robert Stone '05, captains of the athletic teams, also Ernest H. Sumner, president of the Student Athletic Association.

The sophomores because of their smaller number may be allowed the protection of the huge snow bank, and have the freshmen bombard them. Later it is proposed to have several wrestling matches in the snow between the best men on each side. The struggle promises to be as exciting as it was last year.

SOPHOMORE ENGINEERS TO HOLD BANQUET.

At a meeting of the sophomore engineers yesterday morning plans were discussed for holding a class banquet. It was decided to hold a banquet in the near future and a committee was appointed to make arrangements. The question of adopting something distinctive in dress was also discussed and a committee appointed to get samples of shirts suitable for engineer's wear. The class will probably adopt a maroon shirt as their official emblem. The committee will report at a class meeting to be held Tuesday morning at 9:35.

COMMODORE GRAMLICH AFTER NEW SHELL.

Commodore Gramlich is now in Buffalo in the interests of a new eight-oared shell for our navy. He will endeavor to obtain sufficient aid from the alumni of the University in Buffalo to procure this much needed addition to our navy. The Buffalo alumni have always responded very generously when called upon, and the Commodore feels confident that he will be successful. Mr. Gramlich's own home is in Buffalo, so he has this further advantage.

HISTORICAL LECTURE.

The seventh of the series of historical lectures will be given in Lincoln Hall of the High School this evening. Dr. Mace will deliver the lecture, his subject being "Secession, Conciliation and Emancipation." The lecture will be followed by an interesting tableau representing a debate in the United States Senate upon the secession of the Southern States. The debate promises to abound with the fire and spirit of '61.

The senators in the discussion will be represented by the following: Senator Breckenbridge, acting as President of the Senate, J. R. Rubin; Senator Toombs of Georgia, Robert Park; Senator Davis of Mississippi, E. L. Ackley; Senator Clay of Kentucky, L. B. McMickle; Senator Iverson of Georgia, Lloyd L. Cheney; Senator Wigfall of Texas, R. O. Matthews; Senator Douglass of Illinois, S. H. Sweet. Other students will represent the Northern and Southern contingents in the Senate at the time.

1906 ONONDAGAN BOARD.

The members of the 1906 Onondagan Board met last evening in Liberal Arts College to elect an editor-in-chief. The business manager, E. N. Packard, called the meeting to order, and after a few preliminary remarks the members proceeded to ballot for editor-in-chief. Mr. Fred E. Barrett was the choice for that office. The members and officers of the Board are now complete, and are as follows: Business manager, E. N. Packard; assistant business manager, E. M. Jones; editor-in-ehief, Fred E. Barrett; Liberal Arts, A. J. Croft, W. S. Wilcox, Frank Baker, L. E. Collins, P. T. Grant, Misses Mary Hart, Lyla Johnston, Mary Mott, Helen Potter; Smith College—Earle Wood, A. J. Squires; Fine Arts—E. I. Barrott, Misses Lois R. Kupfer, Ethel Wells; Law—J. M. Seymour, E. L. North; Medical—Baldwin.

MASS MEETING.

A meeting of the Student Athletic Association was held yesterday after chapel in the interests of the basketball game with Colgate. Ernest H. Sumner called the meeting to order, and asked Arthur L. Evans '05, to state the object of the assembly. The latter did so by urging the students to make arrangements to take in the coming contest at Hamilton. On a motion made and carried President Sumner appointed the following committee to have charge of arrangements for the trip: Messrs. W. Bayliss, D. J. Kelly, F. Brundage, F. Sowers and A. Diston.

FELLOWSHIP WITHDRAWN.

The William J. Mantauge fellowship in sociology has been withdrawn for this year because of a temporary vacancy at the head of that department. The fellowship was established some four years ago, and carries with it an expenditure of $400. in Europe.

The fellowship was awarded last year to Miss Mabel C. Rhodes '98, who is now studying at the University of Halle.

CHICAGO ALUMNI TAKE ACTION

They Will Aid in Publishing a Syracuse Song Book.

The efforts the Buffalo Alumni Association have started to publish a Syracuse song book seem now to be sure of success. Other alumni associations of the University are taking the matter in hand and will aid in the undertaking. The Chicago Alumni expect to take action at their next regular meeting, which will be held at the Union March 12th or 19th. Mr. C. B. Atwell, '79, secretary of the Chicago Alumni Association has recently sent to all the members of the association a notification of the action taken by the Buffalo Alumni, and the students of the University in repard to the publishing of a Syracuse Song Book. The proposition will be thoroughly discussed at the annual meeting, which occurs on the above mentioned date.

Every effort is being made to secure a full attendance of the members of the association at this meeting. The officers of the association have sent out printed notices of the meeting, and feel confident that the Song Book proposition will receive the hearty support and co-operation of Syracuse alumni in and around Chicago.

The present officers of the Chicago Alumni Association are: J. Scott Clark '07, president; Miss Sara M. Cobb '83, vice-president; Charles M. Turton '83, treasurer; C. B. Atwell '79, secretary.

PERSONALS.

Miss Lou Shaddock of Buffalo is visiting friends at the University.

Miss Laura Deane '07 was a guest at the Delta Kappa Epsilon house and Misses Helen Potter and Ada Trolan '06 were guests at the Beta Theta Pi house at Colgate for the Sophomore Cotillion which took place there on Wednesday night.

Miss Fish and Miss Goodman of Rochester who have been Miss Abele's guests have returned home.

The following will be initiated into the mysteries of Delta Delta Delta sorority this evening: Mary Pimm '07, Union Springs, N. Y.; Bessie Ash '06, Boonville, N. Y.; Mary Mott '06, Waverly, N. Y.; Georgiana Drake '06, Savannah, N. Y.

Miss Emma Vanderhoff, who left for New York city the first of the week, was operated on for appendicitis yesterday in Seney Hospital, Brooklyn.

A delightful poem entitled "Lost Voices" appeared in the Buffalo Commercial, one of the leading evening city papers, last Monday. The author is Arthur C. Lowe, '04-ex.

THE WEATHER.

Snow and colder, with a cold wave and northwest gales.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The initiation banquet of Beta Delta Beta, the freshman society, was held Wednesday evening at Hotel Warner.

Wednesday evening the members of the Liberal Arts French Club were entertained most hospitably at the home of Professor Patterson, who gave the informal lecture of the evening. He took his listeners on an imaginary trip to Paris, supposed to be made with the least expenditure of money. The chief points of interest were visited by means of numerous views and the speaker's verbal descriptions. A well prepared set of charades was next enacted in French and was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. Refreshments were served. The next biweekly meeting was set for March 16, at the home of Miss Meter, 1103 East Genesee stree. At some club meeting in the near future a one-act French comedy will be presented.

NOTICES.

The Syracuse Alumnae club will meet this (Friday) at 4 p. m., with Professor Ella I. French at 714 South Crouse avenue.

A meeting of the senior class is called in room 33-34, Liberal Arts College, Friday, March 4, at 4 p. m. for the transaction of any business which may properly come before the meeting.

ROBERT E. WILCOX, Pres

The next regular meeting of the Classical Club has been postponed until Thursday evening, March 17, when Professor Place will lecture on "The Roman House." On the evening of March 5, Professor Morgan will lecture on "The Religion of the Ancient Romans" in Assembly Hall of the University Building.

MINNIE D. CROFOOT, Sec'y.

The attention of the class in English I is called to the list of Wordsworth's poems on the bulletin board in the hall of the College of Liberal Arts.

H. A. EATON.

The next regular meeting of the Daily Orange staff will be held Saturday evening at the Phi Delta Theta house in Irving avenue.

That Syracuse is abreast of the times is evidenced in more ways than one, but possibly no more forcibly than by the fact that during the extremely severe winter the walks on the campus have been kept comparatively free from snow. Railroad systems all over the country have been tied up, but the eight o'clock students at Syracuse have almost invariably found a clear track when they reached the campus. Walks leading to the campus have been almost impassable, but on the campus they have been not only passable but slippery. Although it has been hardly exceptional to see persons fall three times in walking from the Hall of Languages to University Place it is not because they were impeded by the snow. However matter-of-fact the open walks may have seemed, some one deserves much credit for keeping them open.

It is with the deepest regret that we hear of the resignation on the part of our fellow editor, Arthur L. Evans. In the first year of the Weekly's existence he made the board of managing editors and until this year held that position. When he was elected to be editor of the Weekly for this year no man in college was better qualified to fill that honorable position.

As an editor he has made an enviable record. A man of well-known literary ability, he had the newspaper instinct and knew how to get all the news there was and put it in the best form. Under his management the Weekly has received deserved praise for its strong and timely editorials. It is a recognized fact that the Weekly of today unexcelled by any publication of similar character in the country. Arthur L. Evans was instrumental in attaining this standard for the paper.

We wish J. Roy Allen, the new editor, unqualified success in his work.

A great deal has been said relative to the lamentable decay of the old college custom of singing class and college songs after chapel. Say what we will, the apparent lack of general interest in this custom, cannot be explained by the want of college spirit in any particular class.

Why is it that so few gather around the chapel steps each morning? Why is it that the freshman class is so often represented in chapel by less than half a dozen men? Why is it that the halls below are crowded with men while the mere handful are in attendance at chapel exercises? Is it to be wondered at that each successive incoming class is displaying less respect for those daily chapel gatherings which in the past have generated such a powerful influence upon the university life?

Are the members of the faculty and the upperclassmen doing their full duty in maintaining the dignity of these chapel exercises?

These are a few of the bold, frank questions which we should all strive to answer. A crisis confronts us. Are we to allow the college of Liberal Arts, the fountain head of the entire University, to become a mere mass of men and women with little personal relationship? Or are we to strive to make this mass a unit in college activities by doing our part in creatiug a sentiment for attendance at chapel.

NEWS OF ALL COLLEGES.

HARVARD.

There is every evidence that basketball may be abandoned. The team has won only the Princeton game this season, and on account of a faculty regulation which permits only three overnight trips the Cornell and Yale games have been forfeited. Columbia and Pennsylvania have worsted the Harvard five.

Edward Newcomb Wrightington '97 has been appointed head coach of the university football team for next season.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN.

Indignation of a most emphatic sort is being voiced by the students of the university over a case of poisoning which has recently come to light. Last Monday sixty students at a boarding-house were taken seriously ill shortly after noon. The physicians who attended the sick students diagnosed the trouble as a typical case of veal poisoning.

At the freshman-sophomore meet Rose broke the 'Varsity record for shot put by hurling the shot 45 feet 1 inch.

VOL. I. NO. 120. SYRACUSE, N. Y., SATURDAY, MARCH 5, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

THE BATTLE TODAY

Yesterday, Chancellor Day in Chapel Advised a day's Postponement.

Chancellor Day appeared in chapel yesterday with the purpose of addressing the students. The hall was more than usually crowded as a result.

After the exercises the Chancellor spoke briefly on the annual snow battle between the lower classes, and also on chapel attendance. He said that as he was coming up to chapel he noticed a large crowd of students in the hall, who had on old clothes. The only way he could explain their non-attendance was by the belief that most of them came from the country, and did not wish to appear at chapel except in their "Sunday best." He however had read and heard about the snow battle, and with this later light now understood the matter.

The Chancellor however in a brotherly way advised that the struggle be postponed until tomorrow, because the cold weather prevented "good packing" for snow balls, and accidents from falls were more likely to occur.

The Chancellor also explained that the weather was sure to be more propitious, "for we have extremes here in Syracuse every twenty-four hours." Forecaster Ashley when seen later by an Orange reporter promised warmer weather for today.

Chancellor Day earnestly requested the students to consider chapel attendance more seriously. He said we do not reverence the mere hall, but we do reverence it for the memory of those who have gone forth from it. He pleaded that each person ask himself this question, "What is my personal obligation to my Alma Mater in all things?" Everyone who answered that inquiry by fitting deeds would honor old Syracuse, and there would be much to enjoy all through life as a result.

The Chancellor then introduced Rev. Dr. Coit, a presiding elder of the Methodist church. Dr. Coit said he really considered himself an alumnus of Syracuse, because he now has two sons here. He had hoped to see the snow battle but was disappointed. He left the thought with the students that each should know his business, keep his nerve in attending to it and always "have the soul on top."

Following the Chancellor's advice the snow battle for which everything is in readiness will take place this morning after chapel. The Chancellor hopes the underclass men in the contest will clear away all the large bank of snow in front of Liberal Arts

---

Dean James B. Brooks of the Law College will speak before the Young Men's Baraca Bible Class of Plymouth Congregational Church, corner of East Onondaga and Madison streets, in the chapel on Sunday noon. Students are invited to attend the meeting.

CUT IN BASEBALL CANDIDATES.

Coach Costello yesterday afternoon made the first cut in candidates for positions on the 'Varsity baseball nine. The cut was not unexpected as the coaoh had announced the first part of the week that because of the lack of facilities it would be necessary to drop some of the men.

The list of men retained was posted in the cage yesterday afternoon. The cut takes effect tonight. Fifteen men have been dropped and twenty-seven retained. Of these, nine are pitchers, three catchers, nine infielders and six outfielders. No pitchers nor catchers have been dropped.

In two weeks there will be a second revision of the list when about ten more candidates will have to be dropped.

The following are the men who will continue to report for practice: Moore, Heffernan, Baker, Rutherford, Ward, Dineen, Dexter, Brennen, Culton, Burrill, Collins, Pulford, Boland, Pendergast, Hannon, Wheeler, Marsey, Smith, Curtiss, Wilbur, Monahan, Cross, Conan, Reed, Truax, Keenan and Bretos.

Manager Manley is hoping to arrange a game with Wesleyan or Williams for May 11 in place of the game which was to have been played with West Point, but which the latter cancelled because of the cadets being ordered to St. Louis at that time.

PROF. MORGAN SPEAKS TONIGHT

Will Deliver the Second Lecture in the Classical Club Course.

Professor Morris H. Morgan, Ph. D., LL. D., professor of classical philology at Harvard University, will deliver the second of the series of lectures given under the auspices of the Classical Club. The lecture will be given this evening at 8 o'clock in Assembly Hall of the University Block. Professor Morgan's subject will be "The Religion of the Ancient Romans."

Professor Morgan arrived in the city late last evening, and will spend the day at the University. This is his first visit to Syracuse. He will address the students at chapel time this morning. The remainder of the day he will spend with the Chancellor, Dean, and members of the faculty of the Latin department. He will be shown around the various buildings of the University during the afternoon. After the lecture in the evening Professor Morgan will be tendered a reception by the University Club at their rooms in the Larned Block.

The lecture by Professor Morgan will be, undoubtedly, one of the very best heard in the city this season. He is one of the younger members of the Harvard faculty and comes to our city with an enviable record as a scholar and editor. His lecture will be very entertaining, as he is a wide-awake, hustling lecturer, and an exceptionally forceful speaker. His lecture will be interesting, not only to the students of the classics, but also to all others as well. Doctor Morgan comes here largely through the influence of Professor Place.

'VARSITY CREW CUT.

Coach TenEyck has made another cut in the 'Varsity crew. The following men have been retained; E. Packard, F. S. Rice, R. Stone, Brown, Kimberly, Demster, Salisbury, Squires, Cortelyon, Smith, Kimmel, Anderson, Lincoln and Patterson. No other cuts will be made in either the 'varsity or freshman crews until they get out on the water.

PERSONALS.

Miss Ellen Fraser '06, has been obliged to leave college permanently on account of ill health.

Mr. A. L. Wells '07, who has been ill for a few days, is now back in college.

Frank E. Clifford '04, was elected president of the Fine Arts Senior class Friday afternoon.

Raymond Hockenberg '03, is visiting in the city this week. He expects to go to New York next week, where he will continue work in his profession, architecture.

SOCIETY ITEMS.

The initiation of Corpse and Coffin, the junior society, was held Wednesday evening. The initiates were: H. D. Sanford, S. A. Ralph, Ralph Stillwell. Robert Stone, Reuben Lipe, George Wendt, John Hill, Earl Boland, Dwight Broga, L. G. Fitzgerald, Frank Bayliss, C. J. Houseknecht, Earle Ackley. All the active and alumni members will take dinner at the Vanderbilt Saturday at six.

Iota Alpha Mu held a meeting at the Kappa Alpha Theta house yesterday afternoon.

DELTA DELTA DELTA INITIATES.

The following were initiated into Omicron of Delta Delta Delta last evening: Mrs. P. O. Place, Syracuse; Georgiana Drake '07, Savannah, N. Y., Bessie Ash '06, Boonville, N. Y.; Margaret Pymm '07, Union Springs, N. Y.; Mary E. Mott '06, Athens, Pa.

NOTICES.

The regular meeting of the Chemical Club will be held in the chemistry lecture room, Hall of Languages, Monday evening, March 7, at 7:30 o'clock. Papers will be presented by Geo. W. Fowler, R. W. Carpenter, and H. R. Soper. W. H. McCLELLAND, Sec'y.

The tutoring class in German under Mr. W. C. Lowe will meet from 5 to 6 today in room 31.

Rev. Willis R. Hotchkiss, a missionary from Africa, will address the Union Association meeting in the gymnasium at 4 p. m. Sunday.

Nominations for officers of the Y. M. C. A. for the new year must be handed to the committee before Thursday, March 10. The committee is Hyzer W. Jones, R. G. Rogers, P. A. Griesser.

The next regular meeting of the Classical Club has been postponed until Thursday evening, March 17, when Professor Place will lecture on "The Roman House." On the evening of March 5, Professor Morgan will lecture on "The Religion of the Ancient Romans" in Assembly Hall of the University Building.

MINNIE D. CROFOOT, Sec'y.

The next regular meeting of the Daily Orange staff will be held Saturday evening at the Phi Delta Theta house in Irving avenue.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

The class in Rhetoric for those students who have dropped out of English I will meet in room 60 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4 o'clock.

Students are requested to call and get our special prices on photos—either singly or in groups. M. H. BUNN, Photographer, 402 S. Salina St.

We wish to bring to the notice of the students two opportunities which they have of getting a broader and better view of life. The first is the lecture this evening by Dr. Morgan of Harvard in the Assembly Hall. Dr. Morgan comes to Syracuse with an excellent reputation, and the students should deem it an especial privilege to hear such a speaker. Not only should the students attend the lecture in order to hear so excellent a lecturer, but as well to offer their aid to the classical club of the University, under whose auspices the lecture is given.

The second opportunity will be afforded all, tomorrow afternoon. Dr. Hotchkiss is the missionary lecturer, who will address the Y. M. C. A., meeting at 4 o'clock. He is hardly equalled in this country as a missionary noted for his great achievements and powerful oratory. The gymnasium should be crowded to hear this noted speaker.

The recent visit of the basket-ball team to Allegheny College, together with the announcement that an inter-collegiate debate between Syracuse and Allegheny has been arranged to take place some time in May, emphasizes the fact that we are coming into closer touch with a sister institution. Syracuse and Allegheny have many features in common, both are under Methodist control both are co-educational, and each has at present one women's dormitory as a sole expression of the dormitory system.

Allegheny College is located in northwestern Pennsylvania at Meadville, a city of about ten thousand inhabitants. The campus, rich in natural scenery, is located some two hundred feet above French Creek Valley and overlooks the town. The eight college buildings are adapted to college work principally along the lines of the liberal art's courses. A course in civil engineering is offered. As regards the student body Syracuse is numercally much greater. Allegheny numbers about two hundred and twenty-five students in collegiate work. A preparatory school on connection with the college, attracts a considerable number of sub-freshmen.

Unlike Syracuse, Allegheny has college work only five days in the week. Recitations are suspended in Mondays. (We venture to suggest that at Syracuse an exemption from class work on Monday might be a remedy for the proverbially imperfect Monday recitations.) In place of the salt rush Allegheny is peculiar in that a student who marries after matriculation and before graduation thereby severs his relations with the college.

Whatever similarities or dissimilarities may exist between Syracuse and Allegheny we feel that are expressing the sentiment of the student body at Syracuse in hoping that the coming debate may draw closer together the two institutions. So far as the debate itself is concerned, may the best team win.

SOPHOMORES TAKE NOTICE.

There are still some delinquents on the class tax of $1.00. The names of those who have not paid by March 8, will be handed to the Chancellor at that time. This applies to the colleges of Liberal Arts, Fine Arts and Applied Science. A new assessment of 25 cents per member was also imposed at the class meeting, February 29. I will be in the treasurer's office during chapel time.

GEORGE J. BECKER, Treas.

At the meeting of the senior class of the University Friday afternoon, it was voted that every standing committee should have as a member a young lady from the Liberal Arts College. Also that a special committee, representing all the colleges, should be appointed to procure a gift to be presented to the University at commencement time.

A large number of students attended the lecture given last evening by Professor Mace at the High School building. His subject was "Conciliation, Secession and Emancipation." The lecture was followed by an appropriate tableau illustrating a debate in the Senate on the question of secession. After the tableau the participants were served to lights refreshments.

STATEMNT CONCERNING MR. W. R. HOTCHKISS.

Mr. Willis R. Hotchkiss went into British East Africa in 1895. There were no roads, much less railways, and he had to tramp the entire distance into the interior, being attacked en route by hostile natives and by wild beasts. Three of his fellow workers died in a short time, leaving him alone for the most of four years. During part of this time a severe famine made it necessary for him to supply the people with food by means of hunting. This brought him into contact with wild game to a somewhat unusual extent. He was three times attacked by lions, encountering over forty in one year, and several times attacked by rhinoceri, killing nine of them. The natives were very hostile at first, his life for two years being in constant jeopardy. He was ambushed a numbe of times by bands of men who came expressly to get rid of the obnoxious white man.

The language of the people had never been written, so Mr. Hotchkiss had to literally pick it from their teeth. He is now seeing through the press the grammar and vocabulary of a tribe numbering 1,000,000 people.

Mr. Hotchkiss is now at home on furlough and has consented to spend a part of his time traveling among the colleges as a secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement. From all the colleges visited we have received reports of fine work done. No students who have taken the time to hear him have regretted it.

At the great international convention in Toronto the large audience of about four thousand could hardly be restrained from bursting into applause as he told the story of his experiences in a simple manly way. The Association is fortunate to secure him at this time. He will address the Sunday meeting at 4 o'clock on the main floor of the university gymnasium.

A tailor made suit and a sweat shop hat make a poor combination. If you want to be topped off right, call in at Selleck's, 341 S. Warren St.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL. I. NO. 121. SYRACUSE, N. Y., MONDAY, MARCH 7, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

CAPS AND GOWNS.

Regulations Which Will be of Interest to the Seniors.

President Wilcox at the meeting of the senior class last Friday said he would announce the standing committees early this week. One of the committees which will have much work to do is the Cap and Gown Committee. In connection with their work we give some interesting facts.

At a meeting of the Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges last year, the following recommendations were adopted governing the question of academic costumes:

Gowns—1. Pattern. Those commonly worn, with pointed sleeves for the Bachelor's Degree, with long closed sleeves for the Master's Degree, and with round open sleeves for the Doctor's Degree. 2. Material. Worsted stuff for the Bachelor's Degree, silk for the Master's and Doctor's Degrees. 3. Color. Black. 4. Trimmings. For the Bachelors and Master's Degrees the gowns are to be untrimmed. For the Doctor's Degree the gown is to be faced down the front with black velvet, with bars of the same across the sleeves; or the facings and crossbars may be of velvet of the same color as the binding or edging of the hood, being distinctive of the Faculty to which the Degree pertains.

Hoods—1. Pattern. The pattern usually followed by colleges and universities, save as modified below. 2. Material. The same as that of the gown. 3. Color. Black. 4. Length. The length and form of the hood will indicate the Degree, as follows: For the Bachelor's Degree, the length shall be three-fourths that of the Master's Degree. The Master's Degree hood shall be of the customary length, not exceeding four feet; and the Doctor's Degree hood shall be of the same length but have panels at the sides. 5. Linings. The hoods shall be lined with the official color of the University. 6. Trimmings. The binding of edging, not more than six inches in width, to be of silk, satin or velvet, the color to be distinctive of the Faculty to which the degree pertains, thus: Faculty of Arts and Letters, white. Faculty of Theology, scarlet. Faculty of Law, purple. Faculty of Medicine, green. Faculty of Philosophy, dark blue. Faculty of Science, gold yellow. Faculty of Fine Arts, brown. Faculty of Music, pink.

Caps—The caps shall be of the material and form generally used, and commonly called mortar-board caps. The color shall be black. The Doctor's cap may be of velvet. Each cap shall be ornamented with a long tassel attached to the middle point at the top. The tassel of the Doctor's cap may be, in whole or in part, of gold thread.

Sec. 2. Members of the Governing Body shall be entitled, during their term of office, to wear the gown of highest dignity—that of the Doctor's Degree—together with the hood appropriate to the degree which they may have severally received. Members of the Faculties, and any person officially connected with the University (or College) who have been recipients of academic honors from other universities or colleges in good standing, may assume the academic costume corresponding to their degree, as described in the foregoing section, provided, that such right shall terminate if such persons shall cease to be connected with the University (or College). The President and Deans of Faculty may adopt distinctive badges, not inconsistent with the costume hereinbefore described.

FOUR ATHLETES DROPPED.

Notice was served Saturday afternoon on Coach Costello of the baseball team and Coach Ten Eyck of the crew that four promising candidates for the 'Varsity would be ineligible for the same until next February. The four men are Earl Boland, James Dineen, A. Moynihan, and Charles Cortelyou. These men were recently dropped from the Hill colleges and then entered Law school. Professor Smallwood says that this move is one towards purer University athletics.

TRACK AND CREW.

Wednesday there will be an indoor meet in the gymnasium, including four events, high jump, pole vault, shot put and 30-yard dash. This will be a try-out for the new men.

Coach Ten Eyck will have a half dozen freshman crew candidates work out in the old four-oared shell st Long Branch today. The men are Mount, Rice, Mickleson, Hale, Wygant, and Andrews. It is expected that a number of the candidates can be given the water rudiments every day hereafter.

SUMMER SCHOOL TO CONTINUE.

It was announced Saturday that the summer school, established two years ago, would be continued during the coming summer under the supervision of Dean Smalley. Beginning July 5th, the summer school will continue six weeks.

Professor J. R. Street of the Department of Pedagogy, through whose efforts the school was established, will not be directly connected with the work this summer.

DR. MORGAN IN CHAPEL.

The students who attended chapel Saturday were agreeably surprised by a brief talk from Dr. Morgan of Harvard. The doctor complimented Syracuse on her good weather. He brought hearty greetings from Harvard to her sister institution here. He complimented the Syracuse men who had taken and were taking graduate work at Harvard. In closing he said our motto was practically the same as Harvard's, that is "Truth," and this as derived from knowledge.

ADVANTAGES OF SHORT COURSES

Discussion of Question from a Student's Standpoint.

In a short time the college catalogue for 1903-4 will be published. It would seem an opportune time to speak about something which has long been noticeable in the college curriculum, namely, the small number of short courses, that is, those for one or two hours a week; nine-tenths are three-hour courses. In this regard it would seem that the University is neither following the custom elsewhere, nor seeking to satisfy the natural demands of its own students. In most of our colleges at least one-third of the courses, especially those in more advanced work, are for two hours a week or less. Syracuse naturally lacks as yet in the courses which encourage minute specialization; we have not yet as a university reached that stage of growth. Still it would seem wise to present a certain number of less advanced but still specialized courses for one or two hours a week.

No one would advocate for a student a mere smattering of knowledge of many subjects, but without falling into this extreme, the average college man wishes to cover, in a superficial way, at least, some little ground outside of that line of work which is his chosen specialty, namely, his major and minor subjects. This is less possible if he is limitcd to three-hour courses. Of course, the man who for any reason—and there are well defined cases—wishes to pick up a large amount of general knowledge is at a loss what to do.

Especially is this defect in the arrangement of college work noticeable in the various language departments. In Latin, German, Italian, Spanish, French and English, fifty-seven courses in all, but two come once a week (both in Latin) and four twice a week (all in English). There are no short courses in either French or German, where perhaps they are needed most.

Now there are at least two large classes of students who would like shorter courses in these subjects. To the first class belongs the man who has had three or four years of work in Latin or Greek in his preparatory school and who takes the three-hour course required of freshmen. Supposing he is taking the philosophical course, what next? He is interested in his work and dislikes the idea of dropping all Greek and Latin for several years, probably forever; yet, for many reasons, he feels he cannot give three hours a week, one-fifth of all his time, to the classics. The result is that by the time he graduates he has forgotten practically all he ever knew of these languages. Supposing there were six or eight short courses in them for one hour a week each. He might

ADDRESS ON SOCIALISM.

Mr. Erasmus Pellenz, the well known Syracuse Fire Marshal, delivered the second of a series of lectures before the Socialism class Friday. Mr. Pellenz commended the Political Economy Department on its policy in presenting before its students impartially the opinions of all classes of thinkers on economic and social questions.

The speaker spent a large part of the hour in attempting to refute the commonly heard arguments against the foundation of the Socialists' plans. The "Social revolution," Mr. Pellenz said, is inevitable. It is bound to occur, brought about by the same law which has in the past accomplished all great industrial changes, the well known law of self preservation.

The last part of the hour was devoted to questions as to what Socialism was, and as to what it could be hoped to accomplish.

SNOW BATTLE POSTPONED.

The annual underclass snow battle was postponed Saturday until some warm day of this week. The cold weather and icy surface prevented any such contest because of danger likely to be incurred.

DENISON CONTEST.

The preliminaries for the Denison Declamatory Contest will be held this afternoon in the chapel of the Hall of Languages. The contest is limited to sophomores in the Department of Elocution. Each speaker will be allowed three minutes.

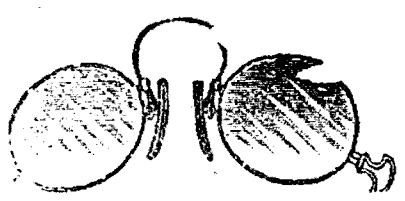
NOTICES.

Monx Head will meet at the Psi Upsilon house Tuesday evening at eight o'clock.

The English Club will meet Tuesday evening at the Alpha Phi chapter house. Mr. Paul M. Payne, editor of the Post-Standard, will deliver an address, "A Few Great Editorial Writers."

The regular meeting of the Chemical Club will be held in the chemistry lecture room, Hall of Languages, Monday evening, March 7, at 7:30 o'clock. Papers will be presented by Geo. W. Fowler, R. W. Carpenter, and H. R. Soper. W. H. McCLELLAND, Sec'y.

Nominations for officers of the Y. M. C. A. for the new year must be handed to the committee before Thursday, March 10. The committee is Hyzer W. Jones, R. G. Rogers, P. A. Griesser.



WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

The class in Rhetoric for those students who have dropped out of English I will meet in room 60 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4 o'clock.

Students are requested to call and get our special prices on photos—either singly or in groups. M. H. BUNN, Photographer, 402 S. Salina St.

take one of these each succeeding year, for he would hardly notice this one hour, one-fifteenth of his time; yet, though this one hour might not give him much additional knowledge, it would keep fresh in his mind to the very end of his college course that which he had already learned.

To the second class belongs the man who has had some little work in a language and intends to take more, but for various reasons, perhaps because of the press of other work, must let a year or more go by without class-work in that language. By the time he is ready to begin again, his store of knowledge has slipped away, and before he goes on he finds himself forced to relearn many elementary principles. If he had had one hour a week of this language during each intermediate year, an amount he might easily have carried, he would now be ready to take up the larger work again.

It would be a comparativeiy easy matter to provide material for courses of this kind and length; in the languages they would preferably be reading courses. So, too, though the demand is more urgent in these branches, in every department there is need of more shorter courses and for the same reasons. While taking "heavy work" in his special department, the ordinary student does not like to forget everything he has ever learned about everything else, and would welcome a chance to keep brushed up—in mathematics and seience, for example—though he has not time to take more extended courses in these subjects, and many students wish to get some idea of a subject—any subject—without doing extended work in it.

SOPHOMORES TAKE NOTICE.

There are still some delinquents on the class tax of $1.00. The names of those who have not paid by March 8, will be handed to the Chancellor at that time. This applies to the colleges of Liberal Arts, Fine Arts and Applied Science. A new assessment of 25 cents per member was also imposed at the class meeting, February 29. I will be in the treasurer's office during chapel time.

BAD BLOOD

"I had trouble with my bowels which made my blood impure. My face was covered with pimples which no external remedy could remove. I tried your Cascarets and great was my joy when the pimples disappeared after a month's steady use. I have recommended them to all my friends and quite a few have found relief."

PRESIDENT WILCOX NAMES COMMITTEES

Important Senior Class Committees Named Yesterday.

Presid nt Robert E. Wilcox yesterday made the following appointments for the various committees to represent the Senior Class in the conduct of its business during the Commencement season:

PRESIDENT ROBERT E. WILCOX.

CAPS AND GOWNS.

Chairman, George Malcolm McAdam; Grace Hunt, Raymond E. Dakin, Jose Antonio Lopez, Royal D. Woolsey, Gordon Edson.

INVITATIONS.

Chairman, John H. Burke; Earl Wikoff, Florence R. Deuchler, Albert S. Hadley, George B. Lynch, C. Frederick Phillips.

PROGRAMS.

Chairman, Chester T. Backus; Robert A. Griesser. Evelyn Waterbury, Jesse N. Cook, Alfred W. Armstrong, Roscoe H. Knapp.

Harry T. Baker was elected chairman of the Executive Committee on February 19th. The other members of the committee are: Harry L. Gardner, Albert G. O'Dell, Harry Barber, Saul Lavine.

CHAPEL TALK.

Mr. W. R. Hotchkiss, the noted missionary from Africa, pleased the students in chapel yesterday by a short talk on Africa and his experiences on the continent. He said he did not have a map of the dark continent with him but each person could get an idea of that map by looking at the ear of his neighbor. The map also resembled a huge question mark. He briefly described Central Africa in its physical aspects, and its rapid growth in material prosperity in the way of railroad and other branches of transportation. In closing he said that the man who was most successful today was he who saw the thought of God and carried out that thought.

FRESHMEN ON THE WATER

Six Brawny Candidates Have a Neoptyte's Experience---Oar Gets the Best of Them.

Six of the freshman crew candidates received their first experience with a twelve foot oar yesterday. Under the direction of Coach James A. Ten Eyck, Mount, Mickleson, Rice, Hale, Wygant and Andrews were given their first instructions in rowing. The reason that so small a number were taken out is that both river and lake are frozen over and only a little over a quarter of a mile of open water is available on the outlet. It is seldom that the river stays frozen so long as it does this year although upon March 7 last year the ice was not yet off the lake.

The men were personally instructed by the coach from the coxwain's seat. No hard rowing was indulged in, but just an attempt made at mastering the rudiments of the stroke. The mistakes and awkwardness of the candidates owing to the strangeness of the craft and oar made quite a little amusement for the small number of spectators who were gathered. This was especially noticeable when one of the freshmen recovering for his stroke (after having caught a crab) found that in some inconceivable way his oar was over behind him.

The men all did well for their first attempt. About the same number will be taken out each day until the ice breaks away enough to permit the turning of an eight-oar shell. Then, as soon as possible, both freshmen and 'Varsity will be taken out.

The remainder of the freshman and the 'Varsity candidates rowed on the machines under the direction of Captain Robert R. Stone.

DENISON CONTESTANTS SELECTED.

About twenty sophomores, ten women and ten men, entered the preliminary trials for the Denison Prize Contest held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the chapel of Hall of Languages. The following were selected to take part in the first contest which will be held some time after Easter: Misses Mabel Hendrix, Rose Heiman, Francis Thayer and Charlotte Heath; Messrs. Lewis E. Collings, E. M. Jones, William Y. Boyd and William L. Chandler.

THE BIOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION.

The Biological Association met last evening at 7:30 at the Delta Upsilon chapter house After short papers by Mr. A. J. May, Miss Bessie Howland and Mr. F. A. Hulst, the evening was spent socially.

A GREAT UNIVERSITY.

Syracuse Shown to be One of the Leading Universities of the Country--The New Catalogue out.

The first copies of the new catalogue are just off the press. If anyone doubts that Syracuse is in the ranks of the leading universities of the country such an idea is quickly dispelled from glancing over the catalogue.

In comparison with the Cornell and Columbia publications of recent date some interesting facts are disclosed. Cornell has a total of 1691 students from New York state, While Syracuse draws the grand total of 1973 students from her home state. Syracuse easily leads every university in the state in the number of Liberal Arts students. She has in these latter courses 25 per cent more than has the Ithaca institution; while she has double the number which Columbia holds in the Liberal Arts.

There are thirty states represented by undergraduates at Syracuse. Ten countries also send students, including England, Germany, Norway, Africa (Liberia), Armenia, Bulgaria, Argentine Republic, Japan, Mexico, Cuba and Porto Rico. The total number of students, deducting names repeated, is 2,222. The ratio of increase in attendance of 1903 over 1902 is more than ten per cent.

The catalogue is the largest and most complete ever issued by the University. Several new features have been added to the publication this year. Immediately following the list of the faculty, which now numbers 189; is a list of the professor's degrees. The entire number of colleges represented in the University faculty is 69.

Another addition to the catalogue is seen on page 294. There are scheduled all entrance and supplementary examinations until January 29, 1905. This will save much trouble to both professors and students.

A general index is found at the end of the catalogue. Following this is an index covering each college separately. The whole publication is concise and perfect in detail, comprising a total of three hundred pages.

NOTICE TO FRESHMEN.

There are still a large number of freshmen who have not yet paid the annual class dues of fifty cents. The class treasurer will be in the Registrar's Office from 9:40 to 10 a. m., Thursday, March 10, and Saturday, March 12, for the purpose of receiving such dues. After this week the names of all freshmen having unpaid class dues will be published.

PERSONALS.

Miss Ruth Works '05, of Lima, N.Y., is visiting at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

Miss Bessie Scott '04 spent Sunday at her home in Springville.

Miss Ruth Gordon '05, who has been ill for some time, has returned to college.

Syracuse justly deserves a front rank with the great Universities of the country. Her growth has been remarkable as exhibited by the new catalogue. Not only has she increased her courses of study, but her faculty has been enlarged and an increase of ten per cent. is seen in the student attendance for 1903. The authorities and those back of our University are to be congratulated on its high ranking.

It is earnestly hoped that the committee having in charge the management of the excursion to Hamilton an the occasion of the Syracuse-Colgate basketball game may not be disappointed in their plans. In order to make the trip a success at least 150 men are needed. There should be little difficulty in securing that number of men who are willing to sacrifice a little time and a two dallar bill for the sake of visiting a sister institution at a time when college enthusiasm is at its height.

There is a danger existing in the immediate vicinity of the campus, and it should be remedied at once. The path directly in front of Haven Hall is wholly in the dark every night. Although there is an electric arc light at the corner it is of small assistance, on account of the obsticles placed between it and this path. A person passing along the path, for a distance of fifty feet, has fairly to grope his way.

The danger is greatly increased at this season of the year by the rain and melted snow freezing along the path. At certain periods during the last month the positive danger existed for the pedestrian at ever step.

This trouble should have the immediate attention, of the University authorities, and of the contractors. Several lanterns could be lighted and placed along the dark path every evening. Otherwise a suit for damages may be brought in the future, a result of injury to some person from falling in that vicinity.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were adopted by Phi Gamma chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon:

Whereas, In the wisdom of God, our brother, Alexander Winchell French, class of '98, has been removed from our midst, be it

Resolved, That we, the Phi Gamma chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon, express to the bereaved family our deepest sympathy. In our sorrow, we are grateful for his memory. And be it

Resolved, That we drape our badges a period of ten days in token of our grief. And be it

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the family, published in the college papers, in our fraternity magazine, and that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the chapter.

WALTER F. BAYLIS,
GEORGE O. MOORE,
EARL G. RICE,
Committee.

PROFESSOR FLICK'S LECTURE.

Professor Flick will deliver an address before the Grammar School Teachers Association of Syracuse in the Council Chamber of the City Hall this afternoon at 4:25 o'clock. His subject will he the "Eastern Question."

DR. SIBLEY TO RESIGN.

Dr. Sibley, the present University librarian, will resign his position in the near future. He has been in constant ill health, and it is for this reason that he will resign. The position will doubtless not be filled until next September. At that time it is probable the Von Ranke library will be catalogued.

SOPHOMORES NOT THERE.

A score of freshmen congregated after chapel yesterday in front of Liberl Arts College. There they awaited on the snow bank for the 1906 men to show up. The latter seemed to be afraid of the rain, mud and freshmen; so failed to turn up. The 1907 men after giving their yell and taunting the sophs, returned to college in time for classes.

PRIZES FOR ECONOMIC ESSAYS

In order to arouse an interest in the study of topics relating to commerce and industry, and to stimulate an examination of the value of college training for business men, a committee composed of Professors J. Laurence, University of Chicago, chairman; J. B. Clark, Columbia University; Henry C. Adams, University of Michigan; Horace White, Esq., New York City, and Hon. Carroll D. Wright, National Commissioner of Labor, have been enabled, through the generosity of Messrs. Hart, Schaffner and Marx of Chicago, to offer four prizes for the best studies on any one of the following subjects:

1. The causes and extent of the recent industrial progress of Germany.
2. To what is the recent growth of American competition in the markets of Europe to be attributed?
3. The influence of industrial combinations upon the condition of the American laborer.
4. The economic advantages and disadvantages of present colonial possessions to the mother country.
5. The causes of the panic of 1893.
6. What forms of education should be advised for the elevation of wage-earners from a lower to a higher industrial status in the United States?
7. What method of education is best suited for men entering upon trade and commerce?

A first prize of one thousand dollars, and a second prize, five hundred dollars, in cash, are offered for the best studies presented by Class A, composed exclusively of all persons who have received the bachelor's degree from an American college since 1893; and a first prize of three hundred dollars, and a second prize of one hundred and fifty dollars, in cash, are offered for the best studies presented by Class B, composed of persons who, at the time the papers are sent in, are undergraduates of any American college. No one in Class A, may compete in Class B; but any one in Class B may compete in Class A. The committee reserves to itself the right to award the two prizes of $1,000 and $500 to undergraduates, if the merits of the papers demand it.

Competitors are advised that the studies should be thorough, expressed in good English, and not needlessly expanded. They should be inscribed with an assumed name, the year when the bachelor's degree was received, and the institution which conferred the degree, or in which he is studying, and accompanied by a sealed envelope giving the real name and address of the competitor. The papers should be sent on or before June 1, 1905, to

SOPHOMORES THE VICTORS.

The Freshmen Outnumbered in the Snow Battle, but Game to the Last--Wrestling Matches.

The annual snow battle, after several postponements, took place yesterday morning after chapel. The sophomores appeared in a body on the large snow pile in front of the Liberal Arts college, soon after chapel. They were there for a purpose, as evidenced by the old clothes and sweaters adorning them. Repeated class yells and challenges did not see the freshmen forthcoming for some time. The sophs soon heard that a band of the enemy were encamped at the southwest corner of the Liberal Arts. Forming a long double line the 1906 men advanced on the foe. The freshmen were small in number but game in spirit, and received their apponents in an admirable manner.

The committee of judges, Messrs George Moore '04, Harry Gardner '04, Robert Stone '05 and Ernest Sumner '05 Law, decided to settle the affair by individual wrestling matches.

The first contest was close and exciting. Smallwood '06 proved there was nothing small in his physical make-up when he met "Brawney" Davis the freshman. Each won a fall and on the third trial Smallwood won out neatly, although it was hard to distinguish him through his mask of mud. This latter element took an even more prominent part than did the snow in most of the matches.

The sophomores raised the victorious Smallwood on their shoulders and carried him around Liberal Arts college. The freshmen undaunted, also raised their defender aloft and gave him a yell.

The sophs again encamped on the original camp ground, and the freshmen were soon with them. Then the real fun began. After the snow balls had ceased at short range, there was a jolly, free-for-all, rough and tumble struggle between the combatants.

The large number of student spectators enjoyed the whole contest immensely. Many ludicrous scenes were witnessed. Some of the freshmen believed it their duty to wash the mud off the sophs' faces with snow, and galantly did so. The sophs thought the "frost" needed another salting and used snow for that purpose.

The inequality of freshmen and sophomores was soon evident. The 1907 men then put up "Young" Rice to wrestle a soph. While standing out awating all-comers, his larger brother Seward Rice dove into him. This match lasted for several minutes and was "nip and tuck," finally George Moore, chairman of the judges, declared it a tie.

The next struggle was between "Football" Coulter and "Debater" O. J. Brown '06. The freshman's physical superiority was soon evidenced by 1907 winning two successful falls on the 1906 man.

Harry Belcher '06 then heroically took his stand against Coulter. This was one of the closest contests of the day. Both men knew how to wrestle and showed their ability every second. After a short time this bout was declared off, since each men had won a fall by having a foul hold.

The bantam weights of both classes next appeared on the field. "Bantam" Baron '06 entered the lists with "Little Giant" Van Duser '07. The "Bantam" won the first and third falls after a swift, slippery struggle, Both men deserve credit for the great science they exhibited.

The last match was between Church '06 and Spencer '07, The former had a mighty hard struggle to win out, and was assisted materially by his weight.

The freshmen were greatly handicapped by the refusal of Captain Bob Stone of the 'Varsity crew to allow the husky freshman crew candidates to enter the lists. The 1907 men, in proportion to their number, can be said to have won the general rush, but counting all things the sophomores were the victors.

The judges displayed excellent ability in their work. The decisions of "Baldy" Moore were uniformly accurate and just. Some of the judges, however, held that the rush was unexpected by the 1907 class, and this accounted for the small proportion of the latter on the scene of battle. The final decision had nevertheless to go to the sophomores.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL.

In the interest of historical accuracy the Daily Orange desires to correct the statement made in a recent issue that the Summer School was established through the efforts of Dr. Street. We are informed that such a school was discussed in the faculty years before Dr. Street became a member of it. His relation to it was exactly the same as that of the other members of the Summer School faculty except that he was elected by them, director of the school.

The summer school is now a prominent feature connected with the University, and promises rapid and substantial growth in the future. The school offers excellent facilities to those students, who are back in their work, or desire special work of a varied nature. Syracuse is an ideal place for a summer school. It has all the facilities offered by a great University and a large city, with many of the pleasures of seaside resorts within a short distance. There is no doubt but that in time the Syracuse summer school will be one of the greatest in the country.

COMPLETE REHEARSAL OF KING LEAR

Characters Show Up Well---Kent Compelled To be Absent---Cast Excels.

The first full rehearsal of King Lear was held at the Wieting Opera House yesterday afternoon. The rehearsal was given without an audience other than the faculty of the English Department who are all intensely interested in the success of the production. Arthur J. Sheldon, who has been playing the part of Kent, was absent from rehearsal yesterday on account of the death of his brother. It is not yet known whether or not this will entail his giving up the part altogether. He has worked long and faithfully upon the part and has been giving it almost beyond criticism.

The rehearsal yesterday showed very well how the various characters were giving their parts. Prof. Losey's work as King Lear is beyond comment. His work, reflecting as it does his love for Shakspere and his sympathy with the part, is not equaled by many professionals.

The parts of the Duke of Albany, Duke of Bargundy, King of France and Duke of Cornwall, which are next in casts to the king are taken respectively by Seth H. Rice 05, Homer A. Stebbins '06, Seneca A. Ralph '05 and Roy Allen '04. Albany is the only one of these parts which calls for much action and is efficiently taken. Kent has already been spoken of.

There are two possible members of the cast for the part of the Earl of Gloster. They are W. J. Boyd '05, who is giving the part now and J. R. Rubin '04, who is acting as understudy. Both are acting the part well.

The part of Oswald, in which the actor has to play against the sympathies of the audience, is taken by Carl Rice '05. William Y. Boyd '06, is doing excellent work as Edmund, the villainous son of Gloster The part of Edgar the other son is taken by Clifford H. Searl '05. He does well in the several opportunities which are offered to him for combat.

The part of the Fool, probably the most difficult part, outside of Lear, to play and playright, is taken by Mr. Ternall, Law '06.

The parts of Goneral and Regun are well taken by Miss Hunt '05, and Miss Mary Benjamin '06. Not enough can be said of the excellent work which is being done by Miss Rose Heinan '06, in the part of Cordelia. Her part, which gives opportunity for much passionate work is taken as well as any part in the play with the possible exception of Lear. On the whole the cast is much better than any ever brought together by this University.

NEW MEDAL HERE.

The sample of the new design of the medal given by the Debating Union to the debaters on the different teams has been received on approval. The medal is somewhat smaller than the original one but the block S is heavier and the wreath around it, is not so sparse as before. Below the monogram where the wreath is joined together are two crossed gavels. Around the edge are the words "Syracuse University Debating Union." On the back will be engraved the debater's name, class and team in which the medal was won.

They will be made up in bronze for class team members, silver for members of a class team which win their debate, gold for intercollegiate men.

It is hoped to have all three ready for presentation on the night of the Wesleyan debate, March 28.

THE COLGATE GAME.

Arrangements are being made to have a large delegation go to the Colgate basketball game Saturday. The committee in charge announces that special rates can be secured if a crowd of eighty students will go to the game. The train will leave Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. so that no one will have to cut classes. A special set of coaches will bring the crowd back, arriving in Syracuse at 2 a. m. Sunday. All intending to go should notify Walter Baylis or Frank Sowers. The committee wish all names in by Thursday evening at the latest.

NOTICE TO FRESHMEN.

There are still a large number of freshmen who have not yet paid the annual class dues of fifty eents. The class treasurer will be in the Registrar's Office from 9:40 to 10 a. m., Thursday, March 10, and Saturday, March 12, for the purpose of receiving such dues. After this week the names of all freshmen having unpaid class dues will be published.

NOTICES.

The Fine Arts French club will meet at the Alpha Phi house Monday evening, March 14.

There will be a concert of the University Glee and Instrumental Clubs on Friday evening, March 11, in Lincoln Hall, High School.

Nominations for officers of the Y. M. C. A. for the new year must be handed to the committee before Thursday, March 10. The committee is Hyzer W. Jones, R. G. Rogers, P. A. Griesser.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

The man who has done things, the man who has braved all for the sake of right, drives home great truths by his very presence among us. Syracuse University has been fortunate in having as her guest Mr. Hotchkiss. Syracuse students have heard greater speakers, but rarely has any man come among us whose words have had such an enduring effect.

Mr. Hotchkiss' speech was more than mere words. It had behind it the force of a character whose strength and perseverence commands our deepest respect.

There is a demand in the University, and especially in the Hill colleges, for a student governing board of some kind. Cases come up every month in the year, which this board could handle to great advantage for the student body.

We shall mention only a few of the cases which could be treated by such committee. When a mass meeting is to be held in the University some individual, or set of individuals, has to get behind the matter and push it along. The same fact holds true when we think we need a celebration after winning some decisive victory.

Only yesterday a dispute arose which could have easily been settled by the said board. The freshmen appeared ready for the annual snow battle on Monday. The sophomores were around, and said they were not ready for the battle so did not appear on the field. Yesterday the 1906 men were all prepared and the freshmen were not there. Later, however, the freshmen showed the true Syracuse spirit by giving battle even when not in shape to do so.

The cases can readily be multiplied which such a student board could regulate.

We would suggest that there be placed on this committee four seniors, including the senior class president, the three presidents of the other classes and also the president of the Student Athletic Association. Some action should be taken on this matter at an early date. Spring is here and athletic and other victories are coming to us. Let us move in the matter.

THE STATE APPROPRIATION.

Resolved: That the New York State Legislature should appropriate $250,000 for the erection of a College of Agriculture at Cornell University; was the question discussed before the class in argumentation yesterday.

Messrs. Hoyler, Hartwell and Earl Rice ably presented the affirmative, urging an impartial consideration of the question. The affirmative showed that a good agricultural college was necessary in New York State and that a quarter of a million dollars could nowhere be expended in this purpose to better advantage than at Ithaca.

The negative, supported by Lewis, Goldstone and Boyd, maintained that the funds originally intended for endowment of agricultural colleges had been misappropriated by the Cornell authorities; and advocated distribution of State patronage. Decision was awarded to the negative.

BANQUET TO FOLLOW DEBATE.

Plans are under way for holding a banquet in honor of the contesting debating teams after the Wesleyan-Syracuse debate. Professor Losey announced yesterday before the argumentation class that one of the members of the Senior Debating Club had suggested that such an event be held, and expressed his opinion that a meeting together in that way of all the members of the various class debating societies would be beneficial to all concerned. A meeting of the debating union is to be called to discuss the matter and to present the plan before the various class societies for ratification.

If plans materialize the banquet will be held in one of the fraternity houses, March 28, immediately after the debate.

DR. MORGAN'S LECTURE.

Through a mistake on the part of a reporter the following was omitted from Monday's issue.

A large audience greeted Dr. Morgan of Harvard in the Assembly Hall of the University Block last Saturday evening. His lecture was on "The Religion of the Ancient Romans." The subject was definitely and logically discussed. The speaker presented it in such a way that everyone could not fail to get a clear view of the peculiarity of the Roman religion. The discussion included the general differences of the Roman religion, forms of worship, ideas in regard to the after life and the household gods. Reference was made to a number of Roman superstitions, some of which now exist.

Dean Smalley, in introducing Dr. Morgan, in his usual happy way, referred to the classical interest at Harvard and the important work of Dr. Morgan.

Professor Morgan expressed himself as very well pleased with his visit to Syracuse University. The latter was very glad to receive Dr. Morgan, even for a short time. It is hoped the Classical Club will continue its policy next year of having men from other colleges on its lecture course.

WESLEYAN DEBATE.

The intercollegate debaters are putting several hours a day upon the question which is to be discussed with Wesleyan March 28. Much interest is being observed among the students. It is fully expected that Crouse College chapel will be crowded on the night of the debate.

There is also quite a little interest being shown among the city people. Stewart F. Hancock, son of Theodore E. Hancock of this city, is one of the Wesleyan debaters. He has many friends in town and they are all rallying to his support. He is an ex-member of the High School Congress, which will, perhaps, attend in a body.

DR. MACE'S TRIPS.

Dr. Mace, head of the History department, will lecture at Asbury Park, N. J., on Thursday evening, March 10. He will give his celebrated lecture on "Lincoln and Douglass" under the joint auspices of the Ladies' Saturday Club and the American History class of the Asbury Park High School. Lynn E. Jennison '02 has charge of the latter class.

Early next week Dr. Mace will leave for Philadelphia, Pa. There he will attend the convention of the History Teachers of the Middle Atlantic States and Maryland.

DEBATE NOTES.

The 'Varsity debaters are each day getting their case better in hand.

Remember the date of the Syracuse-Wesleyan contest, Monday, March 28. Let nothing interfere with your plans to be present on that occasion.

Already work on the Allegheny question is being done. At least twelve are to try for places on the team.

HONOR SYSTEM DISCUSSED

Columbia, Yale and Minnesota Consider Plans.

The discussion of the merits and disadvantages of "Honor System" of examinations in vogue at Princeton, Wesleyan, Virginia, Vanderbilt and other institutions is arousing great interest in many of the universities and colleges. This discussion is at present particularly prominent at Yale and Columbia.

Last week the Seniors of Columbia University inaugurated a movement for the adoption of the Honor System in that institution. A committee of investigation reported that wherever the honor system has been introduced it has been a great success. After hearing the report the class voted in favor of adopting the Honor System at Columbia. However, a minority stood out against adopting the so-called "Honor System" at Columbia, because it involved student espionage, thus taking away its merit as a true Honor System. The Sophomore class has also met and discussed the question, voting almost unanimously for the adoption of the Honor System. This "Honor System," it was maintained, will do away with the all too prevalent cheating in examinations.

At Yale, the same question is engaging the attention of the students and debating societies. The Yale News of recent date, commenting editorially on the proposed plan says:

"Now we come to a subject most intimately affecting the student body—namely, the matter of supervision over tests and examinations Why should not this, more than all else, be left to the students rather than to the faculty? When a young man enters college he is supposed to leave behind him preparatory school ideas and methods, and to train himself for his life-work. In after life must he have his superior constantly overlooking his work? If not, why must he at college? Certainly a college man is as much to be trusted as any other. Looking at the present system merely in this one phase, and not considering the moral questions involved, there seems to be a decided need for a change.

The problem, then, which at once arises is, what system shall we adopt? At Princeton, at Vanderbilt University, and at the University of Virginia, honor systems have been adopted and have been considered successful. But there is a decided objection to be offered to this system—namely, the spying of one student upon another and the subsequent reporting of an infringement. In no sense of the word is this a true Honor System. It merely places the authority on one body of men rather than on another, while the individual responsibility of each man to himself is lost.

Realizing, then, that this form of the Honor System would be objectionable and, in fact, impossible at Yale, we believe that without exception the most desirable course to pursue is to adopt the so-called Honor Spirit. By this we mean both the placing of the control upon the student body and also the creating of strong sentiment in the college community against any and all forms of dishonorable conduct. In this way any infraction of the Spirit would imply social ostracism rather than Faculty punishment. This would not be an uncertain step, hitherto untried at other institutions, for such a system is in vogue at West Point. It has admittedly done a great deal towards elevating the standards of honor among the cadets at the Academy and so, also, among the army officers.

Of course it would take several years to put a system of this sort on a thoroughly sound basis, but at the same time there is no question but that it would raise the moral tone of the student community as soon as adopted."

At the University of Minnesota the honor system has recently been inaugurated. The "Princeton plan" has been adopted, involving a Student Honor Committee to whom all observed branches of honor must be reported by the students. The same plan has been in operation at Wesleyan University for several years. In that university the College Senate, made up of representatives from each class, comprise this Honor Board, to which every student is bound by honor and custom to report any dishonorable conduct in examinations.

According to reports from Princeton and Wesleyan, the moral setniment of the students is heartily in favor of reporting violations of honor to the honor committee. It is considered dishonorable not to do so.

Cornell has recently discussed the question, but the students voted down the proposition to introduce the "Princeton plan." There was almost unanimous sentiment that the reporting of fellow students, even to a student committee, was dishonorable.

CHALLENGE.

We, the undersigned, having been elected rush leaders by the class of 1907, inasmuch as it was not understood by the said class that a rush was to be held Tuesday, do challenge the sophomore class to another rush to be held in front of Liberal Arts College Saturday morning after chapel.

DWIGHT STONE,
H. H. ROBINSON,
Rush Leaders.

Dr. E. H. Kraus '96, of the Syracuse High School, will speak before the Onondaga Historical Association, Friday evening, March 11, on "Some Interesting Phases of the Salina Epoch."

The following freshmen were given practice on the water yesterday: Hares, Rogers, Spencer, Edwards.

FRESHMEN NOT SATISFIED

Are Now Looking for Another Chance to Meet 1906 Men---Contest Suggested

The majority of the freshmen are not satisfied with the result of the last underclass rush. They say that the contest came off when they were entirely unprepared. In view of their appearance the day before the rush and the non-appearance of the 1906 men, they hold that the rush should have gone to them by default.

They have no objection to the Board of Judges and their action under recent circumstances. Many however would like to see another contest mutually agreed on, and with the same judges.

The proposal is to have the matter settled in the gymnasium. Three wrestling matches to be held between champions of different weight from both classes. The final struggle to be determined by a tug of war with ten of the best men representing each class. The proposal also calls for this meet to be held some evening before the Easter vacation. Some wish an admission of ten cents to be charged to spectators, and the money made, be given to the track team. The matter will be settled by the classes this week.

ORATORICAL CONTEST.

The local oratorical contest of the Prohibition Club will be held Thursday, March 17, in the Wesleyan Methodist church. The Intercollegiate Prohibition Association of which the local league is a member, conducts each year the most extensive oratorical work of any association in American colleges. The winner of the local contest represents his club in a State contest and the winners in the state contests their states in the interstate contests. This year the successful contestants in the three interstate contests will speak at the St. Louis exposition for a prize of two hundred and fifty dollars.

The speakers in this local contest are: W. L. Chandler '06, subject, "Christian Expediency;" W. P. Moody '05, subject, "The Lawlessness of the Liquor Power;" J. C. Call '07, subject, "The Practicability of Prohibition," and Charles Perkins '07, subject, "The South Carolina Despensary."

The representative of the local club for the state contest will be chosen from these four men. This year the state contest will be held at Hamilton College, April 29. The cash prizes offered at that time will amount to twenty-five dollars. Representatives will be present from Cornell, Colgate, Rochester, Keuka and Hamilton.

ENGLISH CLUB MEETING.

The regular meeting of the English Club was held at the Alpha Phi house Tuesday evening. Mr. Paul Paine of the Post Standard was the guest of the evening, giving an address on some of the great editors of the past century. Among those noted were: Thomas Payne writer of "The Crisis" papers; Horace Greeley and his relation with the Civil War, and E. L. Godkin of the New York Post. The speaker's remarks were illustrated with numerous quotations from their editorial work. A number of peculiarly modern editorial utterances were also read, all interesting and some extremely humorous, but all showing the present tendency of editorial writing. The whole lecture was characterized by a dry humor, which was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

At the business session which followed, the Library committee made their report. The following rules for the use of the Seminar Library were adopted:

1.—Books must not be taken from the Seminar room.

2.—All books, after being used, must be returned to their places on the shelves.

3.—Students must not use the Seminar room for visiting or studying aloud to the annoyance of others.

A number of suggestions in regard to the Library were also made. The Seminar room will probably be kept open but the more valuable sets will be kept in locked book cases. A card catalogue of the Library will be begun in a short time. The Library, although still less than a year old, has now over a thousand dollars worth of books.

MONX HEAD.

The senior and junior members of Monx Head will give a dinner dance for that society alone on March 34, at the Yacht Club house.

NOTICES.

There will be a rehearsal of King Lear; Acts I and II, at 4 p. m. in the chapel.

The name of Mr. Edward D. Cronk, sophomore, College of Applied Science, was omitted from the catalogue by mistake. C. C. WILBOR, Registrar.

The Fine Arts French club will meet at the Alpha Phi house Monday evening, March 14.

There will be a concert of the University Glee and Instrumental Clubs on Friday evening, March 11, in Lincoln Hall, High School.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

The class in Rhetoric for those students who have dropped out of English I will meet in room 60 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4 o'clock.

Moving-up Day is not very far distant. It is possible for a movement to culminate by that time, which will bring in another good custom for Syracuse.

During this year a distinctive cap has been adopted and worn by the freshman class. The advantages of such a class cap are many but not necessary to repeat. It is for this reason we would suggest the following. The present freshmen when they come out on Moving-up Day as sophomores should appear in a distinctive sophomore cap, and leave the green cap for the 1908 men.

By the adoption of such action the underclasses hereafter will be readily recognized, and have better organization.

The upperclass men by the adoption of distinctive class hats would also be conserving their dignity, and firmly establishing an excellent college custom. We wish the various classes would take this matter under consideration at their next meeting.

OTHER COLLEGE NEWS.

COLUMBIA.

Columbia defeated Princeton in basketball last Friday night in a game characterized by sensational shots and rough play. The final score was 27 to 15. The 'Varsity will close its season with the Cornell game next Friday.

The junior class met recently and adopted a resolution in favor of the honor system.

MINNESOTA.

The University Circus given in the Armory recently was a great success. In addition to the usual menagarie and collection of freaks there were hair-raising acrobatical stunts and "pyramid building" by a squad of the strong men of the University. The circus has grown to be an annual affair.

There is some discussion of maintaining a University physician here. The scheme has proved a success at Chicago.

BROWN.

The faculty of Brown University have forbidden Brown's being represented by a baseball nine during the coming season, owing to the fact that the directors of the Athletic Association have passed a rule allowing a man who is not eligible according to regular intercollegiate rules, to play upon the Brown athletic teams.

DARTMOUTH.

At a meeting of the alumni, recently held in Boston, it was voted to raise a fund of a quarter of million dollars to rebuild Dartmouth Hall which was destroyed by fire.

H. G. Hooper '07, center on the football team and by many chosen for the All-America, died last Sunday, failing to recover from an operation for appendicitis.

CHICAGO.

President Harper was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital recently to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

The eleventh annual "Washington Promenade" was held in the new Bartlett gymnasium. This was the initial affair to be held in the gym.

PERSONALS.

Miss Anna V. Rice '04, spent Sunday at Utica, a guest of Miss Caroline Jenkins '02.

Miss Huler of Binghamton is visiting her cousin Miss Juliet Sheak '05, at the Alpha Phi house.

Miss Adelia Allen, ex '05, is spending the week at the Delta Gamma house.

Miss Florence Rhodes '06, is visiting her sister Mrs. William Henry in New York.

Miss Florence Tucker spent Sunday in Buffalo visiting friends.

Miss Daisy Bowles, of Frankfort, Miss Anna Hollif, of Canastota and Miss Vera Beeman of Phoenix, were guests at the Delta Delta Delta house on Sunday.

CAZENOVIA CLUB.

The Cazenovia club met with Miss Elizabeth Lewis at 805 University avenue, Monday evening. There was a large attendance. The school has the largest representation here in college of any preparatory outside of the city. There are thirty-six members in the club.

Committees were appointed to make arrangements for entertaining the members of the Seminary senior class at a banquet to be held in the Phi Gamma Delta chapter house the first of May. At the close of the business session there was a musical and literary program, after which games were played.

INFLUENCES OF UNIONS.

Mr. Arthur W. Holmes, second vice-president of the International Association of Machinists' addressed the class in Trade Unionism yesterday. Mr. Holmes outlined clearly the fundametal principle of the Unions, speaking of the Machinists' Union in particular.

The speaker maintained that no organization had been exerting a greater influence for good than the labor unions. Even the churches were not excepted. Mr. Holmes went on to show the great benefits material, intellectual and moral which had been the result of the actions and principles of the unions.

By Order of the King.

The recent sale of various relics of Queen Victoria is said to have much vexed the king, who has taken steps to prohibit the practice. His majesty has also given orders that Queen Victoria's chair in Whippingham (I. of W.) church is to be used by no one. It is now guarded by a red rope that is stretched around it to rail it off, and upon the chair have been placed the hymn book and prayer book that her majesty used.

Electrocuted.

As to the horse car line, Mr. Steuart remarked before the annual meeting of the Street Railway accountants that it had been electrocuted in almost every city. While there were 67 companies using animal power and 250 miles of track operated by such power, there were only 53 companies which used animal power exclusively, and their single track amounted to 158 miles, being an average of about three miles for each company.

Locally Believed.

The Dakota Indians think that the moon at its waning is eaten by little mice. The Polynesians believe that it is devoured by the spirits of the dead. The Kaffirs say that it wanes when, suffering from a headache, it puts its hand to its forehead and hides the latter from our view. The Eskimo imagine that the moon, harassed by fatigue, retires for a moment to take rest and food.

Canned Okra.

Canned okra is a delicious addition to beef soup in winter. One part of tomatoes to three parts of okra will supply sufficient acid to make the okra keep, though some folks think the more tomatoes the better the taste, and we often add onions to a part of the jars.—Good Housekeeping.

Doing His Best.

Gayeboye—I understand that Wildeboye's father left him nothing.

Highflyer—Nothing but his debts.

Gayboye—So? And how is the youngster getting on?

Highflyer—Very nicely, indeed. He's managed to increase his legacy $30,000! —Smart Set.

Matrimonial Item.

A Chicago paper stated that there were 8,500 women in that city who had been deserted by their husbands and left to support their families alone; and yet some persons are disposed to rail at the new woman because of an alleged indisposition to rush into matrimony.—N. Y. Times.

Widow's Row.

Of 30 residences on Norman street, a pretty thoroughfare of Harrington, Del., 13 are occupied by widows. Formerly 22 widows lived on Norman street, but nine of them became brides again. When the number got down to 13 the marriage business became dull.

Belonged to Frederick the Great.

The German emperor possesses a cane which belonged to Frederick the Great, who always carried it on his many battlefields. Frederick died in his armchair, having refused to take to his bed when dying, and he held this cane in his hand at the moment of his death.

Use American Tools.

For high-grade work requiring precision and excellence, there is to be found in nearly every machine shop in Germany a group of American tools—a silent tribute to the remarkable position held in the world to-day by the American machine tool's work.

VOL. I. NO. 125. SYRACUSE, N. Y., FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

PRIZES FOR SYRACUSE SONGS

Buffalo Alumni Asssociation Offers Several Prizes--Conditions of Contest.

To al Interested in Syracuse University:

The Syracuse University Alumni Association of Buffalo, N. Y., desires to present the following proposition to the public:

The sum of twenty-five dollars ($25) will be given as prize money for the writing and composing of both words and music for a Syracuse University song under the following conditions:

Fifteen dollars ($15) will be given to the person writing the best music for a song, said song to be furnished with words.

Ten dollars ($10) will be given the porson writing the best words for a song, said words to be furnished with music.

The song shall consist of at least three and not more than four verses, with chorus.

In case the same person composes both the words and music the sum of twenty-five dollars ($25) will be paid to the one person providing the judges determine that the son and words thus submitted are the best.

In the event of either words or music being submitted alone they will be considered in the contest only after being supplied with music or words, as the case may require.

The entire Buffalo Association of Syracuse University Alumni shall be the judges to determine the merits of the productions submitted.

If in the opinion of the judges none of the songs submitted merits the prize money or a place among the songs of the University, another contest will be called for.

The songs shall be submitted on or before May 1st, 1904.

All copy shall be sent to Rev. Robert B. Adams' 739 Best St., Buffalo, N. Y.

DEATH OF EDWIN R. BARBER

The members of the Pi chapter of Psi Upsilon were shocked yesterday morning at the receipt of a telegram from the Mount Pleasant Hospital, located at Mount Pleasant, Pa., announcing the death of one of their alumni brothers, Edwin R. Barber. Mr. Barber had been in the hospital for several weeks, suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, but it was believed that he was convalescing. He was graduated from Syracuse last June. During his four years here Mr. Barber took a prominent part in the Y. M. C. A. work of the University. His death will be mourned by all those who knew him.

INDOOR MEET.

An interclass indoor track meet was held in the gymnasium Wednesday evening. This was the first indoor meet of a similar nature held at Syracuse since 1900. Two Syracuse records were broken Wednesday evening. Ex-captain Lowe cleared the bar in the high jump at 6 feet. This was four inches higher than Lowe was able to do at the recent Buffalo meet. Captain Gardner also broke the University record in the pole vault, clearing the bar at 10 feet, 6 inches.

The main purpose of the meet was to try our new material. The freshmen showed up very well in all the events. The meet proved a decided success in every way. A summary of the events follows:

Bar Vault—W. C. Lowe, won; Holderbaum '06, second.

Eight-Yard Dash, Start—Lowe, won; White '07, second; Gridley '07, third.

Putting 16-pound Shot—VanDuyn '04 won; Tucker '06, second; Church '06, third. Distance, 36 1-2 feet.

Pole Vault—Gardner '04, won; Southworth '06, second. Height, 10 feet 6 inches.

Running High Jump—Lowe, won; VanDuyn '04, second; Hawkins '07, third. Height, 6 feet.

Standing Broad Jump—Lowe, won; Southworth '06, second; Powell '07, third. Distance 10 feet, 3-4 inches.

Judges—J. A. R. Scott, Whittemore and Distin '05.

DEBATING CLUBS.

Last night was the regular evening for the meeting of the various class clubs. Matters have not yet been adjusted so that all the clubs meet on the same evening. The juniors discussed the Syracuse Wesleyan question. It devolved into a very interesting discussion, and much good material was brought out.

The sophomores discussed the question: "Resolved, That the attitude of the United States in the Panama affair was unjust to Columbia." The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. Grant, Partridge, and Becker; the negative by Messrs. Anderson, Hale, and Gaertner.

Professor Losey presented before the clubs the proposed plan for holding a banquet immediately after the Syracuse-Wesleyan debate in honor of the contesting teams. The various clubs signified their desire to cooperate in making the affair a success.

LAST CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS.

As yet the efforts of the committee in charge of arranging for a special train to carry a crowd to Hamilton tomorrow have not been successful. The number necessary to secure return train tomorrow night has not as yet been secured. About fifty more men are needed. In case this number of men report their desire to accompany the team to Walter Baylis, Frank Sowers or Daniel Kelly, the special will be arranged for. This notice must be given today, otherwise those who go will have to stay in Hamilton over night.

BASEBALL ROUTINE.

Men Working Hard in Preparation for the Southern Trip.

Baseball practice during the past week has been more or less subject to the weather. For several nights the outfielders have been practicing out doors back of Steele Hall but last night the ground was too soft, and the men had to work in the cage. It had been hoped that by this time all the outfield might be receiving their daily try-out on dry ground. However, everything possible has been done to facilitate the indoor work.

During the past week nets have been placed at each end of the cage. Four batteries are tried out at the same time, two at each end of the cage. The batteries are divided into two squads, one working in the morning with Captain George Moore, and the other in the afternoon under the direction of Coach Henry Costello. All the pitchers are working out in good shape.

It is very fortunate that a southern trip has been arranged for the team, because according to the weather conditions now it looks as though the men would get little outdoor work before the big games, except that which they get on the southern trip.

The coach is hoping every day that the men will be able to get outdoors so that he will not have to make another cut in the candidates. It is rather difficult to accommodate so many candidates in such limited quarters, but with the men outdoors they would be able to get along very nicely. He especially dislikes to make a cut now, as he has just about enough men out for two nines.

Manager Edward Manley is not yet ready to publish the complete schedule of the team, as one or two games are not yet definitely decided upon. The team will leave March 30 on the southers trip. The completed schedule will appear in the Orange next week.

JUNIOR-SENIOR CLASS DEBATE.

The preliminary trials for the Junior-Senior class debate will be held in room 33-34 in the Hall of Languages, on Monday evening March 21, at eight o'clock.

Each contestant will please prepare an argument not exceeding ten minutes in length, on either the affirmative or the negative of the question: Resolved, That trades unions are injurious to industrial welfare.

From the six men who make the junior and senior teams, three will be chosen at the close of the class debate to represent the University in the coming intercollegate debate with Allegheny, to be held at Meadville, Pa., late in May.

Will all seniors and juniors, who are eligible for this contest and who intend to try for a place on one of the teams, please hand their names to me on or before March 15.

FREDERICK D. LOSEY.

BUFFALO ALUMNI MEET.

The regular monthly dinner of the Buffalo Association of Syracuse University Alumni was held in the new Y. M. C. A. dining rooms Tuesday evening. A subscription list for securing funds to be added to amount necessary for purchasing a shell for the University navy was started by the members present, subscribing and plans being made to secure further subscriptions. The association will endeavor to raise $200.00 by popular subscription.

It was reported that President C. M. Underhill was suffering from a fractured limb and hence his absence was explained. A committee was appointed to present him with the compliments and sympathy of the members of the association.

The question of holding a contest for securing a new University song was discussed. Among those present were: Dr. G. W. Peck, Rev. R. B. Adams, Richard Templeton, D. F. Phelps, J. Middleton, E. H. Olmstead, C. E. Brandt, C. A. Hall, W. H. Kirkwood.

SPECIAL RATES.

Special railroad rates to be obtained for the Memorial Day regatta and for the intercollegiate championships The managers of the Memorial Day Regatta on the Schuylkill river on May 30th and the Intercollegiate championships on Franklin Field, Philadelphia, are negotiating with the railroads and they hope to get a special rate for students and graduates desiring to visit Philadelphia at the time of these sports. It is their aim to get a rate so that the visitor may leave his home on Thursday, May 26th and not be compelled to leave Philadelphia until after the 30th when these events will be finished. This action is sure to meet with favor as there are hundreds desiring to visit and attend these very important games.

We take great pleasure in publishing a full and complete announcement of the provisions made by the Buffalo Alumni Association relative to the college songs which they have originated. It is eminently fitting that the Alumni Association should itself award the prizes it offers. The committee appointed here at Syracuse will confine its efforts to arousing interest among other associations and to providing for the final publishing of the Syracuse song book which we are all hoping to enjoy in the not distant future.

An inter-collegiate event of which the student body knows too little is the State Oratorical contest which is to take place at Schenectady on Friday evening, March 11. At this contest representatives from Rochester University, Union College, and Syracuse University, will strive for oratorical supremacy and incidentally for the handsome key which will reward the winner. The representative of Syracuse in the contest is Joseph A. Mosher '05. Mr. Mosher is a man skillful not only in the art of speech, but also in the investigation, analysis, and the ability to use words, so essential to the oration itself. Mr. Mosher's subject "The Awakening of Russia" is of more than ordinary interest at this time when Russia herself is engaged in a contest for supremacy in the East. Whatever the verdict of the judges may be, we feel that with Mr. Mosher as our representative, the oratorical reputation of Syracuse is safe.

There is a necessity for better order in the lower halls immediately after chapel. A large crowd of men usually congregate at that time in front of the post-office boxes. The number of men usually grows to such proportions, and then group themselves in such a way that it is often nearly impossible for any of the young ladies to make their way to and from the class rooms.

On Thursday when the freshmen meet for Roman History the problem of a passage way is even more difficult of solution. The remedy for this state of affairs is not hard to find. If everyone who stands about would keep to one side of the hall, there would be no difficulty in keeping a clear passage. Syracuse men are noted for courtesy, and "a word to the wise is sufficient."

Do you want to take advantage of an excellent opportunity to enjoy a typical college outing at little expense? Are you desirous of visiting Colgate and exhibiting a little of that college spirit which has been hibernating so long? The basket ball team needs your support and you need the inspiration that a display of that support will bring you. If you believe that it will be possible to take the trip and attend the game, notify a member of the committee at once. Delay in this matter will mean a failure in the plans of the committee.

Considerable discussion has been aroused over the origin of the challenge published in yesterday's Orange. The explanation in another column will suffice to clear away misunderstandings. The challenge did seem verdant in the extreme; but since it was presented by a member of the freshman class with the authorization of a prominent officer of the class, there seemed to be no valid reason for failure to publish the document.

"Foxy Grandpa," which comes from a successful run of fifteen weeks at the 14th Street Theatre, New York city, is given the last half of this week. It is said to be replete with catchy musical numbers, graceful dances and comic surprises. The play owes its being to Joseph Hart and Carrie Dellbar who head the company brought together by William A. Brady. "Foxy Gradpa" is the work of a hitherto untried and unknown dramatist, R. Mellville Baker, and its inspiration was the series of cartoons which have been amusing the world for a year or two. Matinees Thursday and Saturday.

UNIVERSITY HERALD.

The March number of the Herald has just been issued. It contains the usual number of stories and poems. A. F. Williams contributes a poem entitled, "One Song." The readers of the Herald are all familiar with the interesting stories from the pen of Lawrence A. Wilkins. He has a story in this issue called "Panicky Brackett and His Brindle Book." Arthur Fremont Rider contributes the fourth of his "Sonnets of Today." "Shadows" is the title of a short story by Eleanore Cross, and "The Red Squirrel's Raid" of a poem by Anna Hunt Moore. These are followed by an amusing story by Jennie Elizabeth Gilbert called "Peter's Last Scrape." The interesting and much looked for article on the Reflections of a College Dooley appears in this issue. In the Alumniana Department, Edgar A. Lowther '01, contributes an interesting article entitled "Ethnic Composition of the New England States." The remainder of the issue is composed of alumni news, and a review of the happenings of the month.

NO CHALLENGE.

The freshmen deny the validity of the challenge to the sophomores, which appeared in yesterday's Daily Orange. The leaders, Messrs. Stone and Robinson, say such a challenge never received their signature and is therefore void.

LAW COLLEGE TO BE MOVED

A New Building Will Probably Soon be Erected Down Town.

This is a settled fact. For some time the University authorities have recognized that the present location of the Law College is not adequate for the constantly growing numbers in that department. About a year ago the matter was taken up serlously by the trustees and a change has practically been decided upon. When the change will take place largely depends on settling the question "Where?"

Some favor a building on the campus because it would tend to bring the different departments closer together and make the University more of a unit.

But the weight of argument seems in favor of the down town location, probably near the site of the new court house. Books, office work and the opportunity of coming in contact with the workings of the courts compel the law student to spend a large portion of his time down-town. Then, too, a location on the campus would necessarily break up the present system of instruction by men who are practicing attorneys, and perhaps destroy that system entirely.

Dean Brooks, in speaking of the matter yesterday to an Orange reporter, said that a change of location was necessary in order to attain to the highest ideals of the college; and when once the best location was determined, the matter would be pushed rapidly to completion. His opinion was that it would be a mistake to substitute as instructors men who knew the law only in theory for those who know it by theory and practice combined.

CREW WORK BEGUN IN EARNEST

Coach Ten Eyck yesterday took out three four-oared crews of freshmen on the water. It is impossible yet to take out an eight, as there is no place in the lake large enough to turn the boat around with a green crew. The ice will probably not break away until the weather moderates. The men are still very awkward, but are doing as well as might be expected.

Those who went out yesterday are: Wygant, Michelson, Rice, Brown, Mount, Hale, Andrews, Davis, Packard, Armstrong, Robertson, Cummings.

The 'Varsity are on the machines under the direction of Captain Stone.

SYRACUSE-COLGATE GAME

The Syracuse basketball team plays the last game of the season tonight against Colgate University at Hamilton. The team has had a very successful season, all things considered, and are in good shape to play their best this evening. The team will be accompanied by several enthusiastic basketball supporters from the hill, and the student body should unite in giving them a royal sendoff for their last game. The train will leave the West Shore station at 1:15. Prof. Scott or V. V. Roseboro will accompany the team. The lineup will be as follows:

Syracuse.	Colgate.
Forwards.
Kirchgasser	Runge
Twombly	Brooks
Center.
Powell	Stringer
Guards.
Houseknecht (Capt.)	Brigham (Capt.)
Brady	Green

PHI DELTA THETA BANQUET.

The local chapter of Phi Delta Theta held its annual alumni banquet at the Yates last evening. Dr. T. C. Hopkins acted as toast master and the following toasts were responded to: "Our Reliance, the Lawyers," E. C. Ryan '91; "College Men," Wm. F. Hodge '93; "Our Fraternity," Edwin C. Baltzley, Case '99: "The Strength of Our Chapter," F. M. Edson '03; "Wise Men," C. Warner Mills '98; "The Outlook—Our Future," G. G. Merry '04: Impromptu, Omnes Fratres.

The following among the alumni were present: Dr. J. W. Matthews, Washington and Jefferson; Dr. J. H. Irish, Williams; Dr. C. F. Simmons. Minnesota; L. C. Race, Wisconsin; S. E. Sprade, Jas. Devine, E. A. Hill, M. R. Sanford, Dr. S. B. Creighton, H. R. Jaquay, E. P. Turner, Dr. C. F. Wiley, Dr. A. E. Larkin; W. W. Nichols, A. D. Steele, H. B. Tilbury, Dr. J. D. Shipman, T. H. Munroe, H. S. Kelley, Dr. J. W. Plant, A. A. Gannett, H. H. Simpson, W. D. Tisdale, N. D. Waffle, R. L. Skinner, Dr. F. S. Honsinger, W. W. Westell, F. G. Cregg, T. W. Taylor.

WORKERS IN COLLEGE.

Columbia students earned $75,000 last year, according to a report just prepared by Reuben A. Meyers, secretary of the university committee on student employment. In the fall term, 168 graduates earned $14,637.13, of which $6,274.79 was made through the good offices of of the faculty committee and $8,362.34 was garnered by students on their own account.

The most lucrative line of work was teaching. An interesting part of the report shows that of the sixteen highest general honor men in college eight are working their way in whole or in part; of the 131 general honor men in the four academic classes, 46 are earning their way by extra collegiate pursuits, and of the nine departmental prize winners eight reported outside earnings.

CONCERT BY MUSICAL CLUBS

Closed the Series of Lectures and Concerts Given by Historical Association.

The last number of the series of lectures and concerts given under the auspices of the History departments of Syracuse University and High School, occurred last evening. PHILOSOPHICAL CLUB.

All the majors and minors in Philosophy are requested to meet for a few minutes at the close of Professor Coddington's address on Monday evening. Important business will come before the meeting.

THE GERMAN CLUB.

The German Club will hold its next regular meeting Tuesday evening. One of the interesting features will be the presentation of a paper in German by the students. Mr. Lowe '03 will be the editor and will have several associates.

Prof. A. C. Flick will deliver a lecture on "Russia and the Eastern Question," before the Men's Club of All Soul's church on Monday evening. Professor Flick has also been invited to deliver the annual address before the Literary Clubs of Albion, N. Y., on next Tuesday night.

NOTICES.

Professor C. B. Thwing will deliver an illustrated lecture to the classes in Psychology I, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock on "Physiological or Laboratory Psychology."

The regular meeting of the Biological Seminar will be held Monday, March 14 at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Dr. Smallwood in Walnut Ave. Thesis reports will be given by Mr. Henderson, Mr. McLachlan and Mr. Young. Topics for semester reviews will be assigned at this time. There will also be a discussion on bibliographic methods. All members are requested to have their notebooks at hand.

The last basketball game of the season for Syracuse will be played at Hamilton tonight. The Orange five will meet the strong Colgate team on the latter's own floor. The contest promises to be the closest of the year.

The team and those interested will leave the central station about 2:30 this afternoon. A large crowd who cannot attend the game can at least see the men off. In doing this they will improve considerably the chances for victory to our men.

As perhaps the students have noticed, the halliards of the flagpole broke in the wind storm last week and became unreefed. Before another flag can be raised the pulley at the head of the mas, approximately 100 feet from the ground must be threaded. To unstep the topmast and lower the same to the ground is going to be a long, difficult and costly operation. The only alternative is for some one to scale the mast and again reef the flag cords. For an agile climber, well equipped with irons, this would be no very difficult task.

Just at present the student body, since the snow fight fiasco, is yearning for a little excitement. Lets get up a $10.00 purse from the student body, stretch a fire-net around the bottom in case of a possible fall, and then gather on the campus some pleasant afternoon to see the fun. We dare say there will be fifty candidates from the freshman class alone. The pole is strong and climbing is easy, but to reach the top will require some little muscle and nerve. Who wants some fun? And who wants that $10?

The trustees of the University have given Chancellor Day power to select a site for a new law college. It now seems highly probable that within a few years Syrscuse will be favored with a separate building for a law college. Such a building is a much needed addition to the University. The present quarters in the University Block are wholly inadequate. The rooms, although convenient to the libraries and courts, are altogether to small to accommodate properly the present number of students and classes. Besides there facts, a very disagreeable thing about the present situation is that the students can not be by themselves at all. They are not able to feel the real college spirit as they would if they were in a seperate building. A new building, we understand, would not be constructed on the hill. The season for keeping the college down town, is that the students may have a ready and convenient access to the libraries and courts.

Another building which the University is contemplating erecting in the near future is a new gymnasium. The need of such a building has been felt at Spracuse for a long time. The present building is entirely too small to accommodate the number of students required to take this work. The same building is also used for the various athletic teams to train in, the basketball games, and the meetings of the Christian Associations. There should be a separate building for the Christian Associations, and it is our earnest hope that the time may not be far distant when our campus may be adorned with such a structure, as well as a first class gymnasium.

"Foxy Grandpa," which comes from a successful run of fifteen weeks at the 14th Street Theatre, New York city, is given the last half of this week. It is said to be replete with catchy musical numbers, graceful dances and comic surprises. The play owes its being to Joseph Hart and Carrie Dellbar who head the company brought together by William A. Brady. "Foxy Gradpa" is the work of a hitherto untried and unknown dramatist, R. Mellville Baker, and its inspiration was the series of cartoons which have been amusing the world for a year or two. Matinees Thursday and Saturday.

SYRACUSE LOSES TO COLGATE

Orange Five Defeated at Hamilton---Colgate Too Strong in First Half.

The strong Syracuse basketball team was defeated by Colgate Saturday evening at Hamilton by the score of 24 to 12.

The Syracuse men were slow in getting into the game in the first half. Colgate made their first point by throwing a foul on Syracuse and then Runge threw three baskets in succession. There was much fouling on both sides. The score at the end of the first half was 18 to 4. In the second half the Syracuse men took a brace and outplayed their opponents but could not overcome the big lead of the first half. In this half Brigham, Colgate's captain slipped and fell so hard, he could not go into the game for ten minutes. Runge played a star game for Colgate, and Powell did the best work for Syracuse.

Line up:

Syracuse.	Colgate.
Forwards.
Kirchgasser	Runge
Twombly	Brooks
Center.
Powell	Stringer
Guards.
Houseknecht (Capt.)	Brigham (Capt.)
Brady	Green

Referee—Roseboro of Syracuse. Umpire—Burt of Hamilton. Baskets—Kirchgasser, 1; Powell, 1; Runge, 5; Brooks, 3; Brigham, 2. Fouls—Powell, 8; Runge 4.

LENTEN GOSPEL SERVICES.

Beginning tonight and continuing, Saturdays excepted, until Easter, Gospel meetings will be held at University Avenue M. E. church to which a cordial invitation is extended to the College community. The object of these services is the development of the spiritual life, and the quickening of spiritual aspirations. The pastor will preach briefly at each meeting after a 7:45 song service. Mrs. W. R. Walker, Mr. Snow and Mr. Hoey will render assistance as soloists. The general theme for the first week, "Privileges of the Christian Life."

PERSONALS.

Miss Helen Thrall of Gouveneur visited Miss Johnson '06 over Sunday.

Miss Helen Potter '06, is spending several days with her parents in Casaville.

Miss Nettie Van der Wauker who has been the guest of her neice, Miss Trolan '06, returned to Antwerp on Friday, accompanied by Miss Trolan, who will remain over Sunday.

Miss Winifred Reynolds '02, spent Friday and Saturday at the Delta Gamma house.

SYRACUSE WINS ORATORY MEDAL

Joseph A. Mosher '05 won the annual Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest between the universities of Rochester, Union and Syracuse, held at Union last Friday erening. The decision was reached by an unanimous vote of the judges who were, for delivery: Rev. Henry Cooper, Prof. Arthur Marvin, Rev. George E. Talmage; and for thought and style, Prof. Archibald L. Bouton of New York University.

The other contestants were Archibald Hamilton Rutledge '04, Union College, whose subject was "General John B. Gordon," and Solomon J. Applebaum '05, Rochester, whose subject was "Robert E. Lee." Mr. Mosher's subject was "The Russian Awakening." According to the Schenectady Gazette, his speech was characterized by a forceful, vigorous and earnest delivery. His dominating theme was the beneficial effect on Russia of her despotic militarism. He depicted the internal condition of Russia today and said that her only hope for the future lay in her securing patriotic statesmen who would abandon foreign aggrandizement of work at home at home for their country's welfare.

There have been ten of these contests, out of which Syracuse has won five. The last contest won by Syracuse was won in 1900 by William John Henry.

The March meeting of the Onondaga Academy of Science will be held in the Historical Rooms, Syracuse Savings Bank Building, on Friday the 18th at 4:30 p. m. Principal Guy Bailey of the Onondaga Valley Academy will lecture on "Bird Photography;" and Dr. E. H. Kraus will present a "Note on a New Occurrence of Serpentine." The meeting promises to be one of unusual interest, and all persons, whether members of the Academy or not, are invited to be present.

PREACHERS' CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Preachers' club will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30. Outlines of sermons are to be presented by Louis C. Wright and L. B. Chalou and a criticism of them will be made by Professor G. A. Wilson.

NO PRIZE OFFERED.

A mistake was made in the Saturday issue of the Evening Herald, which declared that the Daily Orange had offered a prize of $10 to anyone who would climb the flag pole and fix the broken rope.

The Daily Orange wishes to announce that it has not and does not offer any such prize.

PHILOSOPHICAL CLUB.

All the majors and minors in Philosophy are requested to meet for a few minutes at the close of Professor Coddington's address on Monday evening. Important business will come before the meeting.

Students are requested to call and get our special prices on photos—either singly or in groups. M. H. BUNN, Photographer, 402 S. Salina St.

CHANGES IN LIBRARY

Changes in Senior Work ---New Instructor--The Reid Estate.

Some necessary changes have been made in the Library economy courses. Dr. Sibley has been obliged to give up his work, owing to protracted illness.

Miss Emerson, a graduate of Mt. Holyoke college and a teacher of thirty years experience in secondary schools, will have charge of the course in English Literature. The feature of this course is the bibliographical work.

Miss Emerson will also conduct a course in Book Selections. This work has never been given separately before. It will be one of the required senior subjects.

Chancellor Day has arranged for the use of part of the bequest left to the University library last year by the death of Mrs. J. Reid, the widow of the late Dr. John M. Reid. The annuity is $6,000, of this a half will be used for the purchase of books and a half to enlarge the library force.

THE ORATORIO "SAINT PAUL."

It is expected that Prof. Louis B. Phillips will be able to renew work with the chorus class next Wednesday at 10 o'clock. Professor Phillips has been confined to his apartments with a serious illness for several weeks and in the event of his inability to be out, the work will be continued under the direction of Mr. William A. White. Mr. White who was mainly responsible for the splendid concert given by the University band, is in every way qualified to make a success of the enterprise. Mendelssohn's "Saint Paul" is to be the next Oratorio given and owing to his decided success with "Stabat Mater" Professor Phillips may be certain of great interest in the matter on the part of the students. All the colleges should be well represented in the chorus.

SOCIETY AND PERSONAL.

Judson J. Everson of Batavia was the guest of Harry E. Woolever '07 recently.

Miss Lola Searles '05, who for the past few days has been ill with the grip, is now much improved.

Alpha, of Gamma Phi Beta, was entertained at an auction party, given by the Alumnae chapter at the home of Mrs. Dinsmore on University Avenue.

Miss Gladys King of Ilion is visiting her sister, Miss Hazel King, at the Gamma Phi Beta chapter house.

Miss Marion Diefendorf '06, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever for the past two months, has so far recovered as to permit of her being removed to her home, at Canajoharie.

Solon E. Groff and Miss Florence Groff of Palatine Bridge were guests of friends on the Hill over Sunday.

NOTICES.

The Liberal Arts French Club will meet Wednesday evening, March 16, at 7:30, with Miss Clarke, 112 Comstock avenue, instead of with Miss Meter as previously announced.

LAWRENCE A. WILKINS, Pres.

Professor Bushnell will give a Latin reading from Livy and Nepos in room 37 of the College of Liberal Arts at 11 a. m., Saturday, March 19. The subject is "The Battls of Cannae and Hannibal's Later Career." Those interested will be welcome.

Professor C. B. Thwing will deliver an illustrated lecture to the classes in Psychology I, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock on "Physiological or Laboratory Psychology."

The regular meeting of the Biological Seminar will be held Monday, March 14 at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Dr. Smallwood in Walnut Ave. Thesis reports will be given by Mr. Henderson, Mr. McLachlan and Mr. Young. Topics for semester reviews will be assigned at this time. There will also be a discussion on bibliographic methods. All members are requested to have their notebooks at hand.

Dr. Coddington will give an address in Assembly Hall, Monday evening, his subject being "Phases of Pessimism."

All desiring to compete for the prize offered by the Buffalo Alumni Association for the composition of a Syracuse song should read carefully the provisions of the contest in Friday's Orange. Remember, all copy must be submitted to Rev. Robert B. Adams, 739 Best St., Buffalo, N. Y., before May 1st.

What's the matter with Mosher? someone wrote on the bulletin announcing the victory of Syracuse in the Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest held in Schenectady Friday evening; and all who read the bulletin expressed enthusiastically their answer to the question.

Oratory does not have all the popular features of other intercollegiate contests; we cannot see the orator develop day by day, as does the athlete on field and track. The development of an orator is accompanied by no less laborious work than that of the athlete; but this preparatory work is recognized by the public to only a small degree. All at once the welling emotions and the vivid imagination find expression in a speech that stirs men's hearts and we say "an orator is born."

Let us welcome Mr. Mosher as his abilities and brilliant work deserve. Let us show our appreciation for the work that he has done and promote a more general desire among our fellows for attaining a higher standard in public speech.

In justice to the Buffalo Alumni Association we wish to correct a report that was recently given out in the city papers to the effect that said alumni were to pay the whole cost of a new 'Varsity shell. The association in Buffalo is comparatively small, but is very enthusiastic for Old Syracuse.

The alumni there have started an excellent movement for a distinctive Syracuse song book, and offered suitable prizes for new songs and music. Further, they have promised to raise a good share of the total sum needed for a 'Varsity shell. It is for these and other good works on their part that unstinted praise should be given that association.

We venture to say that if all the other alumni associations would show as much "push" and spirit, in proportion to their number, the fame of our great University would be still further enhanced.

STUDENTS BEWARE!

A warning was sounded by the city papers a short time ago for Syracuse people to be on their guard for bogus money placed in circulation in the cities of Rochester and Buffalo. The timeliness of this warning has been brought home to the students of Syracuse by the fact that several of their number have been "buncoed" by receiving lead half-dollars, worth between three and four cents—another case of "sixteen to one." As near as can be learned the victims of this scheme have not been law students, medics or engineers, who are skilled in the ways of the world: but certain men from the Fine Arts, who, dwelling as they do in the "skies above," have little time to think of earthly things. Had it been a freshman who was the victim, the writer would not consider it necessary to utter this word of warning; but as the victim was a senior, the matter seems of sufficient consequence to be called to the attention of all. Look out for your half-dollars! Silver ones are better than lead ones to pay organ rent with. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

Emile Bergerat's "More than a Queen" with Miss Annie Sutherland as Josephine and William Humphrey as Napoleon, supported by a carefully selected company, is presented the first half of the week with matinees Monday and Wednesday.

The play was translated and adopted by Charles Henry Weltzer and Charles Frederic Uirdlinger, and was originally produced by Miss Julia Arthur. Miss Sutherland possesses wonderful force, a regal presence and a fine perception of the requirements of the role she takes. Mr. William Humphrey is unequalled in his portrayal of the characteristics of "The Man of Destiny." The play comes from a ten week's run at the Broadway Theatre, New York.

Professor Bushnell will speak upon the subject "Latin Easter Hymns" to his 2 p. m. class in the Classical Seminar room, on Thursday, March 24. Prose and verse translations will be given some account of the authorship and structure of the hymns. Those interested in this timely subject will be welcome.

JUNIOR-SENIOR CLASS DEBATE.

The preliminary trials for the Junior-Senior class debate will be held in room 33-34 in the Hall of Languages, on Monday evening March 21, at eight o'clock.

Each contestant will please prepare an argument not exceeding ten minutes in length, on either the affirmative or the negative of the question: Resolved, That trades unions are injurious to industrial welfare.

From the six men who make the junior and senior teams, three will be chosen at the close of the class debate to represent the University in the coming intercollegate debate with Allegheny, to be held at Meadville, Pa., late in May.

Will all seniors and juniors, who are eligible for this contest and who intend to try for a place on one of the teams, please hand their names to me on or before March 15.

GUIDES AT ST. LOUIS.

The position of Chair Guide offers to young men of ability and willingness the very best opportunity possible for the study of this great Exposition in all its varied phases, because the Roller Chairs go everywhere, and the Guide's duty is to study the Exposition and explain it to his patrons. It also offers great opportunity for making large and valued acquaintance from all over the world. The young man who comes to study and earn money will find a splendid opportunity because, by energy, courtesy and willingness to impart information to his patrons, he not only receives the 30 per cent of the earnings of his Chair, which we pay him, but experience shows that the gratuities from pleased patrons amounts to as much or even more, and he builds up by his own efforts a clientage that will keep him constantly employed. In other words, it is up to the young man himself. If he comes simply as an automaton to push a chair, he had better not come. If he comes to work and not play, to study and makes his services and his information valuable to others, he will be most amply repaid.

Rates to Patrons for chair service will be 60 cents per hour.

The guide's compensation will be 30 per cent of the earnings of his chair and all gratuities.

Expenditures—Uniform, with cap to measure, $20.50; of which $8.00 must be deposited upon notice from us of employment—balance on arrival.

Photographic season pass, $2.00.

Railroad fare to and from St. Louis.

Board, lodging and incidentals, about $6.00 per week.

YALE.

Yale and Columbia's swimming teams will meet in the N. Y. A. C. tank on March 19, in a dual meet.

At the Yale-Princeton debate to be held in Princeton on March 25, Yale will have the negative of the question, "Resolved, That the U. S. was warranted in recognizing the independence of Panama.

CORNELL.

The sophomore class met recently and passed resolutions of regret for the injuries done to several members of the freshman class when the latter body attempted to hold its banquet. Pepper and silver nitrate were used freely by some of the sophomores. The injured freshmen have requested that no action be taken by the faculty against the sophomores.

Mr. Courtney has again taken up his work with the crews after several days illness. The present hard winter has thrown the work back and it is doubtful if the crews will be on the water for some time.

MICHIGAN.

William Jennings Bryan will delivered a lecture to the students Saturday afternoon.

A great mass meeting will be held on March 22, for the purpose of welcoming the party of prominent German scholars who will be visiting the University at that time.

Debate Today in English III---Tickets on Sale for Wesleyan Debate.

The team of sophomores who go to meet the Orophelian society at Alfred University a week from today are to be given sharp practice in a debate upon the question in Professor Losey's class in Argumentation at 12 o'clock in the library today. The team which is to stand up against them consists of Loomis Baldrey '04, Fred L. Hartwell '04, and Robert Park '05.

They have prepared a good case and a warm fight is expected. The Alfred team will in this be given practice in rebuttal. The team as finally made up is Jacob C. Tressler, Oscar J. Brown and Albert J. Croft.

Tickets for the Syracuse-Wesleyan debate will be placed on sale this morning.

THE GERMAN CLUB.

The German Club is having remarkable success this year; and is exerting a great influence in the Liberal Arts College. The German department library has been greatly increased recently by new books and magazines. These were purchased by the German Club.

The regular meeting of the club will be held this evening in the gymnasium. A special feature of the meeting will be the reading of a paper in German by Editor William C. Lowe and his associates. Those who will participate in this are: Editor, W. C. Lowe; Foreign News, Cathia Eastman; Home, Maud Tucker; Literary, Margaret Green; Wants, C. Helfer; To Rent and For Sale, Miss Allis; Athletics, Ed Packard; University News, R. Bosworth; Letter, E. Roeder; Ads, May Meter.

Solos will be given by F. W. Snow and others. Dr. Otto will recite Goethe's "Zueignung." Refreshments will be served. The public is ocrdially invited.

KING LEAR REHEARSALS.

The rehearsals this week will be held as follows:

Tuesday, 4 p. m., Acts I and II.

Wednesday, 4 p. m., Acts III, IV and V.

Thursday 2 p. m. (if possible, at Wieting) complete rehearsal.—Supernumeraries report.

Friday, 4 p. m., Act I.

If the Wieting can not be obtained Thursday, some other place will be provided for the complete rehearsal.

The "sandwich army" of London is over 7,000 strong. In the service of one advertising contractor have been clergymen, doctors, architects, actors, clerks, and even a former wealthy squire. Sheer misfortune, as a rule, presses men into the work, but, according to a well-known contractor, drink is the chief recruiting sergeant of the army of board-bearers, whose ordinary wages vary from one shilling to two shillings a day.

To Foil the Rats.

To keep rats away from vegetables a simple way is to set four bricks on end and set the barrel on top of these bricks, using the bricks for legs of the barrel. This places the barrel at such a hight that the rat cannot reach it to gnaw, neither can he climb up, for the reason that the bricks are inside the chine and when he reaches up he strikes the bottom of the barrel and cannot go any further.—Good Housekeeper.

The proximity of the coming intercollegiate debate and the interest that is being shown in it, leads us to a little query into a debater's training and its results both for himself and the college. It is true that the field of the debater is smaller as regards the number of colleges reached, but in spite of this, no other team in the University does so much to bring this college in touch with another, as the debate team. For several months before an approaching debate the members of the team read, read and read, consult official documents, meet and talk, then read again, then read and write, read and rewrite.

A weary round to be sure, but nevertheless it must be undergone before a debate can be perfected. Six, and sometimes eight hours a day are spent in this work.

What encouragement do the debaters receive? They are never cheered in practice as are our other teams. No one comes up after the day's training is over, slaps them on the back and says: "Great, old man." No ringing S-y-r for the debater as he trots out on the field to begin his work for the day.

No, indeed. The writer even remembers at a certain time last spring, when the 'Varsity debating team had put up one of the best debates ever heard in town, that an attempt to give the team a cheer resulted in utter failure from lack of enthusiasm.

Are we appreciating debating in this University enough? Are we preparing to support the team in their coming debate? Are we preparing to show the coach that we appreciate his work in coaching two intercollegiate teams and in preparing to coach another? In short, are we going to turn out and support the Wesleyan debate?

There are a few self-searching questions. They will be answered March 28.

Just a word in regard to the flag-pole incident. The purpose of the recent editorial on the subject was avowedly, not the re-reefing of the halliards, (any lineman in the city would do that for fifty cents,) but to furnish a topic for undergraduate conversation. We point to a few proofs of our success in this matter: 1, Several students not hitherto aware of the existence of a flag-pole have become enlightened; 2, Ambitious students in trigonometry have worked over-time to make calculations of the height of the pole (N. B.—the resultant answers vary by some fifty feet.). 4. Any reader of of the Orange will certify as to the stimulation of general conversation. (Several heated debates on the practicability or possibility of raising $10.00 have been noted.)

Among the letters received on the subject, (we would like to print them all) none gave us greater pleasure than that of a prominent and well meaning alumnus who asks: "Has the writer of that editorial so little knowledge of the workings of a Freshman's mind, as to perceive such ideas once presented, are likely to be taken up by him and lead to reckless action? To be sure, the death of a fool would be no great loss, but it would perhaps cause unpleasant sensations among his relatives, and the editorial space of the Orange would have to be cut some day to give room for resolutions of regret at his untimely (or timely) decease." We regret exceedingly that the author's prohibition prevents us from publishing the whole of a really interesting letter.

But besides this—our main objects—we have helped to while away Dr. John's idle moments, for two days he has been besieged by Freshmen aspiring for $10.00. It is understood, however, that not one has so far appeared, who was not at all anxious when he found out the aforesaid $10.00 was not forthcoming. We have furnished the overworked college reporter of the Herald with material for an exciting leader, by the way however, we might suggest that in reviewing or criticising an article it is usually considered necessary to read it.

Lastly, all the joking in this and the previous editorial being for the moment aside, we have called attention to the condition of the flag-pole. Having achieved the purpose in view, there is now nothing more to do but to consider the incident closed.

Emile Bergerat's "More than a Queen" with Miss Annie Sutherlahd as Josephine and William Humphrey as Napoleon, supported by a carefully selected company, is presented the first half of the week with matinees Monday and Wednesday.

The play was translated and adopted by Charles Henry Weltzer and Charles Frederic Uirdlinger, and was originally produced by Miss Julia Arthur. Miss Sutherland possesses wonderful force, a regal presence and a fine perception of the requirements of the role she takes. Mr. William Humphrey is unequalled in his portrayal of the characteristics of "The Man of Destiny." The play comes from a ten week's run at the Broadway Theatre, New York.

Professor Bushnell will speak upon the subject "Latin Easter Hymns" to his 2 p. m. class in the Classical Seminar room, on Thursday, March 24. Prose and verse translations will be given some account of the authorship and structure of the hymns. Those interested in this timely subject will be welcome.

JUNIOR-SENIOR CLASS DEBATE.

The preliminary trials for the Junior-Senior class debate will be held in room 33-34 in the Hall of Languages, on Monday evening March 21, at eight o'clock.

Each contestant will please prepare an argument not exceeding ten minutes in length, on either the affirmative or the negative of the question: Resolved, That trades unions are injurious to industrial welfare.

From the six men who make the junior and senior teams, three will be chosen at the close of the class debate to represent the University in the coming intercollegate debate with Allegheny, to be held at Meadville, Pa., late in May.

Will all seniors and juniors, who are eligible for this contest and who intend to try for a place on one of the teams, please hand their names to me on or before March 15.

BASKETBALL ELECTION

Earl G. Rice Re-elected Manager and Arthur Powell Chosen Captain.

At the basketball smoker given last evening by Manager Rice at the D. K. E. house, Earl G. Rice was re-elected manager and Arthur Powell was chosen captain. The season has been decidedly successful under Rice's management and no mistake was made in his re-election. Powell, though a freshman, was the unanimous choice of the team. Powell did not feel that he could assume the responsibility, but was urged by the members to do so.

Manager Rice expects to have enough money to purchase some kind of insignia for the men. A blue sweater-vest has been thought of the most favorably. To raise this money he is trying to arrange a game soon with the Washington Continentals at Schenectady.

About fifteen men were present including the team and the others who have been working with them. Refreshments were served and a most enjoyable social evening was spent.

The following is a brief record of each of the regular 'Varsity team of the past season:

Retiring Manager Earl Rice has played basketball for a number of years and last season played guard on the 'Varsity. He has shown fine executive ability in his position and has arranged the strongest basketball schedule a Syracuse team has ever had. His idea of issuing season tickets proved a great success and made the large guarantees demanded by Yale, Colgate and other teams possible. Mr. Rice has had unusual financial success the past year. He has come through the season without finding it necessary to call on Governing Board for financial aid. In this he deserves the praise of the whole student body.

Captain Houseknecht, aged 23 and weight 145 pounds, played for 4 years on the Batavia High School and Y. M. C. A. teams. He made the 'Varsity team in his freshman year playing at forward. Last year he played center and this year to strengthen the team where it has heretofore been weak, he is playing guard. His ability as captain has been proven time and again this season, and much credit can be given to him for the excellent work of the team.

Twombly, weight 140, age 21, the veteran of the team, has played for four years as forward, last year being captain. His quickness and aggressiveness have made him a tower of strength. His work has been highly praised and it was by his sensational throw of a basket from the field that Syracuse won the Wesleyan game by a single point.

Brady, weight 151, age 22, played as guard on the team for the third year, having made the team in his freshman year. For two years he played on the crack team of the Syracuse classical school. His accurate and skillful passing has made him especially strong in his position and his work this year has shown great improvement.

Niles, weight 142, age 20, has shown wonderful developments this year and played a very strong game. This is his first year on the 'Varsity. His best work was done on the Eastern and Western trips.

Kirchgasser, weight 135, age 19, came to Syracuse this year, after having played 5 years on the Buffalo Masten Park team and playing first substitute on the championship German Y. M. C. A. team of Buffalo. The great feature of his work is his accurate basket throwing making seemingly impossible shots in every game. He plays fast and passes sure. It is doubtful if there is a better forward among colleges this year.

Powell, weight 135, age 19, the clever center, was a team mate of Kirchgasser, playing on the Buffalo Masten Park team for five years and being captain for two. Though comparatively short, his muscular development enables him to outjump the greater number of his opponents. He is very aggressive and covers the floor with great speed. His basket throwing abilities have scored many points for the Orange and his passing is sure.

Charles C. Kinne was of material assistance to the team as substitute forward, doing excellent work in several of the Western games.

AMong tho men who aided the team greatly, particularly in the practice games, are George M. McAdam, Cornelius Van Duyne and James O. Coit.

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS.

M. J. Allen '04, spends a portion of each day in Camillus where his sister is critically ill.

Z. D. Race '05, W. Y. Dean '06, were among those who witnessed the basketball game at Colgate, Saturday evening.

George R. Fearon '05, was in Oneida over Sunday.

R. A. Foster '05, visited friends in Whitesboro, N. Y., the first of the week.

Clifford Axtell '03, will leave for the west in a few weeks, where he will practice law.

The tenth annual national convention of the Delta Chi fraternity will be held with the Cornell chapter at Ithaca, April 7, 8 and 9. The delegates from the Syracuse chapter are: Charles L. Crane, Frank H. O'Neill and Chester T. Backus; alternates, John T. Gardner and Joseph M. Meatyard.

Chester T. Backus '04, has returned to college after a week's absence at home, where he had been called on account of the illness of his father.

J. F. O'Neill '04, will not coach the Williams track team this spring as reported a short time ago. He will, however, coach the Colgate track team as well as the football team.

C. M. Cortelyon '06, visited friends in Phoenix, Sunday.

THE SOUTHERN TRIP.

Men Handicapped by the Weather---Work of the Candidates.

Coach Henry Costello of the baseball team has about made up his mind that the weather is "no friend of his," for he assuredly has been laboring under difficulties. During a few days the latter part of last week and Monday of this week the outfielders limbered up on the diamond as much as Boreas would allow, and the coach thought that perhaps the men would be able to continue their daily practice on the oval until the Southern trip. His dreams were dispelled yesterday morning when he beheld the heavy fall of snow.

The work of the different candidates has improved considerably in their outdoor practice. The diamond was practically free from snow, and frozen hard. The men were tried out in their ability to pick up grounders and catch flies.

When the team left on its Southern trip last year they were severely handicapped, as they had had but little outdoor practice. It is feared that if the ground does not clear soon they will again be put to this disadvantage.

The team will leave for its trip on April 1, and be absent two weeks. As soon as the schedule is ratified by the authorities it will be given out for publication. The first game of this trip will be played with Trinity College at Durham, N. C., April 2. The coach has not yet definitely decided how many men will be taken on the trip, but there will probably be twelve, including the coach and Manager Edward Manley.

The first game which will be played on the home field will be with Malone's Foresters. It is not known just when the game will be played. For several years the season has been opened by a game with the Foresters. It is expected that in the near future some former 'Varsity stars will assist the coach in putting the finishing touches on the men.

Twelve new suits have arrived for the use of the team this spring. The men who go on the Eastern trip will be presented with blue traveling caps with the letters "S. U. B. B." on the front. Besides the suits other supplies have been received. Eighteen new bats have been picked out from an assortment of thirty. There will be no deficiency in supplies this year.

PSYCHOLOGY LECTURE.

Over a hundred students listened to Professor C. B. Thwing's illustrated lecture on "Laboratory Psychology" in Steele Hall of Physics Monday afternoon. By a number of mechanical appliances he demonstrated a number of principles studied only theoretically in class. This lecture is something of an innovation in the study of Psychology and was highly appreciated by all the students in that subject.

DEKES WRESTLE.

The Deke House in Walnut Avenue has been the scene of several severe combats recently. The various members have been holding a wrestling tournament. The last and most important encounter was a series of falls between Norman D. Sturgis '04 and Earl G. Rice '05. The judges and spectators have not yet decided whether the falls were by the half-Nelson, catch-as-catch-can or "spill" holds. Each side claims the victory, but the majority were in favor of "Bantum" Rice although "Buck" was not without his adherents. The next encounter has not yet been scheduled.

Y. M. C. A. OFFICERS.

The annual election of the Y. M. C. A. officers was held last evening at 7:30 p. m. The reports of the committees were first presented, showing a remarkacle growth in the Y. M. C. A. work.

The officers elected are: President, Roscoe Hersey '05; vice president, Robert Stone '05; treasurer, William P. Gere '05; secretary, S. E. Andrews.

THE GERMAN CLUB.

The German Club had a most successful meeting last evening. The paper given under Mr. Lowe as editor was very interesting. The mnaical program was very pleasing and well rendered. Refreshments were served and after this an informal social time was in order.

Although the subject is rather hackneyed it would be well to inquire again concerning the extension of the University car line. This crying need—it has been crying now for some five years—although desired by the whole college community, seems as far from actual consummation as ever. And this can be only because of the lack of continued and concerted action. The only way to gain this long and much desired improvement or rather necessity is to keep everlastingly at it.

The only hindrance at present seems to be the opposition of certain influential residents of upper Crouse avenue. The justice which allows two or three selfish individuals to defeat the wishes of several thousands is explicable only with difficulty, if it is at all.

If however these individuals are determined in their opposition, why not forward the scheme, already advanced, of turning the line from Crouse avenue to East Adams street, thence to Irving avenue, and thence to Croton street, possibly later making a belt line by connection with the Oakwood terminus.

The advantages of this course are numerous. There would be no property apposition along the course proposed. It gives street car service to a section of the city hitherto entirely unserved, raising property values in that section. This would make it preferable to the proposed Marshall street belt connection with the Walnut avenue line, since Marshall street and Waverly avenue are already comparatively well served by the Walnut line.

There are two main University objective points for users of the car line, namely Crouse College, with its lectures, concerts, etc., and the Athletic Field. Both of these places, which draw probably nine-tenths of the street car service, would be directly served by the proposed route. This passes by Crouse College and a walk laid directly west down the hill from the Oval to the intersection of VanBuren street, would be actually shorter than the distance to the intersection of Crouse avenue and University place.

Although the subject is rather hackneyed it would be well to inquire again concerning the extension of the University car line. This crying need—it has been crying now for some five years—although desired by the whole college community, seems as far from actual consummation as ever. And this can be only because of the lack of continued and concerted action. The only way to gain this long and much desired improvement or rather necessity is to keep everlastingly at it.

The only hindrance at present seems to be the opposition of certain influential residents of upper Crouse avenue. The justice which allows two or three selfish individuals to defeat the wishes of several thousands is explicable only with difficulty, if it is at all.

If however these individuals are determined in their opposition, why not forward the scheme, already advanced, of turning the line from Crouse avenue to East Adams street, thence to Irving avenue, and thence to Croton street, possibly later making a belt line by connection with the Oakwood terminus.

The advantages of this course are numerous. There would be no property apposition along the course proposed. It gives street car service to a section of the city hitherto entirely unserved, raising property values in that section. This would make it preferable to the proposed Marshall street belt connection with the Walnut avenue line, since Marshall street and Waverly avenue are already comparatively well served by the Walnut line.

There are two main University objective points for users of the car line, namely Crouse College, with its lectures, concerts, etc., and the Athletic Field. Both of these places, which draw probably nine-tenths of the street car service, would be directly served by the proposed route. This passes by Crouse College and a walk laid directly west down the hill from the Oval to the intersection of VanBuren street, would be actually shorter than the distance to the intersection of Crouse avenue and University place.

Emile Bergerat's "More than Queen" with Miss Annie Sutherland as Josephine and William Humphrey as Napoleon, supported by a carefully selected company, is presented the first half of the week with matinees Monday and Wednesday.

The play was translated and adopted by Charles Henry Weltzer and Charles Frederic Nildlinger, and was originally produced by Miss Julia Arthur. Miss Sutherland possesses wonderful force, a regal presence and a fine perception of the requirements of the role she takes. Mr. William Humphrey is unequalled in his portrayal of the characteristics of "The Man of Destiny." The play comes from a ten week's run at the Broadway Theatre, New York.

DR. CODDINGTON'S ADDRESS.

The last address of the series given under the auspices of the Philosophical Association was given Monday night by Professor W. P. Coddingtou on Phases of Pessimism.

Dr. Coddington just alluded to Pessimism as a eporadic temper or mood of mind—This he attributed to physical condition, to environment, to the poetic temperament, to the loss of faith in cherished systems, and to the introduction of oriental literature into the current thought of Europe consequent upon the discovery of the passage around the cape of Good Hope—The English conquest of India, the inauguration of the vast modern Missionary enterprises and the opening up of the Sauskrit literature to the western world.

As a philosoqhic disipline it is entirely modern—its leading exponents are Schopenhauer and Hartmann—Schopenhauer declares the world to be the worst possible—Hartmann admits it is the best possible, but still worse than none at all. Schopenhauer attempts to defend his thesis by the deductive method, basing his whole argument on the oulotogical definition of the world-ground. The magnificent optimism of Hegel and Browning supplant the pessimism of Schopenhauer and Byron.

The lecture was well attended and enjoyed by all.

Students are requested to call and get our special prices on photos—either singly or in groups. M. H. BUNN, Photographer, 402 S. Salina St.

Success has the only vacation work which means CASH WEEKLY to the representative. Absolutely takes the risk and settles weekly. Success does not wish to break contracts. Those who are in position to sell their services for the summer and who realize that one should not expect competitors to praise the Success proposition—drop a card for appointment, stating hours when you will be at liberty.

All companies claim to select their men, but since Success actually takes the risk, all who apply cannot expect to be employed; however, if you owe it to yourself to make the very best use of your Summer it will do no harm to make application.

VOL. I. NO. 130. SYRACUSE, N. Y., THURSDAY, MARCH 17, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

UNIFORM SYSTEM OF CLASS FINANCE

Dean Smalley to call for Action From Upper Classes --- Probable that Rules will be Adopted.

The troubles of the various classes of the Liberal Arts College in collecting in enough money to pay off their class debts has aroused the authorities of the University to some action that will lead to the betterment of the evil. Yesterday, Dean Smalley called into conference various members of the upper classes. The plan to be adopted will attempt to force a moral obligation as to the paying of class dues. It will also attempt to restrain the classes in the expenditure of money. Many times several members of a class have incurred a large indebtedness without the ratification of the class itself. This often leads to dissatisfaction.

The object of the proposed system will be to aid classes in the settlement of all class bills. Its spirit will be in accordance with the democratic spirit of the University.

The Dean in speaking of the matter yesterday said: "I wish to call into conference men of the upper classes to aid in remedying this matter. Nothing definite has been done as yet. I shall ask the presidents of the various classes to appoint members of an inter-class committee to consult with me and to draw up rules to be ratified by all the classes at a later day. We wish to restrain classes in the expenditure of money and to force a moral issue on the students as regards paying the class tax."

The Chancellor heartily approves of the scheme.

THE DEBATER.

The March issue of the Debater has just been received. It is an exceptionally good issue. The frontispiece is one which appeals to college men. It is entitled "My Name is Solomon Levi," and is by Hagorsworth Baldrey of Fine Arts college.

Two interesting articles are ably handled by Syracuse men. Loomis Baldrey '04, discusses debating in the colleges. The Olympic games are well treated by Editor Charles H. Dayton, '03-ex.

DEBATING UNION TO DISCUSS RECEPTION.

There will be a meeting of the Debating Union in the English Seminar room this afternoon at five o'clock. Plans will be made for the reception which will be given the Wesleyan team after the debate upon March 28. It will probably be held at the D. K. E. House in Walnut Park.

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN.

Der deutsche Verein versammelte Dienstag Abend seine zahlreichen Mitglieder und viele Gaeste in dem Roeumen des Gymnasiums zu einer journalistischen Eeier. Es galt die Veroeffentlichung einer deutschen Zeitung, die alljaehrlich von den Mitgliedern mit grosser Spannung erwartet wird. Herr Lowe zeite seine Befaehigung zum Redakteur, indem er eine Zeitung zusammenstellte, die an Reichhaltigkeit sogar die Sonntagsnummer des Syracuse Herald ubertraf. Unter der Mitwirkung der Damen Eastman, Tucker, Greene, Helfer, Allis, Bosworth, Meter und der Herren Roeder, Packard, Smith informierte er die Anwesenden ueber Ereignisse un fernen Osten, ueber Russland und Japan, ueber Litterarisches und Lokalio. Das Lebenauf dem Huegel, die Entwicklun der Universitaet Syracuse und der athletischen Abteilungen wurden gegeben. Die Annoncen trugen besondera zur Erheiterung der Studenten bei; dann einzelnen Lehrern und Mitgliedern des deutschen Departments wurden uebel mitgespielt. Alle die von davon betroffen wurden, nahmen jedoch die Scherze gutmuetig hin. Das Verlesen der interessanten, behehrenden und erheiternden Zeitung nahm fast eine Stunde in Anspruch und wurde von den Anwesenden dankbar und mit grossem Beifelle aufgenommen. Bevor die Erforschungen herumgereicht wurden erfrauten Herren C. W. Snow und Titus, von Miss Titus begleitet, die Zuhoerer durch eine treffliche Wiedergabe mehrerer Lieder, und der Herr Doktor Otto deklamierte ein Maisterwerk Goethe's, das Widmungsgedicht: Zueignung. Geben zehn Uhr trennten sich die Anwesenden, in dem Bewusstsein einen unvergesslichen Abend im deutchen Verein verbrach zu haben.

BIOLOGY DEPARTMENT.

The Volume of the Proceedings of the local biological laboratory have received valuable exchanges from the leading universities, academies and museums of the country. Among the exchanges are those from the New York Academy of Science, Brooklyn Museum, California Academy of Sciences and the United States National Museum. There are exchanges also from Harvard, Pennsylvania, University of California and Brown.

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, God in His wisdom has seen fit to remove from us our esteemed classmate, Eugene R. Miller, be it

Resolved, That we, the engineering class of 1904 of Syracuse University, do extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family of the deceased in their sad bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family and published in the college papers.

NOVEL ROWING EXPERIENCE

Freshmen Row Within a Short Distance of Ice Boats Flying over the Ice---Fewer Crabs.

The freshmen who are enjoying instruction upon the water under Coach TenEyck are having some hardy experiences with the cold weather. It is rather an incongruous sight to see the oarsmen bareheaded, barearmed and in slippers, rowing within a hundred yards of where men muffled up to the ears are whizzing about in iceboats.

The crew men when they return are some days ice-coated, where the water has splashed upon them and frozen. The oars too, are a mass of icicles. The hardy exercise, however, prevents any harm accruing from this and hardly an inconvenience is felt by those who undergo the hardship.

The stubborness of the ice in not breaking up has several times aroused the ire of Coach TenEyck who is extremely anxious to get all the crews upon the water at once. It is now over a week later than it was when all reported last year.

The freshmen are rounding into shape under the direction of the coach with the help of last year's coxswains. The men are taken out in pairs and fours. They are learning the stroke and dip, and are able to put considerable strength into their efforts. Crabs are much fewer than at first.

The men at present are taking the 1:30 o'clock car. No rates have been obtained on the Lakeside road as yet, although pass books are expected daily by the men.

PERSONALS.

A coasting party consisting of Fred Schade '06, Ned Stacy '06, Harry Terry '06, Archie Meatyard '06 and Loen Cornwall '07, met with a tip-over on Mt. Olympus, Monday afternoon. Fred Schade and Archie Meatyard were considerably bruised. The former was able to go home unassisted. The latter was cared for at Phi Kappa Psi house, and afterwards returned home on the street car. Neither suffered severe injury, and are now able to be in college again.

The funeral of Edward Richards Barber, who died of typhoid fever in Mount Pleasant, Pa., last Thursday was held from his late home in Albion, N. Y., Monday afternoon. The following members of the local chapter of Psi Upsilon attended: Harry Barber and J. E. Gramlich '04; J. J. Hill, G. S. Brown and C. F. MacMurry '05, and Arthur Redington ex'03.

The student body as a rule believe that each branch of athletics has a distinctive block S, and that only those who have won such honor have the right to wear the same. Some of the candidates for the various teams now at work, do not seem to have any such knowledge.

A casual observer could readily believe that the various insignia stood for nothing in particular. It is a common sight to have track men appear and also baseball men wearing 'Varsity block letters which do not, and never did, belong to them. This is generally done in practice.

The sentiment should be aroused so strongly against this matter that such a thing will never again occur. There would seem however, to be no need of mentioning the matter again. We firmly believe that the students of Syracuse, when once convinced of the right course, do not desire to appear under false colors.

The action of Dean Smalley in calling into conference members of the two upper classes to arrange for the drawing up and adoption of a uniform system of rules for the conducting of class finances should receive the hearty approbation and co-operation of the entire student body. It may be that those who have been the most delinquent in the payment of class dues will oppose any plan whereby they may be compelled to pay. All others, however, we hope, will support the plan.

The various classes in the University are about as poor customers as the down town merchants care to have. Some of them have already initiated the custom of refusing such patronage without cash in advance. The reason is obvious when we consider the fact (just as an example) that the present sophomore class just recently settled a bill incurred at the time of their freshman banquet, over a year ago. Such an action as is contemplated should do away with such unbusinesslike acts.

The plan is to simply force a moral issue upon the students. This is in accord with the spirit by which our other matters are governed. Speedy action in this matter will bring relief from conditions too long strained.

THE PROHIBITION CONTEST.

The Prohibition Oratorical contest will take place in the Wesleyan Methodist church, at the corner of Onondaga and Jefferson streets, this evening at 8 o'clock. There are four contestants: W. P. Moody '05, "An Evening of Law;" W. L. Chandler '06, "Christian Expediency;" C. A. Call '07, "The Practicability of Prohibition;" R. S. Perkins '07, "The South Carolina Dispensary System."

The winner of this contest goes to the state contest which will be held this year at Hamilton College, April 29. Dr. G. A. Wilson, Lawyer Homer Weston and Dr. Coit are the judges.

OTHER COLLEGE NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

The students of the University of California are responsible for the invention of many unique ideas. A short time ago the entire student body turned out to celebrate "labor day." Dressed in working clothes and armed with picks and shovels the fellows attacked the paths ditches and stone-walls about the campus and, it is claimed, made improvements which otherwise would have cost nearly two hundred dollars. The "co-eds" prepared a great feast for the workers and the day ended with fireworks, speeches, songs and various games.

Another institution known as "josh day" was celebrated on March 9th. On this day every student was supposed to contribnte something to the humorous department of the annual "Blue and Gold." An article in the daily remarks—"Anything goes, jibes, jests, jokes, joshes, jollies, jovialities, jabbers, jackups, and jocular jumbles. So ho, ye joshers and josheressess pitch in and insult your friends to the extent of two jokes at least."

YALE.

Mr. John Kennedy coach of the Yale crew is very much in favor of the eslishment of an American intercollegiate regatta such as the British Henley. As matters now stand no decision can be reached as to whether Yale or Cornell has the faster crew. Mr. Courtney, coach of the Cornell crew, also hopes to see the idea materialize.

INDIANA.

The students have been getting much amusement and practical benefit from a mock Democratic convention held here. Great enthusiasm prevailed at its sessions and sometimes the discussions rose to fever heat. At last reports the platform as adopted by the convention contained no silver plank. The fostering of trusts by the Republican party was decried, tariff for revenue was assured. postal frauds were frowned upon and statehood for territories promised.

AT THE BASTABLE.

A novelty is offered the last half of the week in "The Smart Set." This is promised to be the best organization of colored singers, dancers aud comedians that the good people of Syracuse have had the pleasure of witnessing for a long time. The company this season numbers fifty people, and the management promises a production which is both costly and tasteful. Among the leaders in "The Smart Set" may be mentioned John Bailey, J. Ed. Green, Jerry Mills, Harry Reed, Lawrence Chenault, Mlle. Hopkins, Marion Henry Smart and Mamie Emerson. Matinees Thursday and Saturday.

A proposed game of basketball with the Washington Continentals Saturday, March 19, has been abandoned.

Byron L. Graves, Engineer, '06, has been confined to the house with a severe cold.

The boarding club at 611 Irving avenue will give a progressive flinch party this evening.

VOL. I. NO. 131. SYRACUSE, N. Y., FRIDAY, MARCH 18, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

1907 ADOPTS A SOPHOMORE CAP

Election of Baseball and Track Managers by the Class.

The class of 1907 met in room 33-34, Hall of Languages, yesterday afternoon and voted unanimously to adopt a class cap for their sophomore year, the members to appear in those caps for the first time Moving-up Day. James O. Coit presented several sample caps which the class had had made for inspection. The samples were of brown, black and several shades of gray, made up in something of the same shape as the freshman cap. There was also a gray slouch hat shown, but the general opinion of the class seemed to be in favor of a cap. There was no opposition to the motion adopting a cap; however, no special style was decided upon but the president was empowered to appoint a committee to investigate the cap question and then recommend some definite style to the class at the next regular meeting.

It was proposed that the freshman cap for next year be made up in a darker shade of green without any lining, but with a larger orange button. It is expected that the class will place a large order for these caps with a down town firm this spring in order that the caps may be on hand at the opening of college next September. The caps will be in the Hall of Languages and as fast as the freshmen register the caps will be sold them.

President A. L. Wells reported that the Chancellor had been seen in regard to Moving-up Day. He seems to be in favor of continuing the custom under certain conditions. It was voted to leave all arrangements for the day to the executive committee.

A motion was carried empowering the president to appoint a committee of one person from each fraternity and several non-fraternity members to make a systematic canvass of the university in the interests of the Syracuse-Wesleyan debate. It is hoped the idea of freshmen selling the tickets for the university entertainments will become a custom.

H. W. Farrington of Baltimore, Md., was elected class track team manager, and Henry M. Dexter of Newport was elected class baseball manager for the spring.

Dr. Coddington will give an address this evening before the Jewish congregation of which Dr. Guttman is the pastor. This in the second in a series of informal addresses given by Dr. Coddington. His subject is "Brotherly Kindness."

A HEBREW PLAY.

The Semitics department has under consideration the presentation of a play in Hebrew. It will be given in April.

DR. MACE SURPRISED.

The members of the Junior Historical Seminar gave a surprise party to Dr. Mace last evening at his home in College Place. The students, attired as historical characters of the colonial and slavery days, met with Miss Theresa K. Tobin and went to Dr. Mace's home in a body, headed by Dr. Sperry, dressed as "Dinklespiel" of the New York Journal fame.

Each student wore a small green painted shamrock in honor of the day. The affair partook of the nature of a masquerade. Several were dressed to represent the caricature of the comic supplements of the New York papers. Happy Hooligan, Gloomy Gus and Foxy Grandpa were in evidence. Ireland was ably represented by the Maid of Erin.

Old fashioned games were played and a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Dr. Mace was very adroitly kept home from praper meeting by Mrs. Mace in anticipation of the coming crowd.

CHAPEL SPEECH THIS MORNING.

The Chancellor has made arrangements whereby the students will have the pleasure of listening to President King of Oberlin University in Chapel this morning. President Kin. arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and addressed the Congregational club in Geddes Congregational church, last evening. This evening President King is to be present at the dinner of the Central New York Alumni Asociation.

It is hoped that a large number of students will take advantage of the opportunity to hear President King this morning.

CHANCELLOR DAY'S TALK.

The students who attended chapel yesterday would not allow Chancellor Day to leave the rostrum without speaking to them. The Chancellor in a brief, spicy talk told the students that it was hardly necessary for an official of the University to say anything nowadays. He pointed out that the daily papers contained all the latest news, and plans concerning the university. The daily papers he said never lacked knowledge when it came to keeping the university in repair, and also up-to-date with new "paper" buildings.

He said that all this enterprise on their part was useful however in making for greater growth in the future.

RESOLUTIONS.

In fraternal tribute to the memory of Edward Richards Barber '03, be it

Resolved, That we the members of Pi chapter of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity extend to the sorrowing family of the deceased our heartfelt sympathy;

Resolved, That in recognition of our own personal bereavement our pins be draped for thirty days and that copies of these resolutions be sent to the family, published in the college papers and spread upon the chapter minutes.

PI CHAPTER OF PSI UPSILON.

RECEPTION TO WESLEYAN TEAM

Dabating Union take Action---First of Kind Here.

At a meeting of the Debating Union held yesterday afternoon it was decided to give a reception smoker to the Wesleyan Debate team on the night of the debate, March 28. The function will be held at the Delta Kappa Epsilon House in Walnut Park.

The plan first was to have a banquet but the Dabating Union thought that impractical and so it was decided to have a reception and smoker.

The Wesleyan team and the judges will be the guests of the occasion. Only members in good standing of the debate clubs will attend.

Window cards for the debate are being circulated in the down town stores. Already the sale of tickets is quite brisk. Predictions are freely made that every seat in the house will be filled.

WITH THE DEBATERS.

The coming Allegheny debate is coming more and more to engage the attention of the juniors and seniors. Seven seniors and nine juniors have announced their intention of trying for their respective class teams which are to debate the Allegheny question soon.

The following will contest for places on the team Monday evening. For 1904: Messrs. Baldrey, Copeland, Goldstone, Heal, Hook, Jennings and Sowers.

For 1905: Messrs. Fernald, Diefendorf, Hartwell, Hoyler, Hanners, Mosher, Park, Searle and Spriggs.

The question for the debate—Resolved, That Trades Unions are Detrimental to the Industrial Welfare, is quite similar to that of the question for the Sophomore-Alfred debate; but the substitution of "industrial" for "general" and "are detrimental to" for "do not premote" gives opportunity for the development of different issues.

The question was discussed before the argumentation class yesterday; the affirmative presenting the issues which were adopted by last year's 'Varsity in their debate with Brown.

Messrs. Rubin, Fernald and Sowers, supported the affirmative. Messrs. Copeland, Magoon and Hook, the negative.

DR. SANFORD DEAD.

Dr. James Brownlee Sanford, ex-'92, whom we reported two weeks ago to have received the honor of an election to the Royal Geographical Society of London, died Wednesday at a hospital in Denver, Colorado, where he was operated on for appendicitis. The interment will be in Penn Yan.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. T. C. Hopkins and her guests, Mrs. Branner and daughter. Miss Elsie, were entertained at luncheon at the Kappa Alpha Theta house on Thursday. Mrs. Branner is the wife of Professor Branner of Leland Stanford University, California. Professor Branner and family are en route to Europe.

Carl P. Wright '04 has returned from northern Pennsylvania and the southern part of New York state, where he has been arranging the schedule for the Easter trip of the Glee and Instrumental Clubs.

Harry Boyd '03, the well known baseball man, has been staying at the Orange Club house for several days. Mr. Boyd is a district manager of the U. S. Food Co. and will establish an office of that company in the Kirk Building.

Miss Louise Miller '07 left Thursday for her home in Watkins. She will not return to college until after Easter,

Miss Julia Whipple '07 is visiting her parents at Glens Falls.

CHANGE IN REHEARSALS.

No rehearsal Friday.

There will be no rehearsal for the supernumeraries this week.

NOTICES.

The treasurer of the freshman class will be in the Registrar's office from 9:40 to 10 a. m. daily from Thursday, the 17th, to Saturday, the 19th, to receive class dues. Some member of the class will represent the treasurer in the waiting room of Fine Arts college during the same hour.

The meeting of the Classical Club, which was to be held March 17th, has been postponed on account of the illness of Professor Place, who was to lecture on "The Roman House."

MINNIE D. CROFOOT, Sec'y.

Professor Bushnell will give a Latin reading from Livy and Nepos in room 37 of the College of Liberal Arts at 11 a. m., Saturday, March 19. The subject is "The Battle of Cannae and Hannibal's Later Career." Those interested will be welcome.

All desiring to compete for the prize offered by the Buffalo Alumni Association for the composition of a Syracuse song should read carefully the provisions of the contest in Friday's Orange. Remember, all copy must be submitted to Rev. Robert B. Adams, 739 Best St., Buffalo, N. Y., before May 1st.

Preparations for the Wesleyan debate are nearing completion. The debate promises to crowd Crouse College Assembly hall to the very doors. This is as it should be, for Syracuse has taken a fitting rank in the intercollegiate debating world.

During the past several years the Orange forensic ability has been developing under the tireless efforts of Professor Frederick D. Losey. We have always had first-class material, the quality of any college in the country. It is only of late that this ability has been systematically perfected.

As a result we shall have men trained to the minute, to represent our University against experienced men from Wesleyan. Our representatives are putting an average college day's work on the debate, while they are also keeping up their college work.

Is there any way in which we can repay the coach and his team for their ceaseless endeavor? There is, and that is to try to have every student in the University attend the debate. Let us get behind our debaters now, and stay with them to the end.

An alumnus of another university in conversation recently expressed the feeling which must prevail in other institutions in regard to musical interest at Syracuse. The gentleman referred to, who is a warm friend of Syracuse, expressed no little surprise and regret that we have no distinctively Syracuse song book. The custom among American colleges of having a local song collection is so general that the exception is very noticeable.

This expression of outside opinion coming as it did, from a man deeply interested in Syracuse is significant. We do not think the lack of a song book is due to musical poverty; the public recitals at Cruse College disprove that. We do not think it is because men are wanting to carry such an enterprise to success. Success in other enterprises forbids such a conclusion. After the recent action of the Buffalo alumni we certainly have an incentive. It must be that we are asleep. Let us wake up and do something.

We have said quite a bit in these columns recently concerning the singing of the class songs after chapel. Perhaps just a word or two more will not be amiss. It has come to light within the past two or three days that certain freshmen purposely going down from chapel by the girls' stairway, or are remaining in chapel for a time, in order not to help in singing the class song. To use their own expressions, "We are getting tired of such nonsense and think it looks childish to go down and yell like Indians." Such sentiments would sound better from alumni than from freshmen. We venture to suggest that freshmen with these advanced views consult the alumni of the University in regard to allowing Syracuse customs to fall into disuse. We venture further to predict that next year when other freshmen are attempting the song these same free-thinkers will be on hand with full lungs to jeer at them. It looks on the surface as though it would be little for these freshmen to come down and help rather than stay in the chapel and "knock" at old college customs. We are not attempting to indict the freshman class. We believe the sentiment described above is not a class feeling but is rather a mark of undue precocity on the part of some.

TEACHERS.

Every senior wishing to teach and every graduate who is teaching or expects to teach should be registered with the teachers' committee of the faculty. The committee is making a card catalogue of all Syracuse students who are teaching and if the teachers will send notice of any change of address this can be kept up to date and will be a great aid in advancing our students into higher positions.

The committee is now receiving numerous applications for teachers and hopes to find desirable positions for all who wish to teach.

All of the students could aid in this good work by making inquiries in the home correspondence about any probable vacancies in the home schools and notifying the committee. Help a senior or a graduate to find a good position this year and trust that he or someone else will help you when your turn comes.

The ffioce of the committee is in room 72, Hall of Languages. Professor Hopkins is chairman of the committee.

AT THE BASTABLE.

A novelty is offered the last half of the week in "The Smart Set." This is promised to be the best organization of colored singers, dancers aud comedians that the good people of Syracuse have had the pleasure of witnessing for a long time. The company this season numbers fifty people, and the management promises a production which is both costly and tasteful. Among the leaders in "The Smart Set" may be mentioned John Bailey, J. Ed. Green, Jerry Mills, Harry Reed, Lawrence Chenault, Mlle. Hopkins, Marion Henry Smart and Mamie Emerson. Matinees Thursday and Saturday.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL. I. NO. 132. SYRACUSE, N. Y., SATURDAY, MARCH 19, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

DR. KING IN CHAPEL

Gave Interesting Talk on Fundamental Nature of Religion.

President King of Oberlin college was the guest of the University for a short time yesterday. He addressed a large and appreciative audience in chapel during the morning.

Dr. King took as his subject the Fundamental Nature of Religion. He said that religion is knit up indissolubly with our nature. In every bit of reasoning we assume the truth in some form. He showed how a faith that is religious in essence underlies all our works. The same faith exists beneath every strenuous moral endeavor, and we need this faith if we are to be truly successful. A like idea or belief possesses us in all our social service for the good of hnmanity.

Dr. King proved by forceful examples that religion offers all that is richest in life. He said it is only when we come into full consciousness of the greatest personalities by entering into them, that we are beginning to live. This was especially true of Christ's life as the supreme example.

President King closed by saying that the depth of a man's claim in religion depends on his claim on life. The address was a strong appeal for nobler living on the part of all.

After the chapel was dismissed the usual class and college singing was indulged in. President King, Dean Smalley and visiting Professor Scott came in for hearty cheers from the assembled students.

PROFESSOR FLICK LECTURES.

Profeseor A. C. Flick delivered a lecture on "Russia and the Eastern Question" before the literary societies of Albion High School, Tuesday evening, March 15. The next morning he gave a lecture on "Russia" before the students and faculty of Brookport Normal School.

He then visited the University of Rochester. On the way he met Miss Susan Over 1899, and Miss Katherine Fairchild 1900, of the Albion High School, A. H. Horton 1902, principal of Waterport and president of the Monroe County Teachers' Association and Dr. MacFarland, principal of Brockport Normal School and formerly a Syracuse student.

ENGLISH CLUB.

Henry Danizer, Jr., will address the regular meeting of the English club in the Seminar Room on Tuesday evening, March 22, at 8 o'clock. Much business regarding the play will be transacted as this is the last meeting before the production.

Professor Flick delivered a lecture before the Grace School Mothers' Club last evening on the subject "Russia and the Eastern Question."

DEPARTMENTAL NOTES.

POLITICAL ECONOMY.

The course of lectures given by prominent labor union leaders and by employers relative to the purposes, methods, results and probable outcome of the labor union movement is attracting a great deal of interest. At the occasions of these lectures, Monday and Wednesday at noon, the lecture room is often filled with quite as many interested outsiders as by members regularly enrolled. Among those who are taking a great deal of interest in the lectures are the men who are preparing for the coming interclass debate and for the Allegheny intercollegiate contest. "Doctor" John Cunningham is also a regular attendant at these lectures.

The plan pursued is to have the unions discussed in turn by unionists and employers; thus giving the class an opportunity to secure a comprehensive view of the present industrial situation. Colonel A. C. Chase, for years the manager and president of the Syracuse Chilled Plow Works, gave an excellent address on Monday, presenting the case from an employer's standpoint. Mr. Streibel, a prominent member of the International Garment Workers of America, presented the union side of the argument in a forcible manner on Wednesday. Mr. Streible will again address the class Monday noon. All who are preparing arguments for the debate trials will find it advantageous to be present and hear the arguments presented.

CHANDLER WINS CONTEST.

William L. Chandler, '06, won first place at the oratorical contest of the Prohibition club held Thursday evening in the Wesleyan Methodist church at the corner of Onondaga and Jefferson streets. Mr. Chandler's subject was "Christian Expediency." W. P, Moody '05, who spoke on the subject, "An Evening of Law," received honorable mention.

This is the fourth annual contest held under the auspices of the Prohibition club. Mr. Chandler will represent the Syracuse club at the state oratorical contest, which will be held at Hamilton College, April 29. The other contestants and their subjects were: C. A. Call '07, "The Practicability of Prohibition," and R. S. Perkins '07, "The South Carolina Dispensary System." The judges were Dr. S. A. Wilson, Homer Weston and Rev. Albert Coit.

CLASS FINANCES.

Dean Smalley yesterday conferred with President Wilcox of the senior class and President Hargitt of the junior class in reference to the matter of devising some plan whereby the finances of all classes may be supervised by a student committee. It is probable that the two upperclass presidents will request a committee from each class to confer with Chancellor Day next week to the end that some such plan may ultimately receive the approval of the entire student body.

Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a complete rehearsal of King Lear at the Wieting. All the cast and supernumeraries are requested to report promptly at two.

JUNIOR-SENIOR DEBATE TRIALS

Because of the large number of contestants, it has been decided to hold the trials for the Junior-Senior debate in two sections. The Juniors will compete on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in room 33-34, Hall of Languages. The Seniors will be heard in the same room and at the same hour, on Wednesday evening. FREDERICK D. LOSEY.

NOTICES.

The tutoring class under W. C. Lowe will meet this afternoon from 5 to 6 in room 30, Hall of Languages. It is important that all be present.

Charles Snauber, C. E. '88, will address the Engineering Society at Smith College Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. All students are invited.

The treasurer of the freshman class will be in the Registrar's office from 9:40 to 10 a. m. daily from Thursday, the 17th, to Saturday, the 19th, to receive class dues. Some member of the class will represent the treasurer in the waiting room of Fine Arts college during the same hour.

The meeting of the Classical Club, which was to be held March 17th, has been postponed on account of the illness of Professor Place, who was to lecture on "The Roman House."

MINNIE D. CROFOOT, Sec'y.

Professor Bushnell will give a Latin reading from Livy and Nepos in room 37 of the College of Liberal Arts at 11 a. m., Saturday, March 19. The subject is "The Battle of Cannae and Hannibal's Later Career." Those interested will be welcome.

All desiring to compete for the prize offered by the Buffalo Alumni Association for the composition of a Syracuse song should read carefully the provisions of the contest in Friday's Orange. Remember, all copy must be submitted to Rev. Robert B. Adams, 739 Best St., Buffalo, N. Y., before May 1st.

It is interesting to note from the Christian Association report that an increased interest is being taken by the faculty and students at large in the support of our college missionary in China.

Mr. Brockman in his work amongst the young men of China is representing the Christian interests of our students. The support of a man of his known ability in such a noble cause should call forth a more personal interest from our whole student body. Princeton, Yale and Harvard support their own men on the foreign field. We should anticipate and promote gladly any similar movement undertaken by our own students.

The freshmen should be commended for the action taken at their class meeting Thursday afternoon in regard to the matter of selling tickets for the coming debate. The success or failure of the financial side of debating interests in the University rests entirely with the students. The University gives nothing toward the support of this branch of college work. It therefore devolves upon the students not only to aid by purchasing tickets, but also by helping to sell them. The first year students are, naturally, better known by their fellow classmates than by others. So then, the freshmen will be especially adapted to dispose of tickets among a large number of students who could not otherwise be reached.

It was a pleasure to hear President King of Oberlin speak in chapel yesterday. His concise, erudite and forceful talk was but another proof for having a series of chapel talks each semester of the college year.

Such a series of lectures by men eminent in various walks of life would have many good results.

Outside of the great benefit derived by the students in broadening their minds, not the least effect would be a better chapel attendance. The latter in itself is much to be sought after. A better chapel attendance will tend to upbuild the university by fostering all that truly makes for the best in college life.

OF INTEREST TO SENIORS.

The engraving company who will furnish invitations to the senior class offer an opportunity to seniors to obtain engraved calling cards in script, Roman or shaded old English type at less less than regular wholesale rates. This courtesy is extended to seniors only and all names must be in hands of the engravers by March 29. Samples of the work may be seen with any member of the committee with whom names may be left. The members of the committee for the Liberal Arts College are Miss Florence R. Deuchler, and Mr. Earl N. Wikoff; Fine Arts, Albert S. Hadley; Medical College, George Lynch; Law College, John H. Burke; Science, C. Fred Phillips.

Professor Bushnell will speak upon the subject "Latin Easter Hymns" to his 2 p. m. class in the Classical Seminar room, on Thursday, March 24. Prose and verse translations will be given some account of the authorship and structure of the hymns. Those interested in this timely subject will be welcome.

SPRING TRACK MEETS.

Two Meets Likely to be Seen on the Oval---Work of Candidates.

The track committee of the Athletic Governing Board will meet some time this week and it is expected papers will be signed guaranteeing one or more track meets on the oval for this spring. For some little time the committee has been corresponding with the authorities at Cornell and Colgate Universities with the view of bringing their teams to Syracuse this spring, but up to this date no official action has been taken assuring the meets.

It is expected that the Colgate meet will be held May 14, and the date being regulated with Cornell is one week earlier.

The student subscription will probably make it possible for the Orange to be represented at the University of Pennsylvania's relay races, April 23. Of last year's strong team all the men are again in college. Erway, however, is in the Medical college and so probably will not be able to try for this year's team. Twombly has not yet reported for practice but as soon as it is definitely decided that a team will be sent he will probably come out. The other two men are Seckner and Ralph. Roberts and Hayes, who were strong candidates for the team last year are yet in college.

The Mott Haven meet will be held May 27 and 28. Syracuse should stand well toward the head of the list this year, for her star men of last year are again in college. If a team should be sent to the St. Louis Exposition it will very likely comprise the same men who represent the Orange at Mott Haven.

The training is somewhat handicapped because of the lateness of decision in regard to the meets. If Coach Scott was sure that the funds would be forthcoming to send a relay team to Pennsylvania the training would be rather different than it now is. He would give more attention to developing some fast quarter milers.

At present the men are given light gymnasium work and a short run Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays starts are practiced in the cage, after which a cross-country run is taken. The long distance men take a cross-country run every day.

The seventh biennial conference of the General Federation of Womens clubs will be held in St. Louis in May. The most promising candidate for national president is Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, formerly Miss Clara Bradly, who is an alumnus of the Syracuse chapter of Alpha Phi. She now holds the office of first vice-president of the Federation.

The Son of a hen never sets; But a Selleck hat sets right. Selleck The Hatter, 341 South Warren Street.

OTHER COLLEGE NEWS.

NEBRASKA.

The fellows who "stag" it at the Senior Prom will have to pay twice the usual fee. The "stags" have always been a serious menace to Nebraska's social functions.

In an effort to preserve the lawns in the vicinity of the college buildings the seniors posted signs warning juniors in particular not to trespass. The juniors promptly took exception and the classes came together in a fierce hand-to-hand struggle one morning at chapel time. The battle ended with the signs still held by the seniors though the juniors were well satisfied that their honor was vindicated.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

The 'Varsity baseball nine has a game scheduled with a team from the Presidio at San Francisco. The team will be composed of commissioned officers of the U. S. Army some of whom have represented West Point on the diamond.

Homer Davenport, the famous cartoonist, will lecture to the students on Monday evening.

CORNELL.

The recent flood has left the running track and baseball diamond covered with a foot of ice. This will undoubtedly delay the spring practice of both teams.

The Vigilance Committee at Cornell composed of upper classmen drew up the following resolutions in reference to future freshmen banquets:

Be it resolved, That we recommend to the class of 1907, which will be most affected and will have most influence over future Freshman banquets, the adoption of the following rules to permanently govern these functions,—their action in the matter to be considered the concerted action of the undergraduate body.

Rule 1. No underclass rivalry or strife of any kind, whether by moral persuasion or physical force, shall begin prior to 48 hours before the appointed hour of the banquet.

Rule 2. No agents of any kind which would tend toward the temporary disfigurement or injurny of either party shall be used. This shall include the use of weapons of any description, wires, chemical compounds of a harmful character, etc.

Rule 3. No underclassman captured by the opposing class shall be tied, handcuffed, or have his personal liberty restricted by any physical force for the purpose of public exhibition.

Rule 4. These rules shall be interpreted and applied by a committee appointed from the two upperclasses by the presidents of the same.

Rule 5. The intentional violation of these rules shall be considered hazing and will render the offender liable to removal from the University.

COMPLETE REHEARSAL TUESDAY

Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a complete rehearsal of King Lear at the Wieting. All the cast and supernumeraries are requested to report promptly at two.

STUDENT WEEK AT ST. LOUIS

Students' League Plans Great Things---Syracuse Men Prime Movers.

For several months plans have been been under way to devote one week of the St. Louis Exposition to college students. The Students' League of America, numbering among its members representatives of nearly all the colleges in the country, has been behind the movement. Last week Charles H. Dayton, ex-1903, received his official commission from the Exposition authorities as chairman of a committee to make preparations for the events of the week.

A. A. Loomis Baldrey, '04, the recently elected corresponding secretary of the Students' League, is busily engaged in communicating the plans to the various universities and in securing their cooperation in making the week a grand success.

Students' Week will be June 10-17. On June 10-11 occurs the Olympic College Championship Athletic Meet.

During the remainder of the week will occur a grand Oratorical Contest open to all universities. A joint debate between two great universities representing the East and West, and a Grand Band Contest open to University Bands. The University of Minnesota band is already entered. Other prominent Western bands have signified their desire to compete if conditions are favorable.

One of the other features arranged is an exhibition of college journalism. Daily, weekly and monthly periodicals of all colleges will be exhibited, and medals awarded to the best in each class.

An intercollegiate chess tournament is also being arranged. Other events are under discussion.

It is expected that Students' Week at St. Louis will be the greatest intercollegiate occasion ever experienced in America. The officers of the Students' League of America hope that the influence of this event will be to promote a more healthy University rivalry and to stimulate the various college activities.

ENGLISH CLUB.

Henry Danizer, Jr., will address the regular meeting of the English club in the Seminar-Room on Tuesday evening, March 22, at 8 o'clock. Much business regarding the play will be transacted as this is the last meeting before the production.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Eastable Block.

LEGAL NOTES.

At a meeting of the junior law class Saturday morning the following officers were elected: President, Lewis G. Fitzgerald; vice president, O. E. Black; secretary and treasurer, Justin S. McCarthy, Solomon Ferguson. The meeting was the most spirited one of the year, and it was with great difficulty at times that the president was able to maintain order. The most excitement arose over the election of class orator, a position held for three successive terms by Frederick W. Garlock. Mr. Garlock was a candidate for reelection and had for opponents Solomon Ferguson and John Patrick Hennessey. After several ballots Mr. Ferguson was elected. Mr. Garlock's duties as a candidate for the track team was the grest objection to his reelection. However, he finds a worthy successor in the orator-elect. Once during the meeting the boys clapped their hands so loud that Dean Brooks came down from the sixth floor to investigate the cause of the disturbance.

The Senior-Junior Debating Society debated the following question Friday afternoon: Resolved, That the present tendencies of labor unions are detrimental to the industrial welfare of the United States. Affirmative—Chester T. Backus '04, G. R. Fearon. Negative—John H. Burke and A. D. Young. The affirmative was given the decision.

S. King of Watertown is a guest of Seth Larabee '04.

LATIN VERSE PRIZE.

Dean Smalley has recently assigned to Professor Bushnell the coaching of contestants for the van Allen Latin Prize. Professor Bushnell will be glad to make suggestions to any who may desire them with reference to verse structure, preliminary reading and general method. as well as to supply copies of the masterpieces among the Latin hymns.

JUNIOR-SENIOR DEBATE TRIALS

Because of the large number of contestants, it has been decided to hold the trials for the Junior-Senior debate in two sections. The Juniors will compete on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in room 33-34, Hall of Languages. The Seniors will be heard in the same room and at the same hour, on Wednesday evening. FREDERICK D. LOSEY.

Professor Bushnell will speak upon the subject "Latin Easter Hymns" to his 2 p. m. class in the Classical Seminar room, on Thursday, March 24. Prose and verse translations will be given some account of the authorship and structure of the hymns. Those interested in this timely subject will be welcome.

ALFRED TEAM LEAVES TO-DAY.

The sophomore debate team which is to meet Alfred will leave at 12:35 today over the New York Central. They will go to Hornellsville where they will spend the night. The debate will be held tomorrow night.

The problem of chapel attendance seems, like the poor, to be always with us, and the remarks of the Chancellor recently only emphasise the urgency of remedy. A steadily increasing student body and a steadily decreasing attendance at chapel—in the very nature of things this progression cannot long continue. One day last week by actual count, there were three of the faculty and forty-eight students present, of whom two thirds were freshmen; and this out of over a thousand students in Liberal Arts College alone. Certainly this farce, this parody on a college chapel service, cannot and ought not to go on. There are three alternatives: to discontinue chapel altogether—an untenable proposition;—to make attendance compulsory, which may be at present likewise considered out of the question; and lastly to devise something to stimulate student attendance.

To begin with there must be interest and variety to the chapel service. It is not repugnance or forgetfulness that makes so many rows of empty benches but sheer inertia, an inertia that very little force will overcome. Take the singing for example; at present it consists of a hymn and a Gloria, the tune of which has done service in chapel here from time immemorial. True it is majestic, beautiful, rythmic, but by this time it is growing monotonous. Students are human; they like music, good music, once in a while. Why not have a more varied musical program and some instrumental selections once in a while, nothing long and elaborate but something to get out of the rut. Somebody might give an organ voluntary oftener than twice a year---Opening and Moving-Up Days---not a jiggling march but something really grand and beautiful. What is the use of having an excellent College of Fine Arts on the campus, if not for some of these things? Or is it only to give formal recitals once a month? It seems as if this much work of arrangement might well come under the province of the Christian Associations. To be sure sporadic efforts have been made, but they have not accomplished much.

Another often mentioned desideratum is chapel speaking, short ten or fifteen minute addresses by prominent men of this and other cities. The students do turn out in large numbers to hear such men, as was only recently demonstrated. But, delightful as this plan would be, it has met with two serious objections: the expense and the no small labor of providing a continuous program. No one doubts the broadening effect upon the whole student body of such a series of daily or even weekly talks, but at present they seem impracticable.

Recently a more simple remedy, already tried and successful in a number of western colleges, was brought to our notice. This consisted in short chapel talks given in rotation by the members of the faculty, each speaking on his own peculiar subject. These increase the ordinary student's general knowledge, keep him in a way abreast of the progress in the various lines of human thought and in numberless ways broaden and liberalize his view.

The members of the faculties of science may give summaries of recent discoveries and new theories, especially of those in which Syracuse may be directly interested. Those in the social and historical departments may discuss the new phases of social problems, and the content of contemporary international disturbances. Those in language and literature may speak of contemporary work and writers, something in their very nature rarely touched upon in the class-room. So we might go through the list: the field is illimitable, and variety a chief characteristic. For example one week's fifteen minute discourses might run something like this: "The Recent Labor Troubles in San Francisco," "New Discoveries concerning the N-Rays," "The Result of Last Winter's Macedonian Excavations," "Stephen Phillips and the English Drama of Today," "The Spread of Pessimism," "Plans for Increased Transportation Facilities at New York."

Frankly speaking would not such a program find the chapel crowded every day; not by the same persons exactly, but by varying audiences; for, while perhaps few would be interested in all subjects, everyone would be sometime directly touched.

Is this scheme impracticable? Would it throw too great an additional burden upon our faculty? There are sixty-nine in the faculty of Liberal Arts and the lecturers need not be confined strictly to that college. Of these, there are perhaps fifty eligible for such a work. This means that each one would be called on once in about two months, or four, fifteen minute addresses a year. When we remember that each one is to speak, extemporaneously if he desires, on any subject whatever he may choose, this seems a mere trifle. No program for a year need be made out, such an elaborateness is unnecessary. All that is required is that speakers and subjects be known say a week ahead to ensure their publication in the college papers. Furthermore the work of arranging for the order of speakers—a mere nothing—need not devolve on the dean but on possibly the Christian Association or a small faculty committee. Remember that this scheme would be hardly less interesting and nowhere near as difficult as arranging for more formal lectures by outside speakers. It works elsewhere; Why not at Syracuse?

Chapel should to a large extent be to the student an evolving center, not only of higher ideals, but of college spirit. Especially should this be true here in Syracuse, where the two colleges downtown felt themselves—and often justly—to be in many ways separated from the rest of us. The whole University comes together, altogether too rarely. Would it not be feasible to join all five colleges in chapel in Crouse College Hall regularly once a week or at least once a month? The little time lost would be more than compensated for. At such meetings necessary matters of University business could be attended to; while the mere assembling of our great student body would conduce to a greater loyalty to our Alma Mater and to more of that elusive intangibility known as college spirit. The "atmosphere" of the larger, richer, and more stately edifice would itself be an inspiration.

ALFRED DEBATE THIS EVENING

Sophomore Team Meet Orophilian Lyceum---- Exciting Contest Expected.

The debat: between the Sophomore Debate team and a team representing the Orophilian Lyceum of Alfred University will occur at Alfred this evening. The team left Syracuse yesterday at 12:35, and were seen off at the train by Professor Losey and several members of the debating societies. They went as far as Hornellsville where they spent the night. They will arrive at Alfred at 12 o'clock today.

The question to be discussed is:—Resolved, That Labor Unions are not promoting the general welfare. The speakers are:

Affirmative— Syracuse; Albert J. Croft, Oscar J. Brown, Jacob C. Tressler.

Negative—Alfred;Clarence L. Clarke, Alexander Campbell, Theodore G. Davis. Each speaker is to have ten minutes for the direct argument and five minutes for rebuttal.

The judges are:—Jesse L. Granteer, Wellsville, N. Y.; E. M. Deems, D.D., Hornellsville, N. Y.; Delmer E. Bachelder, Superintendent of city schools, Olean, N. Y.

There is but little doubt that the sophomore team has a good fight before them, for Alfred has had wide experience in debate. The various lyceums located there are continually having inter-society debates. Last year a Lyceum-league was formed at Alfred and they have charge of the intercollegiate contests. A debate was held last year with the Cornell Congress on the Tariff question. The decision was in favor of Cornell. This year, besides the debate this evening they have a debate with Cornell in April, at Ithaca. The society, the 1906 men meet, has a record of fifty years debating work.

The team has been preparing for some months for the contest. The case is said to be very strong by those who have heard it. Last week in a debate upon the question in the Argumentation class against a team of upperclass men the sophomores received the decision of the judges.

The team will return to Syracuse on Wednesday. A full account of the debate will be published in Wednesday's issue of the Daily Orange.

It will be remembered that when the challenge was first received from Alfred it was for an intercollegiate debate, but as it would have been impossible for Syracuse to develope three intercollegiate debating teams this year, an answer was returned to Alfred that although it would be impracticable to meet them with a 'Varsity team the sophomore class would accept the challenge. The proposition was finally agreed to and Alfred submitted the question, giving Syracuse the choice of sides.

EIGHTS ON THE WATER

For First Time This Season the Entire Squad Reports at Boat House.

For the first time this season the candidates for the University crews were all taken to the boat house yesterday afternoon and both 'Varsity and freshman eights were given a try-out in the eight oared shells. For the past two weeks Coach Ten Eyck has taken the freshmen to the boat house in squads aud taught them the rudiments of rowing in the four-oared and pair-oared shells. It has been impossible to use the eight-oare d shells as the ice in the river has prevented. Meanwhile the 'Varsity men have been continuing their work on the machines under the direction of Captain Robert Stone.

Yesterday afternoon, however, the ice had cleared for a considerable distance up the river, so that it was possible to turn an eight-oared shell around. The coach immediately took advantage of these conditions and ordered all candidates for the crews to take the four o'clock car over the Lakeside road for the boat house.

Both eight-oared shells were put in commission. The 'Varsity men occupied one with Coxswain Miller of last year's freshman crew in charge and the coach took charge of the freshmen in the other shell, giving his directions from the coxswain's seat.

Saturday afternoon Coach Ten Eyck had Dempster and Brown out in the pair-oared shell, coxswaining them himself. Brown entered the University a year ago last January as a sophomore and according to the intercollegiate rule could not row on the crew last year. He has been working on the machines since Christmas, but Saturday was his first attempt to manage a twelve-foot. From the showing that Brown made Saturday it is probable that he will be a strong candidate for the ,Varsity boat. Five candidates for coxswain of the freshman boat have been out on the water.

The following are the members of the 'Varsity squad: Packard, Rice, Dempster, Stone, Becker, Kimmel, Kimberly, Brown, Squires, Salisbury, Lincoln, Anderson, Rice and Patterson; coxswains, Miller and Curtiss.

The freshman squad is composed of the following men: Wygant, Hale, Stone, Robinson, Michelson, Andrews, Woodard, Rice, Davis, Coit, Mount, Cummings, Armstrong, Packard, Edwards, Moore, Spencer and Hares; coxswains, Cornwall, Winklestein, Barber and Carrier.

THE GERMAN CLUB.

The German club has appointed Messrs. Earl Wikoff, H. D. Smith and Miss Dahlmann to procure a hall in the north part of the city among the German people. It is the purpose of the club to give the second German play in such a hall, sometime in May.

PROFESSOR HOPKINS HONORED

California Selects Him as State Mineralogist.

The fact that members of the faculty of Syracuse University are gaining a national reputation is conclusively shown in the appointment of Professor Thomas C. Hopkins of the Geology Department as State Mineralogist of the State of California.

This appointment, received yesterday, will render it possible for Professor Hopkins to do a large amount of original investigation among the ore and quarry deposits of California. With the official appointment came a letter stating that the appointee would be expected to begin his duties early in June. The privilege of collecting specimens for the University museum was also granted. Professor Hopkins will have completed his investigations by the time college opens next fall.

PSI UPSILON INITIATES.

The initiation banquet of the Pi chapter of Psi Upsilon was held last Friday evening at the Vanderbilt Hotel. The initiates were, from the class of 1906, Charles Daniel Castle, Oneida, N. Y.; from the class of 1907, Frank Stevens Clift, Syracuse; Joseph Baxter Hill, Syracuse; Mason T. Mount, Lysander; Harold D. Stephens, Syracuse.

After partaking of the bountiful repast, Lawrence F. Jones, toastmaster, called for several toasts which were responded to as follows: "Psi U. Prescriptions," Charles W. Tooke, Pi '91; "Psi U. Neophyte," Lucius S. Johnson, Pi '99; "Psi U. Followship," H. B. Williams, Pi '00; "Psi U. Opportunities," Willis H. Michell, Pi '99; "Pi Chapter of Today," Jacob E. Gramlich, Pi '04; Charles D. Castle, Pi '06; Frank S. Clift, Joseph B. Hill, Mason T. Mount, Harold D. Stephens, Pi '07.

DEBATE TRIALS.

The junior trials for the Senior-Junior debate were held last evening in room 33-35, Hall of Languages. The senior trials will be held at the same place tomorrow evening. The date for the debate has not yet been determined. From the senior-junior team three men will be selected to represent the Orange in the intercollegiate contest with Allegheny College.

CHEMISTRY NOTES.

Professor Potter is preparing to give a course in gas analysis. In fact the greater part of the apparatus has arrived and the seniors in engineering will take a short course this spring.

Next year it is expected that the present boiler rooms as well as the carpenter shop will be rearranged and fitted up as laboratories. So with this additional equipment and the return of Dr. Cooper, it will be possible to offer several new courses.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

The students residing in Winchell Hall gave the second of their series of teas to the other college women yesterday afternoon from three until six. Mrs. Scott assisted by Mrs. Day and the upperclassmen residing in the Hall, received the guests in the red parlor. Ices and cakes were served by the sophomores. About one hundred and twenty students called during the afternoon.

Miss Lena Baldwin '06, has returned from spending several days with friends in Elmira.

Dr. and Mrs. Burchard entertained the major students, senior and junior, and also instructors, last week at their home.

Iota Alpha Mu gave a dancing party last evening at the Women's Union.

PUBLIC RECITAL,

The musical students of Fine Arts College will give a public recital in Crouse College Hall tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The program will consist of organ, piano, violin and vocal selctions.

CHEMICAL CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Chemical Club was held Monday evening in room 46, Hall of Languages, at 7:30 o'clock. Papers were presented by Messrs. Swinney, Allen and Bateman.

ENGLISH CLUB.

Henry Danizer, Jr., will address the regular meeting of the English club in the Seminar Room on Tuesday evening, March 22, at 8 o'clock. Much business regarding the play will be transacted as this is the last meeting before the production.

COMPLETE REHEARSAL TUESDAY

Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a complete rehearsal of King Lear at the Wieting. All the cast and supernumeraries are requested to report promptly at two.

NOTICES.

The sophomore engineer class shirts are expected to arrive in time for the men to obtain them at Smith College at chapel time this morning.

Glee Club rehearsals will commence this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Everyone who intends to go on the trip will please report. RALPH L. STILWELL, Leader.

The sophomore debate team is the first class team that ever had the honor to represent Syracuse against another college. The men chosen are indeed worthy of the honor, and can be depended on to make an excellent record.

The best wishes of the student body is extended to them for success. Above all things may the best team win.

The habit seems to be growing on a large number of students of standing around the hall in Liberal Arts near room 33-34. If the men who are addicted to such a habit would keep quiet no trouble would ensue. But a joke is passed around with accompanying loud laughter, or some freshman thinks it his duty to beat a tattoo on the baseboard with his heels. The same person naturally never thinks he is disturbing the Dean in his office or a class of several score in room 33-34. The development of a small amount of gray matter in the crania of the first year men will not only save them trouble, but will lessen the growth of gray hair among others affected.

An excellent opportunity is afforded for someone on the blackboards in the Liberal Arts and Smith colleges. It is very essential that these boards be kept clean from class to class.

In this matter why not employ the first-rate system in use in some of the larger Universities. Under this system a man, or two, is sent through the room with proper material at the end of each hour, and cleans the board in every room. In many cases this is a necessity. Take a room which is used for mathematics and also language work. At the end of each hour the board is covered with chalk. With a little extra effort and less expense such a system as suggested would work wonders.

CLASS FINANCES.

Committees have been appointed from the senior and junior classes to confer with the Chancellor and fix a system for future class finances. The committees are as follows:

Seniors—Messrs. George Moore, Geo. Hares, Harry L. Gardner, Alfred Armstrong, Harry Barber and Saul Lavine; Miss Grace Hunt, Miss Maude Saxe and Miss Gertrude Shoemaker.

The Juniors are—Messrs. Arthur Distin, Clarence Houseknecht, Fred Lear, James B. Woodruff, Clifford Searles, Leon Woodhull, Misses Grace Emens and Laura Weller. Representatives of all colleges are seen on both committees. They will meet the Chancellor in his office at 4:15 p. m. Thursday.

A SUCCESS.

The policy of opening the Library evenings is proving more successful as time goes on. When the new order of opening evenings went into effect just before the Christmas holidays the students did not realize its advantages. They are now awakening to the benefits derived from the new system.

At the first of January a goodly number was using the library every evening. During the last two months the number in attendance every evening has almost doubled.

Miss Lucy A. Chapin '98, has returned from Lancaster, Mass., where she has been during the past year. She recently sent to the state capitol at Augusta, Me., a portrait of Prentiss Mellen, the first Chief Justice of the Supreme Judical Court of Maine. Miss Chapin is at work in this city on the portrait of Judge Whitman of Maine.

Rev. Robert B. Adams '98, and Harry R. Templeton '03, acted as officials at the great athletic carnival held in the 74th Regiment Armory of Buffalo last Saturday night. The star event was the two mile relay race between the best teams from Yale, Cornell, Pennsylvania and the 74th Regiment. Yale won and to do so broke a world's record.

A CLOSE CONTEST.

The Sophomores Lose Decision in Debate to Alfred 2 to 1.

(Special from Alfred to the Daily Orange, 11 p. m. Tuesday.)

The sophomore debate team of Syracuse lost a very close and exciting debate with the Alfred college team this evening.

The question discussed was: Resolved, That labor unions are not promoting the general welfare.

The speakers were:

Affirmative—Syracuse. Albert J. Croft, Oscar J. Brown, Jacob C. Tressler.

Negative—Alfred. Alexander Campbell, Clarence L. Clarke, Theodore G. Davis.

The decision of the judges was rendered without any conference between them and was two to one in favor of Alfred.

The Alfred leader made strong the fact that Labor Unions do more good than harm. His assistants in succession contended for brotherhood of collective bargaining, and showed that strikes are not general but particular cases.

Alfred had the last rebuttal and this was a surprise, for the 1906 men from Syracuse expected to have that advantage.

The Syracuse men were not cast down by the defeat, for they were congratulated on all sides for their excellent work. The Syracuse trio were especially effective on rebuttal.

The debate was conceded to be the best held at Alfred for many years, excelling the contest between Cornell and Alfred held last year. The men will return this evening.

CLASSICAL SCHOOL INCORPORATED.

Articles of incorporation for the Syracuse Classical School, have been forwarded to the Secretary of State at Albany. The capitalization is $20,000 and it is probable that this will be increased soon. This is an item of interest to the University since the Classical School has become one of the University's principle gymnasia.

The Classical School was started three years ago by Professor A. Lincoln Travis and through his efforts it has steadily grown. The plan of the incorporators is to build boys a dormatory and gymnasium on or near the Yates property and to enlarge the school generally so that it will eventually become the preparatory school for Syracuse University.

The incorporators are: President, A. Lincoln Travis; vice president, R. B. True; second vice-president, Leonard T. Haight; Secretary, W. K. Mott, and treasurer, W. A. Hutchinson.

CHICAGO ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

Twenty-two persons sat down to the luncheon in Mandel's English room at one o'clock. March 19th, the fifth anniversary of the organization of the Association of the Chicago Alumni of Syracuse University. An excellent dinner was served in exquisite style.

The newly elected officers are as follows: President, R. P. Hallett, '78; vice president, Mrs. Harriet Cobb Smith, '86; secretary, Charles M. Furton, '83; treasurer, Miss Harriett C. Stacey, '93.

The club agreed to purchase fifty copies of the song book just issued by Taylor in New York, and voted to support the movement of the Buffalo Alumni for a new University Song Book by contributing a song, both music and words, in competition for the first prize.

So much enthusiasm was developed over the history of University athletics that a subscription of $100 was promptly made toward the purchase of a new shell for the University crew.

The club unanimously approved the efforts of Dean Smalley to publish the new alumni record and agreed to assist in the way of personal subscriptions. Hereafter the club will hold two meetings in the year, one in the autumn after the football season, the other in the spring.

Among those present were: Rev. M. M. Parkhurst '70, Dean Martha Foote Crow '76, Dean Peter C. Lutkin '01, Prof. J. S. Clark '77, Prof. A. F. Beard '75, Mrs. Sara M. Cobb '83, C. M. Furton '83, E. E. Hill '88, A. H. Meads '85, H. M. Ford ex-'87, Harriet C. Stacey '93, Miss Jessie T. Peck '88, Prof. W. G. W. Smidt '38, Miss Van Doren '32, C. B. Atwell '79.

JUNIOR DEBATE TRIALS.

Nine men presented arguments on the question, "Resolved, That Labor Unions are Detrimental to the Industrial Welfare," Monday evening in room 33-34 Liberal Arts Building. All the arguments presented were strong and forceful. The three men chosen by the judges to represent the class on the team were Fred W. Hartwell, Joseph A. Mosher and Robert Park. Professor Morris and Professor Losey acted as judges.

The men selected together make up a strong and well balanced team. Hartwell's keen analysis, Park's power in conviction and Mosher's persuasive elegance of diction, together comprise the qualities which should make the 1905 Debate team a strong combination.

The trials for the senior team will be held tonight at 7:30 in the same place, room 33-34. Seven candidates will try for places.

Ernest Smith '04, has been awarded a fellowship in the Physics department. He will continue his work in this department next year for a Master's degree, and will also assist in the laboratory work.

Special attention is called to the last of the series of lectures to be given tomorrow evening under the auspices of the classical club. The subject is one that should appeal to a majority of the Liberal and Fine Arts students.

It is unnecessary to make extended mention of the lecturer. Dr. Peritz has an excellent reputation not only as a lecturer but as an experienced writer and profound thinker. All who can should hear this lecture.

The baseball schedule for the coming season is doubtless the best ever arranged for an Orange nine. Those in charge are to be congratulated on its consummation. It allows our team to meet the very best talent in the country in this branch of sport.

The weather has not allowed the men the outdoor work afforded last season. But the same agent has restrained other college nines throughout the east. We therefore start on practically an equal basis with all our opponents except the southern nines. With the first class material on hand we should surpass our former records.

Considerable dissatisfaction has been evidenced concerning the conduct of the recent Junior Debate Team trials. Owing to the failure of the Debating Union to provide the proper quota of judges, Professor Losey was forced to assume the role of judge, together with Professor Morris.

Of course, the fundamental reason for holding a debate trial is to select the men who excell in that particular contest. If any judge, however fair and judicial, knows each contestant, his abilities as displayed on former occasions, his class room work, etc.

There is apparently no dissatisfaction with the choice of the judges on Monday evening. The men chosen are very competent and are sure to develop a strong class team. However, there seems to be a strong feeling among the debate devotees that the Debating Union should further assist Professor Losey in providing for such contests. Judges have little if any knowledge of the work of the men except as evidenced in the trials.

OTHER COLLEGE NEWS.

YALE.

The Yale crew coacher, Carl E. Adams and John R. Kennedy, have selected the 'Varsity crew squad to start the training table for this season. It consists of the first crew as it is rowing at present and one substitute. Only three veterans of last year's 'Varsity eight are on the squad.

CORNELL.

The Cornell base ball squad consisting of twenty players will leave Ithaca March 31, for its southern trip. The first two games of the trip will be with the Naval Cadets at Annapolis. Friday and Saturday of the same week. The Cornell organization has not yet been able to do much work out doors because of the snow and ice.

AT THE BASTABLE.

J. H. Stoddart, that grand old man, finished actor, appears the first half of the week in the Ian Maclaren Scotch comedy, "The Bonnie Brier Bush." This is the third trans-continental tour of this very successful play. Mr. Stoddard, Reuben Fox and many of the original company are still in the cast, while the scenic environment is as elaborate as ever. A member of Mr. Stoddart's company is Miss Mabel Brownell, a niece of Manager Hurtig of the Bastable Theatre, who has the leading role of Flora Campbell. Matinee Wednesday.

PRIZE OF $1,000

The Association for maintaining the American Women's Table at Zoological Station at Naples, and for promoting scientific research by women, announces the offer of a second prize of $1,000. It is for the best thesis, written by a woman, on a scientific subject embodying new observations and new conclusions based on an independent laboratery research in biological, chemical or physical science.

The theses offered in competition are to be presented to the executive committee of the Association and must be in the hands of the chairman of the committee on the price, Mrs. Ellen H. Richards, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass., before December 31, 1904.

The prize will be awarded at the annual meeting in April, 1905. Each thesis must be accompanied by a sealed envelope, enclosing the author's name and address, and superscribed with a title corresponding to one borne by the manuscript.

OF INTEREST TO SENIORS.

The engraving company who will furnish invitations to the senior class offer an opportunity to seniors to obtain engraved calling cards in script, Roman or shaded old English type at less less than regular wholesale rates. This courtesy is extended to seniors only and all names must be in hands of the engravers by March 29. Samples of the work may be seen with any member of the committee with whom names may be left. The members of the committee for the Liberal Arts College are Miss Florence R. Deuchler, and Mr. Earl N. Wikoff; Fine Arts, Albert S. Hadley; Medical College, George Lynch; Law College, John H. Burke; Science, C. Fred Phillips.

DR. PERITZ TO LECTURE.

The last of a series of lectures given under the auspices of the Classical Club will be delivered on Thursday evening, March 24 at 8 o'clock, in the Assembly Hall of the University Block.

Dr. Ismar J. Peritz will deliver the lecture on "Recent Excavations in Babylonia and their relation to the Bible." The lecture will be well illustrated with stereoptican views. The English, French, Germans and Americans have been busily excavating on the ruins of ancient Babylonia, and have brought to light a remarkably high state of culture before 4,000, B. C., the commonly supposed date of the creation of man.

The lecture should be of especial interest, not only to students of classical and biblical antiquities, but also to those of art and architecture.

Dr. Peritz's scholarship and high ability as a lecturer needs no comment. As head of the Semitics department in the University, as a profound thinker and a well versed writer, he has a national reputation in his work.

KING LEAR PLANS.

The English Department Has Elaborate Plans For the Production--Fine Prospects.

The regular meeting of the English Club was held in the Seminar Rooms, Tuesday evening. Mr. Danziger, who it was hoped would address the club, was unable to be present. The evening was profitably and pleasantly spent in hearing the reports of the "Lear" committees and in discussion of the play. A social hour followed.

Dr. Eaton, chairman of the advertising committee, spoke at some length on its work. Three-sheet bill-board posters are now ready for distribution through this city, as well as Rochester and Auburn. Window cards with "Lear" pictures will be placed everywhere in all three cities, and arrangements are already closed for much newspaper advertising. Space will be taken in the New York papers if it seems advisable later, in spite of the enormous cost.

Prof. Morris, chairman of the executive committee, said that special cars had been chartered for the Auburn trip, and special arrangements are planned with the New York Central. Mention was made of the smoothness of Tuesday's rehearsal, which augurs well for the success of the play itself.

The cast as the whole is even better than the excellent cast of the "Shrew" two years ago. Professor Losey also spoke enthusiastically of the progress of rehearsals. He gave some interesting details of the history of the play itself, and of its presentation in the past century. As far as has been ascertained after correspondence with some of the best informed theatrical men in America, "King Lear" has not been presented in nearly twenty years, and not in Syracuse for over thirty. This presentation is then a rare treat for Shakesperian lovers. Nor must it be thought that this performance is inadequate; those who have seen rehearsals pronounce the cast the equal of many professional companies.

No expense is being spared in staging the production. The advertising bill alone will, it is expected, run close to three hundred dollars.

It has been decided also to treat the public exactly as any professional company would. No tickets will be sold by students. The box office will open for the sale of seats three days before the first night as is usual with all plays; and no difficulty is expected in filling the houses here in Syracuse. Persons who do not expect the equal of the average professional performance will be pleasantly disappointed.

Professor Evelyn Benedict Ayers was elected to Honorary Membership in the club. The next meeting will be held with Professor Richards, and Professor Gilmore of Rochester University will probably be the speaker.

OTHER COLLEGE NEWS.

HARVARD.

In commemoration of his seventieth birthday and the fiftieth anniversary of his entrance into Harvard's service President Eliot was given a reception by the students of Monday afternoon. Loving cups from the faculty and students were presented to President Eliot. A special edition of the Harvard Crimson contains numerous letters of congratulation from noted educators throughout the land.

The football schedule for 1904 contains ten games. Brown, Wesleyan and Amherst have been dropped.

CHICAGO.

President Harper who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis is now on the road to recovery.

Fifteen hundred students petitioned for one extra day in the spring vacation. The petition was denied by the faculty.

WILLIAMS.

The football schedule for next season contains games with Harvard, Columbia, Dartmouth, West Point, Hamilton, Colgate, Vermont and Wesleyan. Six of the above games will be played in Williamstown.

The musical club assisted by the Holyoke quartette gave a concert at Mt. Holyoke, Monday evening. After the regular concert the Williams club serenaded at several places on the Holyoke campus.

YALE.

Yale has under consideration the adoption of the honor system.

The Japanese students are raising money for the Japanese Red Cross.

Yale won the two-mile relay at the 74th Regiment's indoor meet held at Buffalo, Saturday night, defeating teams from Cornell, Pennsylvania and the 74th Regiment.

SOPHOMORE ENGINEER BANQUET.

The sophomore engineers last evening made merry at a stag banquet held at the Hub cafe. The affair was the society event of the year for the 1906 engineers. The tables fairly groaned under the weight of good things to eat. About forty members of the class sat down to the feed. An orchestra was in attendance during the entire evening.

The members christened their official class shirts by wearing them to the banquet. They are made up in maroon. Mr. Jones was the faculty member present.

After the banquet R. J. Rothwell, the toastmaster, called for the following toasts, introducing each speaker with a few well chosen remarks:

"The Sophomore Engineers," A. J. Squires; "Practical Engineering," Professor Jones; "Prof. Jones' Surveying Class," Archie Meatyard; "Engineers as College Students," Stanley Colter; "Engineers as Athletes," D. S. Rutty; "Engineers in Society," E. D. Wood; and "The Red Shirts," A. E. Stacey Jr.

FINE ARTS RECITAL

An Interesting Program ---Standing Room at a Premium.

The public recital at Crouse College yesterday afternoon drew the usual large number of people who filled the hall, many being obliged to stand. The program was varied and especially interesting. Several of the performers made their first appearance.

The program opened with an organ number which was finely played by Miss Lane, an organist of ability. The whole number was very enjoyable. The second number was for piano aud was played in a dignified manner by Miss Trolan, who showed careful attention to her werk. This was Miss Trolan's first appearance in public and she gives promise of even better things in the future. Miss Keeler rendered the first vocal number, "The Lorely," which she sang with much feeling, showing abundant tone coloring. Her interpretation was very satisfactory.

One of the most pleasing numbers on the program was Schumann's Andante, with variations, for two pianos, played by Miss Hawks, a very young pianist, who showed remarkable ability and whose playing would have done credit to one much older. She was greeted with loud applause when she finished.

The violin playing of Mr. Stevenson was especially fine. He played a work full of technical difficulties, but he mastered them all in a way that showed his fine control of the instrument. His tone and style were very commendable.

Miss Dornburgh played in a delightful manner. Her tone qualities were fine and throughout the selection her technique was crisp and clean cut. Her shading was especially good. The next number was executed with much expression by Miss Distin. This was Miss Distin's first appearance at the organ, although she has been heard to fine advantage several times before at the piano. Her playing showed faithful attention to her studies. Schubert's difficult "Erlking" was sung with much feeling by Mr. Stillwell. His interpretation and tone quality left nothing to be desired.

The final and most brilliant number on the program was admirably rendered by Miss Mott, one of the most talented musical students at the University. This difficult work displayed to fine advantage the performer's ability as a pianist. It fairly bristles with technical difficulties, but they were played with an ease and surety that was a delight to her hearers. Her technique was faultless and it is seldom that a finer rendition is heard in these recitals.

The program follows:

Organ: Sonata in D minor, No. 1...

MISSIONARY COMMITTEE REPORT

The report of the Missionary department of the Y. M. C. A. for the past year shows a decided growth over the preceding year. Missionary speakers of the first order were secured for the principal meetings. The enrollment in mission study has increased from twenty-five to fifty-five men. The amount contributed for Mr. Brockman's support has increased from $95.00 to $220.00, the number of men pledging being more than double and containing many members of the faculty. The number of student volunteers increased from six to twelve men. These figures show a steady growth in the missionary spirit amongst our students.

NOTICES.

The Mandolin club will practice at 7:30 Thursday evening in Liberal Arts college. E. S. MILLS, Leader.

The majors and minors in Philosophy classes 1904 and 1905 will meet after chapel on Friday to plan for Book Day.

A rehearsal of the German play "Papa hat's erlaubt," will take place Saturday at 5 p. m., March 26, in room 31. All those who take part in it are urged to be present. W. OTTO.

Professor Bushnell will speak upon the subject "Latin Easter Hymns" to his 2 p. m. class in the Classical Seminar room, on Thursday, March 24. Prose and verse translations will be given some account of the authorship and structure of the hymns. Those interested in this timely subject will be welcome.

The plans for the production of King Lear as outlined show that the play will be a decided success in every way. The arrangements are in experienced hands, as shown by their details printed on the first page.

The lovers of Shakespeare are looking forward with pleasure to this production. It will have been the first staging of King Lear in this city for some thirty years. The entire affair will be conducted as it would be by professionals. As a college production it will assuredly receive excellent support.

There are some students who persist in taking books from the various Seminar libraries and who fail to return them for several days. This practice is to be condemned for several reasons. It is damaging to the moral character of these students, because they indulge in a practice known to be wrong. It is a violation of law. It deprives innocent persons of the use of those books during the time they are out. It is gross selfishness, a violation of common courtesy. Further, this practice could never be carried out by every one. It would be well for these students to study Kant's rule for the interpretation of moral law: "Let the rule of your conduct, in every case, be such that it might become a universal law, to govern the actions of mankind." A word to the wise is sufficient.

"Pitiably mean," "weak, sporadic blows at things quite without his necessary circle" are among the sarcastic terms employed by the sophomoric editorial writer of the Cornell Daily Sun in attempting to cast discredit upon the efforts of Chancellor Day to exert an influence for a wiser use of state funds in agricultural education.

"A man who believes a bequest unjust and who then endeavors to thwart it is to be lauded," the Cornell writer admits. Why can not our Cornell friends give us the credit of honest beliefs and honor our Chancellor for his laudable endeavors, instead of judging him from such a narrow selfish standpoint?

SERVICE BY STUDENT VOLUNTEERS.

Sunday will be a day of unusual interest at Olevet M. E. Church, corner of Butternut and Josephine streets, of which W. E. Doutey '04, is pastor. The Student Volunteer Band of the University will have charge of all the services on that day. The band will meet the official board of the church for a prayer meeting at 10:30 and at the public service at 10:45. Mr. Woodley will make the address. The Sunday school hour will be given up to illustrated talks to the children by Miss Saxe and Miss Enos. At the Young Peoples' service at 6:30, all the members of the band will take part and the evening service will be evangelistic with several talks by members of the band.

LATIN VERSE PRIZE.

Dean Smalley has recently assigned to Professor Bushnell the coaching of contestants for the van Allen Latin Prize. Professor Bushnell will be glad to make suggestions to any who may desire them with reference to verse structure, preliminary reading and general method, as well as to supply copies of the masterpieces among the Latin hymns.

VOL. I. NO. 137. SYRACUSE, N. Y., FRIDAY, MARCH 25, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

WESLEYAN TRIO PREPARING

Connecticut Debaters to Put up a Strong Fight--Makeup of Teams.

Reports from Middletown show that Wesleyan has been working hard on the Syracuse question ever since defeating Williams early in the winter. From all reports their men are keen debaters and will put up a good stiff fight.

The Wesleyan speakers in order are: Stewart F. Hancock '05, son of Theodore E. Hancock of this city. Mr. Hancock first took part in debating at Wesleyan in his sophomore year. That year he made the Williams-Wesleyan debate, the college debate and the Freshmen-Sophomore debate. This year he was one of the team that defeated Williams. He is a member of Alpha Delta Phi. Mr. Hancock is a graduate of the Syracuse High school and while there was a member of the High School Congress. The present Congress is to attend the debate in a body to honor its former member.

Charles W. Atwater '06, of Middletown, Conn., is the most experienced man on the team. He is the son of Professor Atwater, whose declaration that alcohol is food, has led to much controversy. When in preparatory school at Exeter, he was on the team which oudebated the Harvard Freshmen and since he has been in college at Wesleyan, he has debated with his class team three times, besides being one of the two men who have ever made the college debate in their freshmen year. He was alternate on the team which met Williams last fall. He is a member of Phi Nu Theta.

Asa Russell Gifford '04, of Cottage City, Mass., did not take part in debating until the latter part of his junior year. He has been on two debates, winning the Briggs prize at the College Debate last year, and being a member of the team which defeated Williams this year. He is a member of Phi Nu Theta.

The men are all experienced, keen debaters. There can be no doubt that Wesleyan is sending her best men. At least three members of the faculty will listen with interest to the coming debate, for Dean Ensign McChesney, Dr. Emens and Dr. Coddington are Wesleyan graduates and members of Phi Nu Theta, to which fraternity two members of the team belong.

The men who will represent the Orange are:

Ernest H. Sumner '05, Law, is the oldest intercollegiate debater in college. He was on the Brown team in 1903 and on the team which defeated Brown last year. He is a clear forceful speaker and is especially good in expository work.

George K. Warren '04, was a member of the Brown team last year. His work is thorough and consistent. His manner is earnest and thoroughly convincing.

Lloyd L. Cheney '05, was captain of the sophomore team last year. He has been a member of several debating clubs under the old debating system. He excells particularly in rebuttal.

Arrangements for the Smoker, which is to be given at the D. K. E. house by the Debating clubs after the contest, are progressing rapidly. It is expected that in addition to those previously named, the Wesleyan alumni in this city will be invited.

1907 ADOPTS CAP.

At a meeting of the freshman class held in room 33-34, Hall of Languages, yesterday morning, just previous to the Roman History lecture, the class adopted a gray Eton cap as the official class cap for the sophomore year. At first there was some little opposition by members of the class who desired a gray slouch hat. As the expense of such a hat would be double that of a cap, it was finally decided to accept the latter.

The caps will be made up without any lining, the seams being firmly bound with tape. A very small orange button will probably be upon the cap in order to distinguish it from other college caps. A large order will be placed with some down town firm in order that the caps may be ready for the class to make their first appearance in them Moving-up Day.

Jerseys were voted to the members of the class basketball five. The president was empowered to appoint a committee to attend to the matter.

At the close of the Dean's lecture Harry W. Farrington presented each member of the class with a copy of the "Proklamashun" issued by the sophomores the beginning of the year to the incoming freshmen. About two hundred of these posters, which had been laid away by the sophomores having the matter in charge, were found and appropriated by Mr. Farrington who decided to share the spoils with his classmates.

JUNIOR-SENIOR DEBATE.

The date for the Junior-Senior debate is April 21. The question is: Resolved, That trade unions are detrimental to the industrial welfare. The seniors who are to uphold the affirmative will be represented by A. S. Copeland, A. A. L. Baldrey and Frank Sowers. The junior team is: Joseph Mosher, F. W. Hartwell and Robert Park

LEGAL NOTES.

The junior class at a meeting held yesterday morning decided to have a smoker some time after Easter vacation. The exact time and place is yet to be decided upon. President Fitzgerald appointed the following committee to make all necessary arrangements: S. Ferguson, Z. D. Race and O. E. Black.

Z. D. Race '05, has been pledged Delta Chi.

CUT IN CREW CANDIDATES

'Varsity and Freshmen Dropped---Squad now Numbers Twenty-eight.

Coach Ten Eyck yesterday announced another cut in crew candidates, cutting down the squad to twenty-eight men, including the coxswains. The 'Varsity men retained are: Packard, Rice, R. R. Stone, Dempster, Saulsbury, Kimberly, Anderson, Squires, Becker, Smith, Kimmel, Lincoln, Brown. The freshmen are: Spencer, Andrews, Hale, Rice, Davis, Robinson, Woodard, D. Stone, Cummings, Hares, Armstrong, Mount.

In addition to these the last year's coxswains, Miller and Curtiss, and a freshman, Cornwall, are still out.

Passes were issued for the first time Wednesday and will probably be used for the rest of the year.

Now that the men are rowing in eights the need of a new shell is pressing. The "old barge" has not yet been put into commission, but will have to be used soon. As yet, nothing definitive is known as regards a new boat.

Training table will be started next week either at the Vanderbilt or St. Cloud hotels. The men will all be kept here during the Easter vacation.

Miller, the last year's freshman coxswain, is steering the 'Varsity shell, with Packard as stroke. The coxswain's seat of the freshman shell is being occupied by the coach, while Curtiss steers the subs.

INSIGNIA AWARDED.

Basketball insignia have been awarded the following men by the Athletic Governing Board. The official "S. B. B.'s" were awarded to Niles, Powell and Kirchgassar, as well as to the men who earned them last year, Brady, Houseknecht, Rice and Twombly. Numerals were awarded to McAdam, Brady, Coit, Niles, Powell, Kirchgassar, Rice and Woodhull.

SENIORS' LAST CHANCE.

All who wish to take advantage of the special rate granted to seniors for obtaining engraved calling cards must give their order to members of the committee before Monday night, March 28th. The members of the committee for the Liberal Arts College are Miss Florence R. Deuchler, and Mr. Earl N. Wikoff; Fine Arts, Albert S. Hadley; Medical College, George Lynch; Law College, John H. Burke; Science, C. Fred Phillips.

FIRE EXTINGUISHERS PLACED IN BUILDINGS.

A consignment of two dozen Utica fire extinguishers was received by Dr. John yesterday. They were fitted out yesterday and will be placed in all the buildings on the hill.

CUT IN BASEBALL SQUAD.

Coach Costello has posted a second cut in baseball candidates. Ten men have been dropped, leaving seventeen now on the squad. The names of those who have been retained follow: Moore, Hefferman, Collins, Dineen, Hannon, Curtis, Brelos, Dexter, Wilbur, Baker, Keenan, Rutherford, Burrill, Ward, Pendergast, Monahan and Marcy.

This cut will enable the coach and Captain Moore to concentrate their efforts for the next week upon developing a team for the southern trip. Upon the work done between now and the first of April will depend largely the choice of men for this trip.

Besides the regular work of fielding and batting, the coach has been trying-out the men in the gymnasium upon their ability to slide bases.

PERSONALS.

Mr. John Trolan of Antwerp, is the guest of his daughter, Miss Ada Trolan, '06.

Miss Rita Meyers '06, left yesterday to spend some time at her home in Rome.

Miss Sibley, assistant in the gymnasium, has been ill for several days, but is now reported to be improving as rapidly as can be expected.

Daniel P. Becker '07, has pledged Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Mrs. Meade of Lyons, is visiting her daughter, Miss Arte Meade '04, at the Gamma Phi Beta house.

LATIN VERSE PRIZE.

Dean Smalley has recently assigned to Professor Bushnell the coaching of contestants for the van Allen Latin Prize. Professor Bushnell will be glad to make suggestions to any who may desire them with reference to verse structure, preliminary reading and general method, as well as to supply copies of the masterpieces among the Latin hymns.

NOTICES.

The majors and minors in Philosophy classes 1904 and 1905 will meet after chapel on Friday to plan for Book Day.

A rehearsal of the German play "Papa hat's erlaubt," will take place Saturday at 5 p. m., March 26, in room 31. All those who take part in it are urged to be present. W. OTTO.

All students wishing rooms in Winchell or Haven Halls for next year should see the chaperone about their choice of rooms and file their applications as soon as possible. Musical students will be accommodated in Haven Hall. Assignments to roomers for next year will be made after April 9, 1904 in the order ef the receipt of the application. For rates, specifications, etc., apply to Mrs. Scott at Winchell Hall.

In Wednesday morning's Orange appeared an article which through a series of mishaps which sometimes occurs in a newspaper office found its way in a mangled form to the editorial column.

The editor knows that the sentiment expressed in that particular editorial concerning the conduct of debate trials, was not the voice of the student body. The strongly implied attacks on the fairness of Professor Losey in selecting debaters was entirely unwarranted and moreover was not so intended.

It is to the garbled edition which reached the public as a result of the loss of a page of "copy" that the deplorable misstatement is largely due.

It is well-known fact that the present excellent standard of Syracuse in the intercollegiate debate world is due to one supreme factor; and that is, the tireless efforts of Professor Losey. There has never been a debate team at Syracuse in the last two years, but which for the asking, has obtained his wise counsel and thorough coaching. Furthermore both were given gratis. If there is one professor in the University who above another deserves the highest esteem because of superior merit and extra work, that man is Professor Frederick D. Losey.

Commencement Week is not far distant, and with it the alumni reunions of various classes. If we understand the present system of such reunions, it is one which brings a class together every five years after graduation. This custom has some advantage as well as disadvantages.

Suggestions have been made that for the past and present classics a system new to Syracuse. It calls for a triennial reunion as the first reunion of each class after graduation. Following that a sexennial and then a decennial. Thereafter each reunion to be a decennial.

The triennial reunion will bring a class together while there is still one of the classes in the University which was in when the other was also there. The sexannial and decennial reunions also have advantages.

Supposing such a system were adopted this year, and put into effect at once. The men participating in each reunion could easily procure some cheap emblems. The triennials for instance could wear sailor caps, the sexennials don linen dusters and the decennials some other emblem. This new system is a subject for consideration by the alumni and present senior class.

The Wesleyan debate is only a few days distant. We wish to call attention to it for this reason. The tickets for the great contest are having a promising sale, and there is reason to expect a crowded hall. The students will sit together as far as possible, so tnat cheering and singing can be conducted in a dignified and consistent manner.

The team has been working day and night under Professor Losey on the debate. Such an excellent coach co-operating with the first class trio, will bring thorough satisfaction to Syracuse, there is no doubt.

Both faculty and students are working in harmony to produce the best results. Both sides on the debate are represented by the best talent in their respective institutions. There is not a doubt but that it will be the greatest intercollegiate forensic contest ever held in Syracuse.

A MASS MEETING

In Interests of Debating ---Also to Adopt Class Financial System.

It is probable a meeting of the student body will be held Monday after chapel in the interests of the Wesleyan debate, and also to act on the class financial plans reported by the upper-class committee.

At a meeting of the Chancellor, the Deans and representatives of the senior and junior classes held in the Chancellor's office, Thursday afternoon, March 21, the subject of class taxation was fully discussed. The object of the discussion was to find some method of presenting the abuses that result from unavailable taxation and how to bring proper pressure to bear on members of the classes that ignore or refuse to pay just class taxes.

In speaking of the classes it is understood that only the senior class has a class president over all the colleges; in all other cases each college has its separate organization in each class. The word class means in each case these five subdivisions of the class, or the class as a whole. The discussion resulted in the adoption of the following action expressing the sense of the meeting:

1. An advisory and grievance committee of ten consisting of a senior and a junior from each of the five colleges, shall be appointed by these two classes respectively. This committee shall have authority (if this action is duly ratified) to pass finally on all matters of class taxation that may be referred to them or that may come up on an appeal from any individual or a class, and to adjust all cases on an equitable basis.

2. For the purpose of levying a class tax the class must be duly organized, the tax must be voted when a quorum is present (such quorum to be determined by the class when a majority is present) and after the notice that the question of levying a tax will be voted on at a given meeting duly called. Further, that all accounts involving class taxation must be duly audited and approved by the class concerned in each case.

It is desired that these recommendations be ratified by the senior and junior classes, and later by the student body as a whole.

BOOK DAY.

The major and minor students in the Philosophy department held a meeting yesterday morning. They decided to have a Book Day on April 16. At this time it is hoped to receive many gifts in the line of books from the students in the department. It is hoped to have this as an annual affair. Future details will be given later.

THE EASTER TRIP.

Glee Club Will Go South Instead of West on its Coming Trip ---The Clubs.

The men on the University glee and instrumental clubs will leave the city Monday noon on their annual Easter trip. The journey will be south this spring rather than west, as had been expected. The first date will be filled at Cortland on March 28th. Among the other cities included Elmira, Athens, Pa:, and Binghamton.

The following men have been chosen for the trip: Glee—J. C. Hoey, A. J. Trussell, S. S. Davis, Harry Houck, Herbert Schaefer, F. R. Snow, C. P. Wright, G. W. Fowler, Ernest Fahnestock, R. L. Stilwell, F. E. Brundage, S. K. Titus, O. Staley, H. J. Hanmer and G. W. Nitchell.

Instrumental—E. S. Mills, M. C. Montgomery, G. Young, H. Terry, F. Worden, G. W. Fowler, G. H. Merry, E. D. Wood, C. T. Henderson, C. T. Townsend and William Stickles.

The men will leave Monday at noon on the D. L. & W. railroad. Both the clubs are in fine condition, and the manager hopes to make the trip even more successful than was the Christmas journey.

ALUMNI REUNIONS.

Copy for the annual circulars containing Alumni Day announcements will be placed in the printer's hands on April 15th. All classes intending to hold reunions during the coming commencement season should notify me at once stating time and place of reunion, so that proper announcement of the same can be made in the circulars.

Cor. Sec'y of Alumni Ass'n.,
27 White Memorial Bldg., Syracuse.

SOPHS TO STAG IT.

Various members of the Sophomore class are seriously considering the project of having a stag banquet. Interest has been rather dead in the affair lately and in this way they think they will draw a larger crowd than any other.

One of the heavy men of the class said yesterday: "We gave the girls a good chance at it and they were too slow to take it, and now we take ours. Snre, we'll have it that way."

OFFERING FOR CHRISTADORA HOUSE.

All persons desiring to contribute any sum of money toward the Easter offering for Christodora House (Young Women's Settlement, New York City) are requested to bring such contributions to the Association meeting Sunday, March 27, or to hand it to Miss Marguerite Shepard or Miss Grace N. Baird before Tuesday, March 29.

NOTICES.

All seniors in Liberal Arts College and in the Library Course are requested to meet the Cap and Gown Committee in Dean Smalley's office between 9:40 and 11 o'clock Monday morning. Measurements will be taken at that time It is necessary to place the order at once; hence the urgency of the need of immediate action.

The Fine Arts seniors will have their measurements taken Tuesday morning between 10 and 11 in Dean McChesney's lecture room. GEORGE M. MCADAM, Chairman.

The regular meeting of the Mathematical Club will be held Tuesday, March 29, 8 p. m. with Miss E. M. Loetzer at 619 Irving Avenue. Mr. E. R. Smith '04 will read a paper on the "Biography of Newton." C. W. Billings '04 will read a paper on "Solutions of the Equations, x square plus y equals 7 and x plus y square equals eleven,"

A reading from Livy upon the topic "Horatius at the Bridge and Other Early Roman Legends" will be given by Professor Bushnell in room 33-34 of the Hall of Languages, at 2 p. m. Tuesday, March 29. A rendering by Harry W. Farrington '07 of Macaulay's "Lay of Horatius" will follow the reading. All interested will be welcome and for those wishing to follow the reader texts will be provided.

The tutoring class under W. C. Lowe will hold its last meeting today from two to four. As this is the last meeting of the class it is important that all should be present.

The following men of the Glee Club will report at D. L. & W, station at 12 m. Monday, March 28, for the Easter trip: Hoey, Davis, Houck, Trussell, Schaefer, Snow, Fowler, Wright, Fahnestock, Bohr, Brundage, Titus, Staley, Hanmer, Mitchell, RALPH L. STILWELL, Leader.

SENIORS—THESES typewritten and done correctly. W. I. WOODWORTH, 754 Harrison Street, or Architectural Department, Crouse College.

A rehearsal of the German play "Papa hat's erlaubt," will take place Saturday at 5 p. m., March 26, in room 31. All those who take part in it are urged to be present. W. OTTO.

All students wishing rooms in Winchell or Haven Halls for next year should see the chaperone about their choice of rooms and file their applications as soon as possible. Musical students will be accommodated in Haven Hall. Assignments to roomers for next year will be made after April 9, 1904 in the order of the receipt of the application. For rates, specifications, etc., apply to Mrs. Scott at Winchell Hall.

The prospects for sending the basketball five to St. Louis are promising. It is to be hoped that the money to finance the plan will be obtained.

There is no doubt that such a trip and series of games would result with great credit to Syracuse. Our five has made a first class record this year both at home and on the trips. In their contests at St. Louis the men would meet all other teams on equal terms. It is certain that this would give them an opportunity for winning first honors, which would not be lost. A national reputation for excellence in any line of sport is much coveted by every large university.

The resolutions drawn up by the upperclass committee on class finances are worthy the thought ful consideration of every student in the University. The committee recommended to have charge of such finances is to be truly representative of each of the five colleges.

The system proposed for future class finances we believe hits the mark desired. It hardly seems possible to find a plan more thorough and perfect. The system is so clear and consistent as to deserve the approval of the whole student body.

The committee recommended to have final action on the matter is so representative that it might well be made into a student Governing Board. This Board is to have charge of Moving-Up-Day, celebrations, etc. The student body may deem this worthy of consideration.

The cap and gown committe's announcement that the time has arrived for ordering commencement gowns is but another indication of the close approach of the ever recurring parting of the ways. The announcement also indicates that after several weeks of work, the deals with the manufacturers have been successfully completed and that the committee is now ready to serve the students.

Every senior should do his or her best to make the work of this and of the other committees as light as possible. This can be done by a hearty co-operation in the plans announced from time to time by the chairmen.

Senior Committee work is at best a hard task, and one not overburdened with either honor or emolument. It is the duty of each member of the class to do his best to assist the committees in every possible way.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR BY THE STUDENTS OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

VOL. I. NO. 139. SYRACUSE, N. Y., MONDAY, MARCH 28, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

THREE COLLEGES MEET TO-DAY

Class Financial System To be Adopted---Mass Meeting for Debating ---Chancellor Day To Speak.

There will be a meeting of the students of the three Hill colleges in chapel this morning to ratify a system for class finances. The plans which are to be adopted by these colleges will then be sent for final action to the Law and Medical colleges. After ratification by the latter the system will stand as a fixture for the future.

Following are the resolutions to be adopted:

1. An advisory and grievance committee of ten consisting of a senior and a junior from each of the five colleges, shall be appointed by these two classes respectively. This committee shall have authority (if this action is duly ratified) to pass finally on all matters of class taxation that may be referred to them or that may come up on an appeal from any individual or a class, and to adjust all cases on an equitable basis.

2. For the purpose of levying a class tax the class must be duly organized, the tax must be voted when a quorum is present (such quorum to be determined by the class when a majority is present) and after the notice that the question of levying a tax will be voted on at a given meeting duly called. Further, that all accounts involving class taxation must be duly audited and approved by the class concerned in each case.

Immediately after these rules are adopted the meeting will be turned over to the Debating Union to arouse interest for the Wesleyan debate this evening.

Chancellor Day and several others will speak in the interests of the debate. Arrangements for the debate are as perfect as they could be, and it is expected that Crouse College will be crowded to the doors.

The medals won by the class and college debaters will be given out while the judges are conferring on the debate. The singing and cheering before and after the debate will be conducted in a dignified manner by the senior cheermaster, Walter Bayliss.

The judges for the debate are President Rush Rhees of Rochester University, Justice Watson M. Rogers of the Court of Appeals and probably President Stryker of Hamilton, although it is not yet decided who the third will be.

Professor Brockway of New York, Member of American Institute of Architects will address the class in Labor Unionism in room 53, Liberal Arts building, on Wednesday.

1904 BASEBALL GUIDE.

Spalding's Official Baseball Guide for 1904 has been published and contains 384 pages. Unquestionably this is the most complete issue ever put forth of this valuable publication, which is now in its twenty-eighth year, and the twenty-third of "Father" Chadwick's editorship.

The opening chapter, by the editor, is on "The Evolution of Base Ball," in which he describes the course of the game from its crude condition of fifty years ago to the almost perfect game of today. Many of the rules as originally written make an interesting contrast with the present code. The National League statistics for 1903 are analyzed carefully, but not in too dry a manner, and form a most interesting resume of the season's work, in addition to which a short sketch is given of each club from the time of its accession to the National League to the present day, including the number of games won and lost each year, with the percentage, position at close of season, and manager's name. The story of the monthly campaign of the League forms another interesting chapter, in addition to which the editorial comments on the base-running and pitching results of the season and the records of the pitchers of the various clubs make interesting reading for the "fans."

An interesting feature of the Guide is a selection from letters written by numerous friends of Father Chadwick—including President Roosevelt—congratulating him upon his entry into his eightieth year.

Interspersed throughout the book are numerous notes of interest which will prove good reading to all followers of the game.

Of course the most important feature of the Guide is the official rules, which were revised and adopted by the National and American League at a meeting of the joint playing rules committee held in New York in March, 1904.

Spalding's Official Base Ball Guide is for sale at Spalding's and at Andrews' at 10 cents.

PERSONALS.

Professor Scott who has been ill for several days is now able to be out again.

H. E. Brelos '07 is suffering from a severe attack of appendicitis. He was a promising candidate for catcher on the 'Varsity baseball nine, and his services will be greatly missed.

John Cooley '06 has returned to take up his work in Smith College after an illness of several weeks' duration.

Arthur S. Harrell '04 and Lloyd L. Cheney '05 will represent the local chapter of Phi Kappa Psi at the national convention or Grand Arch Council to be held in Indianapolis, Ind., on April 5-8. Daniel J. Kelly '04 will also be present as archon of the second district of the fraternity. Among the men in the fraternity who are to be present and speak are President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton, Senator Foraker of Ohio, James Whitcomb Riley, Robert Burdette, Congressman Watson and many others of national fame.

LECTURE BY DR. PERITZ

Last Lecture of the Classical Club Series.

Dr. Ismar J. Peritz gave the last of a series of lectures under the auspices of the Classical club, Thursday evening in the Assembly Hall of the University block. His subject was: "The Influence of Babylonian Art on Prophetic Imagery." Dean Smalley introduced Dr. Peritz.

Dr. Peritz' ability as a lecturer is too well known to need any comment. The large audience which greeted him was in no way disappointed.

The lecturer aimed at two things: First, a survey of the most recent excavations and "finds" in Babylonia, revealing a glimpse of the high state of culture four and five thousand years before Christ, i. e., before the commonly supposed date of the creation of man; and secondly, to emphasize the need of studying the Prophets and other biblical writings with a view to their environments.

In pursuing the first object, the lecturer exhibited a series of views of the ruins of ancient Babylonia and of the excavations carried on by the English at various points, the French particularly at Telloh, and chief of all, the Americans, under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania, directed by Peters and Hilprecht, at Nuffar. The last was the most persistent and systematic, and consequently led to richest results. Among the objects found, for instance, was a brick stamp of Sargon I. 3800 B. C., used to impress the King's name upon every brick going into his buildings. This stamp involves practically the essential principle of the art of printing; the Babylonians therefore, it was pointed out, knew the principles of printing more than five thousand years before they were accidently discovered by Gutenberg. Other "finds" indicating an early high state of civilisation were a silver vase engraved with the symbols of the deity, going back to 3950 B. C., a brick arch, found in the lowest strata, and going back to 4000 B. C. The inscribed tablets point to a development of the Babylonian scrip; in the earlier tablets the characters are hieroglyphic, in the later, syllabic, the alphabetic stage is never reached.

As illustrating the need of studying the Prophets with a view to their environment, the lecturer presented a series of views of the time of Nebuchadnessar Cyrus, representing the time of Israel's captivity in Babylon. And choosing the prophet Ezekiel, who was one of the captives in Babylon, as an illustration, he showed how the prophet's visions relating to certain four-faced creatures and the restoration of the Temple can, as to their form, be traced to the prophet's surroundings in Babylonia. A number of the slides illustrated a Babylonian fondness for composite creatures of man, birds and animals. The lecture concluded with a series of views of restored Babylonian temples in comparison with the temple at Jerusalem.

NOTICES.

All seniors in Liberal Arts College and in the Library Course are requested to meet the Cap and Gown Committee in Dean Smalley's office between 9:40 and 11 o'clock Monday morning. Measurements will be taken at that time It is necessary to place the order at once; hence the urgency of the need of immediate action.

The Fine Arts seniors will have their measurements taken Tuesday morning between 10 and 11 in Dean McChesney's lecture room. GEORGE M. MCADAM, Chairman.

The regular meeting of the Mathematical Club will be held Tuesday, March 29, 8 p. m. with Miss E. M. Loetzer at 619 Irving Avenue. Mr. E. R. Smith '04 will read a paper on the "Biography of Newton." The attention of the alumni is called to the notice of the secretary of the general alumni association issued yesterday. The secretaries of the various classes, which are to hold reunions this June, are requested to be prompt in sending in sending in such notices. If any class is neglected in the circular to be sent out concerning Alumni day the blame will be due only to the secretary of such a class.

It is the intention of those in charge to have Alumni Day this year surpass all past records. The future growth of the University is dependent to a great extent on the loyalty and support of her alumni. Anything which tends to assist in growth along this line is worthy the hearty support of all the alumni.

It is a common weakness with the majority of men that they are pleased to receive public approval. This is very fitting when a man has earned the right of such approval. Here in our own University however many men are deprived of this honor who deserve it.

This is especially noteworthy in the way we award the insignia to the athletes who win the same. At the present time when a man earns the right to wear the University Block Letter in athletics a notice is put in a college paper or on the bulletin board requesting him to call at the gymnasium and receive the insignia from the custodian. Perhaps it might be a good custom also to have the members of our graduating classes call around and receive their diplomas from the same source.

If the granting of block letters is a reward for loyal service to the Orange why should not the bestowal of this reward be made an occasion of public recognition? The University insignia might well be given out twice a year at mass meetings of the entire student body. Such gatherings as these would do much towards raising the standard of college athletics, they would stimulate more loyal effort on the part of our athletes and would also create throughout our whole student body, a deeper, a wider and a stronger devotion to our Alma Mater. By this means we can also show our appreciation of the sacrifices made by our athletes for the glory of "Old Syracuse."

ALUMNI REUNIONS.

Copy for the annual circulars containing Alumni Day announcements will be placed in the printer's hands on April 15th. All classes intending to hold reunions during the coming commencement season should notify me at once stating time and place of reunion, so that proper announcement of the same can be made in the circulars.

YALE-HARVARD RACES.

Julian W. Curtiss, graduate manager of the Yale navy, with Messrs. F. T. Dodge and W. S. Cross of Yale and R. F. Manning and H. G. Dillingham of Harvard recently met Alderman F. V. Chappell, chairman of the regatta committee of the Board of Trade of New London, Ct., and arranged the preliminaries in connection with the Yale-Harvard races.

The annual regatta will be held on June 30, with the following order of events: Freshman race, about 10:30 a. m., from the Big Bridge, two miles upstream.

'Varsity four-oar crew, two miles upstream, from point where freshman race terminates.

'Varsity eight-oar crew race at floodtide, approximately 2:30 p. m. Should the water be too rough the 'varsity will be rowed about 4:30 p. m. It was decided to invite William H. Meikelham of New York, to act as referee. Frank V. Chappell of New London was chosen chairman of the regatta committee.

THE NEW SCHEDULE.

The committee on the new schedule have completed their work. The schedule as completed will be distributed in printed form either today or tomorrow. All students in the three underclasses will thus have the privilege of taking them home at the Easter vacation, and conferring on them. The schedule contains all the new courses offered, and everything in detail.

VOL. I. NO. 140. SYRACUSE, N. Y., TUESDAY, MARCH 29, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

WESLEYAN WINS.

Syracuse Goes Down in Honorable Defeat---Splendid Contest.

Before an audience that crowded Crouse College hall to the doors the team which for two months has labored to do their best for Syracuse, did it, although the result showed victory for the opposing side. Never before has such interest been shown in a debate here and never before has such a crowd turned out to witness the efforts of the debaters.

The only thing which marred the debate and prevented the judgment upon the real merits of the two teams was the unfortunate illness of Lloyd L. Cheney '05. Mr. Cheney showed at once the effect of the vast amount of work that he had put upon the contest. He was really at the limit of his endurance. The way in which he stuck to his post against such great odds excited the admiration of all. When he sat down exhausted it was amid the renewed cheers of fellow-students for his perseverance.

The debate was delayed forty-five minutes awaiting the arrival of a train from Rome bearing Judge William E. Scripture. As the train did not arrive, Rev. W. Courtland Robinson was chosen to take his place.

It was 8:45 before the president, Chancellor Day, and the debaters took their places on the platform. The question was: Resolved, That some form of compulsory education should be established to settle disputes between capital and labor, when such disputes interfere directly with the common interests of the community.

Ernest H. Sumner opened the debate for the affirmative. He showed how, by the terms of the question, it was not incumbent upon the affirmative to select any particular form of compulsory arbitration. He spoke briefly of all the forms that had been proposed and showed how that all might be practical. Compulsion, he declared, was the only objectionable feature and then he showed how compulsion was resorted to by our present system.

As the issue in the argument he stated that the rights of the individual should be restricted when those rights interfere with the rights of the public. He declared that the burden of proof rested with the negative to show why the government should not extend its restrictions over the individual to further safeguard the public safety.

Stewart F. Hancock, Wesleyan, declared very emphatically that the burden of proof did not rest with the negative but on the contrary the affirmative must show: first, that the present system had evils great enough and permanent enough to call for a change; second, that the proposed system would remedy the evils; third, that the proposed system would not give rise to great evils. He called upon the affirmative to bring forth some tangible form of compulsory arbitration upon which to base their argument. From this they should show how such a system would work.

He declared that the present day evils were exaggerated and that employers and employees were tending toward peaceable settlement of disputes, thus claiming that there was no need for compulsory arbitration.

George K. Warren in refutation of the closing remarks of the preceding speaker showed that instead of individual license the American principle was to restrict the individual which interfered with the public. He covered the ground of the practicability and necessity of compulsory arbitration. He showed how the proposed system would maintain the right of contract and besides would do away with disastrous strikes, would protect employer and employee and better conditions generally.

Charles W. Atwater, Wesleyan, maintained that compulsory arbitration at this time would be a hasty attempt to remedy evils that might disappear of themselves. He showed that it would be ineffectual because public sentiment was not behind it and because of the possibility of corrupt judges. He declared that it could not be enforced except in cases where it was not necessary. There could be no true enforcement against the laborer.

The next speaker was Mr. Cheney. Though looking ill he started off well. He showed at first that even if evils were decreasing, one disastrous dispute required a remedy. He stated that the four elements of compulsion aid the practibility of each. After about two minutes of excellent work the speaker showed the effect of the long strain and weakened. From that time until the bell it was a struggle against odds almost too great to be overcome.

Asa R. Gifford, the star debater for Wesleyan, asked again for a tangible form of compulsory arbitration. He showed that compulsory arbitration was both unnecessary and undesirable; that it was incompatible with the interests of both employers and employees. He declared that trade agreements and other factors fill the need for compulsory arbitration.

The rebuttals were excellent upon both sides. The negative dealt slightly with the phrase, "common interests," declaring that it took in all trades. They showed also that the choice lay not between compulsory arbitration and strikes, but between voluntary and compulsory arbitration. They admitted that the evils needed a remedy but said that the remedy offered was not the correct one. In proof of this they showed now the system in New Zealand was not satisfactory.

The affirmative dealt with the practicability of the scheme and the possibility of its enforcement. Several witty remarks of Mr. Warren's called for applause from the audience. In the last rebuttal Mr. Sumner took the place of Mr. Cheney. This action was protested by the Wesleyan captain, Mr.

MASS MEETING.

In the Interests of Class Taxation System---Wesleyan Debate Brought Before the Students.

A large and representative meeting of the three Hill colleges was held in chapel yesterday morning. The subject of a class financial system was ably discussed by Deans Smalley, Kent and the students. As a result the following resolutions were ratified by the three colleges represented:

1. An advisory and grievance committee of ten consisting of a senior and a junior from each of the five colleges, shall be appointed by these two classes respectively. This committee shall have authority (if this action is duly ratified) to pass finally on all matters of class taxation that may be referred to them or that may come up on an appeal from any individual or a class, and to adjust all cases on an equitable basis.

2. For the purpose of levying a class tax the class must be duly organized, the tax must be voted when a quorum is present (such quorum to be determined by the class when a majority is present) and after the notice that the question of levying a tax will be voted on at a given meeting duly called. Further, that all accounts involving class taxation must be duly audited and approved by the class concerned in each case.

These resolutions will now be sent to the Law and Medical colleges for their ratification.

Chancellor Day made a stirring speech both on the class taxation system and the Wesleyan debate. Among other things the Chancellor said that Syracuse had suddenly grown into a great University, the fourteenth in the United States. But some things had of necessity hardly become systematized. Syracuse needs system in everything, for there are five large colleges and each is a part of the whole or the University. In class finances system is needed to do away with the old order of things. It was by adopting the system suggested that the class finances of the future would be safe.

The Chancellor in speaking of the Wesleyan debate said some one had asked him to address the students and arouse the college spirit. He replied to this that he would be ashamed if this were the true state of affairs, but he believed such was not the case, and that the student body always rallied to whatever occasion arose. He was surprised however to hear that some students did use the time given to mass meetings, or even used a University holiday, for their own personal pleasure. He wished that all students who left mass meetings, celebrations, etc., for their own gratification in some other way, would pack up and leave college at once. The Chancellor held that one of greatest obligations of the students to their Alma Mater was the sense of duty which made loyally support everything that in any way tended to upbuild Syracuse.

He suggested that a Founder's Day to be held in the fall was one of his thoughts for the future. This day to be celebrated very properly by appropriate exercises, and a parade of the faculty and students to the place for the exercises. This idea was greeted with hearty approval by the students.

The Chancellor also won applause when he said "We want students here who are for Syracuse first, last and all the time."

He was certain that the students would loyally support the debaters in the contest with Wesleyan, and in closing said "of course we must win."

Professor Losey gave a very enthusiastic talk on debating at Syracuse, and the Wesleyan contest in particular. He urged the generous approval of the students both towards our own and the Wesleyan team. His views were heartily seconded by student applause. The meeting then adjourned.

YALE-PRINCETON DEBATE.

The tenth annual Yale-Princeton debate which was held Friday evening at Princeton, N. J., was won by Yale, thus giving six victories for Yale against Princeton's four. The subject was: "Resolved, That the United States was warranted in recognizing the independence of Panama." Yale had choice of sides and selected the negative.

FRESHMAN ENGINEERS ORGANIZE

At the suggestion of Dean Kent, the freshmen in Smith College organized yesterday noon, electing the following officers: President, Theodore Young; secretary, Arthur Powell; treasurer, C. A. Rowley. A committee was appointed to confer with the executive committee of Liberal Arts in regard to paying for damages which were done the night of the sophomore banquet at the Hub. The executive committee suggested to the committee from the engineers that their finances be kept together with those of the rest of the class and that the bills be paid from the common fund, as will expenses for Moving-up Day and the banquet for the freshmen next fall. The engineers will hold another meeting soon to decide the matter.

Often students are thoughtful only to be thoughtless. A single instance may suffice. It has been noticed by several of the professors that students carry chairs from one room to another and many times fail to return them. Some even take chairs from the professors' offices and neglect to bring them back. It is to be hoped that such a custom will be noted by its absence hereafter.

It is an acknowledged and verified fact that Syracuse has more graduates in the teaching profession in New York State than any other University.

Not only does the department of pedagogy furnish a good professional training but many other departments give special courses for those expecting to teach.

The past year has seen the organization of several societies of unestimable value to the prospective teachers. Among these might be mentioned the Chemistry club, the Mathematical society, the French club and many others. These with the ones already in existence are proving their worth by the increasing interest on the part of the students as well as the professors. May the good work go on until every department in college will have its society for its special students.

The debate with Wesleyan in Crouse college was doubtless the best in which Syracuse has ever contested. This was seen not only by the first class work of the debaters, but through the close attention paid by an immense crowd to every utterance of both teams.

The Wesleyan debaters are worthy of the highest praise for their grand efforts. The Eastern team seemed to be well balanced throughout. We congratulate Wesleyan on her fine trio, and the very creditable showing made by them before a foreign audience.

The Syracuse team proved a worthy foe for their keen opponents. In every department of forensic work and argument the ability of the Orange trio was equal to the occasion.

Both colleges can well be proud of being able to send out such superior teams in this branch of intercollegiate endeavor.

Hancock, but as the decision was unanimous for the negative the protest was not acted upon.

The debate in many respects excelled the Brown debate of last year. The delivery of the Syracuse men was not surpassed by any of the negative speakers. Both Sumner and Warren were in excellent trim. Gifford was clearly the star of the Wesleyan team. He was extremely easy and yet very forceful. The work of Hancock was received with much approval.

About seventy-five attended the reception and smoker given at the D. K. E. House after the debate. At this time the debate medals were awarded. The following received them: Gold—E. H. Sumner '05, H. NEW LAW COLLEGE.

The University authorities have recently acquired a new home for the College of Law. The college will be situated next fall in the Crouse home at the northeast corner of South State and East Fayette streets. The estate formerly belonged to the late Daniel E. Crouse, the millionaire.

Contractor John Moore, who bought the estate several years ago, sold it to the University for about $50,000. The new site for the Law College is an excellent one, for the quarters are commodious, and there is plenty of room for expansion.

Chancellor Day yesterday said to an Orange reporter that the building would need only a few alterations to put it in splendid shape for the Law men next fall.

VOL. I. NO. 141. SYRACUSE, N. Y., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30, 1904. PRICE TWO CENTS

THE 1905 ONONDAGAN

First Finished Proof Received---Book will be Copyrighted.

The editor-in-chief received the first finished proof of the Onondagan last week, four forms of it in all. It is excellent in appearance and satisfactory in every way. The paper used is the highest grade of plate paper, considerably heavier than that in last year's book. About half the book has now been "proofed" and has been printed, or is being printed now.

Somewhere the rumor has been started that the book will be out soon after Easter, that is about a week earlier than was at first expected. This is entirely without foundation. The time provisionally allowed by the printer for printing and binding was at the least two months. This would bring the date of the appearance of the book about April 15, but allowing for unforseen delays, the date April 20 was considered possible. The two weeks illness of the business manager necessarily delayed the receipt of pictures and so in turn the engraving and printing. In spite of this long unavoidable delay, the printer is making every effort to get the book out on the date provisionally set April 20, working his whole force almost literally night and day, and he may be successful. The editor-in-chief has made no promises, nor will he do so.

Few people realize the enormous amount of labor in such an undertaking. Just for example the fraternity "inserts," only a small part of the work of binding, involve the "inserting" or pasting in by hand of over 18,000 sheets of paper.

Application has been made for copyright. This is the first time the Onondagan has been copyrighted, and only a few colleges do so. It was however, considered advisable by the editor-in-chief and business manager to take this additional trouble and expense, in view of the all too common copying of matter (especially of illustrations) among college annuals. No labor or expense is being spared by the editor-in-chief and business manager respectively to make the book a credit to the class and university.

MEDICAL STUDENTS HONORED.

Messrs. Francis A. Hulst and John I. Bauer, both seniors at the College of Medicine, have received appointments as internes in hospitals of Brooklyn.

Mr. Hulst will go on duty next January, at the Brooklyn Hospital, and Mr. Bauer will serve in the German Hospital of Brooklyn. Mr. Hulst's examination was third among those who applied for appointment.

The rank of Mr. Bauer is not known. Mr. Hulst, besides carrying on his Medical studies, has been doing graduate work in biology, and is assistant in histology at the Medical College.

STAG BANQUET ASSURED.

It has been fully decided by the sophomore class that their annual banquet to be held soon will be a stag affair. The 196 men have become rathor weary of taking the co-eds around with them and so have decided to have a little fun without them. The committee have had no meeting over the affair but more than a majority of them have declared themselves in favor of the project. The sentiment of the class has been sounded and shows that the class will gladly follow the committee in this matter. As to the girls protesting, the men have played "foxy" in the matter. It turns out that every one of the banquet committee is of the male portion of the class.

The reasons for such action as given by the committee are somewhat as follows:—It is estimated that about one man in every ten smokes and would enjoy a pull at the "weed" during the colation. This of course would be impossible if the girls were present. Then again it is estimated that about two-tenths of the men in the class are too bashful to ask a co-ed anyway. About one-tenth are so-called women-haters and would not take one under any consideration. Of the remainder the committee think that about five-tenths would like the stag method as well as the co-ed way, but that about one-tenth of the class will refuse to go without the girls. Thus they count on pleasing obout nine-tenths of the men. The girls don't count. There are several other reasons in favor of the proposed banquet. but these they refuse to disclose.

The president of the class yesterday stated that the banquet would be a stag affair but the president and the men in charge refused to say a word regarding the date.

Y. W. C. A. COMMITTEES.

Jennie M. Wood '05, president-elect of the Y. W. C. A., announces the chairmen of the various committees the coming year:

Religious meetings, Louise Knapp, '05; Membership, Grace Emems, '05; Missionary, Grace Siesson, '05; Intercollegiate Relations, Maude Reynolds, '05; Social, Florence Giles, '05; Neighborhood, Marguerite Shepard, '06; Bible Study, Elsie Jones, '06.

PERSONALS.

During the Easter recess Professor Bushnell expects to visit the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York city, where recent additions to the collections in Classical Archaeology have attracted general attention.

Miss Marion Sturdevant '03, and Miss Elizabeth Brown '02, are visiting at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house. Mrs. Erskine of Mt. Vernon, is also there visiting her daughter Gladys '07.

Professor Brockway of New York, Member of America Institute of Architects, will address the class in Trades Unions today at noon in room 53. All parties interested in New York city labor disputes are invited to hear Mr. Brockway.

TRACK WORK IN FULL SWING

Old Men Are All Out---Track is Now Being Used.

The reporting of Twombly and Ralph for daily practice Saturday means that all of last year's track team are now in training except Robinson and Wise, who graduated and Sayre, '06 and Stokely, '05, who did not return to college. The places left vacant by these men are being contested for by numerous freshmen, so that this year's track team as a whole, should be the best that ever represented the Orange. The records broken by Captain Gardner and the veteran Lowe in the recent indoor contest show that they intend to improve on their previous enviable work.

The track was used for the first time last Saturday, when Twombly, Ralph, Robertson, Sechner and Hayes reeled off a swift half mile.

Squires, '06, who broke his leg in the Buffalo indoor contest, is being carefully guarded in the House of the Good Shepherd lest he should delay the recovery of the injured limb by premature exertion. He fully expects to work for this year's team and may be able to try for the relay team which will represent Syracuse in the Philadelphia games, April 23. Coach Scott will now direct much of his attention to developing this team as he will have less than a month because of the unusual late season.

Lipe, '06, is now in training and should make a strong bid for the relay team. Powell '07, captain-elect of the 1905 basketball team, and Earl Rice are out for the mile.

VanDuyn has an unusually large squad training under him in the weights. The big man is hurling the hammer to a great distance for this early date.

A call for candidates to train during the vacation is expected to be issued today and a training table will undoubtedly be established this week.

All students wishing rooms in Winchell or Haven Halls for next year should see the chaperone about their choice of rooms and file their applications as soon as possible. Musical students will be accommodated in Haven Hall. Assignments to roomers for next year will be made after April 9, 1904 in the order of the receipt of the application. For rates, specifications, etc., apply to Mrs. Scott at Winchell Hall.

WANTED—Wide awake students for vacation work. Gentlemen $50 per month and board. Ladies $9 a week. Call or address J. O. WHITCOMB, 310 Bastable Block.

THE VAN ALLEN LATIN VERSE PRIZE.

Professor Bushnell desires to make the following suggestions to those competing for this prize:

1. Read aloud in the Latin, meanwhile endeavoring to realize the meaning without translating into English, (1) the narrative in the Vulgate which supplied the subject assigned for this year, (2) passages from the Vulgate of a similar tenor and favorite passages, passages, e. g. Ps. 23, St. Jn. 14, (3) the finest Latin Hymns (e. g. March's Latin Hymns, pp. 34 ff., 67 ff., 92 ff., 108, 122 ff., 126 ff., 137-145.)

2. Choose a simple accentual rhyming measure. Such is the line of four iambi or of four trochees, either with or without the final syllable, with either adjacent or alternate lines rhyming. For great hymns in these measures see March, pp. 108, 122, 154, 271.

3. Study the art of Tennyson in repetition of consonants, repetition of vowels and repetition of combinations of consonants with vowels, e. g. in the poems: "The Voice and the Peak" and "Morte D'Arthur." Desired effects may be produced similarly in Latin verse.

4. Correctness of language may be tested by the grammars and the examples given under the words in Harpers' Latin Dictionary.

5. In Christian Latin verse there is usually a disregard of quantity, hiatus is freely allowed (though better avoided) and in the order is more free than in Classical Latin.

NEWS OF ALL THE COLLEGES.

WISCONSIN.

The University of Wisconsin men now find themselves in a novel but not unpleasant situation. The Democratic and Republican committeemen at Madison are realizing that the students hold the balance of power in two wards and are making life fairly bearable for them.

MINNESOTA.

The championship of the West will be decided next Friday evening when the Nebraska girl's basketball team plays the 'Varsity girls. A Nebraska co-ed will act as referee.

A grand military ball is to be given by the cadet battalion on April 11. Gov. VanSant. the officers of Fort Snelling and National Guardsmen will attend. It is expected that this affair will entirely out-class the Junior and Senior balls.

Mr. Sakolski, the well known Syracuse graduate who has been engaged in special research work under the direction of the John Hopkins Economic Seminary, presented some of the results of his Labor Union investigations before the Seminar in Economics, Monday evening. Mr. Sakolski also addressed the class in Political Economy III along similar lines yesterday. The Baltimore fire destroyed a large portion of the accumulated work of the Labor Unions Seminary; but efforts are being made to restore the lost material.

Chancellor Day in chapel Tuesday morning expressed, we believe, the feeling of the whole student body in characterizing the work of one of the Syracuse debaters who was stricken with illness in the midst of his speech, as a manifestation of "grit" rarely to be seen. We all know Mr. Cheney as a debater—we know him as a man, keen in thought, apt in expression. forceful in delivery. His work on Monday night showed more clearly than can any words of ours, his determination to win at any cost to himself. In every way he has worked for Syracuse first, last and all the time. Syracuse has reason to be proud of Mr. Cheney.

There is one lesson which we may well learn from this regretable occurrence; that is, that physical preparation for a debating contest is quite as essential as the mental discipline. In the future, even more care should be taken so that no contestant for intercollegiate debate honors should allow the all absorbing work of mental preparation to interfere with the essential physical preparation to be secured in the gymnasium, in open air work and in a goodly allowance of sleep.

The growing walls of Haven Hall emphasize the fact that in it Syracuse University is to have a building of which no university need be ashamed. The dark red brick and the stone trimmings form a combination which is rich both in color and in quality. The addition of this handsome structure to the group of college buildings, is one step further toward the establishment of the dormitory system at Syracuse. "Ladies are first," as Chancellor Day said Monday, but let us hope for the speedy coming of the time when the system shall become general.

With the Philadelphia relay games less than a month off it seems absolutely imperative that the likeliest competitors for this team should be kept in active training during the Easter vacation.

Further, it seems perfectly obvious that a training table for these men should be started immediately. With such glowing prospects for S. U.'s 1904 track team, every measure should be taken to ensure the best possible results.
